Y ahora teníamos en las manos las condecoraciones individuales, y yo, el ascenso, al cabo de dos años de angustia, de impotencia, sin encontrar una sola pista… sintiéndonos juguetes de una prodigiosa maldad. Mis hombres irradiaban júbilo y el Ministro del Interior habló de una labor metódica, cuidadosa, adonde cada dato se estudiaba pacientemente y nadie podía quedar impune, gracias a nuestra eficiente labor.

El primer cuerpo que apareció lastrado con cemento en el pantano de Las Tordas llevaba pocos días, pero no pudimos identificarlo inmediatamente. No sé cómo hay quien puede comer cangrejos. Supimos que era Ronco, un delincuente con un historial digno de un personaje de novela americana, porque no hay muchos supervivientes de un accidente de aviación con la cabeza remendada con una placa de platino.

Y a partir de ese momento, cada vez que desembalsaban agua, recibíamos la llamada de los técnicos de la Confederación Hidrográfica y llegábamos con la policía científica, los submarinistas, y el Juez, para hacernos cargo de otro bloque de cemento con su correspondiente cadáver. Diecisiete veces. El método era tan macabro que lo ocultamos al morbo de los periodistas, y por una vez, no hubo fugas de información.

Este país se ha convertido en un infierno adonde los traficantes de drogas y las bandas internacionales mueven un presupuesto anual muy superior a los presupuestos generales del Estado, y desde hace tiempo nuestras investigaciones consisten en examinar movimientos de capital de sociedades anónimas, cuentas de banco, concesionarios de coches de lujo, inmobiliarias…

Ya no existen ciudades tranquilas, todas son susceptibles de ocultar un laboratorio clandestino, un almacén, un emporio financiero para blanquear el dinero de la droga, y sin embargo, el equipo que trabajamos en estupefacientes tenemos que perder tiempo acudiendo a las citaciones con el fiscal de menores para hablar de niñatos que trapicheaban con pastillas y hachich… o acudir a una discoteca adonde nunca encontraremos droga en los bolsillos de los camellos, que la tiran al suelo en cuanto aparecemos… Y por misteriosas razones no servirá que diez policías declaremos que los vimos soltarla, porque a los jueces eso les suena a "montaje".

La imagen de la Policía recabando datos con su equipo para identificar huellas o siguiendo a un sospechoso no tiene nada que ver con la realidad. En nuestro equipo hay más licenciados en Empresariales y en Informática que en Criminología. A veces, pienso que me habría gustado trabajar como antiguamente, con los viejos métodos, pero no sé si alguna vez existieron esos protocolos al estilo del comisario Maigret, o del detective Marlowe, o eso sólo se daba en las novelas, porque el caso es que, en la realidad, Al Capone fue a la cárcel por defraudar al Fisco y no por sus múltiples asesinatos…

El día de marras, el primer sábado libre en ocho meses, mi mujer se había empeñado en organizar en el ático una fiesta para nuestro hijo Jaime, que cumplía seis años. Sí, lo de vivir en un ático con terraza también fue un empeño suyo. Periódicamente mi mujer, que pertenece a la Asociación de Padres de Alumnos, monta excursiones culturales, jornadas informativas sobre la Dislexia, reuniones con la Catequesis, y meriendas-cenas de confraternización, y yo, que lo único que deseo en mis ratos libres es ponerme cómodo y sentarme a ver la televisión con una cerveza, tengo que oficiar como anfitrión encantador y aburrirme con una sonrisa en los labios con los maniáticos de la educación infantil.

Mabel y Pablo, progenitores de Lisa, y miembros hiperactivos de la Asociación de Padres, enjaezados con un par de kilos de oro, como siempre, estaban especialmente ocurrentes esa tarde: empezaron por palmearme el estómago y ponderar mi poca esbeltez, trataron de convencerme para que fuera todos los domingos por la mañana a jugar al tenis con ellos; luego indagaron si no me remordía la conciencia porque mi familia estaba abandonada por culpa de mis horarios; caritativamente me avisaron de que mi mujer era un dechado de encantos, pero algún día se cansaría de no encontrarme a su lado en las reuniones adonde se estaba dirimiendo la educación de nuestro hijo… porque los policías también tenemos familia. Y, a continuación, Pablo, que es ese tipo de arquitecto que habla de ambientes y de fengshui, de energías telúricas y todo eso, me explicó que el sofá no estaba orientado para reponer fuerzas… Los otros papás de la Asociación de Padres asentían absolutamente de acuerdo en todo. Mi mujer con esa expresión de serena entereza de mártir, que tan bien conozco, reforzaba los argumentos que me condenaban con un elocuente silencio, así es que abandoné el ring con la excusa de que iba a ver qué hacían los niños en el baño.

Mi pobre hijo trataba de mantener la calma, pero ha salido a su madre y eso significa que dos segundos después explotará en llanto. El guirigay era ensordecedor y todos los críos hablaban al mismo tiempo, menos Lisa, que con sus seis añitos es una líder nata y tenía en los labios una mueca feroz, mientras escondía sus manos en la espalda.

—Vamos a ver, Jaime, tranquilízate, ¿qué pasa aquí?

—¡Es Lisa, me está estropeando mi Ironman!

Su Ironman es un muñeco articulado de plástico, feísimo, que a él le encanta, con el que habla, duerme, se baña…

—Bueno, por jugar con él no lo va a romper… tienes que aprender a compartir tus juguetes…

—¡No, papá, lo está estropeando, le ha puesto mogollón de plastilina y lo quiere tirar al retrete!

Lisa, indignada, respondió con su encantador ceceo característico:

—¡Es malo y le estoy poniendo unos zapatitos de cemento para tirarlo al agua!

Me tuve que sentar. Y con una voz que no me salía del cuerpo le pregunté.
—¿Y tú, Lisa, cómo sabes que es así como se castiga a los malos?
—Lo dice mi papá, hay que ponerles zapatitos de cemento y tirarlos al agua… lo oí.

POPURRÍ DE LOS ANTESDEYESTERDAY, DE JUAN CARLOS ARAGÓN

¡No les votes!

Hubo un tiempo en que creía
y no estaba equivocado que este mundo cambiaría

y mira si el mundo ha cambiado.
Hubo un tiempo en que soñaba la revolución del pueblo, pero el pueblo no ha hecho nada
y lo han hecho los gobiernos.

Han creado un mundo ciego, conformista, insolidario
y ni antes éramos tan hipis ni ahora somos lo contrario.
Han querido convencernos con falsas comodidades, yo me cago en los gobiernos
y en su puñetera madre.

Cada vez más policías,
cada vez leyes más duras ni se presta ni se fía ni se bebe ni se fuma, pero callan a la gente con mundiales y otros cuentos que en los telediarios mienten hasta los hombres del tiempo.

Y los jóvenes hoy día, cuando cumplen veinte años
prefieren las cofradías a los campings de los Caños.
Han perdido la esperanza, han perdido los cojones
y ya no salen de su casa más que pa los botellones.

Ya ni obreros ni estudiantes andan unidos luchando, los políticos lo saben
y por eso siguen vacilando.
Si tantos millones de parados no los ponen contra las cuerdas, esta historia se ha acabao
y que se vaya el mundo a la mierda.

Esperanza tengo poca,
pero al menos me he desahogao
y con esta chirigota qué a gustito me he quedao, pero antes de marcharnos tenemos que despedirnos porque si sigue Juan Carlos no volveremos los mismos.

Seguramente este cordial y servicial agente de la autoridad multa por las dos cosas, o las tres, seguro que añade la falta de permiso municiapal para el ejercicio de la actividad comercial. De alguan forma hay que recaudar. Los serviciales agentes, que lo son de sus mandos directos y estos de los politicos olvidaron al ponerse el uniforme que antes que policias son personas y deberian actuar con y suponiendo buena fe, de oficio y no por oficio, para y con el ciudadano pero no de la forma despotica como lo hace: todo para el pueblo pero sin el pueblo. Te multo, recaudo, hago caja y te doy servicios...y la perdida inherente de energía (económica) en el proceso. Donde se quedan tantos millones? Pues en los sueldos de lso superiores y mandamases puestos a dedo.

DOSSIER EUGENESIA (II)

El caso de Heiselden no fue muy diferente al de otros muchos médicos: elevó a categoría de universal científico lo que eran prejuicios baratos, se blindó moralmente con la bandera de la raza y el patriotismo y, gracias a ello, se lucró y adquirió una reputación que no habría alcanzado por sus curaciones o por el cumplimiento del juramento hipocrático.

El número de estupideces, desatinos y tergiversaciones en la medicina de la época fue alto, pero pocos fueron en contra de las conveniencias de los estados. Las muertes que provocaron no son justificables ni explicables por un estadio no avanzado de la ciencia, sino todo lo contrario: la clase médica respaldó e inventó teorías para exterminar a unos sectores de la población. Cuando las piezas a abatir eran los enfermos mentales, se hablo de la relación "científica" entre criminalidad y locura; cuando se buscó el aplastamiento de comunidades o pueblos, que no se había conseguido con guerras coloniales, surgieron las teorías médicas, antropológicas o históricas sobre razas inferiores, inmorales y degeneradas (que eran todas menos la suya). Y cuando se pretendió acabar de forma expeditiva con mano de obra enferma, inventaron un concepto de herencia genética que obedecía a leyes morales: un niño tuberculoso de un barrio obrero londinense lo era porque heredaba de sus padres, obreros, el gen tuberculoso, que, a su vez, era propio de la clase baja, que, como tal, era de natural promiscuo, carente de higiene y mantenía conductas inmorales y "emociones vivas" que exacerbaban el gen . De ahí la suciedad en la que vivían y en la que se propagaba la enfermedad. Hacía decenios que Koch había descubierto el bacilo de la tuberculosis, pero el responsable de la enfermedad era el afectado, por tanto no era el bacilo al que había que aislar y exterminar sino al enfermo.

Una forma de seleccionar la raza y detectar a estos enfermos era inocularles conscientemente el bacilo. Por ejemplo en la Illinois Institution for the Feebleminded de Lincoln, a los niños retrasados se les dio, durante años, leche de vacas tuberculosas, en primer lugar porque era más barato, en segundo porque se reducía el número de inquilinos a cargo del estado y, en tercer lugar, porque, siempre según médicos, eugenistas e higienistas, el problema no era el bacilo sino los niños que eran constitucionalmente un desecho sin solución. A los 18 meses de ingresarlos, el estado se había librado del 30% de los niños, que, por otra parte tenían una esperanza de vida de 18'5 años.

La experimentación con niños, clases pobres, razas o etnias es otra área de investigación pero que obedece al mismo principio eugenésico: el sacrificio de "desechos" en beneficio de una humanidad más blanca, más sana y más rica: En 1908, en el Orfanato de St. Vincent's House, en Filadelfia, se infectó a decenas de niños con tuberculina, que causó ceguera total en unos y lesiones graves en otros. A los niños se les mencionaba como "el material utilizado"

En 1909, el Dr. F. C. Knowles describe en un estudio cómo ha infectado conscientemente a dos niños de un orfanato con el virus del Molluscus contagiosum para estudiar la enfermedad. En 1911 el Dr. Hideyo Noguchi del Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research inoculó sífilis a 146 pacientes, entre ellos niños. El conocido como Tuskegee syphilis experiment lo realizó el U.S. Public Health Service y, en él, se infectó a 400 negros pobres, a los que no se les dieron antibióticos para observar cómo se desarrollaba libremente la enfermedad. La experimentación duró desde 1932 a 1972. Sólo sobrevivieron 74. Además de los muertos, hubo esposas infectadas e hijos con malformaciones y sífilis congénitas. Desde nuestro punto de vista es un crimen de lesa humanidad. Desde la perspectiva de la ciencia del super-hombre muestra la poca resistencia de la raza negra a las enfermedades.

Los casos que cito, entre miles, recorren el siglo XX hasta hoy.

Yeadon y Hawkins (p.165) señalan la pervivencia de otras prácticas de eutanasia en la América moderna:

"La eutanasia por negligencia fue una práctica común en la América de los años 20 y 30. De hecho, es una práctica común en la América de hoy, donde la asistencia médica necesaria se ha convertido en un lujo sólo al alcance de los ricos. Un ejemplo revelador es el caso de la Enfermedad del Legionario. La enfermedad se descubrió en 1976, a raíz de la celebración del bicentenario de la Legión Americana. En seis meses los investigadores descubrieron la bacteria responsable de esta enfermedad que había causado muertes y pánico. Sin embargo, investigaciones posteriores de muestras de sangre, demostraron que la enfermedad ya había aparecido en 1965 en el St. Elizabeth ´s Psychiatric Hospital en Washington y había causado 14 muertos. Los legionarios eran honrados ciudadanos y electores, mientras que los residentes del psiquiátrico eran débiles y desechables. Sus muertes, que se registraron como bajas rutinarias, no causaron conmoción alguna".

En 1946, en Gran Bretaña se contabilizaban oficialmente de 7.000 a 8.000 nuevos

enfermos de tuberculosis al año, de los cuales morían 1.600. El primer discurso oficial de Victor Rothschild en el parlamento fue pedir la pasteurización general de la leche como primera medida preventiva. El tema y la medida fue tomada como una excentricidad más del lord científico. En opinión de la clase política británica, la pasteurización era antieconómica, mataba "la vida" de la leche e impedía la "inmunización progresiva" de la población a la tuberculosis. Tampoco era viable hacer la prueba de la tuberculina a un millón de vacas, porque, si se descubría la enfermedad, habría que matarlas y, en ese caso, los niños no beberían la suficiente leche. Además, como le contestó Duff Cooper cuando Rothschild le envió copia de su discurso: "El tema de la pasteurización de la leche no me despierta un palpitante interés" (Rose, 116)

El Segundo Congreso Internacional de Eugenesia de 1921,celebrado en Nueva York, en el American Museum of Natural History intentó solucionar dos problemas que preocupaban a la sociedad europea y americana: la baja natalidad de las clases adineradas y el efecto de la inmigración de razas "inferiores" en países como Gran Bretaña y Estados Unidos, especialmente judíos y polacos. Es Laughlin quien modela, desde una perspectiva eugenista, las leyes de Inmigración y Naturalización que son financiadas por el Carnegie Institute y votadas en el Congreso. A partir de 1924 (hasta 1952, y de facto, hasta hoy) Estados Unidos estableció cuotas de raza para sus inmigrantes. El siguiente paso fue establecer el sistema en Europa, de forma que hubiera un primer filtro eugenésico y racista en la selección de emigrantes. Colaboraron Belgica, Inglaterra, Irlanda, Holanda, Polonia, Checoslovaquia, Alemania, Dinamarca y Suecia. En la bibliografía actual no aparece España, pero sabemos por las Actas del tercer Congreso que había ofrecido su colaboración en este filtro de indeseables. Respecto al problema de la baja natalidad de las clases nórdicas y pudientes, se grava fiscalmente la solteria o la falta de hijos y se acusa a la mujer blanca poco paridora de antipatriota (ninguna objeción por parte de feministas eugenistas ha quedado en la documentación).

A pesar de la I Guerra Mundial, las relaciones entre eugenistas alemanes y americanos no se rompieron. Estados Unidos marcó la pauta de selección y estudios raciales durante los años 20 y 30. Y, además, financió a individuos e instituciones eugenésicas que tuvieron un papel decisivo en la alemania nazi y en el Holocausto.

La República de Weimar apoyó todas las investigaciones eugenésicas que florecían en los círculos académicos, así como la relación de científicos alemanes con sus homólogos norteamericanos. En 1921, el principal editor de publicaciones médicas en lengua alemana, Julius Friedrich Lehmann publicó lo que llegarían a ser los Cánones científicos del racismo y la eugenesia : Grundriss der menschlichen Erblehre und Rassenhygine (Esbozo de genética humana e higiene racial), por Erwin Baur, Eugen Fischer y Fritz Lenz.

Eugen Fischer, director del Kaiser-Wilhelm-Institut für Anthropologie, menschliche Erblehre, und Eugenik (KWIfA) (Kaiser Wilhelm Institut de Antropología, Herencia genética y Eugenesia) desde 1927 a 1942, dedicó las actividades del Instituto, a partir de 1933, a la política de exterminio y experimentación con razas "inferiores", especialmente judíos. Fue el encargado de impartir cursos a los médicos de las SS, juez en el Erbgesundheitsgericht o Tribunal de Herencia Genética nazi , a cuyas sesiones asistieron eugenistas americanos como Teodor Lothrop Stoddard, y emitió cientos de dictámenes sobre la impureza racial de personas nacidas de uniones mixtas, dictámenes, claro está, que implicaban la muerte segura. Fischer prosiguió su carrera después de la Segunda Guerra Mundial, como catedrático en la Universidad de Friburgo. Consiguió reestablecer en sus cátedras a muchos de sus colegas eugenistas y nazis. Sin duda, su mayor triunfo fue devolver a la universidad e instituciones científicas a su sucesor en el KWIfA, Otmar von Verschuer, biólogo y eugenista encargado de los experimentos con internos de Auschwitz desde 1944 y bajo cuya dirección trabajó Josef Mengele y Karin Magnussen. Mengele era el encargado de proveer "muestras" y "especímenes" para las investigaciones de al menos cuatro institutos del Kaiser Wilheim Institute, especialmente ojos y cerebros de niños ejecutados o cuerpos de prisioneros para elaborar atlas anatómicos, como el aclamado de Eduard Pernkopf. Von Verschuer fue elegido, durante la guerra, miembro de la American Eugenics Society y, al finalizar ésta, sus atrocidades le costaron 600 marcos de multa. Desde 1951 hasta su muerte ocupó la prestigiosa cátedra de Genética Humana en la Universidad de Munich.

El caso de Otmar von Verschuer es ejemplificador de lo que fue la actitud de los aliados y de los círculos académicos del siglo XX respecto a los médicos y científicos de la Alemania nazi. Aún no se ha elaborado una lista completa de los médicos implicados en experimentación y tortura a prisioneros de asilos y campos de concentración. Los nombres aparecen entre millones de páginas de expedientes, declaraciones de sobrevivientes aún por analizar; las universidades y sociedades científicas se han parapetado tras una barrera de silencio sólo rota ocasionalmente para pedir disculpas por los crímenes, pero sin hacer pública y accesible la documentación incriminatoria; pero, sobre todo, los informes incoados al terminar la guerra se declararon secretos y los médicos gozaron de la impunidad que les proporcionó las distintas ratlines que crearon los servicios de inteligencia alemanes, británicos estadounidenses y vaticanos para que huyesen a países refugios de nazis (el caso de Mengele o Aribert Heim) o siguieran ejerciendo en Europa o Estados Unidos, respetados y admirados por sus colegas (caso de Fischer, Lenz, von Verschuer, Hans Nachtscheim, Karin Magnussen, Pernkopf, Ernst Rüdin, Ernst Wentzler, Julius Hallerworden…).

Los aliados sólo exigieron un trámite llamado "desnazificación" o renegar formalmente de su vinculación con la ideología nazi. Ni siquiera este requisito lo cumplieron. En los años 70 y 80, la Dra. Magnussen seguía defendiendo sus experimentos realizados con ojos de niños gitanos, que eran asesinados "a la carta", según exigía muestras para sus experimentos en el KWI. Von Verschuer fue interrogado en 1945 por el American Counterintelligence Group, que sólo le retuvo la documentación un mes y después lo dejó en libertad total. En 1946, una comisión de investigación formada por Kurt von Lewinski, Otto Warburg, Robert Havemann y Gottschaldt demostró las relaciones de von Verschuer, al que calificaron como "racista fanático", con los crímenes de Auschwitz. La investigación fue declarada secreta e inaccesible durante 15 años y algunos de los integrantes de la comisión pasarón a integrar la lista de "peligrosos comunistas" perseguidos por los servicios de inteligencia americano y alemán: éste fue caso de Robert Havemann. Se nombró un segúndo comité para exculpar a von Verschuer y su expediente "desapareció", de forma que, cuando, en los años 60, se intentó reabrir el caso, no había documentación alguna que incriminara al ilustre académico. Hermann Muckermann, jesuita, eugenista racista, y nuevo director del KWI de Antropología de la Alemania "desnazificada", resumía con satisfacción la situación en 1946 de los responsables de las atrocidades cometidas por la ciencia:

"Hoy Eugen Fischer ha vuelto a su ciudad natal de Freiburg im Breisgau, donde continúa su trabajo como uno de nuestros más destacados antropólogos. Otmar von Verschuer, al que la investigación sobre gemelos debe grandes avances, dejó Berlin-Dahlem en 1945. Hoy, dirige, como catedrático de Genética Humana, un nuevo instituto dedicado a este estudio en la Universidad de Munich. Fritz Lenz, cuya contribución al estudio de las leyes de herencia humana y a su aplicación, son altamente estimadas, también dejó Berlín-Dahlem en 1945. Hoy dirige un instituto de herencia genética humana, además de sus clases en la Universidad de Göttingen. Hans Nachstein permaneció en nuestro instituto hasta el final. Hoy dirige el Instituto de Biología Comparada y Patología Hereditaria en la Universidad de Investigación de Alemania, además de su cátedra de Biología General y Genética en la Universidad Libre de Berlin-Dahlem" (Hermann Muckermann, Informe de 1946 : Gretchen Engle Schafft, –p. 190 y Benno Müller-Hill, From racism to genocide: anthropology in the Third Reich Murderous science: elimination by scientific selection of Jews, p.91)

El "Baur-Fischer-Lenz" (como era llamado en círculos académicos) es el regalo que Lehmann envió a su amigo Adolf Hitler cuando éste se hallaba en prisión y fue la fuente citada como base científica por los juristas que elaboraron las Leyes Raciales de Nuremberg, cuya filosofía se inspiró en la obra de otro eugenista anglo-germano, Houston Stewart Chamberlain (minusválido y enfermo crónico). Hitler estudió e incorporó estas obras a Mein Kampf junto con las de Davenport y otros eugenistas americanos, pero lo que el llamó su Biblia fue The passing of the great race de Madison Grant, presidente de la American Eugenic Society, al que Hitler escribió una encendida carta de elogio y admiración por sus propuestas sobre la eliminación de los "defectuosos".

La figura de Lehmann es decisiva en la propagación de las teorías eugenésicas tal y como las defendió y puso en práctica el régimen nazi. Lehmann integra su rabioso antisemitismo (desde su apertura en 1890, la editorial J. F. Lehmanns Verlag nunca admitió a ningún judío en su consejo de redacción) y racismo en el discurso eugenésico. Consideraba su labor editorial como una lucha en las trincheras para imponer la supremacía de la raza aria: financió y publicó obras y panfletos de los grupos más racistas y nacionalistas de la época: la Thule-Gesellschaft , la Deutsche Gesellschaft für Rassenhygiene, la Reichskirche, la Sturmabteilung (o SA) , los Freikorps (en los que había participado asesinando espartaquistas) y el NSDAP o Partido Nazi, del cual era miembro y uno de sus principales benefactores.

Lehmann disponía de los fondos necesarios para coordinar la propaganda entre sociedades científicas, grupos políticos y militares. Consiguió del gobierno alemán el encargo de obras militares de difusión nacional, como el Taschenbuch der Kriegsflotte, y de las principales publicaciones médicas. Estuvo encarcelado dos veces, pero su poder era ya difícil de controlar. En 1923 ofreció su casa a Hitler , a Göring, a Rosenberg y a Hess, y a otros cuarenta conspiradores para preparar el fallido golpe de estado o Munich Putsch del 8 y 9 de noviembre.

El interés de Lehmann por la eugenesia como medio de purificar la raza aparece en innumerables textos publicados por su editorial desde principios del siglo XX. Ernst Rüdin, Franz Kallmann, Ernst Bleuler o Max von Gruber. Ruttke, Arthur Gütt, Falk Ruttke, Linden, Massfeller, Kraepelin, August Forel son algunos de los autores que edita. Ernst Rüdin, figura cumbre de la psiquiatría social, fue el padre ideológico del Genocidio Psiquiátrico del régimen nazi, que esterilizó y asesinó, entre 1939-1945, (fechas estudiadas hasta hoy) entre 200.000 y 270.000 enfermos de esquizofrenia. A estos habría que añadir los afectados por otras enfermedades y las víctimas de fechas anteriores a 1939.

De 1933 a 1936, , la editorial Lehmann publicó las tres obras cumbres del exterminio racial y eugenésico: la Gesetz zur Verhütung erbkranken Nachwuchses (Ley para prevenir la reproducción de los defectuosos genéticos), de Gütt, Rüdin and Ruttke; la Blutschutz-und Ehegesundheitsgesetz (leyes sobre matrimonios eugenésicos) de Gütt, Linden and Massfeller y las Richtlinien der Schwangerschaftsunterbrechung und Unfruchtbarmachung (Normativas sobre aborto y esterilización eugenésicos) de la Sociedad de Medicina Alermana, que se convirtió en el vademecum de todos los facultativos.

Los fondos necesarios para todas las investigaciones, experimentos y atrocidades que se perpetraron procedieron de la Rockefeller Foundation.

La Rockefeller Foundation proporcionó los fondos para la creación de dos instituciones sobre las cuales pivotarían los experimentos y estudios de eugenesia racista y exterminio de los años 30 y del Holocausto: El Kaiser Wilhelm Institut für Genealogie und Demographie der Deutschen Forschungsanstalt für Psychiatrie, dirigido por Ernst Rüdin desde 1931 y el Keiser Wilhelm Institut für Anthropologie, menschliche Erblehre und Eugenik, inaugurado, en 1927 (Informe de la Rockefeller Foundation 1928, p. 327), en el suburbio berlinés de Dahlem con fondos de la Fundación Rockefeller y dirigido por Eugen Fischer, con tres departamentos: antropología racial (Fischer), herencia humana (Verschuer) y eugenesia (Muckermann):

Desde 1927 a 1939 la Fundación Rockefeller, además de su mecenazgo, supervisó y estuvo al tanto de todas las investigaciones que financiaba. La coincidencia ideológica y científica con Fischer y sus investigadores es absoluta (Informe de la Rockefeller Foundation 1932, p. 221), como lo demuestran sus informes anuales de estos años y la correspondencia mantenida entre los científicos del Kaiser Wilhelm Institute y los responsables de la Fundación Rockefeller. (Vid. From racism to genocide: anthropology in the Third Reich, pp. 48 y sigs). Edwin Black (War against the weak, p.297) incluye un telegrama muy revelador de dónde comenzaron los experimentos con gemelos del Dr. Mengele:

13 mayo de 1932: REUNIÓN DEL COMITÉ EJECUTIVO EN JUNIO. NUEVE MIL DOLARES DURANTE TRES AÑOS AL KWG INSTITUTO DE ANTROPOLOGÍA PARA INVESTIGACIÓN SOBRE GEMELOS Y ESTUDIO DE LOS EFECTOS DE SUSTANCIAS TÓXICAS EN EL PLASMA SANGUINEO PARA LA DESCENDENCIA. (Firmado) Augustus Towbridge, Director Científico de la Fundación Rockefeller en Europa). El beneficiario era el Dr. Von Verschuer, jefe de Mengele.

El 14 de julio de 1933, el gobierno del Reich promulga las Leyes para prevenir descendencia con enfermedades hereditarias, leyes en cuya elaboración y justificación científica intervienen Rüdin, Fischer y todos los científicos del KWI subvencionados por la Rockefeller Foundation, que aportaron grandes sumas para los institutos y universidades encargados de las esterilizaciones masivas (vid. Informe de la Rockefeller Foundation 1933). Meses antes, en abril, la BCR (Birth Control Review), la revista del movimiento eugenista americano había editado la propaganda que precedía a estas leyes con el artículo "Eugenic Sterilization: An Urgent Need" de Ernst Rüdin, director del Kaiser Wilhelm Institute.

Las leyes de esterilización masiva fueron defendidas por las principales figuras de la élite científica americana y del movimiento eugenista americano y europeo: el líder de los eugenistas americanos apoyó explícitamente las tesis de Rüdin en su artículo "Eugenic Sterilization", también publicado en la BCR. En el Journal of the American Medical Association y New England Journal of Medicine consideraron las leyes de esterilización como una medida más de medicina preventiva. La empresa IBM colaboró con las autoridades nazis en la elaboración de los censos necesarios para dar caza a los defectuosos, censos que fueron usados para perseguir y detener a las víctimas del holocausto.

En realidad, las leyes de 1933 eran copia de las leyes de esterilización americanas desarrolladas y practicadas en todos los estados por Davenport y Laughlin; los criterios eugenésicos y racistas de las leyes nazis eran calco de las leyes que regían la inmigración a Estados Unidos; y los censos policiales y médicos que creo IBM se basaban en el Eugenics Reccord Office (ERO). El Tercer Congreso Internacional de Eugenesia (1932), al cual asistieron todas los líderes eugenistas de Europa y América, entre ellos la llorada Hildegart Rodríguez, había defendido, un año antes todos los presupuestos ideológicos de la esterilización nazi. En otras palabras, la petición que el Home Secretary Winston Churchill hizo al Primer Ministro H.H Asquith, en diciembre de 1910, para que se esterilizara a los enfermos mentales e individuos de razas inferiores, la cumplió el Reich 23 años después. En palabras de Churchill el problema se reducía a "una sencilla operación quirúrgica que permitía libertad al inferior (sic) sin causar molestias a los demás". En este contexto, es facil entender la siguiente confesión de Churchill en sus memorias : "Un día el presidente Roosevelt me digó que estaba pidiendo términos para definir la guerra. Le contesté inmediatamente: "La Guerra Innecesaria" (The Second World War, Vol. I : The Gathering Storm (1948)).

En los años 1933 y 1934, España se une de manera entusiasta a la política eugenista descrita hasta ahora y organiza el "I Simposio de Eugenesia Española" que clausura el Presidente de la República Manuel Azaña. Asisten personajes como Marañón, Fernández de los Ríos, Novoa Santos, Ramón J. Sender, Lafora, Jiménez de Asúa, Hildegart Rodríguez, García Lorca o Rafael Alberti. Las leyes de esterilización masiva nazi ya se han promulgado; el incendio del Reichstag ya se ha producido; Dachau, Buchenwald, Sachsenhausen y Ravensbruck ya están en funcionamiento; 40.000 asesinos de las SA y de las SS ya están en las calles dando palizas y matando judíos, gitanos o adversarios del régimen, y Göering ya ha creado la Gestapo. Son sincronías históricas que los exégetas del liberalismo y de sus santones olvidan con contumacia.

Descarnado ,pero cierto.Tan amargamente cierto que no es de extrañar que nos traguemos cualquier eufemismo a modo de edulcorante.

La primera parte del artículo duele,el final sorprende...porque como siempre,nos anegan en falacias cuyas peores consecuencias son confundir el pensamiento.

la eugenesia ha pasado a llamarse planificación familiar, acicalada además con los atributos de derechos y libertades .Como es lógico,las tendencias natalistas o antinatalistas de Estados y gobiernos tienen mucho menos que ver con cuestiones morales que con políticas demográficas.Pero así te las ves y te las deseas para hablar de ello sin parecer Rouco- Varela

Tontos no son ,desde luego.Perversos,un rato largo...

Me temo que no comprendo el salto lógico que ha dado usted hasta la planificación familiar, que no es ni más ni menos que posibilitar que quienes no queremos multiplicarnos ad nauseam podamos adquirir píldoras anticonceptivas recetadas por un especialista y vendidas en la farmacia.

Y para confundirla con Monseñor Rouco tendría usted que decir como él que un feto es un ser humano, en contra del derecho canónico y del Código Civil, (que sólo consideran "persona" a los neonatos cuando han cumplido 24 horas de vida fuera del vientre materno). Y que el semen derramado en una eyaculación sin fines reproductivos es un parricidio y un pecado.

Mis artículos publicados en Gatopardo son ampliaciones históricas a una época y sociedad, la anglosajona de la 1ª mitad del siglo XX, poco conocida por el lector español.
Procuro no tirar por elevación a otros temas diferentes del que esté hablando. No estoy hablando del derecho al aborto ni de la planificación familiar. He escrito sobre los orígenes y difusión de la eugenesia.
Toda vez que considero a la Iglesia Católica como un semillero de pederastas, afirmación que avalan miles de casos en los juzgados de todo el mundo, cualquier declaración de sus autoridades o feligreses, me la trae absolutamente al pairo personal y científico.
Espero haber disipado cualquier duda.

"...Siempre insiste en que un obrero no tiene derecho a tener tantos niños, o que una barriada pobre es peligrosa porque produce tantos y tantos niños. La pregunta que le aterra es: ¿Por qué el obrero no tiene un salario mejor? ¿Por qué la familia del barrio pobre no tiene una casa mejor? Su manera de evitarlas no es sugerir una casa más grande, sino una familia más pequeña. El arrendatario o el patrón dicen a su manera, tan tierna y generosa: La verdad es que no puedes esperar que yo me quede sin mi dinero. Pero voy a hacer un sacrificio. Me quedaré sin tus hijos." Estimada Mariana:

En los artículos I y II del Dossier Eugenesia (de su libro "Smog in the eyes") Eliah Meyer se ha basado en documentos oficiales e informes económicos y científicos, teniendo buen cuidado de no dar la categoría de "fuente documental" a los artículos periodísticos por no ser fiables, ya que, paradójicamente, no suelen contener información objetiva, sino sesgada por los intereses de los Consejos de Administración de los peródicos, anunciantes y accionistas, a los que han de estar sometidos los equipos de redacción y dirección.

Si a eso le sumamos que no hay un solo periodista en Europa que tenga el nivel científico necesario en biología, física y química para comprender y explicar los datos que suelen salpicar y repetir al buen tuntún, no podemos dar por bueno lo que se publique sin otra fuente documental que lo ratifique y autentifique.

En los artículos que nos recomienda y donde usted se basa, echamos de menos que los autores- periodistas aporten los documentos de trabajo que han manejado en esa reunión, las cifras, los proyectos aprobados, la copia literal de los contratos con las empresas que van a llevarlos a cabo.

Es decir, el periodista dice que se han reunido fulano y zutano y mengano que son muy importantes, el lector entiende "reunión de pastores, oveja muerta" y con eso ya tenemos ese punto de vista desinformado y conspiranoico que, justamente nosotros rechazamos.

Si hay pruebas de una conspiración en la actualidad, entre los científicos, millonarios y políticos que se han reunido para financiar políticas sobre el control de la natalidad y contra las enfermedades de transmisión sexual, como el SIDA, lo menos que pueden hacer esos periodistas que nos cita usted es aportar los documentos y las pruebas.

Si no, nos están exigiendo una fe y una credulidad que no tenemos, y que no nos parece que sea conveniente para nuestra salud mental.

Y por otra parte, me parece un error de juicio aceptar sin más este aluvión de datos, bibliografía, y referencias documentales a los que alude y toma como base Eliah Meyer , sin ponerlos en causa, analizarlos, y elaborarlos, para aceptarlos o descartarlos, y decidirse a resumir y smplificar que esto es igual y lo mismo que... lo que pasa con la planificación familiar, que nada tiene que ver.

Espero haber clarificado cuál es nuestra postura como investigadores, al margen de las bromas e ironías, que quizás no hemos sabido dosificar en comentarios.

Saludos cordiales

Le agradezco muchísimo el cambio de tono.Gracias de nuevo

Precisamente los “pastores” hablan del tema abierta y públicamente.Personalmente y por escrito (lo que podría consierarse fuente fiable)

En cuanto a las políticas sobre el control de la natalidad y contra las enfermedades de transmisión sexual, como el SIDA ,en África ya se llevan a cabo . En Namibia, Surafrica o Congo se realizan esterilizaciones forzosas (porque ellas lo ignoran) de mujeres seropositivas.Teniendo en cuenta el elevadísmo número de mujeres africanas infectadas ,ambos objetivos podrán ser incluso rápidamente alcanzados.

Saludos coridales también para usted.

EL JURADO PONE LA ZANCADILLA A LA CHIRIGOTA DE JUAN CARLOS ARAGÓN

Object 11

Object 12

Ooooh, yeaaaahh, come on baby, come on baby, sexo, droga y rock and roll.
No hagas la guerra, y haz el amor.
Y la hierba, y la hierba, no la pises, fumala.
Y menos trabajo y más carnaval,
y menos trabajo y más carnaval.

La chirigota de "Los antesdeyesterday", con letra y música de Juan Carlos Aragón, ha sido penalizada con la retirada del 50% de los puntos obtenidos, porque al Jurado del Teatro Goya de Cádiz le ha parecido que el estribillo era igual que el de "Los Yesterday", con letra y música del mismo autor, de 1999.

"La chirigota representa a ’Los Yesterday’, pero treinta años después. Son hippies que se han aburguesado. Explican en la presentaciòn como era su vida entonces, hasta que deciden ser decentes, tener un cargo en la Junta, y ahora están en el paraíso. Los pasodobles comienzan con "Noooo yeahhh...", aunque en la antigua chirigota era "ooooohhhh yeaaaaahhh".

Por si no lo entienden, les pongo los vídeos para que vean la que liaron en 1999 —y, además, ganaron— y por qué tienen que ponerle la zancadilla a "Los antesyesterday" y a Juan Carlos Aragón: los del jurado del Carnaval de Cádiz lo tienen muy claro: críticar el mamoneo nacional, a los sátrapas y a los corruptos... eso siempre se había hecho en los carnavales de Cádiz; pero viendo lo visto en la plaza Tahrir...

PASODOBLE DE ANDALUCÍA DE LOS YESTERDAY
Letra y música de Juan Carlos Aragón:

Aunque diga Blas Infante:
"Andaluces levantaos...", perdón que no me levante;
pero estoy mejor sentao...
Bueno me voy a poner de pie, voy a dejar de tonterías,
venga una, dos y tres:
¡Qué bonita Andalucía!

Vamos a ponernos serios, que vamos a cantar el himno:
los andaluces queremos, volver a ser lo que fuimos..
lo que fuimos antiguamente, pobrecitos y vasallos, siervos de terratenientes
y de chulos a caballo

Si este pueblo se disparata con la boda de un matavacas y la niña de una duquesa, si este pueblo se le arrodilla a una espada y a una mantilla este pueblo me da vergüenza, menos rollos de verdes mares,
de campiñas y de olivares, que así luego nos luce el pelo castas..

después te ponen la serie de Emilio Aragón..
con sus castas.
Y aparece en el más ínfimo escalón de su estrecha jerarquía, el servilismo mamón
de las marmotas de Andalucía.

Y los del NODO gaditano, tirando de SGAE, quieren echar abajo el canal informativo de la corresponsal popular y por amor al arte de los Carnavales de Cádiz: Guashilandia:

¡Auxilio!

¡Sus y a ellos, que son pocos y cobardes!

JACQUES BREL: LES VIEUX

Les vieux ne parlent plus ou alors seulement

parfois du bout des yeux Même riches ils sont pauvres, ils n’ont plus d’illusions et n’ont qu’un coeur pour deux

Chez eux ça sent le thym, le propre, la lavande et le verbe d’antan Que l’on vive à Paris on vit tous en province quand on vit trop longtemps

Est-ce d’avoir trop ri que leur voix se lézarde quand ils parlent d’hier Et d’avoir trop pleuré que des larmes encore leur perlent aux paupières

Et s’ils tremblent un peu est-ce de voir vieillir
la pendule d’argent
Qui ronronne au salon,
qui dit oui qui dit non,
qui dit: je vous attends

Les vieux ne rêvent plus, leurs livres s’ensommeillent, leurs pianos sont fermés Le petit chat est mort, le muscat du dimanche
ne les fait plus chanter

Les vieux ne bougent plus leurs gestes ont trop de rides leur monde est trop petit Du lit à la fenêtre, puis du lit au fauteuil et puis du lit au lit

Et s’ils sortent encore bras dessus bras dessous tout habillés de raide C’est pour suivre au soleil l’enterrement d’un plus vieux, l’enterrement d’une plus laide

Et le temps d’un sanglot, oublier toute une heure
la pendule d’argent
Qui ronronne au salon,
qui dit oui qui dit non,
et puis qui les attend

Les vieux ne meurent pas, ils s'endorment un jour et dorment trop longtemps Ils se tiennent la main, ils ont peur de se perdre et se perdent pourtant

Et l'autre reste là, le meilleur ou le pire,
le doux ou le sévère Cela n'importe pas, celui des deux qui reste
se retrouve en enfer

Vous le verrez peut-être, vous la verrez parfois en pluie et en chagrin Traverser le présent en s'excusant déjà
de n'être pas plus loin

Et fuir devant vous une dernière fois
la pendule d'argent
Qui ronronne au salon,
qui dit oui qui dit non,
qui leur dit: je t'attends

Qui ronronne au salon,
qui dit oui qui dit non
et puis qui nous attend.

CHIRIGOTA ILEGAL SEMANA CULTURAL VERSALLES-LA VIÑA: MI PAPÁ TIENE UN AMIGO

(Una chirigota muy re-putada)

Mi papá tiene un amigo
que se llama Felipe,
que a su vez tiene un amigo
que se llama Manolo
y Manolo es muy amigo
de un tal José Luis,

que se portó muy bien conmigo,
me hizo un hueco en Madrid,
y si no sabes muy bien quién soy te lo vuelvo a repetir:

Mi papá tiene un amigo
que se llama Felipe,
que a su vez tiene un amigo
que se llama Manolo
y Manolo es muy amigo
de un tal José Luis,
que se portó muy bien conmigo,
me hizo un hueco en Madrid,
y cómo a mí todo me da igual me colocó de Ministra de Igual-dá.

ESTRIBILLO
Turutururururú,
yo soy más igual que tú.
Turutururutú,
yo soy más igual que tú.

Llego a la Moncloa,
mi primer consejo.
¡Qué nerviosa estoy!
Saludé a Solbes, saludé a Teresa,
saludé a Rajoy.
Parece mentira, ¡Qué importante soy!, con el Rey delante
tuve que firmar en cargo:
"Por España, por la Constitución y porque yo lo valgo".
Me ha dicho el ministro Solbes:
"Tu presupuesto está fatal"
y voy a hacer lo que siempre:
Pedirle dinero a papá.
Voy a llevar a todas partes el concepto de "equidad", por eso le pongo una "X"
al Espanyol - Villareal.

ESTRIBILLO
Turutururururú,
yo soy más igual que tú.
Turutururutú,
yo soy más igual que tú.

La igualdad consiste en que dónde dije: "Diego",
"Diega" hay que decir,
y si dije: "Diego"

que lo diga dije...
...esto no es así.
La he cagao de nuevo
ahora irán por mí.
Miembros y "miembras"
pudo costarme el trabajo.
Tenía razón el rajao de Rajoy ¡Qué caraja! ¡Carajo!
Mañana escucharé en la Cope,
no veas la que me van a dar,
cuñas de coña pa dar caña, ¡Coño, qué les gusta rajar!
Me meterá tela la tele
y sobre todo Antena 3, pero si está bueno lo bueno la buena está buena también.

ESTRIBILLO
Turutururururú,
yo soy más igual que tú.
Turutururutú,
yo soy más igual que tú.

Mi despacho verde,
el pasillo verde,
eso es igualdad.
Mis diez bolis rojos,
mis diez bolis negros,
eso es paridad.
Esto no es tan fácil,
pa esto hay que estudiar, no creas que ponen a cualquiera de ministra.
De becaria en Unicaja ya decían que yo era muy lista.
Si sólo hay baño para hombres pondré una ley pa que haya dos con un letrero que te indique:
"Aquí pipí y aquí popó".
Con sindicato y "sindicatas" defenderemos la igualdad
y si yo cobro más que ustedes eso es mejór dejarlo igual.

ESTRIBILLO
Turutururururú,
yo soy más igual que tú.
Turutururutú,
yo soy más igual que tú.

Mi papá tiene un amigo
que se llama Felipe,
que a su vez tiene un amigo

que se llama Manolo
y Manolo es muy amigo
de un tal José Luis,
que se portó muy bien conmigo,
me hizo un hueco en Madrid,
y como a mí todo me da igual
me colocó de Ministra de Igual-dá.

La presente denuncia nace de la publicación por el Ministerio de Cultura de las cantidades declaradas por las diversas entidades de gestión de lo recaudado por copia privada, llamado más popularmente "canon digital"

Primero.- Fuente: Subdirección General de Propiedad Intelectual, Apartados 5.9 y 5.10 del informe colgado por el Ministerio de Cultura sobre las cantidades recaudadas y repartidas por derechos por copia privada por las entidades de gestión durante los años 2008 y 2009, que presentamos como Documento nº 1. La fuente de los anteriores datos es, según consta en las propias tablas y textualmente "Fuente MC Subdirección General de propiedad intelectual". Colgadas en Internet en apartado 5 f de la página

http://www.mcu.es/estadisticas/MC/NAEC/2010/

Segundo.- Es de cumplimiento por lo que hace al reparto de lo recaudado por copia privada el RD 1434/1992 (art. 39) según el cual de las cantidades recaudadas por copia privada deben deducir un 20% (10% para obra social, 10% para fomento de la cultura). Sobre la cantidad remanente, también le pueden aplicar, el descuento de administración / gestión de cobro."

Tercero.- Se pactó y se publicó, además, con el Ministerio que si el total de la recaudación por copia privada, no llegaba a los 100.000.000 de Euros, el Estado, el erario público, es decir, todos nosotros poníamos la diferencia hasta los 100.000.000.- de Euros. (cien millones de Euros o 16.638.000.000.- dieciséis mil seiscientos treinta y ocho millones pesetas)

El Ministerio de Cultura, ha colgado en su web, la documentación acreditativa de las cantidades que presuntamente han cobrado y repartido las entidades de gestión, requisito para poder reclamar la diferencia hasta los 100.000.000 de Euros.

La administración controladora de la veracidad de dichos datos es la Subdirección General de propiedad intelectual, cuyas cabezas visibles son D. CARLOS GUERVOS Subdirector General - Subdirección General de Propiedad Intelectual MINISTERIO DE CULTURA y Dña. PATRICIA MAZARAMBROZ Subdirectora Adjunta Subdirección General de Propiedad Intelectual MINISTERIO DE CULTURA

HECHOS DENUNCIADOS

Primero.- Analicemos para empezar la primera tabla, que acompañamos inmediatamente debajo y que es resumen de los apartados 5.9 y 5.10, que pone en valor y compara lo que se ha recaudado y repartido en los años 2008 y 2009. Indicamos también, los % del monto total repartido y también retenido, así como las cantidades que faltan hasta llegar a los 100.000.000 de euros. El valor de esta tabla se mide en miles de Euros

En primer lugar observamos con sorpresa que en nada se parecen los resultados declarados y obtenidos a la norma que deberían cumplir las entidades de gestión, en recaudación y reparto reseñada en el antecedente segundo. Vemos que se llega a retener a los autores,y de forma indebida, hasta casi la mitad de las cantidades recaudadas (EGEDA y AGEDI).

En nada se parece lo publicado a lo que cabria esperar de una norma tan clara. ¿Cómo es pues posible? ¿Cómo es posible también que aparezcan valores negativos?

Segundo.- Pero, analizando más profundamente las tablas del apartado 5.9, vemos que los números cuadran a la perfección entre si (las sumas), pero no cuadran en absoluto si se aplican los porcentajes de reparto que podemos encontrar en el texto de la LPI. http://www.boe.es/boe/dias/2008/06/19/pdf.

Allí es donde encontramos cuánto se devenga a favor de cada entidad de gestión. Es una pura gestión matemática.

Tomemos por ejemplo a CEDRO. A esta entidad se le atribuye por la norma que regula la recaudación por Copia Privada el 100% de lo recaudado en concepto de Copia Privada sobre equipos multifunción, impresoras, escáneres etc. Y también se le otorga el 1,10% de la recaudación del resto de dispositivos digitales.

Si vamos a la primera franja (VALORES ABSOLUTOS) vemos que el total recaudado en el 2008 ha sido:

Libros 38.218 + Audio 15.401 + Video 27.955 = 81.573.

La tabla dice que el total recaudado por libros (38.218) se reparten de la siguiente manera: 33.521 para Cedro y 4.697 para VEGAP.

Dado que conceden íntegramente (se reparte algo a VEGAP) los 38.218 a CEDRO entendemos que se trata de recaudación exclusivamente proveniente de equipos del tipo impresoras, multifunción, escáneres…la pregunta es ¿Dónde está el 1,10% que le corresponde a esta entidad de lo recaudado sobre el resto de dispositivos digitales? ¿Quién se queda con ese MILLON largo de Euros que le corresponderían?

Aún sin entender eso, pero viendo que esa cantidad se concede íntegramente a CEDRO, intentamos hacer el cálculo de lo que le correspondería a SGAE teniendo en cuenta que opta al 50% de lo recaudado en concepto de Audio y al 33% de lo recaudado en concepto de video.

Calculando esos porcentajes sobre las cifras del año 2008 que aparecen en la franja VALORES ABSOLUTOS, deberíamos poder leer en algún lugar, asignada a SGAE, la siguiente cantidad: 16.925,65…pero no es así.

¿Es que SGAE renuncia a esa cantidad o su diferencia? Y si renuncia ¿A quién beneficia?

Da la impresión que las cantidades presentadas han sido "cerradas" para cumplir con el trámite de presentación, sin mayor control por parte de los organismos públicos que debían vigilar nuestro dinero. La idea, repetimos, es llegar a cobrar de los 100.000.000 de Euros pactados, el pedazo de tarta lo más grande posible.

Tercero.- ¿Cómo podemos probar que eso es así? Pues analizando los otros documentos oficiales y públicos que las entidades de gestión han presentado a sus socios, registros y entidades públicas.

Empecemos por SGAE, para ello recurrimos al:

A. "INFORME DE GESTION Y RESPONSABILIDAD SOCIAL CORPORATIVA DE LA SGAE 09" Publicado en Informes de gestión de las entidades de derechos de propiedad Intelectual.

En su página nº 93 informa de los DERECHOS REPARTIDOS (en miles de euros) correspondientes a la copia privada.

Y lo comparamos con:

B. "ANUARIO ESTADISTICAS CULTURALES 2010" Capitulo 5. Propiedad Intelectual.

Ver 5.10 Cantidades repartidas por derechos de copia privada

Hemos hecho para mayor esclarecimiento una tabla donde en la casilla "A-Informe" se refleja la cantidad que dicen que se ha repartido y la contraponemos con las cantidades declaradas en la casilla "B-Anuario" que son las publicadas en el punto 5.10 del Documento nº 1.

Presentamos como Documento nº 2 el extracto de la página del mencionado informe SGAE (en miles de Euros)

	A. 2008 Informe	B. 2008 Anuario	A. 2009 Informe	B. 2009 Anuario
Copia Privada

Audio	8.920,00 €	8.472,00 €	8.765,00 €	7.986,00 €
Video	10.353,00 €	10.118,00 €	9.352,00 €	9.068,00

La más simple observación constata que las cantidades no coinciden en absoluto; pero analicemos con detalle las diferencias. Vemos con sorpresa que las cantidades contenidas en el Anuario, son sensiblemente inferiores a las del informe corporativo. Exactamente 683.000 Euros en 2008 y 1.063.000 euros en el año 2009. Es decir que a la hora de querer cobrar del pastel de los CIEN KILOS, "casualmente" han declarado menos ingresos que los que aparecen y han reflejado en sus otros documentos públicos.

Cuarto.- Continuemos con CEDRO, cuyo caso es más grave si cabe, para ello recurrimos a su memoria del año 2009:

A. "MEMORIA 2009" Publicada en Informes de gestión de las entidades de derechos de propiedad Intelectual

En su página nº 21, apartado 3.3.1.1. Copia Privada, dice que en el 2009, CEDRO recaudó por copia privada en España un total de 21.981.801 euros, cuando en el anuario refleja 20.930.000, (menos también) lo que supuso una disminución del 42 % respecto a la recaudación del 2008, que fue de 37.876.540 euros cuando en el anuario declara 33.521.000.

Es decir, declara de menos en el año 2008 1.051.801,00 € y 4.355.540,00 en el 2009.

Presentamos copia de dicha página como Documento nº 3.

En resumen, sólo estas dos entidades, han declarado justamente "coincidentemente" en el sentido de su declaración 7.196.641,00 Euros de menos. En pesetas eso serían, más de MIL CIENTO NOVENTA Y SIETE MILLONES.

7.196.641,00 euros de más, que debemos poner los ciudadanos de nuestro bolsillo

Quinto.- Tampoco EGEDA está exenta de este presunto fraude. En la página 34, de su informe de gestión indica que las recaudaciones por copia privada del año 2008 son de 12.000.000 de euros, cuando la declaración incluida en el anuario a efectos de cobro ese año 2008 es de 8.851.000 €. Es decir, más de TRES MILLONES DE EUROS, MÁS DE MIL MILLONES DE PESETAS. Presento de Documento nº 4 dicha página 34 del informe del año 2009.

Recordemos que este informe de gestión, como todos los de las entidades aquí denunciadas viene avalado por la firma de los correspondientes auditores y presentado por el Consejo de Dirección, y aprobados en Asamblea. ¿Se hacen también responsables los auditores de las cifras presentadas?. ¿Son responsables los miembros de las diversas juntas de gobierno de lo que se avala con su firma?. Sólo es de ver los informes publicados de cada año.

Sexto.- En AIE TAMPOCO SALEN LOS NUMEROS... declaran a sus socios que han repartido menos, mucho menos, de lo que dicen en el Informe (documento nº 1) que han repartido y llegados a ese punto.... ¡para qué contar más, en ese patio de Monipodio!. Presento de Documento nº 5 página 101 de la memoria de AIE

correspondiente al año 2008

Séptimo.- Independientemente del no cumplimiento de la norma, entendemos que... o las declaraciones son inventadas... o las entidades están, con mala fe, ocultando en perjuicio de los autores, reteniendo y utilizando los ingresos para cosas diferentes de las que conforman la copia privada.

Octavo.- Por las declaraciones previas, del 2008, (Vide declaraciones negativas), sólo podemos deducir que las cantidades declaradas, son cantidades repartidas en su totalidad, es decir incluyendo (10% para obra social, 10% para fomento de la cultura), más la gestión de cobro. Si ello es así, las cantidades retenidas lo han sido de retrotraer del reparto a los socios indebidamente cantidades que les correspondían. Es decir estaríamos en 0% o muy cercano a esa cifra.

Y en el caso que no fuera así, las retenciones de casos como AGEDI Y EGEDA, no tienen explicación posible. Ni aunque no se hubiera deducido nada. Se han apropiado y no liquidado pues, de cantidades que pertenecen a los autores.

Noveno.- No entra en esta denuncia, porque no es su objeto, qué cosas se consideran obra social o fomento de la cultura (en algunas Entidades de Gestión de ese capitulo se pagan a los abogados que ponen las demandas del canon digital, se organizan actos lúdicos y congresos en defensa de la propiedad intelectual, se pagan asesores, viajes, dietas y se forma y beca a funcionarios públicos y finalmente se subvenciona directa e indirectamente a los partidos políticos mayoritarios (PSOE; PP y CIU) sin los cuales no se entendería la situación aquí permitida y denunciada.

Repetimos, no es objeto de esta denuncia, aunque entendemos que la fiscalía a la que nos dirigimos, en otro procedimiento debería examinar los mas de TRENTA MILLONES DE EUROS que en estos dos años comporta este capítulo. Lo cierto es que entidades como Cedro (escritores, traductores, científicos) han echado el cerrojo públicamente a los beneficios sociales de sus socios. Repetimos, han echado el cerrojo a algo que vienen obligados a repartir por ley. Presentamos de Documento nº 6 circular de CEDRO de 16 de diciembre de 2010.

Tampoco entramos en valorar, pues, si realmente se gasta la totalidad de ese 20%, ni qué se hace con las cantidades no repartidas por no haber socios a los que liquidar. Sea por ser fruto de recaudación de obras de dominio público, obras creative commons o simplemente que no se encuentra al autor, y que no se devuelven al inicial pagador, ni se descuentan del montante que la caja pública se ha comprometido a liquidar.

Las cantidades no devueltas a los pagadores será el fruto, con toda probabilidad, de otra denuncia.

Entendemos que ese 37,5% de 2009 y ese 14,07% de 2008 retenidos de más, más las cantidades no retornadas por diversos motivos, más la diferencia hasta los cien millones, (no entramos en el reparto de ese 10%+10%) es una capitalización extra que debería haber sido dedicada al fin por que fue recaudada y si no lo ha sido, retornada.

Hablamos, solo en estos dos años de MÁS DE CINCUENTA MILLONES DE EUROS, MAS DE OCHO MIL MILLONES DE PESETAS.

Tampoco queda claro si la diferencia de lo declarado hasta los 100[1]000.000 de Euros, se ha pagado por parte del estado, y si se ha pagado, quién lo ha cobrado y cómo se ha repartido. Tanto en caso de haberse pagado, como que no, ¿Cómo es que no está reflejado en los estados contables de las entidades de gestión?

Décimo.- Pero es que la situación objeto de la presente denuncia es aún más surrealista. Esas mismas entidades que se rasgan las vestiduras hablando de que nuestro país es una cueva de ladrones y de piratas, apoyando sus argumentos en estudios inventados (eso habrá de ser trabajo para otra denuncia) por sus departamentos de marketing, van aún más lejos. AUTOEXONERAN A SUS SOCIOS DE PAGAR EL CANON DIGITAL.

Sí, Rinconete y Cortadillo eran unos aficionados. Así matan las entidades de gestión, dos pájaros de un tiro. Tienen socios agradecidos que no preguntan y salen a defenderles por los medios de comunicación y esas cantidades las recobran del Estado, que para eso son "autores" y son las "víctimas", y cuando no, les protegen y amparan para obtener subvenciones, aunque estén declarados insolventes por el propio Estado. Presento de Documento nº 7 Carta de Egeda a la Productora Antares y contrato firmado por ambos donde SE LE EXONERA DEL PAGO DEL CANON DIGITAL, al ingresar como socio en EGEDA y de Documento nº 8-1 presento factura de compra de Producciones Kaplan, S.L., donde, a pesar de comprar discos duros externos, con su correspondiente caja se le exime del canon digital en la factura, De Documento 8-2 Resolución de fecha 2 de febrero de 2009 donde se concede una subvención a Producciones Kaplan por la película asesino a sueldo, y de Documento 8-3 BORME de 16 de mayo de 2008 declarando la insolvencia judicial de Producciones Kaplan, S.L.. ¡10 meses antes de ser subvencionada!... pero el tema de las subvenciones... (Eso habrá de ser trabajo para otra denuncia), Los anteriores datos, (documentos 7 y 8) obran también poder de la Subdirección General de la Propiedad Intelectual al haber sido publicados a mediados de 2009 en diversos medios.

Estamos ante una defraudación coordinada de decenas de millones de Euros, cuyas víctimas y engañados son, en primer lugar, los autores y, sin lugar a dudas, la Hacienda pública española y también la comunitaria. Por cierto, en ninguno de los informes, balances y contabilidades de esas empresas privadas... hemos visto pagos del Impuesto de Sociedades. Y eso que, recaudan, se quedan lo que muy probablemente no es suyo y no devuelven.

Lo que no sabemos, es si la connivencia de la Subdirección de la Propiedad Intelectual lo es, por acción o por omisión, o si son órdenes directas de la propia Secretaría General del Ministerio. Pero, como las meigas, de haberlas, haylas. Solo hay que ver que, muchos de los datos aquí denunciados han sido obtenidos por haber sido publicados también por el Ministerio de Cultura.

Habremos, todo sea dicho en estricto derecho de defensa, de inventar un nombre para esas prácticas y esos personajes, porque el sambenito de "piratas" ya nos lo han colocado al resto de los ciudadanos. Como en el caso de la Ley Sinde, eso nos pasa por legislar en favor de los intermediarios.

De ello que presentemos denuncia por entender que:

a) Se ha vulnerado el RD 1434/1992 (art. 39) al no repartir a autores, productores y ejecutantes y apropiarse lo que la ley establece por importe total de MÁS DE CINCUENTA MILLONES DE EUROS, MáS DE OCHO MIL MILLONES DE PESETAS.

b) Se ha incurrido en falsedad documental ya que las cuentas presentadas a los asociados y a la administración no coinciden.

c) Posible Fraude a la Hacienda Pública al declarar ante la administración pública una cantidad inferior para así obtener una mayor subvención.

d) Posible fraude a los asociados, autores, productores y artistas, al no coincidir lo declarado con lo cobrado.

En su virtud, A LA FISCALIA SUPLICO: Que tenga por presentado este escrito con sus copias y los documentos acompañados y en su virtud proceder de conformidad, esclareciendo las responsabilidades de los hechos denunciados.

JUAN MARTÍNEZ VILLERGAS: A LOS CRÍTICOS Y CENSORES

O los sublimes primores mostrad de vuestro talento, o punto en boca, censores;
obras, obras son amores,
todo lo demás es cuento.

Bien sé cuando voy a hablar que os debo ser antipático;
mas ya me tiene a matar tanto inexperto escolar con humos de catedrático.

Ya que la tizona vibre, súfranla los que la quieran;
pero a mí, dejadme libre;
porque eso no lo toleran
los hombres de mi calibre.

El que se meta en lo ajeno con aire de profesor pueda decir sin rubor, eso es malo o eso es bueno;
pero yo lo hago mejor.

Pues son por muchas razones, visto de cerca o de lejos, extrañas aberraciones que quiera darnos lecciones quien debe tomar consejos.

Es raro que tanto maula muestre tesoro tan pingüe, cuando debiera ir al aula.
Perdonadme el lapsus linguae,
iba a decir que a una jaula.

Yo comprendo cuando adverso refunfuño, rezo y rifo, que para hacerle perverso, no basta medir un verso con el compás de Rengifo*.

Y nunca dudé, señores, que si tales cuchufletas produjeran trovadores, dejarais de ser censores con tal de haceros poetas.

Aquí está todo el resumen;
que bien ese afán se entiende de ostentar estro y cacumen:
por vuestra desgracia el numen ni se compra ni se aprende.

Pero ya que vuestra mente del genio que ofusca y vuela seguir no puede el torrente;
a hincarle se atreve el diente,
y esto, a lo menos, consuela.

Cuando escucharos me toca, de frío sudo. ¡Dios mío!
Mas ¿qué dije? Punto en boca, que esto de sudar de frío es una antítesis loca.

Mis propios ojos con pasmo contemplan vuestros antojos;
pero... ceda el entusiasmo, que esto de mis propios ojos es un atroz pleonasmo.

Aunque los crudos rigores menospreciéis de mis befas, me choca veros, censores,
con ojos exploradores,
a caza de sinalefas.

¿Y no será tontería que siendo un cuadro completo de belleza y bizarría, pierda su gracia un soneto por una cacofonía?

Al ripio asaltáis cual lobos
y al robo os hacéis los bobos;
no convengo en el principio, porque entre ripios y robos lo menos malo es el ripio.

Pensáis de modo diverso;
mas ya entiendo el logogrifo.
Para vosotros un verso ni es robusto ni perverso, si no lo dice Rengifo*.

Murmuráis dale que dale de cada libro que sale,
y yo diré por respuesta que apreciarais lo que vale si supierais lo que cuesta.

Y pues vuestras plumas son tan crudamente sanguíneas, ahí las doy buena ración

en esta improvisación con más defectos que líneas.

Pero merece la pena
de oírse lo que os anuncio:
si alguien sin razón me truena, no hay remedio, me pronuncio
y anda la marimorena.

Y una vez y veinte y ciento, queridísimos censores,
os diré como lo siento:
obras, obras son amores,
todo lo demás es cuento.

Juan Martínez Villergas (1816-1894)

MANUEL DEL PALACIO: A UN USURERO

No me escribas ya más, porque es en vano;
ni soy cual dices tu apreciable amigo, ni tengo nada en común contigo, bárbaro azote del linaje humano.

Yo podré ser gentil, mas no pagano,
y pongo al Padre eterno por testigo de que prefiero el cobre del mendigo al oro recibido de tu mano.

Si alguna vez mis yerros juveniles me llevaron a ti con harta pena desconociendo tus instintos viles:

hoy, si el destino a verte me condena, iré, pero escoltado por civiles como quien va a cruzar Sierra Morena.

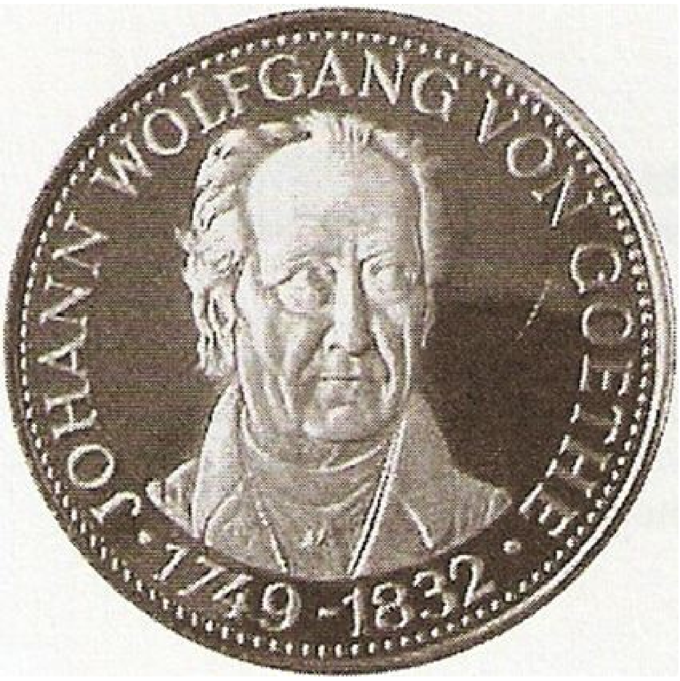
GOETHE: LOS AÑOS DE APRENDIZAJE DE WILHELM MEISTER



"Si el noble no conoce ninguna frontera en la vida común, si en todo lugar puede hacerse de él un rey o algo similar, le es lícito presentarse en todas partes sereno y aplomado, puede avanzar siempre. Por el contrario, el burgués ha de tener ante sus ojos la línea que traza la frontera que nunca se ha de aventurar a cruzar. Él no puede permitirse preguntar «¿quién eres?» sino «¿qué tienes? ¿Cuánta inteligencia, cuánta experiencia, cuánta capacidad, cuánto patrimonio?». Si para ofrecerlo todo al noble le basta con mostrar su persona, el burgués ni ofrece nada con su personalidad ni debe ofrecerlo. Aquél puede y debe aparentar, éste tiene que ser auténtico, y si intenta aparentar resulta vulgar y ridículo. Aquél debe hacer e influir, éste debe trabajar y rendir, debe formarse en una profesión para hacerse necesario y se presupone que en su ser no hay armonía ni puede haberla, pues para hacerse útil en una faceta ha de desatender todas las demás."

MANUEL DEL PALACIO: A UN CRÍTICO

Tu carta recibí, sabe Dios cuándo, y a entenderla llegué, sabe Dios cómo;
me has dado un palizón de tomo y lomo de esos que al más cerril dejan temblando.

¡Cuánto lo habrás venido meditando!
¡Qué estudiar en un tomo y otro tomo!
¡Qué fino aquello de llamarme romo, hipócrita, gandul y hasta nefando!

Sigue por esa senda; luce el brío;
procura que la ciencia no te empache,

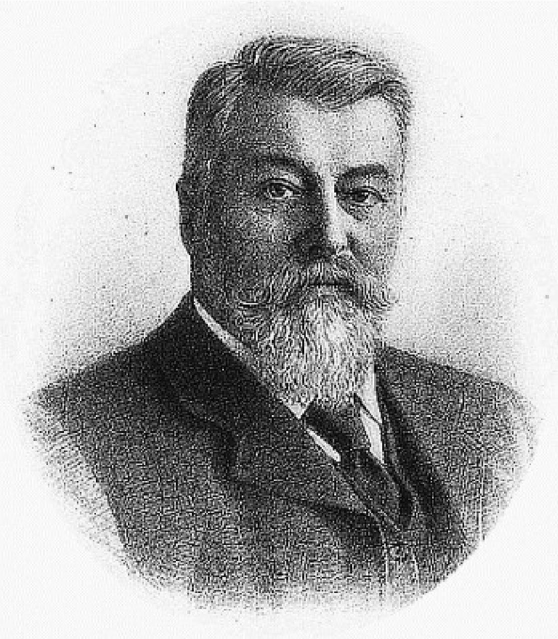
WALTER H. GASKELL: EL ORIGEN DE LOS VERTEBRADOS



"En el instante en que los vertebrados aparecieron por primera vez, la dirección y el ritmo del cambio en los artrópodos estaba desembocando, debido a la forma en que el cerebro era atravesado por el esófago, en un terrible dilema: o capacidad para ingerir el alimento, pero sin la inteligencia suficiente para capturarlo; o inteligencia suficiente para capturar la comida, pero sin la capacidad para ingerirla."

CORRECCIÓN

Tenía ojos de cierva, y yo envidié sus pestañas y la dulzura equívoca de su mirada miope y el parpadeo lentísimo antes de bajar la vista. Sin embargo, cuando se puso las gafas, sus ojos eran como dos puñaladas en un huevo de codorniz. Cuando le dirigía la palabra esbozaba una sonrisa sutil, con una timidez conmovedora de novicia, y tenía esa forma de hablar episcopal y sincopada que hacen tan elocuentes los silencios.

Sus víctimas nunca supieron que aquel hombre tan correcto habría de ser su verdugo. Luego les enviaba una corona de flores para el funeral y gastaba el diez por ciento de su sueldo en misas por sus almas: el diezmo para la parroquia del finado, que ya no habría de dejar unas monedas cada domingo.

Todo eso lo cuenta en la autobiografía que escribió cuando dejó de aceptar asesinatos por encargo, y que yo me encargué de corregir, porque masacró la ortografía y casi mata de aburrimiento al lector con su erudición en toxicología: la cumarina, el digital y los alcaloides de los hongos enteógenos fueron sus preferidos, pero tampoco descartó describir el efecto verdoso en la tez que provoca el ácido fórmico desde los primeros momentos.

—Estoy seguro de que cumplirá su promesa y no le dirá a nadie lo que escribo... —me dijo. Y yo le sonreí apiadándome de su ingenuidad, porque cualquiera que me conozca sabe que soy incapaz de guardar un secreto ajeno.

Cuando acabé mi trabajo me dio un cheque por encima de mis pretensiones y me invitó a café para celebrarlo, mientras me contaba, turbado y titubeante, que también escribía versos y querría que algún día se publicaran... Hablamos apasionadamente sobre literatura sin darnos cuenta de la hora y cuando me despedí, hacía un rato que su criada había retirado el servicio de café, y la luz del atardecer ya dejaba ver un tinte bilioso en su rostro.

Menos mal que pude intercambiar las tazas...

RIPIOS AD CUACOS VICTOR GARCÍA DE LA CONCHA ATQUE JOSÉ MANUEL BLECUA

(A la manera de don Agustín Moreto y Cabana)

En el sexto aniversario de Gatopardo

Otra vez nuestros braços de tan firme amistad eternos laços sean, noble e sofrido lector, para el Docto Victor Desconchado que oy le deue a su diestra tan alto imperio, oh patria nuestra, y a su pluma de pavo enpavonado, honor del griego, gloria del tebano, el ser primo segundo
de la casta poyética del mundo.

No de su imperio excluyo la nobleza que aunque a mis armas debe su grandeza, muchas de las palabras que avassalla, a él se deuen en no menor batalla el ágrafo afán de todos denostado, siendo en la RAE supremo magistrado.

Ahora llega quien sabe de botellas, oh Blecua, mejor llamado Baco, pues bebe su ciencia dellas, por que nadie diga que es un cuaco.

QUERIDA AGÜELA; Queridas Amigas y Amigos de GATOPARDO, ¡¡¡FELICIDADES POR SU SEXTO ANIVERSARIO!!!
En reconocimiento al Equipo de Trabajo de GATOPARDO, por su firme constancia de exponer contundentemente lo que no es mejor para los pueblos; de cuestionar la permanencia de corruptos e ineficientes, así como de complices en el Poder Público, en igualdad de género, sin dejar de respetar las posibles excepciones; y, en razón de la Pasión con la cual lo hacen, les comparto solo unos versos del Ilustre Poeta Mexicano y Veracruzano apasionado, Don Salvador Díaz Mirón; de su Poema " A Gloria"

"No intentes convencerme de torpeza con los delirios de tu mente loca:
mi razón es al par luz y firmeza, firmeza y luz como el cristal de roca.

"Inútil es que con tenaz murmullo exageres el lance en que me enredo:
yo soy altivo, y el que alienta orgullo lleva un broquel impenetrable al miedo.

Fiando en el instinto que me empuja,desprecio los peligros que señalas.
«El ave canta aunque la rama cruja,como que sabe lo que son sus alas».

Erguido bajo el golpe en la porfía,me siento superior a la victoria.
Tengo fe en mí; la adversidad podría,quitarme el triunfo, pero no la gloria.

¡Deja que me persigan los abyectos!
¡Quiero atraer la envidia aunque me abrume!
La flor en que se posan los insectos es rica de matiz y de perfume.

¡Fuerza es que sufra mi pasión! La palma crece en la orilla que el oleaje azota.
El mérito es el náufrago del alma:
vivo, se hunde; pero muerto, ¡flota!

¡¡¡FELICIDADES!!! A TODASA Y A TODOS Y QUE CUMPLAN MUCHOS, MUCHOS AÑOS JUNTOS SIEMPRE.

MINISTRA SINDE, DIMISIÓN

actuable.es solicita la firma para pedir la dimisión de la Ministra de Cultura. Al firmarla estarás enviando esta carta:

Destinatario: Ministra González Sinde

Pido la dimisión de la ministra González Sinde por aprobar una Ley de espaldas al pueblo al que dice representar.

El pueblo se ha manifestado en contra de esa ley, y, por lo tanto, como parte del pueblo he dejado de depositar mi confianza en la ministra. Además quisiera recordar al gobierno que no somos números en bancos, no somos monedas y billetes de euro. Somos personas, ciudadanos criminalizados, cuya libertad ha sido agredida por susodicha ministra.

Como parte del pueblo que se ha manifestado mayoritariamente contrario a la Ley Sinde, pido la dimisión de la ministra por no defender los intereses de los ciudadanos, en pro de la democracia que los ciudadanos deseamos.

Atentamente,

ROMANCE «DURANDARTE ENVÍA SU CORAZÓN A BELERMA»

22 DURANDARTE ENVÍA SU CORAZÓN A BELERMA

Las campanas de París estaban tocando al alba, cuando el noble Montesinos de noche entró en la batalla, iba al pesque de Roldán, ese señor de Loraña.
Por un reguero de sangre, Montesinos se guiaba,
y encontrara un hombre muerto
al par de una verde haya.
No conoce al caballero

por mucho que lo repara, que le conturban la vista las cintas de la celada.
Y se apeó del caballo
y le descubrió la cara.
—¡Oh, mi amigo Montesinos, mal nos fue en esta batalla, que mataron a Guarín, capitán de nuestra escuadra!
Cuando mi cuerpo esté muerto, muerto que no tenga alma,
me sacas el corazón
por la más chiquita llaga
y lo llevas a París,
a donde Belerma estaba;
y de mi parte le dices
estas siguientes palabras:
“Que el que muerto se lo envía, vivo no se lo negara”.—
Berlerma estaba en París de doncellas rodeada.
—¡Ay, triste de mí, cativa, ay, triste de mí, cuitada;
ay, triste de mí, aburrida,
algún mal se me acercaba, ahí viene Montesinos
embozado en una capa!—
Lo primero que pregunta:
—Tu primo ¿cómo quedaba?
—Mi primo quedara bueno mi primo bueno quedara;
mi primo quedara muerto
al pie de una verde haya, aquí traigo el corazón,
yo mismo se lo sacara;
y al mismo tiempo te traigo
estas siguientes palabras:
“Que el que muerto te lo envía
vivo no te lo negara”;
corazón el más valiente, que el rey tenía en España.—
Al oír estas palabras, Belerma cae desmayada.
Ni con agua ni con vino,
no fueron a recordarla.

Así se canta el romance en los pueblos “conqueiros” del Occidente de Asturias; también es recordado por los gitanos del Puerto de Santa María y de Triana. El tópico de que el enamorado (o enamorada), cuando verdaderamente ama, entrega a su amada (o amado) su corazón, tema muy recurrente en la literatura medieval europea, fue desarrollado en el Romancero del siglo XV en un famosísimo romance, en que un caballero anónimo, malherido, exige a su primo Montesinos, antes de morir, que, como último acto de caballería, lleve su corazón a su amada Belerma. Tenía este comienzo:

¡Oh Belerma, oh Belerma, por mi mal fuiste engendrada!
¡Siete años te serví, que de ti no alcancé nada,
y agora que me querías
muero yo en esta batalla!

El enorme éxito de este romance en el siglo XVI dio lugar a que se creara un nuevo romance, a modo de segundo acto de “Oh Belerma, oh Belerma”, en que Montesinos cumple el encargo del muerto (a quien ahora se identifica como Durandarte). Esta continuación gozó, a su vez, de tanta popularidad que fueron numerosos los arreglos a los que fue sometida en su divulgación escrita. De las seis versiones conocidas de este nuevo romance, cinco comienzan:

Muerto yaze (o queda) Durandarte al pie de una alta (o grande) montaña, localización que en una de ellas, glosada por Burguillos, se precisa con un segundo verso:

tendido baxo una fuente,
al pie de una verde rama, el cual fue modificado en textos derivados de esa glosa en la forma:

un canto por cabecera,
debaxo una verde haya;

de donde surgió el nuevo comienzo del romance:

Muerto yaze Durandarte debaxo (o al pie de) una verde haya.

Este “motivo” de la verde haya fascinó a cuantos en adelante trataron el tema a finales del siglo XVI según una estética nueva, hasta el punto de que, en los Cartapacios manuscritos de entre 1580 y 1600, hallamos cuatro “romances nuevos” sobre Durandarte en que aparece.

También en el curso de las transformaciones de los dos primeros romances citados se forja la expresión:

que quien (o a quien) vivo se lo dio, muerto no se lo negara (o puede negallo), antecesora del verso:

que el que muerto te lo envía,
vivo no te lo negara.

Pero, para comprender la génesis del romance tradicional moderno, tenemos que recurrir a una etapa posterior a la de la proliferación de “romances nuevos” inspirados en viejos temas del romancero. Cuando ya estos romances de los poetas de fines del siglo XVI habían sido pasto de los lectores de las “Flores de romances” (que, llegado el año 1600, reunió en un gran libro el llamado Cancionero general), surgieron unos tardíos compiladores que, para dar noticia más cumplida de los temas de mayor fama, trataron de combinar las versiones viejas y nuevas publicadas a lo largo de los tiempos. En el caso de Montesinos y Durandarte, el responsable de esa recuperación de los romances más antiguos al lado de los más nuevos fue un editor, residente en Valencia, llamado Damián López de Tortajada, que en una Floresta de varios romances sacados de las historias de los hechos famosos de los doze Pares de Francia aora nuevamente corregidos (1642), para recuperar buena parte de los pormenores narrativos y expresivos de los romances viejos, rehizo el ciclo que sobre esos personajes había compuesto Lucas Rodríguez (en 1581, o quizá ya en 1579). Tortajada combinó el punto de vista del romance nuevo "Por el rastro de la sangre" con el discurso de "O Belerma" y alternó motivos nacidos en uno y otro; además introdujo alusiones a otros temas del ciclo de Roncesvalles.

Es esta labor del compilador de mediados del siglo XVII la que se refleja en la tradición moderna. Pero es sorprendente cómo, de los doscientos cincuenta y dos octosílabos de que consta el ciclo publicado por Tortajada, la tradición oral, desde la segunda mitad del siglo XVII hasta el último tercio del siglo XX, ha acertado a destilar un relato de unos cincuenta octosílabos, en un estilo tan similar al de los"romances viejos" venidos de la Edad Media como el de la versión por mí recogida el 29 de junio de 1980 en Corralín (Asturias) de boca de Anselmo García, de 93 años, similar a las de otros vecinos de las aldeas "conqueiras". Los textos gitano-andaluces, asimismo basados en el ciclo de Tortajada, pero peor "tradicionalizados", nos testimonian que la labor de poda de los modelos del siglo XVII no fue obra previa al proceso de oralización, sino resultado de ese proceso.

Otra cuestión digna de nota es la vigencia en la cultura rústica, en que el Romancero tradicional sobrevive de ordinario (dejados aparte los casos particulares de las comunidades judeo-españolas y las gitanas), de los códigos y los motivos simbólicos de la poesía "cortesana" y "clásica" que trasmitió la Edad Media hasta el Renacimiento, cuando ya, en la ideología y la estética de los grandes escritores del Barroco, tales conceptos sólo podían tratarse tomándolos a chirigota.

Para Góngora, en 1582, para Cervantes, en 1615, el famoso corazón de Durandarte llevado a Belerma era un tema "momificado", según manifiestan el romance gongorino "Diez años vivió Belerma / con el coraçón difunto" y el sueño del hidalgo manchego en la Cueva de Montesinos, durante el cual llega a encontrarse con Durandarte (el arquetipo romancístico de caballeros enamorados) y oye a Montesinos relatar:

"Ya, señor Durandarte, caríssimo primo mío, ya hize lo que me mandaste en el azyago día de nuestra pérdida, ya os saqué el coraçón lo mejor que pude, sin que os dexasse una mínima parte en el pecho, ya le limpié con un pañizuelo de puntas, y partí con él de carrera para Francia, aviéndoos primero puesto en el seno de la tierra, con tantas lágrimas que fueron bastantes a lavarme las manos y limpiarme con ellas la sangre que tenían de averos andado en las entrañas, y, por más señas, primo del alma, en el primer logar que topé saliendo de Roncesvalles, eché un poco de sal en vuestro coraçón porque no oliesse mal y fuesse, si no fresco, a lo menos amojamado a la presencia de la señora Belerma".

Resulta maravilloso ver cómo trescientos setenta y cinco años después de que Cervantes diera por momificado el tópico de la entrega del corazón enamorado, un conjunto de aldeanos, artesanos y mercaderes "conqueiros", dedicados a labrar y a vender, como mercaderes ambulantes, "cuencos" de madera de haya, sigan haciendo parte de su sentir un "concepto" de la poesía trovadoresca medieval forjado en la ideología amatoria del mundo cortés.

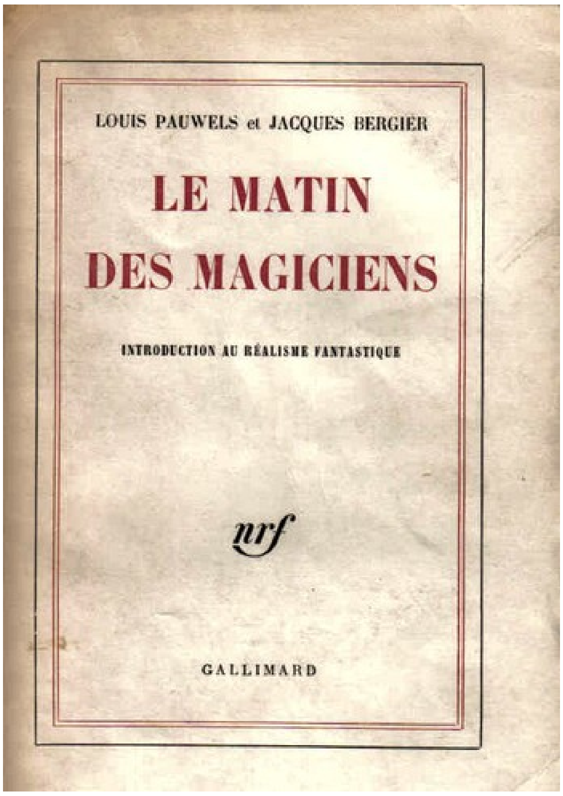
OTRO PLAGIARIO: MANUEL BARREDA, DE PERIODISTA DIGITAL/ BLOG HUMANISMO SIN CREDOS



Manuel Barreda, del blog de Periodista Digital, "Humanismo sin credos", en su artículo Sobre el Universo: origen y devenir. Cosmogonías y aromas de Oriente y Occidente (10/10); publicado el 07.12.10 | 12:00 horas, escribe:

"Ahora un pensamiento curioso, digno de un filósofo griego, que debemos al matemático Jules Henri Poincaré (1854-1912). Aunque este defendía que "una hipótesis científica no es nunca verdadera; sólo puede ser útil", jugó a realizar una proposición irrefutable: "Si el Universo se contrajese un millón de veces, y nosotros con él, nadie advertiría nada." Su argumento fue citado hasta principios del siglo XX como modelo de profundidad. Hasta que un ingeniero observó que, por lo menos, "se daría cuenta el tocinero, pues sus jamones caerían al suelo". Puede que se hayan quedado como estaban, pero párense a considerar que, aunque el peso de un jamón es proporcional a su volumen, la fuerza de la cuerda que lo sostiene no lo es a su sección. De modo que si el Universo se contrajera un millón de veces, todos los jamones del mundo caerían al

Texto plagiado del capítulo "Futuro anterior", de "El retorno de los brujos", (Le matin des magiciens) de Louis Pauwels y Jacques Bergier, publicado el año 1960, donde dice:

"Las inteligencias disponibles en los albores del siglo XX se hallan enfrascadas en las especulaciones sobre el éter. En 1898, se produce la catástrofe: el experimento de Michelson, y Henri Poincaré, matemático genial, sentía gravitar sobre sí el enorme peso de ese siglo XIX que había sido carcelero y verdugo de lo fantástico. Él habría descubierto la relatividad si se hubiese atrevido. Pero no se atrevió. La valeur de la Science, La Science et l'Hypothése, son obras desesperadas y de dimisión. Para él, la hipótesis científica no es nunca verdadera; sólo puede ser útil. Y es como una fonda española: sólo se encuentra en ella lo que uno lleva. Según Poincaré, si el Universo se contrajese un millón de veces, y nosotros con él, nadie advertiría nada. Especulaciones inútiles, por ajenas a toda realidad sensible. Su argumento fue citado hasta principios de nuestro siglo como modelo de profundidad. Hasta el día en que un experto ingeniero hizo observar que, por lo menos, se daría cuenta el tocinero, pues todos sus jamones se vendrían al suelo. El peso de un jamón es proporcional a su volumen, pero la fuerza de un hilo no es proporcional a su sección. ¡Que se contraiga el Universo un millón de veces, y todos los jamones irán por los suelos! ¡Pobre, viejo y querido Poincaré!"

He tratado de comunicarme con el autor a través de la sección de comentarios del blog para pedirle que tenga la amabilidad de rectificar, entrecomillar, y citar la fuente de donde copia, porque no hacerlo es delito, y, lo que es peor, eso de robar está muy feo, aunque más triste es pedir.

No ha funcionado. Ni caso ni modo. Manuel Barreda debe de ser uno de esos licenciados-con-master que han llegado al convencimiento de que los lectores somos tan lisiados mentales como su editor, y no nos damos cuenta de que nos están estafando.

Por si acaso, aviso: si ven a este gachupín plagiario cerca: culo contra la pared. Vigilen la cartera. No pierdan de vista el bolso. Ojo al reloj. Escondan los libros.

De nada. Ya saben que me gusta ser útil.

No llamaría yo "plagio" a recurrir a una fuente. Para ser sincero, ni uno solo de los casos que cito ha sido inventado por mí, luego han sido obtenidos de diversas fuentes, siendo Asimov tal vez el autor principal (muy por delante de la obra que cita acertadamente, cuyos párrafos, como en los otros casos, no se reproducen literalmente). En realidad, debería citar unos 5 libros sólo en dicho artículo.
¿He de poner cada uno de ellos, siendo el caso que varias de las afirmaciones citadas he podido hallarlas en unas cuantas fuentes, de diversos autores, desconociendo quién fue el primero en cada caso?
Con todo, mi reconocimiento: en la diapositiva delpower point correspondiente que presento a mis alumnos, figura el siguiente pie para esa anécdota concreta. (De Louis Pawels y Jacques Bergier: “El retorno de los brujos”)

PARÁSITOS CULTURALES

El último hallazgo de los comentaristas y tertulianos a favor de la Ley Sinde incluye decir que somos "parásitos culturales" los que estamos en contra de otorgar poderes discrecionales a un grupo de cerriles incultos para que puedan cerrar páginas webs por el mero hecho de contener enlaces.

Para su información, aclaro que los parásitos culturales son:

1. Aquellos funcionarios de universidad que, amparándose en el amiguismo, el nepotismo y el corporativismo, cobran por publicaciones y actividades privadas (conferencias, congresos, etc) que ya están incluidas en su salario y que se computan, a efectos laborales, como actividades curriculares.
2. Aquellos escritores o artistas que sacan beneficio de medios de comunicación de titularidad pública como medio de propaganda de su persona u obra, sin pagar como anunciantes.

RAFAEL DEL BARCO: ALFREDO SÁENZ Y RAFAEL JIMÉNEZ DE PARGA: LA "PUTADA" DEL VENGADOR PEDRO OLABARRÍA... Y EL ¡ALGO HARÍA!

"En este país no cabe ni un corrupto más..."

Recomiendo encarecidamente leer a Rafael del Barco Carreras, uno de los pocos que no se han doblegado ante las campañas infamantes y la persecución criminal de quienes tienen y han utilizado el poder ejecutivo, el poder legislativo, el poder judicial y el poder económico para destrozar cualquier atisbo de dignidad en quien no se plegara a sus exigencias. Lo ha pagado con cárcel, como tantos otros, y con la mala baba de sus conciudadanos aferrados al consabido argumento de "algo haría"...

Gracias a hombres como Rafael del Barco Carreras, o Pedro Olabarría Delclaux, o Antonio Moreno Alfaro, España todavía no es un estercolero humano, y no lo será mientras sigan empeñados en defender lo que consideran justo contra los desmanes de la "Justicia", por encima de sus propias conveniencias, y sus propios intereses, por dignidad y pundonor, por eso tan caro de ver que se llama hombría de bien. Son pocos, están al límite, al borde del agotamiento, porque los hemos dejado solos; pero qué ejemplo dan... Gente así no se tendría que morir nunca.

El poder judicial ha tardado veinte años en condenar a nueve meses de prisión y veinte años de inhabilitación como banquero a Alfredo Sáenz, que, en asociación de malhechores, hizo una denuncia falsa, extorsionó, chantajeó y se lucró, gracias a la red de corrupción formada por jueces, políticos, policías, financieros, sicarios del "cuarto poder" —también llamados "periodistas— que secundaron a los chantajistas y se ensañaron con sus víctimas.

Esta es la España que sólo sale a la calle para aclamar a los jugadores de futbol, mientras, otros celebramos una sentencia que condena a una pena de prisión simbólica a Alfredo Sáenz —no tendrá que ir a la cárcel— y una inhabilitación profesional que le llega justo con la jubilación y una pensión de 85,7 millones €.

Y aún nos podemos dar con un canto en los dientes.

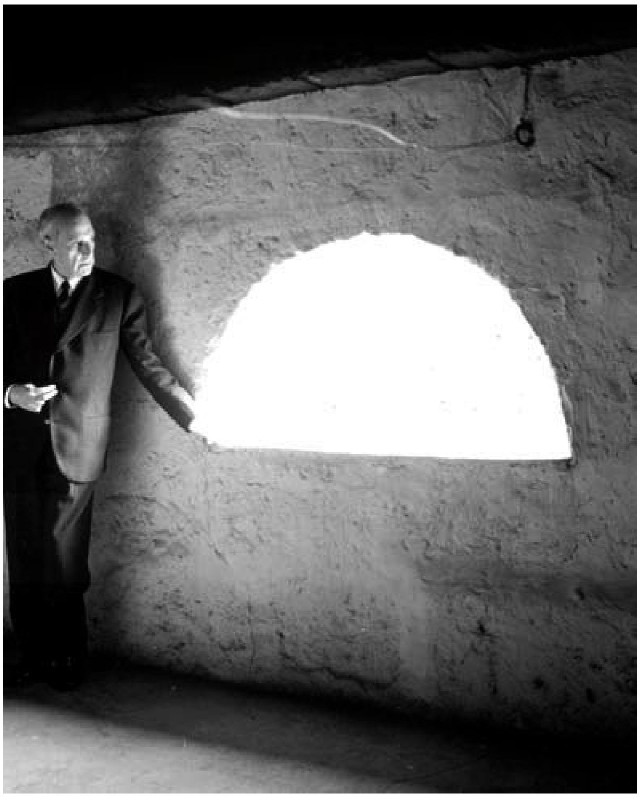
LORENZO (LLORENÇ) VILLALONGA: SOBRE LA SINCERIDAD



"Sin ninguna duda, los ángeles del cielo inspiraban graciosamente a la señora, que era querida y respetada de todos. La creían franca, sin reservas, «siempre con el corazón en la mano». En realidad, bajo su aparente sencillez poseía la reserva necesaria para habitar diez años en un villorrio sin chocar con nadie. Ella, que en París había disculpado las desnudeces de la Opera, no permitía, ante el aplauso del pueblo, que su camarera fuese a misa con un mantón colorado. Respetaba las creencias del lugar en que vivía, aun siendo tan absurdas como suponer que existen mantones honestos y deshonestos, lo cual casi significa que se guardaba las propias para si misma. Estaba bien educada, pero no puede afirmarse que fuera del todo sincera. Si lo hubiera sido no habría podido parecerlo. El señor, que verdaderamente iba con el corazón en la mano y no ocultaba sus pecados, no se lo parecía a nadie. Para estos buenos labriegos, acostumbrados a vivir un poco a. la defensiva, porque el pueblo es pequeño y todo se recuerda demasiado tiempo, lo espontáneo es disimular las faltas y, en general, todo cuanto salga de lo corriente. Se estimaba un absurdo que pasara las noches leyendo, ya que para ellos lo hubiera sido, y a pesar de que era el hombre más comprensivo del mundo, como no le comprendían, les parecía tortuoso. El se daba cuenta de todo y se refugiaba en la ironía."

ROMANCE DEL REY CHICO Y LA MORA CAUTIVA DE ANTEQUERA

21 EL REY CHICO Y LA MORA CAUTIVA EN ANTEQUERA

Estaba Abendaráiz en una fresca mañana, gozando del viento fresco, mirando correr el agua, mirando a moros y moras
  tañer y bailar la zambra, y vio a un morito a caballo, armando grande algazara;
heridas trae de muerte,
  que de vida no son dadas, fuese al mirador derecho donde el rey Chiquito estaba.
El buen rey leyó el billete, de suspiros no cesaba:
—¿Dónde estás, alhaja mía, donde estás, mi linda alhaja?
¿si estás muerta o estás viva
  o te tienen cautivada?
Si te cautivaron moros,
  te robarán honra y fama;
si te cautivó el cristiano, te me volverá cristiana;
y si fueron los judíos,
  te me tendrán por esclava.
¡Dichoso será tu amo de que tú le hagas la cama y que te eche la cadena a tal pierna y tal garganta!
Por tu vida, mi alcaide, levantadvos de mañana, partiréis para Antequera en rescate de mi dama, con doscientos mil moritos,

todos cargados con armas.
El que me la traiga viva, muchas doblas yo le daba, le regaré sus caminos
de aljófar y de esmeraldas;
la calle por donde pase Xarifa, ni enamorada,
la calle por donde pase ¡corran toros, quiebren cañas!, y yo saldré a recibiros legua y media de Granada, con toda mi gente noble
vestida de oro y plata.

El romancero oral siguió recibiendo temas a lo largo del siglo XVI. A finales del siglo, una nueva generación de poetas decidió echar mano del octosílabo y componer libremente, en metro romancístico, escenas dramáticas de ambientación histórica atentos a los gustos y recursos poéticos propios del momento, en vez de limitarse a narrar historias (como habían hecho los rimadores de crónicas y leyendas de mediados de siglo); imitaron de este modo en su estructura a los romances viejos, rodados en la tradición, aunque utilizaran un lenguaje poético muy diverso. Como había ocurrido con romances de otro tiempo y estilo, algunos no sólo gozaron de gran fama en medios letrados sino que llegaron a perpetuarse por tradición oral. Cuando ello ocurrió, estos "romances nuevos" fueron adaptándose al lenguaje poético propio del romancero tradicional, aunque aún puedan observarse en sus derivados orales del siglo XX algunos rasgos estilísticos heredados del texto letrado original. En nuestro romance, a pesar de la notoria fidelidad con que los cantores sefardíes de Tánger, Tetuán y Alcazarquivir reproducen el escenario (en la Granada mora de Boabdil) y la intempestiva llegada de la noticia del cautiverio de su amiga, tal como los concibió Lucas Rodríguez en el romance que comienza "Con los francos Vencerrajes / el rey Chico de Granada" (publicado en 1581), apenas podemos detectar en el romance del siglo XX restos del lenguaje poético que caracterizaba a ese "romance nuevo".

Los amores del Rey Chico de Granada y la cautiva en Antequera se habían convertido en un tema literario, como adaptación a los tiempos de la conquista de Granada de una tradición más vieja surgida en el siglo XV. Su punto de partida había sido una canción glosada "fronteriza", cuya difusión oral fue extraordinaria, dando incluso lugar a que el "suceso" en ella narrado se incorporara como hecho verídico a la historia de la conquista de Antequera por el infante don Fernando. El cantar o estribillo glosado en estrofas de rima consonante, decía

Si ganada es Antequera, ¡oxalá Granada fuera!,

con su variante paralelística:

Si Antequera era ganada, ¡oxalá fuera Granada!

y en la glosa se contaba la historia de una "morica" malcasada que, desde la barrera de Antequera, ofrece su amor a uno de los cristianos que la cercan antes de que se produzca el asalto de la villa. La tradicionalización de esta canción glosada, de la que conocemos versiones varias con muchas variantes, fue incentivo para la composición de un romance, "En Granada está el rey moro / que no osa salir de ella", del que, a su vez, conocemos varias versiones del siglo XVI, las más de ellas conservadas manuscritas, con divergencias fruto también de la tradición oral. Fue recordado en una carta en cifra secreta enviada a Felipe II el 28 de mayo y 6 de junio de 1562 por su embajador en Francia con ocasión del comienzo de la primera guerra de religión (carta sobre la que hablaré en otra ocasión) y tuvo dos magníficas glosas. En ellas, sólo se recuerdan los versos en que el rey de Granada lamenta que don Fernando (a quien considera anticipadamente rey) no acepte trocar con él Antequera por Granada, motivo central que, evidentemente, le fue sugerido por el cantar "fronterizo" citado. Pero, aunque los versos glosados formen un todo poéticamente perfecto, me inclino a creer que la presencia en el romance del tema de la "morica" de Antequera, que hallamos en otra versión del romance publicada por Joan de Timoneda en su Rosa de amores (Valencia, 1573), pese a su final artificioso debido al editor, pertenecía ya al romance tradicionalizado que llegó a sus oídos, en cuanto a los siguientes versos:

¡Si le pluguiesse al buen rey hazer conmigo una trueca:
que le diesse yo Granada
y me bolviesse Antequera!
No lo he yo por la villa, que Granada mejor era, sino por una morica que estava de dentro d'ella que en los días de mi vida yo no vi cosa más bella:
blanca es y colorada,
hermosa como una estrella
......

¡ay, morica, que mi alma presa tienes en cadena!

Nos lo confirma otro romance, también muy repetido en textos con notables variantes a fines del siglo XVI, que comienza "Por Antequera suspira / el Rey Chico de Granada // porque tiene dentro de ella / las cosas que más amava" (que asimismo adaptó Timoneda, trocando el comienzo, por razones eruditas, en "Suspira por Antequera / el rey moro de Granada"), donde el motivo de la desesperación del rey por el posible cautiverio de su amada pasa a un primer término y la oferta de trocar Granada por Antequera, a causa de ella y no por considerarla mejor villa que Granada, a la conclusión. Es en este romance donde se produce ya claramente el anacronismo de confundir los tiempos del Fernando que arrebata Antequera al rey de Granada con los de su nieto el Católico, contemporáneo del Rey Chico.

También forma parte de las creaciones romancísticas inspiradas en el tema de la mora de Antequera cautiva el otro romance que converge en el del siglo XX: "En la villa de Antequera / Xarifa cautiva estava".

El ex dictador haitiano, Jean-Claude 'Baby Doc' Duvalier se encuentra prohibido de salir del país, por decisión de los fiscales, reveló una fuente judicial.

"Se ha emitido una orden de prohibición de salida del país contra Duvalier. No puede salir del país porque hay una acusación contra él", dijo un juez haitiano, que prefirió no ser identificado.

El ex dictador fue formalmente acusado el martes de corrupción, desvío de fondos públicos y asociación de criminales, durante el tiempo en que estuvo al frente del país, entre 1971 y 1986. El miércoles, los fiscales agregaron cuatro acusaciones de crímenes contra la humanidad.

«BOLA DE NIEVE» CANTA «VETE DE MÍ»

Música: Virgilio Expósito. Letra Homero Expósito

Tú, que llenas todo de alegría y juventud, que ves fantasmas en la noche de trasluz,
y oyes el canto perfumado del azul,
vete de mí

No te detengas a mirar las ramas muertas del rosal, que se marchitan sin dar flor, mira el paisaje del amor que es la razón para soñar y amar.

Yo, que ya he luchado contra toda la maldad, tengo las manos tan deshechas de apretar que ni te puedo sujetar...
Vete de mí.

Seré en tu vida lo mejor
de la neblina del ayer, cuando me llegues a olvidar, como es mejor el verso aquél que no podemos recordar...

BIOGRAFÍA SUCINTA DE DON PÍO BAROJA

1872 Nace el 28 de diciembre Pío Baroja Nessi, hijo de Serafín Baroja y Zornoza, ingeniero de minas, y de Carmen Nessi y Goñi.

He nacido en San Sebastián el 28 de diciembre de 1872, en la casa número 6 de la calle de Oquendo, casa que había construido mi abuela doña Concepción Zornoza...
...una hermosa casa de lo que antes se llamaba el Paseo de la Zurriola, que estaba enfrente del mar...
...el haber nacido junto al mar me gusta; me ha parecido siempre como un augurio de libertad y de cambio.
Yo era el tercer hijo de la casa. Esto parece que no tiene importancia; pero siempre tiene alguna, porque la tercera decisión para hacer cualquier cosa siempre es una repetición, a veces aburrida.

Memorias

PARTIDA DE NACIMIENTO DE PÍO BAROJA

Carlos Uríarte, Juez municipal de esta ciudad,

Certifico: Que al folio diez y seis, tomo noveno, sección de nacimientos del Registro Civil de este Juzgado, consta una inscripción, que copiada a la letra, dice así:

Al margen número 1.373, Pío Inocencio Baroja y Nessi. Y en el cuerpo: En la ciudad de San Sebastián, a las once y treinta minutos de la mañana del día treinta de diciembre de mil ochocientos setenta y dos, ante don Eduardo Echevarría, Juez Municipal, y don León Guerendiaín, Secretario, compareció don Serafín Baroja y Zornoza, natural de esta ciudad, mayor de edad, casado, ingeniero de minas y domiciliado en la calle de Oquendo número cuatro, cuarto segundo, presentando como objeto de que se inscriba en el Registro Civil un niño; y al efecto, como padre del mismo, declaró: Que dicho niño nació en la casa del declarante el día veinte y ocho del corriente mes a las seis y cuarenta y cinco minutos de la mañana. Que es hijo legítimo del declarante y de su mujer, doña Carmen Nessi y Goñi, natural de la villa de Madrid, mayor de edad, dedicada a las ocupaciones propias de su sexo y domiciliada en el de su marido. Que es nieta por línea paterna de don Pío Baroja y Arrieta, natural del Valle y término municipal de Oyarzun, provincia de Guipúzcoa, ya difunto, y doña Concepción Zornoza e Izaguirre, natural de esta ciudad, mayor de edad, viuda, dedicada a las ocupaciones propias de su sexo y domiciliada en el del declarante; y por línea materna, de don Querubín Nessi y Azzola, natural de la villa y término municipal de Bilbao, provincia de Vizcaya, ya difunto, y doña Gertrudis Goñi y Alzate, natural de esta ciudad, mayor de edad, dedicada a las ocupaciones propias de su sexo y domiciliada en el del declarante. Y que al expresado niño se le habían puesto los nombres de Pío Inocencio. Todo lo cual presenciaron como testigos don Federico González, natural de esta ciudad, mayor de edad, casado, empleado y domiciliado en la calle de la Trinidad número veinte y nueve, cuarto tercero, y don Lucas Arzanegui, natural de esta ciudad, mayor de edad, soltero, empleado y domiciliado en la calle de Narrica número veinte y uno, cuarto, segundo.

Leída íntegramente esta acta e invitadas las personas que deben suscribirla a que la leyeran por sí mismas si así lo creían conveniente, se estampó en ella el sello del Juzgado Municipal y la firmaron el señor Juez, el declarante y los testigos; y de todo ello, como Secretario, certifico.

Hay un sello que dice: Juzgado Municipal de San Sebastián. Eduardo Echevarría, Serafín Baroja, Federico González, Lucas Arzanegui, León Guerendiaín.

Es copia conforme con el original a que me remito, y para que así conste a petición de doña Cesárea de Goñi, de esta ciudad, expido la siguiente certificación en San Sebastián, a siete de agosto de mil ochocientos noventa y tres.—Carlos Uriarte. Pío Guereca.

Excepto el primer apellido materno, Nessi (italiano, de Como, en Lombardía), los demás son vascos: Baroja, Zornoza, Goñi, Arrieta, Alzate, Eizaguirre y Arrola.

Los recuerdos más lejanos de mi propia vida se relacionan con el ineficaz bombardeo de San Sebastián por los carlistas en 1875 ó 1876. Tengo un vago recuerdo de haber sido sacado de la cama envuelto en una manta y llevado a un chalet cerca de la playa. Fuimos a vivir en la parte del sótano del chalet. Sobre la casa cayeron tres bombas, que rompieron el tejado e hicieron un agujero en el muro de nuestro jardín, a través del cual solíamos pasar después mis hermanos y yo. De San Sebastián marché con mi familia a Madrid, en donde mi padre estaba agregado al Instituto Geográfico y Estadístico.

Ficha autobiográfica de Authors of the Century

Memorias

1879 Se traslada la familia a Madrid.

De San Sebastián fuimos a Madrid, creo que por el año 1879. Al ir en el tren, al llegar a la estación de Ávila, mi padre pidió desayuno para todos. No había bollos, y al ver que no se podía tomar más que café sorbido, dije que no lo quería, y me quedé incomodado y hambriento. Después, mirando por la ventana los montes y barrancos del camino, me mareé y me tuve que echar en el asiento. Llegamos a Madrid con gran retraso.

Memorias

Vivíamos en la calle Real, más allá de la glorieta de Bilbao, calle que hoy es prolongación de la de Fuencarral. Enfrente de nuestra casa había un campo alto, arenoso, no desmontado aún, que se llamaba la «Era del Mico». Sobre ella había una serie de columpios y tíovivos. Las diversiones de la «Era del Mico», las calesas y calesines que existían aún y los coches fúnebres que pasaban por la calle eran nuestro entretenimiento desde los balcones de la casa.

Juventud, egolatría

1881 Los Baroja en Pamplona.

En 1881, de Madrid nos trasladamos a Pamplona. Mi padre había pedido el traslado a esta ciudad, pensando que allí se desarrollaría mejor la vida y nuestra educación.

Memorias

Una de las impresiones más grandes que recibí en Pamplona fue la de ver pasar por delante de mi casa, en la calle Nueva, a un reo de muerte, a quien llevaban a ejecutar a la Vuelta del Castillo, ante un baluarte de la muralla próximo a la Puerta de la Taconera. El reo se llamaba Toribio Eguía, y había matado a un cura y a su sobrina en Aoíz.

Memorias

«...un chico pálido y rubio dilatada la pupila contempla lleno de espanto la terrible Comitiva que pasa delante de él
y le perturba la vida.
Con toda el alma en sus ojos
y en lo que asombrado mira, cada detalle que observa
le hace en el alma una herida, que le quedará sangrando,

como una llaga maligna...»

Canciones del suburbio

1884 Nace su hermana Carmen.

... en el piso de al lado vivía una familia formada por dos señoras: una de ellas con dos hijos, y la otra, una viuda de Arteta, llamada doña Tadea.
Esta señora comenzó a venir casi todos los días, por la tarde, a hacer tertulia a nuestra casa, y solía contar muchas historias de la guerra carlista, que eran bastante interesantes y pintorescas,

Memorias

En Pamplona, los autores y libros leídos por mí fueron: Julio Verne, el capitán Marryat, Gustavo Aimart, el Robinsón, algunos folletines; Las tragedias de París, El coche número 13 y Creación y redención, de Dumas.

Memorias

1886 Regresa la familia a Madrid en septiembre. Cursa el último año de bachiller en San Isidro.

Mi padre resolvió enviar la familia a Madrid, e instalarla bajo la tutela materna.
Mi padre consideraba Madrid como el lugar más apropiado para que nosotros hiciéramos nuestros estudios, y al mismo tiempo quería llevarnos a la corte, pensando que si no íbamos a tener un carácter un poco rudo y antisocial.

Memorias

A los cuatro o cinco años de estancia dejé Pamplona. No pude tener esas amistades comenzadas de niño, creadas lentamente y que a veces pueden resistir las diferencias de temperamento y de ideas que se manifiestan después con la edad. Al cambiar de sitio, donde se vive, sobre todo en la infancia, se cambia también de amigos. Todo ello, con los años, va empujando al aislamiento y se tiende a sentirse entre la gente un solitario, si no como un verdadero Robinsón en su isla desierta, como un falso Robinsón en el árbol del Cuco.

Discurso de ingreso en la Academia Española

Recuerdo haber vuelto a Madrid en el verano en que se estrenó la Gran Vía. Para muchos madrileños del tiempo esta época debió ser un hito de su existencia.
Los chicos en el Instituto de San Isidro, donde yo estudié el último año del bachillerato, cantaban la jota de los Ratas y la canción de la Menegilda en los claustros del viejo colegio de los jesuítas.
Muchas veces íbamos a hacer novillos a la parada de Palacio y otras a las rondas y a los alrededores del Rastro a oír a los charlatanes ambulantes y a ver cómo los granujas engañaban a los paletos con el juego de las tres cartas.
Un día, con algunos condiscípulos, fuimos por la mañana hacia la Moncloa y vimos sobre la tapia de la Cárcel Modelo a los tres reos ejecutados del crimen de la Guindalera: en medio una mujer y a los lados dos hombres.

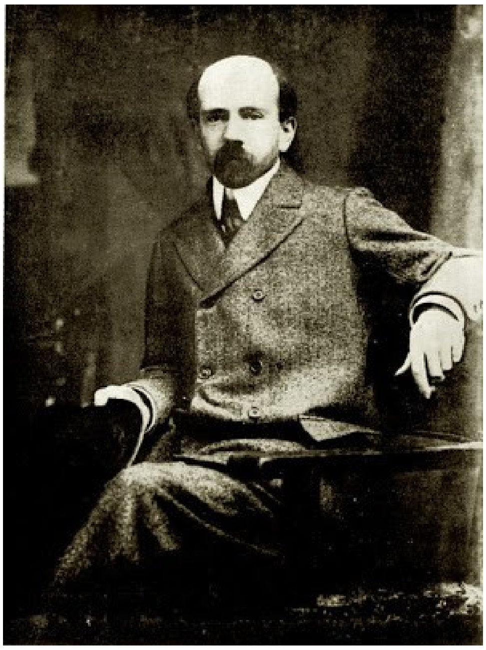
1887 Se matricula en la Facultad de Medicina.

Yo, por exclusión de profesiones que no me gustaban, decidí estudiar Medicina.

Discurso de ingreso en la Academia Española

Fallece su abuela materna, doña Gertrudis Goñi y Alzate.



1888-90 Estudiante de Medicina en Madrid.

Nuestras costumbres no eran, ni mucho menos, del bajo imperio. Los sábados íbamos al café, y como uno no estaba acostumbrado a tomar un vaso grande de café con leche, probablemente con achicoria, poco después de cenar, o una botella de cerveza, con frecuencia algo de esto le hacía a uno daño o no le dejaba dormir. Después del café solíamos ir al teatro, al paraíso, a las últimas funciones, por horas, y también a los cafés cantantes a ver el zapateado violento de una bailaora o a oír los jipíos de algún cantador gordo y ridículo.

Discurso de ingreso en la Academia Española

No sé si era cafetín
o sólo buñolería
un lugar negro y ahumado donde nos dábamos cita algunas noches de sábado amigos de una pandilla, después de haber presenciado dos saínetes y revistas que entonces eran de moda en la coronada villa.
El local, sito en el centro de una oscura travesía entre la calle del Carmen
y la calle de Chinchilla, era un refugio nocturno
de hampa y de chulapería.

Allí, en aquel antro hediondo de confusa golfería, hablábamos de problemas,
de ciencia y de medicina;
discutíamos de todo con petulancia atrevida y arreglábamos el mundo entre audaces griterías.
Las ilusiones sin freno de un ansia imaginativa se mezclaban con las huellas del cansancio y la fatiga, y la amargura y el tedio con la punzante ironía.

«Noche de estudiante» Canciones del suburbio

Los amigos míos y yo, no muy buenos estudiantes, solíamos faltar a clase con bastante frecuencia e íbamos al Retiro, a los altos del Observatorio Astronómico, y a los paseos y rondas de los suburbios.

Memorias

De todos mis compañeros de estudios, el único que salió un poco a flote y llegó a ser conocido fui yo. No lo digo por vanidad, sino porque me parece un hecho; hecho que, por otra parte, no me produce ningún entusiasmo. A todos ellos les hubiera chocado esto cuando estudiaban conmigo.
—¡Éste qué va a ser conocido!—seguramente hubieran pensado.
—¡Ca! Es imposible.

Memorias

En esa época de estudiante de que hablo era yo un sectario; me sentía republicano intransigente. Creía que una revolución como la francesa era un espectáculo indispensable en todos los países, y un poco de terror y de guillotina me parecía una vacuna necesaria para los pueblos.
Pronto dejé el credo republicano y evolucioné hacia el anarquismo.
Mi anarquismo era un anarquismo schopenhaueriano y agnóstico, que se hubiese podido resumir en dos frases: No creer, no afirmar.
Schopenhauer fue el primer autor de obra de filosofía importante que leí. Después leí otros filósofos, pero ya no me hicieron tanta impresión.

Discurso de ingreso en la Academia Española

1891 Concluye la carrera de Medicina en Valencia, donde se había instalado la familia, en la calle de Samaniego.

Era una casa grande, pintada de azul, con cuatro balcones muy separados unos de otros y ventanas cuadradas encima.
El portal era espacioso y comunicaba con un patio enlosado como una plazoleta que tenía en medio un farol.
De este patio partía la escalera exterior, ancha, de piedra blanca, que entraba en el edificio al llegar al primer piso, pasando por un arco rebajado.

El árbol de la ciencia

1892 Enferma, repentinamente, su hermano Darío.

La enfermedad de mi hermano fue para nosotros una desagradable sorpresa.
El hecho nos llenó a todos de preocupación, pero particularmente a mí, que, con algunos conocimientos médicos, aunque no fueran muy grandes, me di cuenta cabal de que aquello debía ser muy grave.
Muchas veces me levantaba por la noche para ver qué le pasaba al enfermo.
Mi pesimismo se hallaba en el más alto grado.
«Todos nos vamos a morir así—pensaba yo—; se nos contagiará la enfermedad a uno tras otro.»

Memorias

1893 Cursa el doctorado en la Universidad de Madrid. Concluye su tesis sobre el tema El dolor. Estudio psicoflsico.

Allí estudiaba e iba tomando datos acerca de un punto de psicofísica que pensaba utilizar para la tesis del doctorado.

1894 Muere su hermano Darío, en Burjasot.

Cuando vi a Darío, me di cuenta de que no había esperanza. Al día siguiente de mi llegada falleció, un día de febrero de 1894. Había cumplido veintitrés años. Era un poco romántico, creyente en la amistad, galanteador y aficionado a la literatura. Había hecho un diario contando su vida.

Memorias

Solicita la plaza de médico en Cestona, que le es concedida el 12 de agosto.

Ya de doctor me volví a Burjasot, un pueblo próximo a Valencia, donde vivía mi familia. Teníamos una casa muy pequeña, con un jardín con perales, albérchigos y granados.
Pasé allí una temporada muy agradable.
Mi padre escribía en La Voz de Guipúzcoa, de San Sebastián, y le enviaban este periódico. Un día leí yo, o leyó alguno de mi familia, que estaba vacante la plaza de médico titular de Cestona.
Decidí solicitarla y mandé una carta y una copia del título. Resultó que yo fui el único que se presentó a solicitar la plaza y me la dieron.

El oficio de médico de aldea era entonces, y seguirá siendo ahora, difícil, mal pagado y de gran responsabilidad. A mí me parecía penoso y duro, aunque, ciertamente, tenía algunas compensaciones.
La mayoría de los días era indispensable andar a caballo, visitando caseríos lejanos, entre la lluvia y la nieve. A veces, en el campo, a la luz de la luna, los troncos de los árboles y las raíces le hacían a uno ver visiones. En este pueblo comprendí, observándome a mí mismo, cómo había dentro de mi espíritu dormido, un elemento de raza no despertado aún. En aquella época me dediqué a escribir cuentos e impresiones en el cuaderno donde tenía el registro de los igualados.

Discurso de ingreso en la Academia Española

No tenía mala fama como médico. Mi antiguo patrón Vishente, el marido de Dolores la Sacristana, decía de mí:
—Sí, ya sabe; pero la «frática» es lo que le «palta».
Un tanto de escepticismo y otro tanto de prudencia me evitaron el hacer disparates que deben ser muy frecuentes entre personas que comienzan a ejercer la profesión, aunque sean sabias y estén bien enteradas.

Memorias

Comencé a sentirme vasco y a seguir el hilo de la raza que tenía perdido.

1895 Renuncia a la plaza de médico el 10 de septiembre.

Cansado yo de la vida del pueblo, sórdida y llena de pequeñas rivalidades de profesión, dejé la plaza de médico de Cestona y fui a reunirme con mis padres a San Sebastián.

Memorias

Allí conoció a varios capitanes de barco y negreros viejos cuyas narraciones utilizó en Las inquietudes de Shanti Andía. Publicó algún artículo en La Prensa, de San Sebastián.

1896 Vuelve a Madrid, para regentar la panadería de su tía doña Juana Nessi, de la cual ya se había ocupado su hermano Ricardo.

Convencido de que en San Sebastián, como médico, no habría de hacer nada de provecho, decidí sustituir a mi hermano y hacerme panadero, para lo cual no sé si tendría más o menos condiciones que para médico.
Al verme de nuevo en Madrid, encargado de la panadería, me pareció que el tiempo había desandado el camino y que volvía a encontrarme en los días en que, siendo estudiante, asistía a las primeras clases del preparatorio de Medicina. Se me presentaba el ya lejano pasado como próximo, e igualmente los estudios, las horas de vagabundear por el Retiro y por las rondas.
Madrid, ahora, me gustaba.

Memorias

Cogí una época bastante mala. Era al final de la guerra de Cuba, y la vida de la industria y del comercio en Madrid estaba decaída. Para mi empresa me faltaba capital y no lo pude encontrar, por más ensayos que hice. Iba, venía, hablaba a uno y a otro. La verdad es que no encontré más que usureros. En aquella época los trabajadores madrileños comenzaron en todas las industrias a asociarse y a considerar como enemigo suyo al patrón.

La casa se levantaba en la esquina de las calles de Capellanes y Misericordia. Fue destruida hace muchos años. El zaguán estaba empedrado de menudos guijos. Al fondo se veía la escalera. La casa estaba paredaña con el convento de monjas vecino. Desde el sobrado se podían ver a ciertas horas las monjas esparciéndose en el patio del monasterio. En el primer descanso de la escalera se abría la puerta del piso...

De esta casa que evocamos ahora recordamos con toda precisión una sala que se encontraba a la izquierda, entrando. En la sala, en este instante de rememoración intensa, pasados tantos y tantos años, sólo vemos unos sillones, un sofá de negra y brillante gutapercha y unas litografías coloreadas en las paredes. La ventana da a un patio...

Azorín: Recuerdos a «Yok» (Ahora, Madrid, 23-I-1936.)

Publica Estudio acerca del dolor, tesis del doctorado en Medicina.

1898 Desastre colonial. Paz de París.

A Andrés le indignó la indiferencia de la gente al saber la noticia. Al menos él había creído que el español, inepto para la ciencia y para la civilización, era un patriota exaltado, y se encontraba que no; después del desastre de las dos pequeñas escuadras españolas en Cuba y en Filipinas, todo el mundo iba al teatro y a los toros tan tranquilo; aquellas manifestaciones y gritos habían sido espuma, humo de paja, nada.

El árbol de la ciencia

En el período de 1898 a 1900 nos encontramos de pronto reunidos en Madrid una porción de gentes que tenían como norma pensar que el pasado reciente no existía para ellos.

Cualquiera hubiera dicho que ese tropel de escritores y artistas había sido congregado por alguien y para algo, pero el que hubiera pensado esto se habría equivocado.

Era la casualidad la que nos reunió por un momento a todos, un momento muy corto que terminó en una desbandada general.

Hubo días en que nos reunimos treinta o cuarenta aprendices de literato en las mesas del antiguo Café de Madrid.

Juventud, egolatría

Yo no ganaba dinero; pero vivía bastante cómodamente en casa. Había liquidado toda aspiración grave y me dedicaba a una especie de bohemia, sin preocupación por el mañana. Este fue para mí el veraneo de la cigarra. Me sentía ínactual, indiferente a la política, convencido de que ésta no era nada ni conducía a nada.

Memorias

Ensaya jugar a la Bolsa.

Pío Baroja decide dedicarse a la literatura.

Yo, para fines de 1898, vi claramente que no podía hacer nada nuevo en aquella industria, ni mejorarla, ni darle otro carácter.

La vida burguesa no me producía el menor entusiasmo. Las diversiones, el teatro, los toros, no me gustaban nada.

Había sido médico de pueblo, industrial, bolsista y aficionado a la literatura. Había conocido bastante gente. El ir a América no me seducía. Llegar a tener dinero a los cincuenta años no valía la pena para mí.

Quería ensayar la literatura.
Yo comprendía que ensayar la literatura daría poco resultado pecuniario, pero mientras tanto podía vivir pobremente, pero con ilusión.
Y me decidí a ello.

Memorias

Nuevas lecturas:

En Madrid, mis favoritos eran Víctor Hugo, Eugenio Sué, Balzac, «Jorge Sand», Zola, Espronceda y Bécquer.
En Valencia y Cestona: Schopenhauer, Poe y Baudelaire. Después, en Madrid: Dickens, Stendhal, Turguenef, Dostoiewski, Tolstoi, Ibsen y Nietzsche.

Memorias

A finales del año aparece Revista Nueva.

1899 Vida periodística: La vida literaria, Alma española, El País, Arte joven,

En estos últimos años del siglo XIX había comenzado yo a escribir bastante asiduamente, entre cuenta y cuenta y factura de la panadería. Hice varios artículos que se publicaron en diversos periódicos.
Por esta época creo que el primer escrito mío que se comentó algo fue uno que publiqué, en el año 1897, en una revista, Germinal, que dirigía Dicenta. El cuento mío tenía como título Piedad oculta o Bondad oculta.

Memorias

Primer viaje a París.

Mis tres estancias en París, hechas como un objeto dé exploración, fueron: la primera, en 1899...; la segunda, en 1904..., y la tercera, en 1906.
Estas tres etapas fueron para mí como quien lee un folletín en tres tomos. Después yo no fui a París con objeto histórico o folletinesco, sino unas veces de paso o por ver a alguien. En aquella primera estancia mía quise ver París como quien se pone a leer Los Miserables o las hazañas de Rocambole.

Memorias

Yo siempre tuve la idea de que al español curioso en la mocedad le convenía ir a Madrid. Si no, al joven que estudiaba en la Universidad de provincia le quedaban el carácter y los gustos provincianos toda la vida.
Después, hacia los veinticuatro o veinticinco años me pareció bien el ir a París. Es o era la ciudad cosmopolita más grande y más fácil de visitar para un español. Uno de los objetos principales de la visita y de la estancia allá era para mí darme cuenta de lo que podía ser un español ante el mundo europeo.

Memorias

Comienza a colaborar en El Liberal y otras publicaciones periódicas de Madrid.

Continúa frecuentando la vida literaria madrileña.

Al llegar a Madrid, en otoño de 1899, volví a reúnirme con la gente literaria. Los tipos de las reuniones eran los mismos. Valle Inclán, a quien ahora le faltaba un brazo; Orts Ramos, Camilo Bargiela, Trillo, Rafael Urbano, y después, varios catalanes: el maestro Vives, Pedro Corominas, Eduardo Marquina, Bernardo Rodríguez Serra y otros. Andaba también por Madrid un francés, llamado Enrique Cornuty, el cual, como decía Ortega y Gasset, trajo el decadentismo a España, del mismo modo que las ratas llevan la peste bubónica a los puertos.

Memorias

El tumulto de la existencia turbulenta me atraía profundamente en la juventud; pero ¿dónde encontrarlo? En esa época me hubiera gustado tomar parte en acontecimientos extraordinarios, en empresas difíciles. Sin tener una idea filosófica clara me figuraba que la acción, la aventura, la guerra debían de ser una de las cosas más dignas del hombre. Si el caballo no era bueno, el jinete se creía valiente o, por lo menos, quería serlo. Deseaba que me pasaran cosas fuertes, pensaba que tendría energía para soportarlas.

Unos días después de publicar mi primer libro, Vidas sombrías, Miguel Poveda, que se había encargado de imprimirlo, envió un ejemplar a Martínez Ruiz, que por entonces estaba en Monóvar.

Conocimiento con Azorín, en la Castellana.

Unas semanas después, en Recoletos, volviendo de la Biblioteca, se me acercó Martínez Ruiz, a quien yo conocía de vista.
—¿Usted es Baroja?—me dijo.
—Sí.
—Yo soy Martínez Ruiz.
Nos dimos la mano y nos hicimos amigos.
Por entonces emprendimos viajes juntos, colaboramos en los mismos periódicos, atacamos las mismas ideas y los mismos hombres.

Juventud, egolatría

Los hermanos Baroja solían ir al Paular, donde conocieron a muchos elementos de la colonia alemana y suiza de Madrid, aficionados a la Sierra. Les acompañaba frecuentemente Paul Schmitz, con quien trabaron gran amistad.

Con Schmitz hice yo algunos viajes, estuve en Toledo, en el Paular, en las fuentes del Urbión; años más tarde hicimos los dos algunas excursiones en Suiza.
Schmitz fue para mí como una ventana abierta, a un mundo no conocido. Tuve con él largas conversaciones acerca de la vida, de la literatura, de la filosofía, etc.

Publica Camino de perfección, y se le ofrece un banquete, el 25 de marzo, organizado por Azorín y Rodríguez Serra, y al que asistieron Galdós, Mariano de Cavia, Valle-Inclán, Maeztu y Ortega Munilla, entre otros. Azorín retrata así a Baroja en este tiempo:

«...es calvo, siendo joven; su barba es rubia y puntiaguda. Y como su mirada es inteligente, escrutadora, y su fisonomía toda tiene cierta vislumbre de misteriosa, de hermética, esta calva y esta barba le dan cierto aspecto inquietante de hombre cauteloso y profundo, algo así como uno de esos mercaderes que se ven en los cuadros de Marinus, o como un orfebre de la Edad Media, o como un judío que practica el cerrado arte de la crisopeya, metido allá en el fondo de una casucha toledana.»

La voluntad

Publica Idilios vascos.

1903 Se traslada a Tánger como corresponsal de El Globo. Posteriormente utilizaría esa experiencia en algún capítulo del Paradox, rey. Publica El Mayorazgo de Labraz.

1904 Publica la trilogía La lucha por la vida.

El convivir durante algunos años con obreros panaderos, repartidores y gente pobre, el tener que acudir, a veces, a las tabernas para llamar a un trabajador, con frecuencia intoxicado, me impulsó a curiosear en los barrios bajos de Madrid, a pasear por las afueras y a escribir sobre la gente que está al margen de la sociedad.
Antecedentes de esta clase de literatura los había y los hay en muchas partes: en la novela picaresca española, ed Dickens, en los rusos, y en la novela folletinesca francesa de los bas-fonds, que tiene su obra maestra, si no desde un punto de vista literario, desde un punto de vista social y popular, en Los misterios de París, de Eugenio Sue.

1906 Este año sucede el atentado de Mateo Morral, en la calle Mayor, contra los Reyes.

Viaje con Ciro Bayo y Ricardo Baroja por la Vera del Tiétar, descendiendo a Yuste. Viaje a Londres y París.

Supongo que en 1905 o en 1906 fui a pasar una temporada a Londres. No llevaba un plan concreto; pero quería ver Londres, por si había algo que hacer allí que me conviniera.

Memorias

Tenía, por otra parte, deseo de ver un poco de Inglaterra, porque he sido entusiasta de su literatura, especialmente de las novelas de Dickens.
Mi interés por Londres venía, especialmente, de un autor, y mi curiosidad por París provenía de muchos...

Memorias

Por mí ya bastaba. Me hubiera gustado ver el Asia Central, la meseta de Pamir y los grandes ríos de África; pero estaba muy lejos y era muy difícil para mis posibilidades. En cambio, no tenía la menor aspiración de contemplar el Pindo o el Parnaso, ni el Partenón.

Del atentado de Morral y los viajes a la Vera y Londres, surge la idea de escribir La dama errante y La ciudad de la niebla.

En la capital inglesa, Baroja establece estrecha amistad con don Nicolás Estébanez, el anarquista Malatesta y otras personalidades políticas, como Mac Donald, el jefe del Partido Liberal.

Publica Paradox, rey y Los últimos románticos.

1907 Viaje a Italia: Florencia. Publica Las tragedias grotescas.

1908 De nuevo viaja a Italia. Visita Roma con intención de escribir una novela histórico-arqueológica, idea que rechaza, escribiendo César o nada, que publicó como folletón en El Radical, y luego, en libro, en 1910.

La novela histórica no me salió. Desde el principio renuncié a ella. Había que averiguar un conjunto de detalles de vestuario, de muebles, de costumbres, cosa que exigía mucho tiempo, mucho estudio, una larga estancia en Roma y que, por encima de todo, podía ser muy aburrida.

Hoy me he paseado por la avenida del Observatorio, que fue hace muchos años, en una de mis estancias en esta capital, mi paseo favorito. Solía entonces concurrir a un café del Barrio Latino, donde se reunían varios artistas y hombres de letras, y formaban un grupo animado y discutidor en torno al príncipe de la poesía de la orilla izquierda del Sena, Paul Fort.

En aquellos días yo me alojaba en un pequeño hotel de una calle próxima al jardín de Luxemburgo, y además de mi amigo y compañero Larumbe, eran compañeros nuestros, en el mismo hotel, otros dos médicos más, españoles.

En mi cuarto, durante las mañanas, después de haberme preparado un desayuno de cocimiento de avena, de haberme embutido en un gabán, calzado unas zapatillas suizas y liado a las piernas la manta de viaje, bien cubierta la cabeza con la boina, me sentaba ante una mesita cerca del balcón y me dedicaba, rodeado de paredes que cubrían las adquisiciones recientes de materiales gráficos de la guerra española, a redactar la vida y aventuras de Aviraneta.

Recorría con mucha frecuencia los puestos del Sena para buscar folletos, documentación y alguno que otro periódico español de la primera guerra civil para las Memorias de un hombre de acción, que escribí. Me traje entonces, como cosechas de revolver infinitas carpetas sobre la guerra de la Independencia y las civiles españolas, bastantes libros, grabados y litografías. De la calle de Mendizábal fueron pasando a la casa de Vera, y eso les salvó de desaparecer. Algunas quizá valgan y sean ejemplares únicos.

Julio Antonio, Bagaría y Viladrich me acompañaron a mí en una excursión electoral completamente fantástica, en la que yo pensé presentarme candidato a diputado, un poco en broma, por el distrito de Fraga, instigado por Viladrich. No llegué a candidato.
Cuando recuerdo esta excursión me viene a la memoria una tonadilla, bastante absurda y grotesca, que oí mientras esperé el tren en todas las estaciones del trayecto por donde pasé, y decía así:

Mateo, como es tan feo, se lava con carabaña,
y se riza los bigotes
con un palito de caña.
¡Mateo! ¡Mateo!
No te quites el bigote que estás feo.

Este fue el leitmotiv del viaje, que no tenía la pompa de los de Wagner.

1936 Incidente de Santesteban y marcha a Francia. Residencia en el Colegio de España, de la Ciudad Universitaria. Colaboración asidua en La Nación, de Buenos Aires.

Baroja vive actualmente en una pensión cercana a La Estrella. Por espacio de muchos meses ocupó una celda de estudiante en la Ciudad Universitaria. Hasta que la guerra dispersó la población habitual de aquellos pabellones podía vérsele a diario, en el restaurante internacional, acercarse al mostrador con su bandeja para recoger el frugal almuerzo. Así es Pío Baroja, miembro de la Academia Española; así le encontrará el premio Nobel si alguno de estos días le es otorgado; lo cual, dicho sea al pasar, nada tendría de acto malo.

Méndez Calzada, La Nación. Buenos Aires

Al volver a París en 1936, sacado de mi rincón junto al Bidasoa por la guerra civil, para vivir rodeado de estudiantes de uno y otro sexo, oriundos de las más diversas nacionalidades, he podido convencerme del poco éxito que nos acompaña a los escritores españoles, que nadie nos conoce y a nadie interesamos.

Con motivo de haberse publicado en Valladolid, zona nacional, un libro mío, en el que mi editor había reunido algunos artículos periodísticos aparecidos hace tiempo, antes de la guerra, y al que puso el título circunstancial y llamativo de Comunistas, judíos y demás ralea, me ha sorprendido hallar en una revista de París un artículo sobre dicho libro, que firma un profesor de literatura de la Universidad de Salamanca.

Por los términos del artículo, y, sobre todo, por unas líneas que la Redacción de la revista pone al frente de aquél, se comprende que se trata de una publicación de propaganda.

Memorias

Publica El cura de Monleón y Rapsodias.

1937 Viaje a Basilea, en primavera, invitado por su viejo amigo Paul Schmitz. Regresa a Vera el 13 de septiembre de 1937. Acude a Salamanca a la constitución del Instituto de España, y regresa de nuevo a Francia.

Yo, en la primera temporada que estuve durante la guerra, al salir de España, no me ocupé gran cosa de agenciarme documentación; pero en la segunda vez, asesorado por no sé quién, hice la simpleza de presentarme en la Conserjería, y me fastidiaron y me molestaron durante cinco o seis meses.

Todos los demás españoles tenían ya su documentación en regla. Azorín y Ortega, como son de la Legión de Honor, resolvieron su asunto personal en seguida.

A mí me hicieron ir a la conserjería cada diez o doce días, a presentarme, y allí tenía que pasarme algún tiempo en una sala grande, llena de mujeres y de hombres de aire mísero, haraposos y hambrientos. Pasaban las semanas y los meses y no se resolvía mi situación.

Todos eran allí españoles derrotados. ¡Qué gente desdichada! No eran ni rojos, ni blancos, sino infelices. ¡Qué cosas se oían contar en las horas de espera! Podían servir para poner los pelos de punta al más indiferente.

Yo le dije a uno de los empleados franceses:

—Yo soy miembro de la Academia Española.

—¿La Academia Española es algo así como la Academia Francesa?—me preguntó.

—Sí. Fue una fundación de un monarca de origen francés, rey de España, Felipe V, nieto de Luis XIV.

De nada me sirvió ante el empleado de la Policía francesa toda aquella pequeña erudición. Al fin y al cabo, empleado de la República, es posible que no supiese gran cosa del rey Sol, como no fuera de las queridas que había tenido, cosa que entre franceses siempre tiene mucha importancia.

Por fin, un día un conserje me preguntó mi nombre, y se lo dije. No creo que me conociera, y, naturalmente, estoy seguro de que nada mío habría leído, pero lo cierto es que me dijo:

—Venga usted por aquí.

Sacándome de la sala de la miseria me llevó a otra donde todos los que allí había era gente bien vestida, la mayoría de ellos catalanes. Allí me dieron un papel, llené las indicaciones que en él se pedían, y, por fin, resolví el problema de la documentación, que en lo sucesivo me permitiría seguir como hasta entonces había vivido, pues no recuerdo que nunca aquellos papeles me sirvieran para nada.

Memorias

Publica Locuras de carnaval, Todo acaba bien... a veces y Susana.

1939 Al comenzar la segunda guerra mundial decide ir a América, llegando hasta El Havre, Desiste por falta de pasaje.

Publica Laura o la soledad sin remedio, escrita en París; Ayer y hoy, El tesoro del holandés, Los espectros del castillo, El diablo a bajo precio e Historias lejanas.

1940 En la primavera se traslada a Bayona y de allí a España, donde entra el 24 de junio, residiendo en Vera hasta el otoño y luego se instala en Madrid, en la casa de Ruiz de Alarcón, 12, 4.° izquierda.

1941 Escribe en Itzea el primer volumen de sus Memorias, Desde la última vuelta del camino, que empieza a publicar la revista madrileña Semana. Publica Chopin y Jorge Sand.

1942 Publica Anchoca el afilador.

1943 Muere su cuñado y compañero en empresas editoriales, Rafael Caro Raggio, el 20 de diciembre.

Comienza la tertulia vespertina de don Pío en Ruiz de Alarcón.

1946 Publica El hotel del cisne («Días aciagos»).

1947 Publica Galería de tipos de la época.

1948 En el verano de este año asiste a un homenaje que le ofrece un nutrido grupo de admiradores, entre ellos el Dr. Marañen, en el restaurante «El Chopo», de Madrid.

1949 Aparece el último volumen de sus Memorias: Bagatelas de otoño, y Ciudades de Italia.

Muere su hermana Carmen el 4 de junio.

1952 Marcha a Méjico su sobrino Pío Caro.

Publica La obsesión del misterio y Las veladas del chalet gris.

Muere en Itzea, el 19 de diciembre, su hermano Ricardo, tras de una penosa enfermedad.

1954 Índice de Artes y Letras dedica su número 70-71, diciembre 1953-enero 1954, a un amplio y fervoroso homenaje a la obra del escritor, con importantes colaboraciones y nutrida iconografía. En dicho número aparece un artículo de don Pío que, por su brevedad y sustancia, reproducimos a continuación.

SOLEDAD

Yo he pasado en la vejez ,en el extranjero, muchas horas solo, no teniendo más entretenimiento que mirar por la ventana a la calle o a las nubes, a una carretera o a un descampado. Cuando el espectáculo es hermoso, el mar, la selva o el monte, produce satisfacción el contemplarlo; cuando es feo y desagradable, se puede inventar una pequeña fábula sobre algo y hacer un esfuerzo para creer en ella como en un mito.

Mi madre, la pobre, cuando ya tenía muchos años y vivíamos en Madrid, en la calle de Mendizábal, y yo llegaba un día a casa al anochecer una hora después que de costumbre, solía decirme: «He estado sola toda la tarde.»

Yo, que tengo ahora tantos años como tenía mi madre en esa época, he estado solo durante mucho tiempo, por la mañana, por la tarde y por la noche. Al fin me he habituado y la soledad ya no me pesa y muchas veces me encanta, siempre que no perturbe, como cuando va unida al insomnio o al lumbago. Creo que la imaginación, en general, no presenta en su linterna mágica nada que tenga mucho encanto, pero, en ocasiones, se excede y saca su canastilla de flores de color cambiante y perfumes que enloquecen y que trastornan. La imaginación para nosotros es como esa tan traída y llevada caja de Pandora de la mitología griega que permite en el presente todos los fracasos y los tropiezos y deja después la esperanza en el futuro.

Pasan por la pantalla gris del hombre desafortunado y melancólico los recuerdos sin ilación, las imágenes puramente sensuales de la» tierra y del mar, las impresiones de una noche magnífica en el Mediodía o en el Norte, con luna o con estrellas, el monte nevado o el salón de una mujer elegante y fría.

Ya, para mí, todo ello es pura nostalgia que empieza y acaba en ella misma y que no arrastra ni ambición ni ilusión, ni pretende realidades auténticas. A veces, uno se forja una novela a su gusto de amores o de intrigas, suponiendo que lo que se inició con energía y después pasó como una nube llevada por el viento sin dejar huella ninguna, tuvo su desarrollo, su desenlace, su devenir en el tiempo. Y, después de todo, ¿qué importa? Miles de proyectos hueros y malos, de intrigas y de maquinaciones que no tienen fin ni apariencia siquiera de desarrollo, que se disuelven en el aire y no dejan atrás más que una nube ligera de melancolía, como la semilla que cae en tierra polvorienta o como el pez que queda encerrado en el hoyo seco de la arena de la playa.

El mundo sería como una selva impenetrable si todas las semillas que la naturaleza ha dejado en la tierra y en el viento, y el hombre en el espíritu, hubieran germinado y crecido. Para el equilibrio actual mucho tiene, necesariamente, que morir y fallar en la vida.

La obra de creación y de destrucción en el cosmos puede que tenga algún objeto, puede que no tenga ninguno.

En esta cuestión, el optimismo o el pesimismo previo es el que rige las opiniones. El optimista encontrará argumentos para legitimar la existencia del terremoto, de la víbora y del alacrán, y se sentirá alegre. El pesimista hallará intenciones malévolas en el sol, en la nube, en el cordero y en la paloma.

Casi todos los credos llevan a discusiones amaneradas en las cuales se manejan argumentos siempre los mismos y siempre sin valor.

Yo no tengo mucha capacidad de optimismo. Cualquier dolor pequeño me aploma y me perturba. He luchado como he podido con esa tendencia deprimente y melancólica, y a veces la he dominado, no por razonamiento, sino por las imposiciones de la voluntad. Generalmente, la lógica no sirve en esos casos para nada. Vale más un día de sol o un día de lluvia o una risa argentina de una mujer joven.

La gente es seca, egoísta y dura. Todos lo somos. La mayoría disimula la sequedad y la dureza con las frases amables y protocolares. Mientras no hay intereses generales y fuertes, esta moneda de flores circula como moneda de oro o de plata, pero cuando el interés es profundo ya no pasa nada, ni la plata falsa ni el billete falso, y todo se analiza y se mide al milímetro.

En la soledad se aguza el análisis, y lo que puede pasar como amable y simpático en la conversación y en el diálogo se ve descarnado y duro, con las intenciones torvas, cuando los hechos y las gentes se contemplan con la mirada fría de la indiferencia.

Publica Los contrabandistas vascos.

Hace su última aparición pública en ocasión de un homenaje a su obra celebrado por el British Institute, bajo la dirección de Walter Starkie.

1955 Pasa, durante el verano, su última estancia en Vera. Publica Paseos de un solitario y Aquí, París.

El doctor Marañón diagnostica de grave su proceso arterioesclerósico. Pasa un mal invierno, cuidado por Clementina Téllez (su sirvienta) y un grupo de amigos próximos.

1956 El 20 de mayo, a las cinco de la mañana, padece una caída, con fractura de fémur, de la que se le opera el 25 a las nueve de la noche, en el Sanatorio de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe (Quintana, 9). Resiste bien la operación del doctor Quílez, pero se agrava su estado general. Llega de Méjico su sobrino Pío Caro.

El 9 de octubre le visita y rinde respetuoso homenaje Ernest Hemingway. Muere el 30 de octubre, a las cuatro de la tarde. Se le entierra en el Cementerio Civil de Madrid (Cuartel 4, bajo. Manzana 29, letra B) el día 31 a las diez y media de la mañana.

Se publican sus obras postumas La obra de Pablo Yarza y algunas otras cosas y La decadencia de la cortesía y otros ensayos.

AMIGAS DE TODA LA VIDA

Aunque me pisaran el cuello no podría explicar por qué nos juntamos a cenar todos los meses las arpías que mi familia llama "el piquete informativo".

Nos conocemos desde hace un siglo, somos amigas de toda la vida: mantenemos la ficción de que nos compenetramos muy bien, nos tiramos chilindrinas como si fuéramos íntimas, ironizamos con nuestras manías y nuestro carácter, y, cuando tenemos problemas o un golpe de suerte, disimulamos como agentes del servicio secreto bien entrenadas. A mí me tocaron 360.000 € en la lotería, hace dos meses, y no les dije ni mu, y he seguido actuando como si tuviera que ceñirme al mismo presupuesto que ellas.

Al principio no caí en la cuenta, fue después cuando recordé que me interrumpían cada cuarto de hora para preguntarme si no necesitaba ir al baño, y que me cedían el turno para que no esperara, o me decían dónde estaba por si necesitaba ir. Como son tan plastas, y se encanan con cualquier cosa, no hice mucho caso, hasta que mi médico me preguntó:

— ¿Desde cuándo vas a otro médico?

— ¿Yo? Hace diez años que eres mi médico y no he ido a otro... ¿Por qué lo preguntas?

— ¿Entonces quién te ha diagnosticado incontinencia urinaria?

— Nadie. No tengo incontinencia.

— Ah, vaya, pues me han venido por varios lados con el chisme.

— ¿Y tú qué has contestado?

— La verdad: que no suelo comentar la salud de mis pacientes con quien no es médico.

— Seguro que el bulo lo ha montado alguna arpía del piquete informativo. Ya indagaré.

— Sí, pregúntales porque no tiene jodida gracia que líen una historia así.

— Tú no las conoces... no les puedo preguntar: esas tienen por lema "A quien quiera saber mentiras con él"

Así es que aproveché la siguiente cena para enterarme. Fui comentando a cada una por separado lo mucho que admiraba a las otras, teniendo buen cuidado de no incluir a mi interlocutora en el lote. Luego, por riguroso turno les fui dando coba y jabón, y dejé a Purita para el final, porque vive como un insulto personal cualquier alabanza que se haga al prójimo. Y, efectivamente, en los postres, cuando Ángeles se despistó en la barra, encargando los cafés y las infusiones, Purita entró en efervescencia como una gaseosa:

— Tú te crees muy lista y eres más tonta que Pichote. No te enteras de nada. Te crees que todo el campo es orégano, y que tu amiga del alma te adora.

Fingí estupor.

— Para que te enteres, Ángeles, que tan noble y comprensiva te parece, por pura mala leche empezó a contarle a todo el mundo que tenías que llevar pañales... Nosotras sólo le hemos seguido la corriente, pero fue ella la que empezó.

En mi pueblo, no hay nada como hablar bien de una persona para que recibas una conferencia sobre las puñaladas que te ha dedicado y su desafección.

PUREZA DE ESTILO

Se acostumbró a dictar sus novelas desde que se dislocó la mano, y descubrió que así su prosa perdía gerundios, subordinadas adverbiales y adversativas, latiguillos, y se ofrecía al lector delicadamente desnuda de artificios. Evitó así esas palabras que le obsesionaban y que repetía inconscientemente, atravesando correcciones, hasta desembocar en el libro editado, y que, una vez allí , herían la vista. Hubo el libro de los "fútil", el de los "inicuo", el de los "subliminal" y hasta el de los "nocherniego"…

A las nueve de la mañana, llegaba quien él denominaba su "amanuense", totalmente carente de encanto y de personalidad, y se sentaba ante la mesa donde se apilaban docenas de libros, y casi desaparecía tras ellos. Tenía la rara habilidad de no levantar la vista cuando él se quedaba mudo y pensativo, y seguía con el lápiz pegado al cuaderno y la vista baja.

El escritor le pagaba por folios escritos y no por horas, pero su inspiración podía cronometrarse, abarcaba desde las nueve hasta las doce y media, seis folios diarios, sumido en un trance creativo en el que dictaba y relataba sin orden ni concierto para encontrar un texto con pelos y señales, puntos y comas, pura magia. Y siempre en días hábiles, porque durante el fin de semana dejaba reposar las ideas, se releía, paseaba, y pensaba mucho.

El escritor había hecho el bachillerato en el Seminario donde aprendió latín, y eso le indujo a creerse poseedor de un bagaje cultural clásico que le izaba por encima de la media y por eso, a veces, se interpelaba sobre el origen de las palabras, y se perdía en disquisiciones mentales de filólogo; aunque jamás consultaba los múltiples diccionarios, salvo el de Sinónimos, que tenía casi desencuadernado.

Alguna vez se dejaba llevar por la benevolencia profesoral y le decía: "Esto no lo escriba", y le explicaba que la pérdida de las declinaciones del Latín y la sustitución por preposiciones restaba claridad al Castellano, al que seguía denominando así por prurito clasicista, de la misma manera que acudía a los epigramas de Catulo cuando quería expresar una idea del común. Ella, entonces, levantaba sus ojos un poco bovinos y lo miraba, hasta que él decía: "Continuamos con lo nuestro".

A las doce y media, el escritor la despedía sin acompañarla a la puerta, con un seco: "Por hoy, basta". A la mañana siguiente le traía indefectiblemente los seis folios mecanografiados primorosamente en su ordenador, y él sabía que no encontraría ni una coma desajustada. Su editor no se daría cuenta de su estatura intelectual, sin embargo, él sabía que estaba creando una obra digna de figurar en la Historia de la Literatura y se jactaba de su precisión sintáctica, su riqueza de vocabulario y su rigor creativo.

Durante cerca de tres años la rutina se mantuvo, pero aquel lunes, 21 de octubre, apareció una mancha de humedad en el techo, que pasó inadvertida hasta que empezó a gotear sobre la mesa. Hubo que apartar el escritorio, llamar al portero, avisar al vecino de arriba, un estudiante que se había vuelto a dormir después de abrir los grifos del baño, acompañarlo aún en pijama y con resaca para que comprobara los daños, gritarle como un poseso por las reiteradas juergas hasta altas horas, como la noche anterior, y todo el plan de trabajo se vino abajo.

—¡Por hoy ya basta! le gritó arrebatado por la ira.

Y ella, tan metódica, tan tranquila habitualmente, cogió el bolso y se marchó, olvidando su cuaderno y sus gafas. El escritor lo descubrió entre los libros que habían apilado en tres sillas para salvarlos de la gotera, y decidió retomar el hilo de su relato. Fue pasando las hojas, remontando los días, perfectamente fechados.

Y leyó: "Martes, 15 de octubre: "La protagonista no se da cuenta de que lo quiere". Miércoles, 16 de octubre: "Se intenta suicidar con Soñodor". Jueves, 17 de octubre: "Estancia en el hospital con médico arquetípico", Viernes, 18 de octubre: "Viaje a Finlandia y doctorado Honoris Causa del profesor" Lunes, 21 de octubre: "Disquisiciones sobre la inmanencia y la trascendencia, al estilo Aldous Huxley".

A esas frases había reducido cada día sus tres horas y media de dictados.

Cuando la "amanuense" vino esa tarde, él la miró de hito en hito.

—Me he dejado las notas olvidadas…

Respiró hondo y tomó una determinación heroica.

—No sé donde las habrá dejado… con este desorden… ¡Busque usted misma!

Cuando ella recogió su cuaderno y sus gafas, él la acompañó hasta la puerta, y le preguntó:

—¿Nunca le he dicho que tiene usted unos ojos muy bonitos?…

LAS FOTOGRAFÍAS DE JUAN PEDRO QUIÑONERO

Hay fotos que captan el instante, una mirada o una tragedia. Hay fotógrafos que, en su búsqueda de la belleza, sólo llegan al esteticismo. Pero también los hay que nos permiten compartir su mirada limpia, generosa y humilde. La luz no está en el objeto, en el ambiente, ni depende del objetivo de su cámara. Está en su retina. Juan Pedro Quiñonero pertenece a esta última clase de fotógrafos. Viendo sus fotos de París y sus gentes, uno recupera del recuerdo el París que ya no existe —que tal vez nunca existió— y volvemos a los días grises, y a las caléndulas que alguien puso en el alféizar de su ventana para alegrar los muros de verdín.

Y, sin embargo, Quiñonero, no retrata ese París, sino una ciudad moderna, chabacana y arrasada por el narcisismo de sus arquitectos y la mediocridad de sus dirigentes, y consigue hacer íntima y amigable una ciudad fría gracias al encuentro con sus gentes: la muchacha que espera a alguien, la mujer que se arregla el sombrero en un día de perros, los jóvenes que no se resignan… En las fotos de Quiñonero todos las personas son hermosas porque encarnan su historia, la suya, la que nos cuenta Quiñonero o la que inventamos nosotros. Y todas, en su alegría, en su cabreo, o en su soledad, salen de su ensimismamiento para mirarnos directamente a los ojos a través de quien las ha fotografíado, y las ha rescatado de la grisura impersonal.

Para una cura de salud mental, recomiendo: "On the road again..."

De nada. Ya sabéis que me gusta ser útil.

Gracias. Si no fuera por ti, por Q.-, y por mis calendarios...
Percibo cierta inquina de don Alimaña contra Eliah. Seguro que ha quedado más favorecido que él en el calendario de bomberos. Lástima que no queden ejemplares.

Equilicuá.

El pique viene desde que Eliah no se dejó entrevistar y fotografiar por Alimaña, cuando se había dejado retratar para el Calendario de Rabinos Libertarios cubierto con una escueta kipá.

Es un puntico susceptible.

Muy amable. Es usted la primera que echa de menos mis escritos. Estoy terminando el dossier eugenesia, pero se me cruzó el misterioso caso del dossier de un español (agente del Special Operations Executive en la Segunda Guerra Mundial) sobre el que aún pesa el secreto oficial del Reino Unido, aunque todos los documentos de la época están ya desclasificados... Se llamaba Alfonso Pujol Calvet.

DOSSIER EUGENESIA (I)

"Para mejorar la raza humana, bastaría con exterminar a esos imbéciles que se pirran por la salud y la consideran un bien absoluto."

Por eugenesia se entiende el conjunto de medidas médicas y sociales destinadas a hacer desaparecer los elementos enfermos o "degenerados" de la especie humana para crear una raza o arquetipo racial "superior" más apto para sobrevivir. La extinción de "indeseables" se lograba por varios métodos: buscando el cruce entre individuos calificados como aptos o superiores (eugenesia positiva), impidiendo la reproducción de los no aptos mediante castración (eugenesia negativa), o eliminando a los débiles (aquí la terminología variaba y se hablaba de eutanasia pasiva, selección natural etc...)

Esta doctrina fue absorbiendo un lenguaje pseudocientífico de diversas disciplinas: medicina, biología, genética, estadística, sociología etc. Y cada ideología le confirió unos beneficios acordes con la misión salvadora de la humanidad que se había arrogado.

Los víctimas de prácticas eugenésicas carecían de defensa alguna: pertenecían a clases sociales excluidas, a grupos étnicos considerados inferiores; constituían una carga económica que significaba un aumento de impuestos (ej. poor law taxes), o eran enfermos que requerían cuidados médicos a cargo del estado. Contra ellos se aunaron la clase médica, que dio marchamo de respetabilidad científica a un crimen de lesa humanidad, grupos científicos, que tergiversaron deliberadamente la teoría darwinista y hicieron pasar por leyes universales lo que eran datos incompletos interpretados de forma torticera, y el espectro político, que iba desde los sectores más conservadores, que se resistían a cualquier forma de derechos sociales, hasta el anarquismo y otros iluminados forjadores de "nuevos" hombres.

La eugenesia asociada al concepto de raza y clase social se da desde sus mismos orígenes. La esterilización forzosa, resuelta muchas veces en castraciones sin anestesia, e incluso la idea de las cámaras de gas para exterminar enfermos o "razas inferiores" no nacen en la Alemania nazi, sino que nacen en el Reino Unido, se desarrollan y extienden en Estados Unidos en las últimas décadas del siglo XIX, retornan a Europa en los años 20 y adquieren su máximo esplendor con el régimen nazi, cuyas fuentes ideológicas declaradas (antes de la Segunda Guerra Mundial) son eugenistas norteamericanos del Establishment.

Cada país o ideología buscó los argumentos más vendibles y demagógicos para defender la caza y exterminio del débil. En España esta comunión por el superhombre lo sombolizó el maridaje liberal/anarquista de Gregorio Marañón y Hildegart Rodríguez y tuvo su correlato, en el bando franquista, en los crímenes del Dr. Antonio Vallejo-Nájera.

Se considera que Hereditary Genius (1869) de Francis Galton (un primo de Darwin mediocre y fracasado) es el primer texto del movimiento eugenésico. Galton hizo un tutti-frutti de las teorías darwinistas y mendelianas para sostener que todas las características del individuo (emocionales, psíquicas, intelectuales y físicas) vienen dadas por su herencia genética. Por tanto, era necesario que la reproducción se consumara sólo entre personas con una herencia genética excelente. Considerendo que lo que se entendía por "herencia genética excelente" era el arquetipo racial y social de la Inglaterra victoriana, el mamarracho teórico tuvo un éxito arrasador. Además servía para justificar que la mortalidad infantil, la enfermedad, el alcoholismo o la delincuencia de los slums de las ciudades industriales se debía a los mismas clases bajas, que no debían reproducirse, y no a sus condiciones de vida y trabajo.

Las teorías eugenésicas calaron hondo en el movimiento anarquista y en todo tipo de experimento comunal, que aducían razones eugenésicas como una de las causas de la necesidad de controlar la reproducción. Aunque el lenguaje que usaban intentaba parecer científico, lo cierto es que era indistinguible de las sectas y grupos religiosos en la que se habían educado muchos de sus integrantes. Los experimentos eran aún más siniestros, si cabe, porque se añadía el factor moral y pedagógico. Los niños "perfectos" físicamente eran aislados de su entorno y sufrían una indoctrinación o lavado de cerebro, clínicamente hablando, para convertirlos en una suerte de semidioses de la nueva era.

Fuera cual fuera la formulación ideológica de la eugenesia, había coincidencia en considerar elementos desechables a los siguientes grupos:

1. Retrasados mentales
2. Epilépticos
3. Tuberculosos
4. Alcoholicos

5. Sordos
6. Ciegos
7. Enfermos mentales, como esquizofrénicos, paranoicos, depresivos, etc.
8. Minusválidos físicos o "débiles constitucionales"
9. Delincuentes: desde homicidas a pequeños rateros
10. Individuos que no cumplieran normas gregarias (sociópatas, reeducables, incivilizados, o afectados del gen marxista, según la terminología de las distintas escuelas y épocas)

En América, la experiencia comercial del trafíco con esclavos africanos (Maafa o Shoah africana) había aportado una base empírica incontestable: desde el siglo XV hasta el XIX se habían transportado a America alrededor de 12.000.000 de africanos, de los que se estima que un porcentaje del 10-20% había muerto en el traslado en barcos. En el caso de la zona caribeña, hay que considerar los meses que se les encerraba en campos de concentración para "domarlos" o "desbravarlos". Era un segundo proceso de selección, que causó alrededor de un 33% de mortalidad, pero encarecía el precio del esclavo "macho" hasta un 50% frente al destinado a Norteamerica, que era considerado más débil por no haber tenido que superar esta selección. (Meltzer, Milton. Slavery: A World History. Da Capo Press, 1993.

En Estados Unidos, la eugenesia se convirtió en un bálsamo de Fierabrás que podría remediar todos los conflictos sociales del momento, desde la emancipación de la mujer hasta el control de emigrantes: "el camino más recto y adecuado para solucionar los problemas raciales, políticos y sociales" (Margaret Sanger). Por otra parte, apuntalaba todos los prejuicios que había heredado la criminología de la escuela de Lombroso. El delicuente lo es inevitablemente, por causas biológicas y genéticas. Y esto, lejos de eximirle de responsabilidad, llevaba a la sociedad a considerarlo un peligro que había que neutralizar encerrándolo o aniquilándolo.

No existían matices ni grados de imputabilidad jurídica. Pero, además, la sociedad debía impedir que se reprodujera. En la última década del siglo XIX, el Dr. Harry Clay Sharp castró a los internos del Indiana Reformatory acusados de masturbarse. Más adelante realizó castraciones sin anestesia de forma general. El Journal of American Medical Association publicó, en 1897, un estudio, "Surgical Treatment of Habitual Criminals", del Dr. Albert J. Ochsner, cirujano jefe del St. Mary's Hospital y del Augustana Hospital de Chicago, que declaraba haber llevado a cabo, por su propia iniciativa, vasectomias a presos y las recomendaba como norma general.

A finales de siglo otro prestigioso médico, el Dr. William Duncan McKim, (Heredity and Human Progress) propone un programa estatal para limpiar el país de deficientes mentales aplicándoles "una muerte suave e indolora" mediante anhídrido carbónico. Esta idea también fue compartida por un famoso urologo y criminólogo de la Universidad de Illinois y de la Kent School of Law de Chicago, G. Frank Lydston, Una de las instituciones que financió las investigaciones sobre esterilización masiva forzosa fue el Carnegie Institute, cuyo capital y apoyo del Congreso lo convirtió en una de las primeras organizaciones científicas del mundo. A sus tradicionales áreas de investigación se añadió, en 1901, la de "eugenesia negativa".

En 1904, se inauguró un "centro de experimentación biológica" (reténganse los eufemismos para cuando lleguemos a Porton Down) en Cold Spring Harbor. El comité directivo lo formaban cinco miembros, cuatro de la American breeders Association (literalmente Asociación de Criadores Americanos,) y el quinto era un profesor de Harvard, Charles Davenport, que, en 1910 se convirtió en director de Cold Spring Harbor.

Charles Davenport fue el responsable directo de más de 60.000 esterilizaciones forzadas (documentadas hasta ahora). Fue el padre del eugenismo norteamericano y del " racismo científico"

El programa eugenésico de Davenport combinó, como luego lo haría el programa de exterminio de Himmler, planificación metódica, manipulación de información administrativa y una obsesión fría y despiadada por la limpieza de la raza. A ello se sumo su habilidad para captar mecenas y benefactores de las familias más poderosas del país: Henry Ford, John Kellog, Clarence Gamble, J.P. Morgan o la familia Harriman, del emporio de los ferrocarriles, que ha pasado a la posteridad como benefactora de las clases desfavorecidas.

El primer objetivo de Davenport, como director de Cold Spring Harbor, fue elaborar un registro de indeseables (lo que Himmler denominaría Undermench) no aptos para reproducirse y que Davenport calculó en un 10% de la población, es decir, unos 11.000.000 de personas. Davenport y su mano derecha, Henry Laughlin, crearon el Eugenics Reccord Office. Allí se se reunieron todos los expedientes de los internos de Sing Sing, de los asilos y orfanatos del estado de Nueva York y de los internados para retrasados mentales del estado de Conneticut. Los siguientes grupos fueron epilépticos y jornaleros agrarios. En 1921 colaboraban ya más de 600 instituciones en este registro de "degenerados", término que fue sustituido por el de "defectives". La necesidad de este registro de indeseables ya había sido señalada por el sexólogo británico y guía de Hildegart Rodríguez y de otros liberadores de los '30, Havelock Ellis:

"Si queremos tener un guía fáctica de las pèrsonas que son las más aptas o las menos aptas para continuar la raza, es inevitable un sistema general, público o privado, en el que queden registrados sistemáticamente todos los hechos personales, biológicos, mentales, normales o mórbidos" (The Task of Social Hygiene, p. 12)

Al igual que ocurría con Himmler, tuberculoso y canijo hasta decir basta, el maestro Ellis fue impotente hasta los 60 años, cuando descubrió que sus capacidades de macho reproductor de raza superior tomaban corporeidad sustancial sólo si veía a una mujer orinando. Majadero, pero consecuente con su doctrina de sistematicidad, llamó a este fenómeno "undinism".

En mayo de 1911, la American Breeders Association creó un comité especial, en el que Laughlin era secretario general, para "deshacerse" de la población de indeseables y "purificar" la sangre americana. Miembros del consejo asesor son el Dr. Alexis Carrel (Premio Nobel de Medicina en 1912) del Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, O.P Austin, Jefe del Bureau of Statistics y Robert De Courcey Ward, de la Nativist Immigration Restriction League. Alexis Carrel abogaría, en 1935, para que los individuos "defectuosos" "fueran eliminados de forma humanitaria y económica en cámaras de gas"

En julio de 1911, este comité especial se reunió en Manhattan con el fin de purgar la sangre americana de contaminaciones: a los grupos señalados antes como "degenerados" se añadieron a las personas con deformidades físicas, a los pobres y a los predispuestos a enfermedades. La esterilización forzosa se prescribía para ellos y todas sus familias en sentido extenso.

Deciden que era prioridad esterilizar a los que estaban a cargo o bajo custodia del estado en asilos, hospitales, reformatorios, etcétera: aproximadamente 1.000.000 de personas, que suponían una onerosa carga para el contribuyente (Eugenics Archive: 18 Enero 1912: Degenerate family cost state heavily)

Para agilizar las órdenes de esterilización, el comité decidió considerar éstas materia policial que no tenía que obedecer a ninguna sentencia judicial. A partir de este momento, se van acumulando casos de castración y esterilización "eugenésica" sin control judicial. Ninguno de los médicos que las hicieron fue castigado. Los precedentes del Dr. Sharp o del Dr. Hoyt Pitcher que, años antes, había castrado impunemente a 58 niños retrasados mentales de un Asilo de Kansas, había sentado un peligroso precedente.

Además, paralelamente al fortalecimiento del movimiento eugenista, los distintos estados habían promulgado leyes eugenésicas defendidas y argumentadas por autoridades religiosas y académicas.

Las leyes del estado de Indiana, que consideraban a minusválidos y pobres como parásitos y degenerados hasta tal punto que éstos últimos podían ser vendidos al mejor postor, se basaban en los estudios eugenesicos de un racista confeso como el reverendo Oscar McCulloch. La esterilización forzosa fue apoyada por el presidente de la Universidad de Indiana y más tarde de la Universidad de Stanford, el Dr. David Starr Jordan, autor de Blood of a Nation, serie de escritos de gran popularidad en los que sostenía la tesis de que la sangre era la única base válida para definir la raza. El Director del Indiana State Board of Health, J.N. Hurty, más tarde director de la American Public Health Association, también trabajó incansablemente para que se agilizaran las leyes de pureza racial y esterilización forzosa de indeseables.

Y, lo que fue más importante, Europa se hizo eco de la rentabilidad de la eugenesia como control policial y racial de la inmigración y de sectores sociales molestos.

En 1912, se celebró en Londres el Primer Congreso Internacional de Eugenesia. El Congreso fue presentado al rey Jorge V por Winston Churchill. Teniendo en cuenta que Churchill era un maníaco depresivo y que la familia real inglesa, desde el siglo XVIII, había dado herederos al pais más locos que una liebre en marzo, por no mencionar el alcoholismo, que también afectaba a Churchill, el apoyo británico a la causa eugenista no deja de tener su gracia.

Al congreso asisten más de cuatrocientos representantes de doce países. El promotor del Congreso fue la British Eugenics Education Society, presidida por Leonard Darwin, hijo de Charles Darwin. Entre sus luminarias científicas están Charles Davenport, Alexander Graham Bell, Charles W. Eliot, rector de la Harvard University, M. von Gruber, "Professor of Hygiene", Munich, Presidente de ña German Society for Race Hygiene.

Los temas se agruparon en cuatro apartados:

1. Aspectos físicos de la herencia: en concreto los derivados de matrimonios y uniones interraciales.

2. Consecuencias históricas y sociológicas de la eugenesia.

3. Requerimientos legislativos y sociales de la eugenesia.

4. Cómo prevenir que los "no aptos" procreen: apartamiento y esterilización (eugenesia negativa) y cómo ayudar a la producción de los aptos (eugenesia positiva).

Unas cuantas perlas aplaudidas en este simposio nos puede dar una idea del clima que se respiraba ya en 1912:

"El número de niños anormales —seres deformes, futuros criminales, locos, prostitutas, etc.— aumenta de día en día, poniendo en peligro el futuro del país, de la sociedad y de la raza" (Dr. Raoul Dupuy, París)

"Cuando Platón escribió su República hizo un tratado de eugenesia y cuando Jesús predicó sobre el Reino de Dios lo fundamentó en la búsqueda de una raza mejor"(…)

"En sociedades altamente civilizadas, la ley establece los modelos de educación, confort y personalidad. Es dificil ponerle límites a los padres, pero es fácil quitarle la custodia del niño y transferirla al Estado. El Estado, por tanto, no sólo es tutor de los niños dependientes o delincuentes, sino también de todos los niños, cuyos padres no cumplan los standards prescritos por las leyes. Estas sugerencias indican que, en un estado moderno, poseemos una organización que no dudaría en hacer frente a los problemas de conseguir una raza mejor, con sólo que se le señalase sin ambages el camino" Samuel G. Smith.)

"Además del certificado de que ambas partes proceden de una "cabaña" mental y físicamente satisfactoria, la eugenesía exige un requisito posterior. La tercera limitación legal de carácter biológico se refiere a la mezcla de razas. La mayoría de los estados de la Unión tenían leyes que declaran nulos los matrimonios entre blancos y negros o descendiente de negros en un cierto número de generaciones, generalmente tres, o sea con un octavo de sangre negra. Pero la ley del estado de Georgia prohibe y declara nulo cualquier matrimonio entre un blanco y cualquier persona con "ascendientes africanos". La ley de Oregón anula cualquier matrimonio de blanco con alguien que tenga un cuarto o más de sangre negra, china o kanaka o con cualquiera que tenga más de la mitad de sangre india.

El fundamento biológico para tales leyes sin duda es la consideración de que los negros y las otras razas no encajan con nuestra organización social" (C. B. Davenport).

"Pero quizás mucho peor que la muerte para un niño y, desde luego, mucho peor para la raza, son esos horribles engendros de idiocia congénita, las tendencias a la enfermedad, la inevitable sordomudez, y toda la serie de taras que la investigación actual demuestra que es el destino de todo niño nacido de padres "defectuosos". Por tanto, para un eugenista, esas cifras de mortalidad infantil debida a causas prenatales, no tienen importancia al lado del numero de los sobrevivientes que sufren incapacidad y son un lastre para la raza" (V. L. Kellogg)

"Debemos despertar la "conciencia racial" del ginecólogo. Debe de dejar de buscar irreflexivamente que toda madre tenga un hijo vivo. En su lugar, debe asumir, en ciertos casos, su responsabilidad respecto a la raza. Sólo cuando este imbuido de este espíritu diferente, eugenésico, el ginecólogo sera una bendición y no una maldición para la raza (Dr. A. Bluhm)

"La eugenesia es una de la ciencias fundamentales en el curriculum médico. Las razónes por las que aún no ocupa el lugar que se merece desaparecerán. La sociedad avanzada exige la eliminación de la enfermedad y de la debilidad física, mental y moral. La eugenesia da la clave práctica y humana para reducir el alto índice actual de deficiencia racial. El médico del futuro debe ser más un funcionario consejero que un dispensador de medicinas. Y se pedirá su consejo no sólo para un paciente y un momento presente, sino pensando en la raza y en el futuro" (Dr. E.H. Jordan)

En la representación española se hallaban Gregorio Marañón y Ignasi Valentí i Vivó, catedrático de Medicina Legal y Toxicología de la Universidad de Barcelona, con la ponencia "The History of a Healthy, Sane Family Showing Longevity, in Catalonia". Aunque, en los últimos años, se ha intentado vender a los eugenistas españoles como avanzados progresistas preocupados por la salud ciudadana y los derechos de la mujer, tapando las vergüenzas racistas y clasistas con atenuantes históricas "según se creía en la época" "porque así lo creía la ciencia del momento", una somera lectura de sus obras nos muestra que sus principios y corolarios ideológicos son idénticos a los de los eugenistas americanos contemporáneos, es decir, el concepto de raza como absoluto y, dentro de ésta, el arquetipo de una clase dominante. En ningún momento, ni americanos ni españoles, ni liberales, ni anarquistas, ni feministas recopilaron datos sobre monarcas idiotas o papas degenerados o líderes enfermos del momento. Marañón habló de Enrique IV, pero se le olvidó tratar de la hemofilia borbónica y de otras "taras" , según su terminología, que presentaba y presenta esta familia por uniones consanguineas. Los Borbones habrían sido un ejemplo irrefutable, que, por alguna razón, todos prefirieron eludir.

El caso del Dr. Harry Haiselden, cirujano de Chicago, en 1915, es un ejemplo del nuevo "espíritu eugenésico" insuflado en la clase médica. El Dr. Haiselden se negó a operar a un recién nacido con malformaciones intestinales y rectales, que falleció porque se le dejó abandonado en una sala y ni siquiera se permitió que su madre lo amamantara. Se abrió una investigación judicial y el médico no sólo defendió esta muerte sino que relato otros muchos casos de niños a los que había dejado morir sin tratamiento porque eran imperfectos. A pesar de que la investigación concluyó en que no había prueba alguna de que el niño habría sufrido secuela alguna, en el caso de ser haber sido operado, no se procesó al Dr. Heiselden, porque se consideró que estaba ejerciendo sus prerrogativas profesionales al decidir el tratamiento o la ausencia de éste a sus pacientes. Haiselden salió triunfante de lo que él llamó "una gran victoria para la eugenesia".

La prensa de Hearst lo respaldó. "Imbéciles ponen en peligro a la mayoría" fue uno de los títulos dedicados a los recién nacidos no perfectos. Hollywood financió y distribuyó, durante treinta años, The Black Stork, una "historia de amor eugenésico", escrita y protagonizada por Heiselden, cuya moraleja es que los niños enfermos a los que se dejan morir van a los brazos de Jesucristo que los espera en el cielo, pero los que no son eliminados se convierten en degenerados y asesinos. Los anuncios de esta película tenían también un reclamo con mensaje moral: "Mata al defectuoso. Salva a la nación. Ve The Black Stork".

Durante años Heiselden siguió asesinando niños. A veces las sentencias de muerte las transmitía por telegrama desde algún lugar donde estuviera dando alguna de sus exitosas conferencias.

HAPPY NUEVO AÑO

En el enorme escaparate de Sphera se nos desean happy holidays y merry christmas y al entrar observo que ya tienen expuesta la new collection de ropa femenina. Por suerte, en medio de la crisis y para que nadie se quede sin vestir estas fiestas, se ofrece a special prices. La tónica es la misma en el resto de las tiendas, ya sean de ropa como de telefonía. En todas se felicita en inglés y todo es new. A mi alrededor la gente habla en español. Intento sorprender en medio de la aglomeración algún guiri que pueda ser destinatario de todas esas leyendas pero no veo ninguno, aparte de los inmigrantes que también se expresan en un español meloso o rudo, pero español. Si quiero encontrar una camiseta con texto castellano me voy a tener que ir a TIPO –que cerraron- donde imprimen divisas como "con talante por detrás y por delante", porque lo que es en cualquier cadena de marca solo voy a encontrar loves y Detroit university, entre toneladas de Hello Kitty que desde luego impone más que Hola Chochito. Yes.

Se comprende que hay mucha multinacional y que todos dominamos un inglés básico a fuerza de inmersión pasiva. Todo el mundo ya sabe que made in Spain significa eso y nadie se atreve a ponerlo en español pues se arriesga a una falta de ortografía de las gordas, que nuestra ortografía disculpará cualquier año de estos. Lo que se entiende menos es que sean las grandes empresas españolas, que cotizan en bolsa, las que renuncien a su lengua de origen, pudiendo ser una formidable arma expansiva para vendernos fuera y eso sí que sería un subidón de influencia del castellano, más que el spanglish que se habla por ahí y en el que los académicos cifran la potencia de nuestra lengua.

No suelen decir, en esos congresos panhispano donde solo detectan avances del español por todas partes, que nuestros empresarios españoles nos venden las cosas en inglés y que salir de compras es internarnos en un inmenso zoco donde todo es english spoken.

Obviamente es cuestión de marketing, de efectividad y de comercio franco, el mismo para todos los países. Pero también cree uno que con los grandes beneficios que obtienen por la expansión de su negocio ya podían dedicar una pequeña partida para sacar algunos carteles en español, al menos en capitales que aún no son cosmopolitas y que de momento solo tienen clientela de raza ibérica o albaceteña.

En los grandes momentos, que suelen coincidir con los deportivos, nos entran unos furores patrióticos que no se corresponden con el respeto a lo que más hace a una patria, que es su lengua. Todos aquellos que celebraran el orgullo de ser españoles en los mundiales tendrán su fondo de armario surtido de camisetas en inglés a low price.

A lo mejor algún visionario descubre que nuestras palabras más elementales como amor, poder, felicidad, precio o cariño también tendrían salida como estampado y se forran, por la novedad mayormente. En cualquier caso, yo les deseo, en español, un feliz año.

GRAN CONJURO INTERCONTINENTAL DE MUJERES HISPANAS EN EL SOLSTICIO DE INVIERNO

Hemos venido desde todos los paises de habla hispana, de Bolivia, México, España, Colombia, Argentina, Perú, Venezuela, Chile, Guatemala, Cuba, Ecuador, Santo Domingo, Honduras, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Paraguay, Costa Rica, Puerto Rico, Uruguay, Panamá...

Cada una trajimos desde nuestro país un objeto fabricado con la madera de nuestros árboles, y reunimos aquellos utensilios de abeto, pinsapo, peonia, mulga, babul, acacia, mimosa, zarzo, arce, negundo, oró, plátano y falso plátano, kiwi, castaño, ailanto, ébano, aliso, humbug, cerejeira, guillomo, cuaba, ángico, areno, angelim, y palosapis; y también de aningre, bagá, ako, carambuco, bignay, muku, garapa, pino, pehuén, araucaria, madroño, roble, peroba, guaribu, goncalo, guarita, muiracatiara, okume, ukulungu, mangle, nim, bagaceira, baccharis, guatambu, nogal, aguacatillo, guasimilla, abedul, buganvilla, sucupira, ojoche, morera, júcaro, budleia, juba, cuyá, almacigo, boj, canjerana, guayacán, yarua, libocedro, dagame, ciprés, najesi, selano; y de carangana, jequitibá, carpe, piquia, belah, casuarina, catalpa, kisasage, embauba, cedro, ceiba, almez, enoki, arariba, algarrobo, katsura, alcanfor, limonero, naranjo y guariuba; y de clemátide, copey, jolote, bijaguara, etimoe, freijo, ziricote, cornejo, avellano, chakte kok, griñolera, cumarú, tauri, acerolo, espino, júcaro, cambotá, membrillero, retama, iroko, tatajuba, palisandro, granadillo, cocobolo, sisso, palo rosa, flanboyan, vibona, bodo, caqui, chontaquiro, barú, cumaru, movingui, drago, kapur, caoba rosa, quandong, kauvula, edinam, sapelli, sipo, timburana, buddah, brezo, níspero, jaboty, arabo, suina, elondo, escallonia, tuart, guairaje, bonetero, euforbia, tirucali, haya, sucupira, higuera, gomero, firmiana, alerce, arraclán, fresno, orno, jagua, piorno, limbali, ginkgo, bimburra, ramin, tola, kopie, grevillea, guayacán, palo santo, marapolan, yamagua, guacimo, chacate, bubinga, mongoy, cafeto, mangaba, hibisco, altea, cedrillo, javillo, darina...hasta formar una pira de quince metros de altura.

Mujeres obreras, estudiantes, ejecutivas, funcionarias, campesinas, jóvenes y viejas, prendimos candela, y guardamos silencio cuando irrumpió el bronco rugido de las llamas y el chisporroteo de la resina.

En nuestros rostros y nuestras miradas se reflejaron el fuego, las brasas, y el largo aprendizaje de la paciencia y la esperanza, y permanecimos allí, quietas, y juntas recitamos el viejo conjuro que nos transmitieron nuestras madres y transmitimos a nuestras hijas, hasta que se apagó el último rescoldo al cabo de muchas horas, cuando el alba ya pintaba de añil el horizonte.

Y arrodilladas, fuimos tomando las cenizas a manos llenas hasta cubrir nuestros cabellos, y así hemos decidido continuar, sin usar agua, jabón ni cosméticos, ni otra ropa que la que llevamos puesta, hasta que nuestro conjuro surta efecto y el Tribunal de la Haya de Crímenes de Lesa Humanidad atienda nuestra petición, y detengan y juzguen a quienes atentan, maltratan, torturan y putean nuestro idioma desdoblando el masculino y el femenino sin ton ni son, a tontas y a locas y soltando frases como: "los y las que...", "aquellos y aquellas que..., ", "jóvenes y jóvenas", "miembros y miembras", "ciudadanos y ciudadanas"... y no cejaremos hasta que no sean aherrojados en lóbregas mazmorras, a pan y agua y Diccionario crítico etimológico castellano e hispánico de Joan Corominas.

Muy estimada Gatopardo (si no tuviera memoria de la nieve diría querida), espléndida enumeración, bello final, pero no me fastidies, por no decir otra cosa que sólo se utiliza en el lenguaje y muy poco en la práctica...
Que todo lo anterior induce a confusión. A ver si alguien se cree que las mujeres obreras y las ejecutivas tenemos algo en común. A ver si algún lector no percibe tu ironía y comulga con toda esta monserga del fuego y las cenizas de las mujeres unidas en la puta hoguera.
Como dice mi vecina, hija de minero, "Me cagüen D...y la puta H...". Que ya hay bastante confusión. O tú has bebido demasiado champán o yo,(no bebo cava por ideología -en el peor de los sentidos, como tiene que ser- y buen gusto). Seguramente yo, que aquí es muy de noche. Noche oscura como boca de lobo.
En fin, muy apreciada, que el 2011 no sea tan fastidiado como va a ser y, si es el caso, que don Alimaña News se pronuncie, que está muy callado. Pero, repito, induces a confusión...
A tus pies, sin embargo,

Empírica y estadísticamente, se ha demostrado que el 97,3% de las mujeres - independientemente de la clase social, la raza, la casta y los diplomas academicos- tenemos algo en común (y no me refiero a la pepitilla del gusto):

1) la incapacidad de sintetizar

2) la manía de hacer incisos.

PD.

Y que conste que, en estas fiestas tan entrañables, lo verdaderamente chic no es decir que se bebe champán, en vez de cava, sino leer "Der Einzige und sein Eigentum" en silencio, con un buen café y un puro, después de haber sobrevivido a toda la familia.

No bebas más.

ESTE ARTÍCULO FUE PUBLICADO EN JUNIO DE 2009 SOBRE LOS ENJUAGUES DEL MINISTRO MIGUEL SEBASTIÁN Y SUS SECUACES

CENTRALES NUCLEARES: MIGUEL SEBASTIÁN, EL CAPATAZ DE PRODI EN ESPAÑA

La fiscal romana Giuseppa Geremia tuvo más suerte que, Falcone, Dalla Chiesa, o Borsellino. Por ahora no ha terminado sus días en una mesa de autopsias como cadáver corruptible a todos los efectos menos al del sistema político italiano. Geremia vive hoy desterrada en Cerdeña, consciente de que su sentencia de muerte se ejecutará un día u otro, cuando no quede ni Ferdinando Imposimato para escribir el obituario.

En 1996, Geremia realizó una de las mejores investigaciones anticorrupción de los últimos treinta años: el caso de la privatización del holding Cirio-Bertolli-De Rica. En 1993, siendo Romano Prodi presidente del IRI (Instituto di Reconstruzione Industriale), la compañía, valorada por el banco Credito Italiano en un margen de 6.000 a 9.000 millones de liras, es vendida por el IRI en 3.100 millones de liras a una compañía fantasma llamada Fi.Svi, creada poco antes por amigos de Prodi, cristiano demócratas del Sur de Italia y que desapareció tres meses después de la operación. Antes de pagar al IRI, Fi.Svi, que nunca pudo acreditar tener capital para hacerlo, dividió ilegalmente el holding y vendió a la compañía alemana Unilever la parte correspondiente de Bertolli (petroleos). Con ello pudo pagar al IRI. Esta escandalosa operación fue posible porque Romano Prodi, en Mayo de 1993, en el mismo día que asumía su cargo de presidente del IRI presentaba su "dimisión" como alto ejecutivo de Unilever. El trapicheo hizo sonrojar hasta a un mafioso, amigo de Prodi, como el Alcalde de Nápoles, Antonio Bassolini, que habló de "transacción sucia y escandalosa". En un informe de más de 12.000 páginas el equipo de investigadores contables dirigido por Renato Castaldo demostró cómo la transacción había sido planeada y organizada con Prodi meses antes. La documentación obtenida por la policía en las oficinas de Unilever en Milán revelaban paso a paso la trama y el papel de otra compañía, hasta el momento en la sombra, en la operación: Goldman Sachs.

Cuando en 1996, la fiscal Geremia presentó cargos contra Prodi por corrupción, abuso de poder y conspiración criminal, Prodi era primer ministro. Geremia sufrió coacciones y amenazas de muerte contra ella y su familia. Las medidas de seguridad no sirvieron de nada porque la información de su domicilio, numero de teléfono o itinerarios (aparentemente alto secreto del ministerio de interior) pasaba al instante a sus acosadores. El fiscal general Michelle Coiro mostró su solidaridad con Geremia y fue fulminantemente destituido: "Michele Coiro non è compatibile con la guida della procura di Roma e deve essere trasferito". Muere convenientemente meses después. Geremia es desterrada a Cerdeña y el juez Edoardo Landi da carpetazo al caso y considera perfectamente ajustada a derecho la venta de Cirio-Bertolli-De Rica.

En una entrevista realizada en 2003 a Domenico Pacitti, éste declaraba:

"La Operación Mani Pulite (Manos Limpias) que se comenzó en 1992, demostró principalmente que los partidos políticos italianos eran financiados ilegalmente por la industria y que esto era sólo la punta de un enorme iceberg de corrupción política. A este fenómeno la prensa italiana le llamó "Tangentopoli". Bueno, pues esto y cosas peores han ocurrido y ocurren siempre, lo que pasa es que ahora los partidos políticos se han vuelto bastante descuidados"

La impunidad de Prodi muestra que la operación Mani Pulite sólo tocó la superficie de la corrupción y la ola de dimisiones, exilios y suicidios (voluntarios y ayudados) que provocó limpió la maquinaria delictiva de elementos superfluos como Craxi y la hizo más eficaz.

El caso de Giuseppa Geremia sirvió de aviso a mareantes porque se había iniciado una investigación sobre otro asunto más grave y de mayor envergadura económica, que había logrado silenciarse años antes, pero que, en 1996, sale de nuevo a raiz del escándalo de los trenes de Alta Velocidad: la empresa Nomisma.

Nomisma fue fundada en Bolonia en 1981 por Romano Prodi y se definía como "centro de investigación económico". Prodi tenía 42 años y ya tenía un buen curriculum. Era un cachorro del cardenal Ruini, criado en la Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore de Milán, recomendado a Andreotti, que lo nombró Ministro de Industria en 1978, en aquel inolvidable período donde le volaron los sesos a Mino Pecorelli y a Aldo Moro. Romano Prodi, que, al parecer no era tan gilipollas como decían sus compañeros de facultad, supo dónde tenian secuestrado a Moro por una sesión de ouija en la que el espíritu del Padre Sturzo (fundador del Partido de la Democracia Cristiana) le informó a él y a su mujer, la signora Flavia, también hembra de católicas virtudes, de la calle y número donde tenían escondido a Moro. Prodi -cuenta escandalizado el magistrado Imposimato- insistió en esta versión y en que había informado a la policía pero se le había olvidado informar a los jueces.

Gracias a estas relaciones con el más allá y con el más acá, Romano Prodi creó lo que Il Giornale llamó "una auténtica mafia" en Reggio Emilia. Nomisma recibía innumerables encargos de informes que sustentaran técnicamente decisiones del Consejo Provincial de Bolonia, consejo presidido por Vittorio Prodi, hermano de Romano. Otras veces, los informes eran encargos perfectamente inservibles para justificar facturas: Paolo Prodi, otro hermano, recibió 150.000 euros por una "Historia de la Iglesia en Bolonia"... Nomisma facturó millones de euros por estudios sobre temas como "vacaciones públicas", "el impacto de la seguridad en nuestra región", etc, etc.

Pero el pelotazo de Nomisma fue su informe sobre la Alta Velocidad por encargo de los Ferrocarriles Italianos. La factura del informe ascendía a seis millones de euros, a razón de 3 euros por palabra y en él se decían perlas del estilo: "La ventaja de la Alta Velocidad es la Velocidad", "La Velocidad es muy valorada porque ahorra tiempo", "La preferencia por el tren es inversamente proporcional a la distancia: los que viven cerca de la estación tienden a usar más el tren" o "El precio de mercado de un piso cuya vista a la playa esté bloqueda por una construcción de 8 alturas inevitablemente cae".

Según el juez instructor Mario Antonio Casavola, que estudió los informes que Nomisma hacía para el gobierno italiano y regional, éstos eran inútiles, inservibles y, la mayoría de las veces, copiados de periódicos y enciclopedias. Este magistrado, que, en 1996 declaró ante la Corte las coacciones que había sufrido por parte de sus superiores para que abandonara el caso, tuvo que renunciar a encausar a Prodi porque, aunque Nomisma era claramente una sociedad con actividades fraudulentas, no había pruebas de que Prodi (que formaba parte de estas como miembro de su "Consejo Científico" y presidente del IRI) hubiera realizado personalmente tales tejemanejes.

Efectivamente, en 1982, cuando Ciriaco de Mita, tambien encausado por corrupción, encarga a Prodi la gestión del IRI, éste deja la dirección de Nomisma al resto de su familia y él se queda en una sección aparentemente "técnica" como el "Consejo Científico", pero que, según Casavola, Imposimato y otros magistrados era la auténtica matriz de decisiones y poder de la compañia.

Actualmente Nomisma ha creado una filial llamada Nomisma Energia, cuyo responsable hoy es David Tabarelli, aunque sus dueños reales sigue siendo la Mafia de Bolonia de Prodi. Esta empresa se presenta como una Think-tank, o sea lo mismo que fue la empresa en su origen: un criadero de informes fraudulentos. Esta vez acompaña la estrategia de ENEL para ampliar el mercado de centrales nucleares en Europa y Latinoamérica. Sus informes siguen teniendo la misma altura científica y técnica que los que acompañaban los trapicheos de la Alta Velocidad. Pero Nomisma ha fichado para su Comité Científico a Miguel Sebastián Gascón, Ministro de Industria español, y es muy posible que lo que no consiguieron los valerosos fiscales y magistrados anticorrupción lo consiga Zapatero y Sebastián: hundir definitivamente a Prodi.

Ferdinando Imposimato en su libro "Corruzione ad Alta Velocità.Viaggio nel governo invisibile" dice: "El crimen organizado se ha extendido por toda Italia y mi temor ahora es que se extienda a toda Europa bajo la dirección de Prodi." Pero Prodi creo que no ha evaluado la magnitud del incontrolabre cretinismo de Rodríguez Zapatero y Sebastián. Lo que en el mundo de las altas finanzas se habría llevado con discreción, en voz baja y con pocas palabras, que decía John Wayne, aquí se ha ido anunciando como logros geoestratégicos de un presidente inculto y paleto. Y Miguel Sebastián ha considerado que formar parte de una empresa con un historial de corrupción como Nomisma es una medalla digna de figurar en su curriculum oficial y en la web del ministerio.

Rodríguez Zapatero no sabe idiomas, habla mal el español, desconoce los más elementales términos económicos; sus referencias culturales nos retrotraen a lo peorcito de la progresía franquista, pero siempre ha tenido la suficiente astucia de arrimarse al dinero. El escándalo de la venta de Endesa a ENEL, que su gobierno organizó, supone que se ha dado el control de la energía en España a una empresa que representa lo peor del poteri forti italiano y cuya estrategia para los próximos años es la aumentar el número de centrales nucleares e invadir los mercados donde exista moratoria nuclear.

El problema principal, señalado sin rubor por Tabarelli, es buscar territorios cercanos que admitan cementerios nucleares. En España nunca faltarán alcaldes cerriles que ofrezcan sus municipios para basurero nuclear a cambio de unto, ni ciudadanos que los voten.

En la operación ENEL un día estudiaremos cómo la familia Entrecanales se ha hecho con el control de las renovables, no para su implantación, sino para negociar el modo de impedirlaS cuando se acabe la moratoria nuclear. Es otro servicio al país del lobby liberal, como Intermoney (también en la hoja de Servicios de Miguel Sebastián).

Prodi comenzó sus acercamientos a Zapatero en octubre 2006, en una reunión bilateral en Madrid donde se trató la fusión de Abertis y Autostrade y donde Zapatero dijo amén amén a la necesidad de una política energética común. Pero, para entonces, el director de la Oficina Económica de Presidencia del Gobierno de Zapatero, David Taguas, ya hacía tres años que estaba trabajando para Nomisma. tambien en su "Comité Científico". Por supuesto, Moncloa no consideró que existia incompatibilidad alguna. Y de hecho, no la había porque, como la Historia posterior demostró, todos estaban de acuerdo con vender Endesa a Enel .

El pacto de febrero de 2007 entre Prodi, que acababa de fichar también a Sebastián para su Comité Científico de Nomisma, y Zapatero sellaba nuestro futuro en Europa con Italia, la mafia de Bolonia y la energía nuclear. Miguel Sebastián salió de las cloacas financieras a la política en unas elecciones a la Alcaldía de Madrid, que perdió estrepitosamente. Ni los mismos militantes del PSOE se explicaban por qué Zapatero había elegido un personaje tan desconocido e inane para enfrentarse a Gallardón. Fue su presentación, que lo llevó al Ministerio de Industria en 2008.

El PSOE ha ido aprendiendo de Italia que la corrupción es una forma de Estado y necesita un entramado jurídico que la sustente y fortalezca. El fraude de las fundaciones, que se multiplicaron por 900, en los años 80 podía ser productivo a efectos fiscales, pero, como arquitectura económica criminal era rígida y poco adecuada para expandirse. Los procesos contra la Mafia y contra la Corrupción en la Italia de los 90 demostraron que la creación, por parte del Estado, de sociedades económicas paralelas, pero cebadas con fondos públicos, eran el blindaje perfecto para la clase política. El PSOE ha calcado el modelo de expolio en ese invento llamado Sociedades Estatales. Rodríguez Zapatero y Miguel Sebastián defienden acaloradamente el think tank energético, es decir de donde proceden y donde están: en un pozo de mierda.

Por cierto: alguien debería pasarle el peine espeso a Greenpeace España. Su campaña descafeinada contra la continuidad de Garoña huele a componenda que alimenta.

El espía que surgió del frío

ROMANCE DEL CABALLO ROBADO

20 EL CABALLO ROBADO

En casa del Rey
    se perdió un caballo, decían que el Conde
   lo había robado.
Ni el Conde lo ha hecho ni lo ha pensado.
Ya llevan al conde
   preso a encarcelarlo

grillos a los pies, manilla en las manos, cadenilla al cuello
  por más afrentarlo.
El Rey le miraba desde altas torres y también las damas
  y los infanzones.
—¡Qué dirán los grandes
  de verme en grillones!—
Ya alzara sus ojos, vio el sol eclipsarse
y a un carpintero que la horca hace.
—Noble carpintero ¿para quien la horca?
—Para vos, el Conde,
   y vuestra persona.
—Maestro, maestro,
   así Dios te guarde,
házmela bien alta
   y estrecho el collare, no coman los perros
   de mis dulces carnes;
te daré un rubí,
   te daré un diamante, que me los dio el Rey
   al ir a casarme.—
Le mira la Reina,
   desde el miradore;
Conde, con vergüenza,
   tapó sus grillones.
—No los tapéis, Conde,
   no los tapéis, none,
que para los hombres
   se hacen las prisiones;
para las mujeres
   los grandes dolores.— Gritaba al verdugo que soltase al Conde:
—¡Afloja, verdugo,
   afloja la soga!—
Responde el verdugo que ya no era hora.

b)

En la casa del buen rey
   faltara el mejor caballo;
el Rey le pregunta al Conde:
   —¿Eres tú el que lo ha robado?
—¡Ni robo caballerías, ni aguanto tales agravios!—

El Rey le mandó prender, las cadenas arrastrando:
una le traba las piernas
   y las otras dos las manos.
En lo mejor de su sueño,
   el Conde se ha despertado, que repica un carpintero con el martillo y sus clavos.
—Carpintero, carpintero, dí ¿por qué repicas tanto?
—Estoy haciendo la horca para un conde ajusticiarlo.
—Hazla bien alta y derecha, que yo soy el sentenciado
y no quiero que los perros me coman por los zancajos.- Cuando lo iban a ahorcar, ha relinchado el caballo.
El Rey, que está en altas torres,
   al verdugo le ha gritado:
—El caballo que relincha
   es el que a mí me robaron, el jinete que lo monta
   es hijo mío bastardo.
¡Afloja, afloja la soga, descorre, descorre el lazo!
—¡Ya no es hora de ello, Rey, que de lengua sacó un palmo!

A pesar de la preferencia de los editores de romances del siglo XVI por los romances de temática caballeresca, el "Romancero oral del siglo XX" heredó algunos procedentes de la tradición oral medieval que se escaparon, a lo que parece, de ser glosados por poetas al servicio de la producción de Pliegos sueltos impresos en la primera mitad del siglo XVI y que consecuentemente, no fueron reproducidos por los confeccionadores de romancerillos de faldriquera (hoy los llamaríamos "ediciones de bolsillo"), el gran negocio editorial de la segunda mitad del siglo. En el caso de "El caballo robado", más que por desconocimiento del tema, el "olvido" creo que se debió a que la modalidad prosódica en que llegó a su conocimiento fue la hexasilábica estrófica y los poetas glosadores y los compiladores de romances rechazaban todo romance que no fuera octosilábico y monorrimo, o , todo lo más, compuesto de series monorrimas. Nuestro segundo texto surgió como una habilísima adaptación del primero a la estructura métrica dominante en el romancero castellano, la octosilábica monorrima, y no sabemos hacia cuándo se incorporó a la tradición.

En los siglos XIX y XX, el romance hexasílabo únicamente conservaba ya vigencia en tres áreas "laterales" de la tradición de los pueblos de hablas hispánicas: la catalana y las sefardíes, tanto de Marruecos como de Oriente. El texto octosilábico en -á.o, sólo nos es conocido, hoy por hoy, en una versión única, procedente de Lumbrales (Salamanca), que encontró y publicó en un periódico ¡uno de los antiguos colectores de romances de la tradición gallega!. Intenté su búsqueda por tierras de Ledesma, sin éxito.

LA LEY SINDE, LA PRIVATIZACIÓN DE AENA: PUFOS Y PIFIAS DEL PSOE (1)

Los gobiernos de izquierdas, camuflados con un marketing bobalicón, han tomado las medidas más drásticas contra los intereses de los trabajadores, los autónomos, y los pequeños empresarios, los que han garantizado el 80% del PIB y de los puestos de trabajo en nuestro país. Lo que la derecha no se hubiera atrevido a llevar a cabo, lo ha hecho la izquierda pactando con el gran capital, las multinacionales, la banca, el capital especulativo, y defendiendo sus prerrogativas.

No importa que haya mecanismos de control, porque la Justicia está secuestrada por intrincados procedimientos procesales que, bajo una jerga críptica, un sistema de castas y prebendas, permite la impunidad y la arbitrariedad que nos han convertido en un Estado fallido de hecho, en el que un ciudadano que se enfrente a la Administración tarda una media de diez años en obtener una sentencia firme de un Tribunal Contencioso-Administrativo, en las que la mayor parte de las veces se limitan a reconocer el poder discrecional del ejecutivo o, en caso contrario, que la ilegalidad cometida contra el demandante ha prescrito.

Es posible que los periodistas estén tan entretenidos dando coba al tema Wikileaks y al salario de los controladores que no tengan tiempo de advertir que la privatización de un 48% de AENA significa que los propietarios de los terrenos que expropió el Estado, podrían y deberían revertir la expropiación, y negociarla de acuerdo con otros parámetros legales. Y que, en este momento, la famosa mordaza de la Ley de Alarma también encubre y trata de tapar un pelotazo económico de los mismos de siempre contra los legítimos intereses de los propietarios de los terrenos destinados a aeropuertos (varios de ellos, como el de Ciudad Real, sólo han servido para que el dinero de los Presupuestos Generales del Estado y los fondos de cohesión europeos aterrizaran en las empresas constructoras que apadrinan a las nenas de los caciques autonómicos).

También es posible que, no del todo fiados del rebaño acéfalo en que nos hemos convertido los ciudadanos, también crean necesario arropar el trámite de aprobación de la Ley de Economía Sostenible que contiene la llamada "Ley Sinde" , esa que legisla el bloqueo de páginas de internet prescindiendo de jueces y tribunales, conque así lo decida una comisión del Ministerio de Cultura aduciendo, únicamente, que vulneran la propiedad intelectual.

Y es que estos tontos del pijo no han entendido aún lo que es un enlace en Internet.

Por ejemplo, imagine, amable lector, que aquí se nos ocurre facilitar mediante un enlace un poema de Garcilaso, o el Cantar del Mio Cid de Per Abbat, que, por lógica, al ser obras escritas hace más de setenta años deberían ser de dominio público. Pero he aquí que alguna de las cientos de sociedades y fundaciones estatales creadas al socaire del Ministerio de Cultura, como, por ejemplo, el Instituto Cervantes, va y clava el símbolo © y lo de Reservados todos los derechos, porque con dinero público han digitalizado estas obras, o las han transcrito, o las han recopilado, y después, es muy fácil, las han registrado y han actualizado los derechos de autor en su propio beneficio... Esto es real, no un supuesto teórico, y, si no, que le pregunten a los botarates de la mafia del alfabeto que jamás han escrito una línea propia y viven de chupar del bote de los derechos de autor y sus regalías.

Resumiendo: que nos pueden cerrar este antro por poner un enlace a Garcilaso o dar la tabarra con El Cid. Y no digamos nada si descubren que aquí está publicado El Piyayo...

Con esta ley, este gobierno pretende dinamitar la libre transmisión de la cultura y la inteligencia, de las que tan desprovistos están.

Así es Gato, lo que más duele no es que ellos se digan de izquierdas, sino que hay gente que aún se lo cree.

Tengo por ahí un documento que explica cómo crecía la deuda de Aena en los últimos años, en relación al sueldo de los controladores y a los ingresos de la propia empresa. Te lo he de pasar, aunque supongo que ya lo has visto.

Y mientras tanto haciendo aeropuertos en León, Lérida, Ciudad Real... Cuyo presupuesto se multiplicaba por tres o por cinco, debido a cambios durante la obra, y sin que nadie fuese a la cárcel. ¿Cuánto ha costado la T4 de Barajas, y en cuanto estaba presupuestada?

En fin, que alguien nos rescate YA

ERIC HEBBORN: DRAWN TO TROUBLE

AULLANDO

"Es inevitable ponerse sentimental con los recuerdos de la infancia. Uno tiende a verse como una criaturita incomprendida, triste y digna de lástima. Y es verdad que, hasta un cierto punto, todos los niños son criaturas incomprendidas, tristes y dignas de lástima. Pero también son criaturitas egoístas, incivilizadas y crueles y de este aspecto de la niñez apenas se habla, ni siquiera en la ficción. En las autobiografías se ignora completamente. De hecho, yo mismo me propongo ignorarlo" E. M. Delafield, The Tragic Years

Nací el 20 de marzo de 1934 en el distrito londinense de South Kensington, hijo de John Henry Hebborn (ayudante de tendero en aquel momento) y Rose Molly Marchant. Hebborn es un apellido del que estoy orgulloso: me gusta imaginar que es una corrupción de un apellido aristocrático escocés. También estoy orgulloso del apellido de soltera de mi madre, porque en el Dictionnaire des peintres, dessinateurs, sculpteurs et graveurs de Bénézit hay dos páginas enteras dedicadas a distinguidos artistas que llevaban el apellido Marchant o Marchand y me gusta pensar que alguno de ellos es antepasado mío. Podría investigarlo, pero qué decepción me llevaría si descubro que por mis venas no corre sangre azul ni corpúsculos creativos de artistas geniales. Da pocas satisfacciones ser el hijo de un ayudante de tendero, pero, al menos, South Kensington era un barrio de cierta categoria.

Desgraciadamente, mis padres abandonaron pronto aquel elegante distrito y se fueron a vivir en lo que era entonces una deprimente ciudad de Essex llamada Romford. No sé si alguna vez voy a perdonárselo. Y por si esto no fuera un golpe lo bastante duro a mis pretensiones, tuvieron que elegir una zona de Romford, cerca de una plaza llamada el Rincón de la Horca. El horripilante poste y la viga, que habían dado nombre al lugar, ya no estaban, pero, aun así, el ambiente de tristeza persistía desde mis primeros recuerdos.

Afortunadamente esta clase de recuerdos infantiles son pocos y fragmentarios. La mayoría los retengo sencillamente porque son inolvidables. Por ejemplo, ¿quién puede olvidar el día en que uno descubre por sí mismo que la melaza y la mostaza son en realidad rimas y que una cucharada de Mostaza Coleman puede parecerse a una cucharada de Melaza Bird, pero produce un efecto distinto en un esófago infantil? O ¿quién puede olvidar el descubrimiento de que, si uno se chupa el dedo y lo mete en un enchufe eléctrico, se produce una excitante sensación que sube por el brazo y te pone el pelo tieso?

La familia Hebborn era relativamente numerosa: Los hermanos y hermanas que yo recuerdo se llamaban Keith, Rosemary, Audrey, Roy y Barbara. Mantener a una familia de clase trabajadora de ese tamaño con el sueldo de uno solo de sus miembros (que raramente trabajaba) era indudablemente muy difícil y mi madre debió de sufrir grandes tensiones. Pero no se rompió. En lugar de eso, su valeroso carácter rompía a puñetazos, en violentos ataques de rabia, todo lo que se podía romper del ajuar casero y maldecía por extenso sus ingrata prole, una prole que, sin embargo, mi padre y mi madre aprovechaban la menor oportunidad para incrementarla: Ken y David fueron las últimas adiciones. Mi madre era una mujer grande y daba muy buenos puñetazos. Quizás de ella heredé mi interés por el boxeo. Aunque puede ser también porque yo era su preferido: ninguno de mis hermanos o hermanas recibió la atención de ella que yo tuve. En mi calidad de favorito, si quería dar un tirón de orejas, eran las mías las que elegía; si tenía que dar un cariñoso puntapié, mi trasero era el objetivo dilecto. Pero lo que más le gustaba de mí era la entrañable manera en que me encogía y arrugaba cuando me arrinconaba para una sesión de tirones de pelo y yo, con lágrimas en los ojos, emocionado por ese despliegue de cariño maternal, emitía unos aullidos deliciosos. Aunque yo aullaba por mí, la forma en que lo hacía daba gozo oirme y no hay niño que haya dado más inocente placer a sus padres que el que yo les di a los míos. Al final, mi madre se cansaba de nuestros alegres juegos y me decía que ya podía parar de aullar. De hecho insistía fácticamente en ello, diciendo que si no paraba inmediatamente, me iba a dar puñeteros motivos para seguir berreando. Si esta oferta fallaba para secar mis lágrimas, entonces podía tomar otras medidas más drásticas y amenazaba con contarle a mi padre que había sido un niño muy malo (puede que usara otro lenguaje más contundente) y me recordaba que las consecuencias de tal medida eran una paliza a correazos (…)

A pesar de ser una Marchant, creo que mi madre no tenía mucho interés por el arte. Y sin embargo, curiosamente, fue ella la primera persona que me instiló –y no de manera ambigua- lo importante que era atribuir la autoría de una obra de arte. El incidente se produjo por un dibujo que yo había hecho en el parvulario. Nos habían dado lápices y nos habían dejado dibujar en un papel lo que quisieramos y como quisiéramos. En mi opinión la mayoría de los niños habían hecho un desastre del dibujo y de su persona porque se habían presentado a si místmos en una salvaje proliferación de soles con los pelos de punta, casas de muñecas y lechugas en forma de árboles, tan bastos de colorido como toscos de trazado. Eran el tipo de dibujos que les encantan a los padres idólatras y que muchos pintores modernos intentan imitar con desesperación porque se les ha pagado para hacerlo.

Pero semejantes niñerías no satisfacían a un descendiente de la dinastía artística de los Merchand, que tenía que mostrar al mundo otra personalidad muy diferente. Para sorpresa de mi maestro, empecé a copiar una lechuza disecada que formaba parte de nuestro escuálido mobiliario escolar. Quizás servía para enseñar historia natural o era un símbolo del conocimiento impartido en aquella cátedra del saber. Fuera lo que fuera, allí estaba, con sus ojos de cristal, sabia e inescrutable. Y allí estaba yo, a mis cinco años, haciendo mi primer ensayo con el lenguaje de las líneas. Detesto imaginar el resultado de mis esfuerzos, pero una cosa sí puedo garantizar: No era ni delicioso ni encantador ni cualquiera de las cosas que se supone que son los dibujos infantiles. Pero para su autor fue entonces una maravilla y estoy seguro que mi satisfacción con "el estudio de una lechuza" (cuyo paradero actual , gracias a Dios, es desconocido) fue mucho mayor que el de Miguel Angel al terminar la Capilla Sixtina. Así que corrí abrazado a mi obra de arte, ansioso por mostrársela a todo el mundo, excepto, por alguna razón, a mi madre, de la que había intentado ocultarla escondiéndola debajo del jersey.

—¿Qué tienes ahí. Ya has robao algo ¿no? Preguntó mi suspicaz progenitora al ver que yo estaba agarrandome el jersey para que no se cayera el dibujo. Sácalo.

—No

—Eso lo vamos a ver pronto, dijo, agarrándome del pescuezo, levantándome y dándome un buen meneo. Y, dicho y hecho, no pasó mucho tiempo y yo me llevé instintivamente las manos a la garganta y mi atesorado dibujo se deslizó al suelo. Mi madre cogio el "estudio de una lechuza", lo escudriñó un momento y me preguntó con cierto asombro:

—¿Qué leches es esto?

—Lo que he hecho en la escuela, repliqué.

Volvió a mirar de nuevo mi estudio. Seguramente pocas obras de arte han suscitado tal emoción en un pecho humano. Dudo incluso que el Balzac de Rodin, que, cuando se levantó la tela que lo cubria suscitó el grito de "la patrie en danger", podría haber provocado la ira que mi madre mostro al ver mi lechuza.

A lo que ella realmente ponia objeciones era a la autoría. Como ocurrió después con muchos académicos y expertos de mucha más erudición que Rose Molly Merchant, no se molestó en explicar en que se basaba su juicio. En vez de esto, abandonó la objetividad a favor de una aproximación subjetiva. Ciertamente no creo exagerar si digo que perdió el control y, en un paroxismo de rabia, grito:

—Jodío mentiroso, tú no has dibujado esto tan bien hecho. Te voy a enseñar yo a que vengas aquí con tus puñeteros embustes. Esto es para empezar.

"Esto" era lo que mi madre habría denominado un "hostión" (se pierde mucho en la traducción, pero la expresión puede definirse como un golpe dado con cierta violencia en la cabeza, a la altura de las orejas). Al golpe siguieron otros, pero no voy a contar uno tras otro cómo fueron. Baste saber que el animado encuentro terminó, como de costumbre, con su permiso para que dejara de aullar (…)

Eric Hebborn, autobiografía Drawn to trouble

Hay pintores, pintamonas, capones esteticistas y genios. Eric Hebborn fue un genio.

Murio asesinado en Roma y su muerte llevó la tranquilidad a marchantes, académicos y casas reales que se habían enriquecido con sus falsificaciones. La vida que le tocó en suerte fue cruel y sus semejantes mezquinos. Cuando hayan desaparecido de la faz de la tierra sus difamadores y sus hijos y los hijos de sus hijos, habrá justicia histórica y se podrá admirar al gran artista que fue.

El fragmento que he traducido corresponde a su autobiografía Drawn to trouble (Dibujado para causar problemas), titulo que remeda el de la autobiografía de otro gran dibujante ingles, Sheppard, Drawn from memory (Dibujado desde el recuerdo)

CUESTIÓN DE PROPORCIONES

El individualismo no está bien visto en las sectas de la izquierda ni de la derecha tradicional, herederas de la mística calvinista, que blindaron sus enfrentamientos con una feroz defensa de la ortodoxia y de los suyos. Por eso, para los que nos gusta leer, hay pocas ocasiones para esponjarnos de dicha ante autores que piensen con independencia, tengan su propio criterio, sean capaces de quedarse solos y, no obstante, sigan escribiendo lo que quieren, y manteniendo sus posiciones con la contundencia de un guerrero espartano, y con la pureza de un adolescente.

Como mi corpus ideológico consiste en buscarle las debilidades a las ideologías, y meter el dedo en la trama desgastada de las convicciones de una pieza, y vivo ajena al espíritu gregario, suelo tener pocos amigos de mi bando.

El gregario tiende a limar aristas en la percepción para lograr coincidir con el resto. Y el resultado es ese tipo de gente que no sabes si va o si viene, si sube o si baja, si te la va a endosar por la espalda o ya te la envainó. Es esa clase de individuo que cree ser encantador, cuyas características encajan con un obsequioso vendedor modélico de El Corte Inglés, aterrorizado ante sus superiores, servil con quien le paga, y tiránico con quien esté por debajo de él en el escalafón. Y, suele tener un discurso engolado y ecolálico, con una docena de obviedades bienintencionadas, dignas de un orador de Hide Park con el cerebro estragado por el alcohol metílico.

Los he conocido al frente de oenegés, aulas, sindicatos, partidos, asociaciones, empresas, rebozados de megalomanía y narcisismo, que son los enemigos naturales de la inteligencia; nunca los he encontrado entre los creadores, los investigadores, los marginados, y los descubridores, gente acostumbrada a preguntar y preguntarse, a la que le importa una higa blindarse el ego o ponerle chorreras, porque no suele cultivar sus debilidades ni sus certezas.

Y todo esto, viene a cuento porque los vendedores de noticias no suelen calificar como "históricos" los acontecimiento de trascendencia limitada y local, ni califican como

"hecatombes" las erupciones cutáneas en la vida parroquial, ni como "desastre" lo que afecte el ajuar de una familia. Y, sin embargo, mi imaginación estragada y sobrestimulada no es capaz de imaginar nada que sobrepase el círculo de lo conocido, y me rebotan las narraciones dramáticas, las masacres, y los desatres, que, en mi cerebro, forman parte de lo abstracto, tirando a gaseoso, mientras que me deja arrasada el drama íntimo y mezquino de mi fracaso personal y concreto: se me ha olvidado añadir las claras montadas, con la corteza de limón rallada, a la tarta de queso. Ha quedado vomitiva. Y por si fuera poco, se ha terminado la 1ª temporada de Downton Abbey...

Ustedes perdonen si me exalto, no voy a pretender que me parezca comparable con la quiebra internacional de la economía capitalista, con que la corrupción institucional de México y España vayan del bracete en el informe de Transparencia Internacional, o los consabidos escarceos bélicos en algún país exótico... No hay proporción. Yo, como todos, soporto con una admirable entereza el sufrimiento ajeno.

Eso sí, a mí también me parece que los idiotas son los demás...

¿QUÉ FUMAN LOS MIEMBROS DEL GOBIERNO DEL REINO DE ESPAÑA?

El Gobierno anuncia que militarizará el control aéreo a partir de las 21.30 del viernes, 3 de diciembre de 2010.

Como estos cerriles que tenemos en el Gobierno de España no se han leído la Constitución - y si la han leído no la han entendido-, no se han enterado de que han declarado el Estado de excepción, sin pedir autorización al Congreso de Diputados, y por lo tanto, están dando un golpe de Estado.

Y si el Congreso y la Constitución se pueden pasar por alto, y se pueden conculcar las garantías civiles porque se le ocurra al Gobierno, estaremos de acuerdo en que todo vale. Para todos.

Desde el momento que aplican a las 21,30 del día 3 de diciembre 2010 la militarización del Control Aereo, cuando el decreto del Estado de Alarma entra en vigor "desde el momento de su publicación", que fue el día 4 de diciembre de 2010, eso significa que existe de facto un "Estado de excepción" sin respaldo jurídico y constitucional.

Nunca, ni el 23 de febrero de 1981, por el Golpe de Estado de Tejero and cía. ni el 11 de marzo de 2004, ante el mayor atentado de la historia de España, se ha declarado el Estado de Alerta.

La respuesta frente a la no asistencia de una parte de los controladores aereos a sus puestos de trabajo fue desproporcionada, porque el sistema jurídico, administrativo, laboral y penal hubiera sido suficiente; pero esto es un ensayo para dar respuesta a los cuatro millones de parados, de los que un 20% viven en familias donde todos los miembros están sin trabajo ni prestaciones de desempleo y para cualquier colectivo que cree un conflicto.

Y, antes de declararme ciudadana de pleno derecho he tenido la decencia de leerme, estudiar y aprenderme la Constitución, cosa que que es lo mínimo que se le puede pedir a un ciudadano adulto sin problemas neurológicos graves.

Hay una palabra en la democracia griega, perfectamente válida, para quien no se informa ni se responsabiliza de los asuntos que le conciernen como ciudadano, y esa palabra era "idiota". Y en la democracia griega no se le reconocían los mismos derechos que a los ciudadanos libres y conscientes.

Cualquiera que pretenda tener derechos como ciudadanos en una democracia, y se permita el lujo de opinar sin asumir el deber de informarse es un perfecto ejemplo de "idiota". Usted lo es.

PUBLICADO: EL ARCHIVO DEL ROMANCERO, PATRIMONIO DE LA HUMANIDAD

En la bitácora Romancero de la Cuesta del Zarzal, se ha acabado de publicar El Archivo del Romancero, patrimonio de la humanidad, obra de Diego Catalán, que constituye el estudio histórico más completo que hay sobre la formación, fondos atesorados y evolución de este archivo, único en el mundo.

Con este monumental trabajo, Catalán pretendió iniciar los trámites para solicitar a la Unesco la protección del Archivo del Romancero como Patrimonio de la Humanidad. Como esta calificación habría entorpecido los intentos de recalificación urbanística de la sede que los alberga, la petición fue boicoteada sistemáticamente por la misma Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, el Ministerio de Cultura y otras asociaciones de botarates obsequiosos con la Fundación Ramón Areces.

Diego Catalán murió sin concluir el informe de presentación a la Unesco y es incierta hoy la suerte de estos archivos, asi es que pasen y lean sobre otra joya de la cultura universal a punto de perecer. Pronto, puede que sólo nos quede de ella esta obra.

Además del El Archivo del Romancero, patrimonio de la humanidad, se han publicado en esta bitácora Arte Poética del Romancero Oral. I: Los textos abiertos de creación colectiva y una antología, única en su género, de romances compilados por Catalán con las mejores variantes de la tradición lírica popular En la bitácora Obras de Diego Catalán se puede acceder a las siguientes ediciónes completas:

* El Cid en la Historia y sus inventores

La épica española. Nueva documentación y nueva evaluación:

- II. TESTIMONIOS DE LA POESÍA ÉPICA AL SUR DE LOS PIRINEOS ANTERIORES AL SIGLO XIII
- III. LOS TESTIMONIOS POST-ALFONSÍES DE LA CONTINUIDAD DE LA EPOPEYA

y se está editando también Arte Poética del Romancero Oral I Los textos abiertos de creación colectival en la bitácora Obras de Diego Catalán y Arte poética del Romancero Oral II. Memoria, invención y artificio en la bitácora Romancero de la Cuesta del Zarzal

Ni que decir tiene la gran satisfacción que me produce esta publicación, como todas las que viene haciendo "La Cuesta del Zarzal". Y el marbete "Patrimonio de la Humanidad" le viene como anillo al dedo. Precisamente por ser patrimonio del mundo, se da, libre de tasas al mundo mismo.

ESCRIBIR

Luis Tamargo me pasó el testigo para que cuente por qué escribo, cómo se me ocurre, a cuento de qué...

Empezaré por advertir que he nacido en la milla de oro de la retórica, de la prosa apaisada con iridiscencias enfáticas, del anacoluto, del eufemismo, de la lira laudatoria, del ditirambo, de la pura alegoría preñada de metáforas, allí donde la aliteración prosódica se adorna con anadiplosis, anáforas, asíndetones, apóstrofes y frases en las que se encabalga la absoluta necesidad de ocultar lo que se piensa mediante la explicación exhaustiva de lo que no se siente.

Os pongo un ejemplo de prosa administrativa en el Boletín Oficial de una Comunidad Autónoma para dar una condecoración de puro trámite a un paisano que se eternizó en el cargo unos lustros: es copia literal:

"DECRETO 71/2004 DE 4 DE MAYO POR EL QUE SE CONCEDE LA MEDALLA DE ORO DE CASTILLA-LA MANCHA A JOSÉ BONO.
Diario Oficial de Castilla-La Mancha, 31 de mayo de 2004

José Bono Martínez nació el 14 de diciembre de 1950 en Salobre (Albacete) donde aprendió, según sus propias palabras, a comportarse como si todo el mundo fuese lo que es en realidad: igual. Hijo de José y de Amelia. Casado con Ana Rodríguez. Padre de Amelia, Ana, José y Sofía. Amigo de sus amigos y de sus adversarios, porque no se le conocen enemigos.

José Bono, luchador por el restablecimiento de la democracia en España. Abogado. Diputado por Albacete al Congreso entre 1979 y 1983. Ministro de Defensa del Gobierno de España. Y, sobre todo, Presidente de Castilla-La Mancha. Desde junio de 1983 a abril de 2004, durante 21 años, ha sido Presidente de la Junta de Comunidades de Castilla-La Mancha. El Presidente Bono.

Castilla-La Mancha surge como Región al amparo soberano de la Constitución de 1978 y de su Estatuto de Autonomía. Sin embargo, fue a partir de las primeras elecciones autonómicas de 1983 cuando los castellano-manchegos comienzan a tomar conciencia de las posibilidades de la autonomía política.

Nuestra Región, con un líder al frente, emprendió una ardua marcha hacia un esperanzador futuro, abandonando el equipaje de un pasado sombrío. Bono, como el caminante de Antonio Machado, hizo camino al andar. Hizo Castilla-La Mancha, hizo castellano-manchegos, consolidó la Región y la defendió con acierto.

Si somos lo que nos atrevemos a soñar, hoy Castilla-La Mancha es una realidad preñada de futuro porque un gran cumplidor de sueños se puso en marcha en 1983.

Pero de manera realista, no iluminada. De forma inteligentemente pragmática, no voluntarista.

Bono ha hecho realidad un sueño contando con todos. Con D. Quijote y Sancho. Con el cura y el barbero. Con el ventero y el cabrero. Con Dulcinea y la sobrina.

Todo para Castilla-La Mancha, pero con Castilla-La Mancha. Porque despotismo, ni siquiera ilustrado.

Los méritos por lo que se le reconoce acreedor a la distinción que hoy se le otorga son muchos, imposibles de sintetizar en el texto de un Decreto que ha de ser breve. Pero en Castilla-La Mancha somos bien nacidos y, por tanto, agradecidos, y, ahora, el Gobierno de la Región, recogiendo el sentir del conjunto de la población, al conceder la Medalla de Oro a José Bono, le dice, sencillamente, gracias.

Gracias por 21 años de pasión y trabajo. Gracias por 21 años de amistad, porque Bono, y éste es quizá su mayor bagaje, ha conseguido durante su presidencia amistades para siempre, sin distinción de clase social, ideología o edad en todos y en cada uno de los municipios de Castilla-La Mancha.

Hoy hay toda una generación muy distinta a la de 1983. Una generación que tiene Universidad, una generación que tiene mejores comunicaciones, una generación con mayor bienestar. Una generación mejor preparada para construir su propio futuro. Una "generación Bono" que ha crecido y ha madurado paralelamente a su Presidencia.

Por todo ello, y por tantas cosas que todos guardamos en la memoria, con el convencimiento de que sin él no seríamos lo que somos, el Gobierno de Castilla-La Mancha le concede su máxima distinción, sabiendo que no hay medalla que pueda hacerse de la aleación de cariño, amistad y agradecimiento con la que, simbólicamente, está hecha la Medalla de Oro que este Decreto concede.

En consecuencia por todos estos méritos, previa deliberación del Consejo de Gobierno en su reunión del día cuatro de mayo de dos mil cuatro, y a propuesta de su Presidente,

Dispongo

Artículo único

Se concede la Medalla de Oro de Castilla-La Mancha a Don José Bono Martínez, en reconocimiento a su dilatado y prestigioso trabajo como Presidente de Castilla-La Mancha y por los servicios prestados a los intereses generales de esta tierra durante veintiún años.

Disposición Final

El presente Decreto entrará en vigor el mismo día de su publicación en el Diario Oficial de Castilla-La Mancha.

Dado en Toledo, a 4 de mayo de 2004

JOSÉ ALFREDO JIMÉNEZ: UN MUNDO RARO. EL PERRO NEGRO

UN MUNDO RARO

Cuando te hablen de amor y de ilusiones
y te ofrezcan un sol y un cielo entero si te acuerdas de mí, no me menciones, porque vas a sentir amor del bueno.

Y si quieren saber de tu pasado, es preciso decir una mentira.
Di que vienes de allá de un mundo raro que no sabes llorar, que no entiendes de amor, y que nunca has amado.

Por que yo adonde voy, hablaré de tu amor
como un sueño dorado, y olvidando el rencor
no diré que tu adiós me volvió desgraciado

Y si quieren saber de mi pasado,
es preciso decir otra mentira:
les diré que llegué de un mundo raro
que no sé del dolor, que triunfé en el amor,
y que nunca he llorado.

Porque yo adonde voy, hablaré de tu amor
como un sueño dorado, y olvidando el rencor
no diré que tu adiós me volvió desgraciado.

Y, si quieren saber de mi pasado,
es preciso decir otra mentira:
les diré que llegué de un mundo raro,
que no sé del dolor, que triunfé en el amor,
y que nunca he llorado.

EL PERRO NEGRO

Al otro lado del puente   de La Piedad, Michoacán, vivía Gilberto, el valiente, nacido en Apatzingán, siempre con un perro negro   que era su noble guardián, quería vivir con la Lupe,   la novia de don Julián, hombre de mucho dinero,   acostumbrado a mandar, él ya sabía de Gilberto   y lo pensaba matar.

Un día que no estaba el perro, llegó buscando al rival,
Gilberto estaba dormido, ya no volvió a despertar.
En eso se oyó un aullido, cuentan de un perro del mal era el negro embravecido   que dio muerte a don Julián.

Allí quedaron los cuerpos,   Lupita no fue a llorar, corto las flores más lindas   como p'hacer un altar y las llevo a una tumba   del panteón municipal:
allí estaba echado el perro   sin comer y sin dormir

quería mirar a su dueño,   no le importaba vivir, así murió el perro negro,   aquel enorme guardián que quiso mucho a Gilberto   y dio muerte a don Julián.

VICTOR ROTHSCHILD. ABSTENERSE CONSPIRANOICOS

"No entiendo los escrúpulos ante el uso del gas. Estoy decididamente a favor de usar gas venenoso contra tribus sin civilizar" (Winston Churchill, President of the Air Council, 1919)

Uno de los compartimentos más secretos en la vida de Victor Rothschild es su relación con los experimentos e investigaciones de guerra bacteriológica llevados a cabo por Gran Bretaña antes, durante y después de la Segunda Guerra Mundial [1]. De creernos su esbozo autobiográfico, llegaríamos a la conclusión de que sus funciones en la Segunda Guerra Mundial fueron las de un jefe de TEDAX y las de Copero Mayor de Winston Churchill:

"Durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial mi vida estaba dividida en dos partes: matemáticas y antisabotaje (…)

El antisabotaje consistía: primero en identificar los puntos clave en Gran Bretaña y otros lugares que había que defender de saboteadores enemigos y, segundo, en desactivar bombas de sabotaje que estaban invariablemente camufladas en algo más (…)

Pero, con mucho, la tarea más difícil de todas era proteger a Winston Churchill. Además del placer evidente que sentía por el riesgo personal [2], Winston recibía continuamente puros desde todas las partes del mundo. Podía ser muy fácil impregnar uno de los extremos de un puro con cianuro o, mejor (en cierto sentido) con toxina botulínica, o poner dentro una pequeña carga explosiva que estallara cuando se encendiera. En consecuencia, las autoridades decidieron que había que enviar a analizar los cigarros de Churchill. Consultamos con Lord Cherwell para elaborar una técnica estadística. Una vez pasados los puros por rayos X, el Dr. Bruce White de Medical Research Council se encargaba del trabajo experimental. Le conté al Primr Ministro que sumergiamos algunos de los puros en una solución de agua salina, que inyectábamos a ratones y, según sus reacciones, él tenía sus puros o no. Le divirtieron los experimentos pero se disgustaba si había retrasos y, en ese caso, yo recibía mensajes iracundos"[3]

Con este relato y el de la bomba escondida en una caja de cebollas españolas, que él mismo desactivó,[4] cierra Rothschild su intervención con la armas y la guerra. Se dice que por esta acción se le concedió la George Medal meses después. Aunque, en Meditations se permite el lujo de la modestia, la condecoración, según nos cuenta Rose, fue bastante polémica. Sir David Petrie, Director General del MI5, no creía que desactivar bombas mereciese una George Medal, sobre todo si el condecorado era Lord Rothschild, joven al que Churchill y Hankey habían metido en el MI5 por oscuras razones. Churchill insistió en que se le concediese la George Medal, pero surgió el problema de definir qué cargo oficial ostentaba, en qué departamente o cuerpo se inscribía Victor Rothschild y cuáles eran los méritos concretos por los que se concedía la máxima distinción al heroísmo civil, aclaraciones que siempre embrollaron el curriculum de Rothschild. En la London Gazette de 4 de abril de 1944, al lado del relato pormenorizado de las hazañas de un operario montador del Ministry of Supply, que rescató a cuatro personas de un incendio, se publica el nombre de Victor, que destaca por su imprecisa brevedad:

"Nathaniel Mayer Victor, Baron Rothschild, doctor, asistente de la Administración, del War Office. Por su trabajo arriesgado en circunstancias peligrosas" [5]

La prensa australiana dio otra versión quizás más ajustada a la realidad:

"El Barón Rothschild, cabeza de la dinastía de banqueros millonarios, que está a cargo de trabajos científicos secretos, según se dice, de gran importancia militar, ha sido condecorado con la George Medal.
"Estoy sorprendido-dijo cuando le dijeron que había ganado la medalla- pero si eso significa que he hecho daño a los nazis, estoy orgulloso y contento"[6]
La Casa Rothschild tiene cuentas pendientes con los nazis ya que sus miembros han sido perseguidos con saña, robados y encarcelados en Austria, Alemania y Francia.[7]
El Barón Rothschild tiene 33 años y ha estado trabajando en la "trastienda" del Ministry of Supply durante un tiempo (…)[8]

En 1944, Victor Rothschid tenía el rango de Lieutenant Colonel [9] era jefe de la Sección B1(c) (Contra-sabotaje)[10], y está documentado, hasta el momento, que trabajaba para los siguientes organismos:

—Chemical Warfare (más tarde Defence) Committee.
—Porton Down
—M.I.R. Millitary Intelligence Research Branch
—Bacteriological Committee
—J.I.C
—C.I.D
—Chemical Board

Como veremos, el Colonel Rothschild frecuentaba muchas trastiendas. Ni su propio jefe, Guy Liddell, tenía claro las relaciones de su subordinado con otros departamentos y organismos gubernamentales: "Lo que no tengo claro es la relación de Víctor con el War Room" —escribe perplejo, el 28 de febrero de 1945, después de cinco años de tenerlo a sus órdenes.

La causa de esta confusión no radica tanto en el hermetismo de Rothschild como en el secretismo paranoide de su patria. Desde los años 30 Gran Bretaña ha impuesto a sus súbditos una censura absoluta sobre el tema de la guerra bacteriológica, y ha mantenido durante decenios una política sistemática de destrucción o falsificación documental [11]. Antes de 2005, cuando entra en vigor la UK's FOIA (Freedom of Information Act) los sucesivos gobiernos destruyeron cualquier tipo de información que consideraban podía afectar a la seguridad nacional. Incluso cuando la FOIA entra en vigor, se introduce subrepticiamente una cláusula que permite destruir documentación que no se hayan solicitado. Desde los National Archives y otros organismos bienintencionados se inicia una campaña amarillista de descubrir desclasificados "escandalosos" o sentimentales: información sobre OVNIS, amantes reales o batallitas ejemplares de ciudadanos patrióticos. Simultáneamente la documentación sobre las actividades del C.I.D (Committee for Imperial Defence), los experimentos bacteriológicos en Escocia, las extrañas capturas por los nazis de agentes del SOE (Special Operation Executive), la creación de "rat lines", el intento por parte de militares británicos de salvar a colegas nazis de los juicios de Nuremberg, etc., sigue sin llegar y, cuando lo hace o son escandalosas falsificaciones o copias de originales "deteriorados por contaminación de amianto", mineral que merece una O.B.E por los servicios que ha rendido a la Corona Británica.[12]

Todos los científicos que intervinieron en la guerra química y bacteriológica que se desarrolló en el Reino Unido en los años 30 a 50 nunca mencionaron en sus currículos sus trabajos ni sus aportaciones. Por ejemplo del padre de la guerra química y mentor de Victor Rothschild, sir Harold Hartley [13] , la Royal Society of Chemistry dice:

(Primera Guerra Mundial): "El período de posguerra en Balliol fue de gran actividad. Hartley dirigió su propia investigación sobre conductividad eléctrica de soluciones salinas no acuosas. Y animó a sus discípulos en sus propias investigaciones, a la vez que descubrió muy tempranamente la capacidad de C.N. (más tarde Sir Cyril) Hinshelwood, quien luego sería Presidente de la Royal Society."
(Segunda Guerra Mundial): "En la Segunda Guerra Mundial presidió varios comités encargados de los suministros de petroleo, aviación y defensa del gas"[14]

Harold Hartley, desde Junio de 1915, actuó como asesor de armas químicas (Chemical Adviser) de la 3rd Army. En 1917 fue nombrado por el Ministerio de Defensa ADGS "Assistant Director Gas Service", encargado de todo lo referente a armamento con gas. En noviembre de 1918 se le ascendió a Controller en el Chemical Warfare Department (Departamento de Armas Químicas). En febrero de 1919 dirigió el equipo de los aliados que inspeccionó fábricas y arsenales de la Alemania ocupada. Le despertó una gran admiración la estrecha relación que mantenían las empresas químicas alemanas con el ministerio de guerra y sus necesidades. En 1921, el gobierno lo envió a Berlín a interrogar a su alter ego alemán, su admirado Fritz Haber. Haber era el modelo del científico práctico, que había hecho del oficio de matar una herramienta precisa, eficaz y lucrativa. A él se debe el uso de clorina, en lugar de gas lacrimógeno, en los proyectiles usados por el ejército alemán en la Primera Guerra Mundial. Con la clorina se conseguía no sólo aturdir al enemigo, sino corroer toda mucosa que entrara en contacto con ella. En cuestión de minutos, los soldados gaseados en las trincheras, quedaban sin ojos y con los pulmones destrozados. No sabemos aún las cifras de muchachos franceses, italianos e ingleses que recibieron semejante muerte. En Gran Bretaña, los que se salvaron sufrieron secuelas de por vida y eran internados lejos del público para que no decayera la moral nacional.

La eficacia de la clorina fue demostrada en una prueba, a la que asistieron otros científicos y futuros Premios Nobel, como Otto Hahn y James Franck Gustoav Hertz. En un solo ataque murieron 5.000 soldados y 10.000 fueron gravemente heridos. La producción de clorina fue un gran negocio para Haber y para el gobierno alemán. Haber creó varias empresas que exportaron clorina y todo tipo de armas químicas a quien lo solicitaban. Su hombre de paja era Hugo Stoltzenberg. Haber y Stoltzenberg ayudaron a España a crear la Fábrica de Armas Químicas de La Marañosa [15] y a gasear a la población de el Rif en la guerra con Marruecos, en 1922-1923.

En 1916 el Kaiser premia a Haber con la creación del Kaiser Wilhelm Institute para investigación de armas químicas y lo nombra director. En 1919, como los vencedores exigían que cesaran las investigaciones del Kaiser Wilhelm Institute, Haber creó la Deutsche Gesellschaft für Schädlingsbekämpfung mbH (Degesch) (Compañía alemana de Control de plagas). La Degesh patentó otro invento de gran utilidad y eficacia para Alemania:el Zyklon B con el que se gaseó a millones de personas. El pesticida llevaba años siendo usado para matar ratas y desinfectar a los mexicanos que entraban en Estados Unidos [16].

La historia empresarial de las distintas compañías que se lucraron con el Zyklon B es conocida, así como la vergonzosa historia del juicio a I.G Farben en Nuremberg y la protección que los aliados dieron a los industriales nazis [17]

A Haber le dio tiempo de colaborar y asesorar con el gobierno de Hitler. Fue expulsado no por su condición de judío, sino porque había fracasado en un intento de extraer oro de agua del mar. Cuando llegó a Inglaterra, William Pope, catedrático de química de Cambrige lo recibió con los máximos honores. Otros colegas se negaron. Haber murió repentinamente en Basilea en 1934. Acababa de aceptar de Chaim Weizmann la presidencia del Physical Chemistry Department of the Daniel Sieff Institute in Rehovot.[18]

El Weizmann Institute le dedicó unas sentidas palabras de recuerdo:

"La historia de Fritz Haber es el símbolo de la tragedia del científico judío, que sufre el conflicto entre su judaismo y su patriotismo alemán." [19]

La falta de escrúpulos, compasión, o límite ético a la experimentación que el Weizmann Institute llama patriotismo no anda lejos de la realidad. Las guerra química supuso un gran avance para la industria alemana y británica y un reto para los burócratas de la guerra y los científicos de la época. En la primera guerra mundial se experimentó con toda clase de sustancias tóxicas con el enemigo. En la segunda, con la propia población civil y soldados. Los científicos anotaban los resultados inmediatos de sus "experimentos de campo" y los daños a medio y largo plazo o eran negados o eran minimizados por los procedimientos más chuscos. Por ejemplo, las consecuencias neurotóxicas [20] de los gases empleados en la primera guerra mundial no fueron reconocidas oficialmente. Las autoridades militares, y tras ellas las médicas, inventaron el Combat stress reaction (CSR), o shell shock que incluía cualquier síntoma que pudiera dar derecho a baja o pensión de invalidez. Los militares clasificaban a las víctimas como "heridos" o "enfermos". Los "heridos" habían demostrado su patriotismo con pruebas irrefutables y palpables de contacto con el enemigo, como una pierna de menos o medio rostro volado. Los "enfermos" eran cobardes que fingían convulsiones y desorientación para no volver al frente. A éstos, en el mejor de los casos, se les negaba cualquier pensión o derecho. En el peor, eran fusilados.

En la primera guerra mundial, en Gran Bretaña, fueron fusilados por cobardía 306

muchachos, de edades entre 16 y 21 años [21]. Como ocurre hoy con el Síndrome de la Guerra del Golfo, el reconocimiento de sus víctimas por parte del gobierno significaría, aparte de las compensaciones económicas, admitir formalmente el uso de armas prohibidas por tratados internacionales. La connivencia de la Medicina y los distintos departamentos de Biología de las universidades británicas con los intereses militares y de la industria no es un fenómeno de hoy.

En este entramado de intereses, Hartley fue el encargado de reclutar cientícos y colocarlos en puestos clave de la industria y de las empresas del gobierno. El organigrama mental de las ambiciones científicas de Hartley era el calco del sistema económico británico. Sus concepciones de la ciencia revelan una inteligencia brillante, adaptable e inquisitiva. Hartley previó la importancia de la biotecnología como siguiente grado en la sofisticación de la industria armamentística y de la carrera por el poder. Nunca formó parte ni presidió un comité o empresa de la que no sacara rendimiento operativo, fuera en el plano científico o en el político. Estuvo siempre presente en los núcleos estratégicos y cuando se jugaban los intereses económicos más decisivos de su país. Su forma de actuar fue tan discreta o su conocimiento de las cloacas de la ciencia y del poder tan extensos que su biografía está por escribir, la Enciclopedia Británica lo ignora y la Royal Society empalideció su figura con una semblanza anodina. Éste fue el hombre que descubrió el talento del joven Victor Rothschild, quien lo introdujo el el sancta sanctorum del poder científico y quien lo protegió durante años, cuando Lord Rothschild ya era aparentemente un personaje poderoso. Victor Rothschild no reconoció públicamente a su mentor y modelo. En su autobiografía sólo nos cuenta de él:

"Por aquel tiempo (1928) llegó a Harrow un tipo muy agradable con una levita y una mirada chispeante y me ofreció una beca para Cambridge que gané. Se llamaba Harold Hartley y más tarde llegó a ser un gran amigo mío. Yo lo admiraba mucho"[22]

Sin embargo, muy en la tradición del buen agente de inteligencia, Victor Rothschild utilizó el método de flotsam (vestigios del naufragio) y nos dejó las pistas de la historia a través de su biógrafo autorizado Kenneth Rose, que fue insertando la información sin contexto histórico ni explicaciones. En su intento por trivializar la cuestión y tratarla de la forma más confusa posible, Rose consiguió un párrafo antológico de desinformación

"Diez años después (del examen de Harrow), poco después de que estallara la guerra en 1939, Hartley invitó a Victor a que fuera su "personal assistant" y lo hizo miembro de un comité secreto "para crear y analizar nuevas propuestas de guerra química, en todas sus dimensiones". En noviembre, visitó el centro secreto de investigación química de Porton Down y mantuvo correspondencia con Sir Henry Dale, premio Nobel y asesor científico del War Cabinet, sobre experimentos con "membranas secas de colodion de porosidad mesurable". No había cumplido treinta años y ya estaba a las puertas de Whitehall, pero era la puerta equivocada, porque no era químico y tenía poco que aportar en ese campo.
Encontró un empleo más satisfactorio en el MI5" [23]

Para entender el papel de Victor Rothschild en la investigación de armas químicas y biológicas hay que tener en cuenta:

Los años previos a 1939 donde distintos países llevan a cabo este tipo de investigación e industria: Alemania, como ya hemos visto, Francia, Canadá y Estados Unidos.

La incorporación de los avances científicos en biología (virología) a la investigación sobre armamento y el papel decisivo de ciertos individuos, como Hankey, Banting o el mismo Hartley que, sin ser biólogos, previeron la importancia que llegarían a tener las nuevas armas.

Los experimentos y descubrimientos en armas químicas o biológicas, además del lógico secreto que requerían por razones obvias (competencia entre industrias y países) estaban camuflados siempre bajo el rótulo: investigación de carácter defensivo, que era la argucia legalista que Francia había encontrado para burlar el cumplimiento del tratado de Ginebra de 1925 [24] que habían firmado Gran Bretaña, Alemania o Estados Unidos. Por tanto, en los documentos que hoy leemos, hay que tener en cuenta este formalismo para su correcta comprensión, porque, como veremos, había que aducir que el enemigo tenía ese arma y se proponía atacar con ella, para justificar la investigación y los experimentos en ese campo. Según el momento histórico o los intereses políticos se requería una justificación más o menos fundamentada.

No todos los estamentos e individuos en Gran Bretaña aceptaron con el mismo entusiasmo los avances en el nuevo armamento químico y bacteriológico, unos por razones éticas, otros porque desconfiaban de su eficacia y otros simplemente porque no entendían nada de ciencias. Un personaje clave que, en 1939, llevaba años trabajando en la promoción de armas químicas y biológicas es Maurice Hankey, el llamado "Man of Secrets", Secretary en distintos cargos del gobierno desde la primera guerra mundial. El silencio sobre su nombre que se impuso después de la Segunda Guerra Mundial fue tal que sólo en los últimos años se ha desmentido documentalmente la leyenda de su rechazo a las armas químicas y biológicas y se ha revelado su verdadero trabajo desde 1934 hasta 1945 [25].

NOTAS

1 Que yo sepa, hasta 2001 no se cita a Victor Rothschild como integrante esencial de los distintos cómites de armas bacteriológicas: Brian Balmer, Britain and Biological Warfare: Expert Advice and Science Policy, 1930-65 , pp.47-52, obra de gran interés y excelentemente fundamentada.

2 El único incidente reseñado por sus partidarios donde Winston Churchill fue presa del pánico ocurrió en Nassau a principios de 1932, cuando un coche conducido por un negro pasó cerca de él a gran velocidad. "Se le quedó la cara blanca como el papel y empezó a sudar copiosamente" cuenta su guardaespaldas Walter Thompson. Seguramente el terror lo causó tanto la velocidad del coche como la raza de su conductor. Los testimonios documentales sobre el racismo de Churchill van creciendo año a año y están dando mucho trabajo a sus exégetas para explicarlos. (Walter Thompson, Beside the bulldog, p.75)

3 (Meditations of a broomstick, pp.25-26) Esta forma tan cretina de magnicidio sería inverosímil si no supiéramos que, años más tarde, la CIA intentó deshacerse, reiteradamente y también con gran aparataje científico, de Fidel Castro con el mismo método y nulos resultados. La impronta británica en el poco seso de Angleton dejó escritas en la historia de Estados Unidos hazañas inolvidables.

4 "Examination of a crate of onions near Northampton" (Meditations, pp.29-32). El documento es la transcripción literal del dictado que Rothschild hace, con teléfono de campaña, a Miss Cynthia Shaw –"situada a considerable distancia, por razones obvias"- mientras está desactivando la bomba. El texto, además de demostrar un innegable aplomo y valor, revela una mente analítica y científicamente ordenada en condiciones de tensión máxima, que habrá que tener en cuenta a la hora de evaluar o comprender reacciones de Victor Rothschild en otros momentos.

Hay una contradicción en la datación del suceso. Rothschild habla de "A Field Telephone Conversation, 10 February 1944", pero, Guy Liddell, el 2 de febrero de 1944, anota en su diario: "Victor me llamó para decirme que acababa de desactivar una bomba descubierta en una caja de cebollas en Kettering. La bomba consistía en una serie de trozos (tarugos o blocks) de TNT y dos temporizadores alemanes envueltos en plástico. Debido a algún defecto mecánico, los temporizadores se habían parado, pero, por algún golpe que han recibido en el traslado desde los muelles, uno de ellos ha empezado a funcionar y habría estallado en una semana" .

5 CENTRAL CHANCERY OF THE ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD.
St. James's Palace, S.W.I.
4th April, 1944.
The KING has been graciously pleased to give orders for the undermentioned awards of the George Medal and of the British Empire Medal, and for the publication in the London Gazette of the names of the persons specially shown below as having received an expression of Commendation for their brave conduct.
Awarded the George Medal:
— Robert Brinley' Jenkins, Mechanical Maintenance Fitter, Royal Ordnance Factory, Ministry of Supply.
An explosion occurred at a factory. Fire broke out immediately and the building was filled by blinding smoke of a chemical origin. Another explosion followed quickly on the first. It wrecked the roof of the building and heavy beams fell in and 'large pieces of masonry were hurled from the walls and door arches. Jenkins, who was about fifty yards away, immediately ran to the wrecked and burning building and was the first man to enter. Firemen provided a water curtain which alone made this possible. Single-handed he rescued four men and later, with the hedp of others, recovered the body of a man buried under masonry and helped to carry it from the building.
By his promptness in running to the rescue at the sound of the first explosion, his cool courage in groping his way into the building not only once, but again and again, and the speed with which he worked, Mr. Jenkins saved the lives of four men. Only when he was satisfied that all casualties were out, did he actually get clear of the building.

(1548 SUPPLEMENT TO THE LONDON GAZETTE, 4 APRIL, 1944)

6 Lo cierto fue que Victor Rothschild pilló un cabreo monumental cuando pensó que, en lugar de la George Medal, le podrían conceder la más modesta MBE. En una carta a su amigo Duff Cooper confiesa en su mejor estilo sarcástico:
"…aunque soy conciente de que hay capitanes mercantes que nadan durante horas al tiempo que apuñalan tiburones o le cortan los brazos a varones ahogados que se aferran al cuello de damas a punto de ahogarse y se les ha dado la M.B.E por su valentía y de que mis actividades no se diferencian mucho de éstas, una MBE se interpreta como que has estado trabajando como subordinado en la Estación de Paddington durante un período superior a 30 años (…) Tengo que confesarte que, en ese punto, estaba algo deprimido, porque, aunque no esperaba recibir la George Medal (sabiendo por lo que la gente la consigue) , esperaba, al menos, que se me evitara ser asociado como miembro de la forma más baja de funcionariado" (Rose. Elusive Rothschild, p.70)

(7) Efectivamente, los Rothschild, además de sufrir el expolio de propiedades y decenas de miles de objetos de arte, sufrieron su parte del Holocausto: Elisabeth de Rothschild fue quemada viva en un horno crematorio en Ravensbrück, Aranka von Wertheimstein, tía de Victor, una anciana de setenta y cinco años casi ciega, fue golpeada hasta la muerte con ganchos de carnicero por guardias de las SS a las puertas de Buchenwald, Jean Pierre Reinach, casado con Naomi Rothschild, fue capturado y ejecutado durante una misión del SOE en Francia, Elie y Alain de Rothschild. lugartenientes en el ejército francés, fueron denunciados por sus compañeros a los alemanes, y estuvieron encarcelados en el campo de concentración de Niemburg sur Weser (Oflag XB) en Baja Sajonia durante cinco años, el baron Louis de Rothschild se salvó de la muerte sólo tras el pago de un enorme rescate. Sobre el rescate de Louis de Rothschid, puede leerse la noticia en la prensa americana: GERMANY: Rothschild Ransomed ,Monday, May. 22, 1939:

HURTING THE NAZIS
GEORGE MEDAL FOR BARON ROTHSCHILD
OUR STAFF CORRESPONDENT AND A.A.P.

LONDON April 5-Baron Rothschild head of the millionaire banking family, who is engaged in secret scientific work, said to be of great military value, has been awarded the George Medal

I am surprised," he said, when told he had won the medal, ' but if It means hurting the Nazis, I am glad as well as proud .

The House of Rothschild has a long score to settle with the Nazis for its members have been gaoled robbed and hounded from Austria Germany and France

Baron Rothschild is 33 and for some time has been attached to the Supply Ministry "back room ". He succeeded his uncle in the peerage seven years ago, when he was already recognised as a first-class research worker specialising in problems of bio-physics.

The announcement in the London Gazette" merely says the award is for dangerous work in hazardous circumstances "

9 El equivalente en la escala del ejército español es teniente-coronel. Era frecuente la abreviación "Colonel Rothschild" (por ejemplo, en los documentos de la Ardelia Hall Collection se habla indistintamente de Col. O Lieutenant Colonel Rothschild) . Aunque Rose y otros autores insisten en que los rangos militares tenían únicamente valor operativo para facilitar el desarrollo de ciertas misiones, no es éste el caso. La valoración de su trabajo como jefe de contrasabotaje y experto en contra-inteligencia la hallamos en los elogios del presidente Truman y en las dos condecoraciones con las que USA premia su apoyo: US Legion of Merit (1946) y la Bronze Star(1948):

"Como oficial de contra-sabotaje del British War Office, fue considerado uno de los más grandes expertos del mundo en esta rama de la inteligencia militar. Dedicó generosamente todo su tiempo y energía a entrenar oficiales americanos para que se convirtieran en especialistas de anti-sabotaje. Escribió y editó muchos manuales técnicos usados como libros de texto por el Ejército de Estados Unidos (US Army), especialmente por técnicos en desactivación de explosivos y personal de contra-inteligencia. Entrenó a muchos equipos de sabotaje en Francia, que fueron aceptados con entusiasmo como unidades de campo y cuyas misiones destacaron por su éxito.

Los servicios del Colonel Lord Rothschild instruyendo al personal del ejército americano contribuyeron en gran medida al triunfo de los aliados y fortalecieron las relaciones de cooperación anglo-americana" (Rose, p.80) Los libros mencionados no figuran en ningún curriculum de Rothschild. A veces aparece algún artículo en coleccionistas de género, p.e. Lt. Col. Rothschild.- "Assault Service Gas Mask". Chemical Warfare Bulletin Vol. 29 No.7.November 1943. Washington D.C.: Chief of the Chemical Warfare Service

10 Se han escrito muchas bobadas sobre cuándo, cómo y por quién entra Rothschild en el MI5. Los Diarios de Liddell dan las fechas exactas de su paulatina incorporación:

15 febrero1940 .- "A petición de Godfrey he visto a Lord Rothschid que está investigando sobre sabotaje para el M.I.R. Lord Rothschild cree que sus experimentos, que en un principio han tenido una finalidad ofensiva, podrían sernos de utilidad si los formulaba para una política defensiva. Le he contestado que, hablando en términos generales, lo que queríamos era dar respuesta a un director de una fábrica que nos dijo: "¿En caso de un problema de sabotaje a gran escala díganme qué esperan que haga?. Ha entendido la cuestión y va a consultarlo con el J.I.C que está estudiando el problema. Ha dicho que intentará mantenernos al tanto de las armas bacteriológicas." (Liddell, 15/02/1940)

El Rear-Admiral John Godfrey es el jefe de los Servicios de Inteligencia Naval (1939-1942) y candidato propuesto por Churchill para Director General del MI5, cargo que fue a parar Sir David Petrie (candidato de Hankey) en 1940. Godfrey fue considerado uno de los mejores directores de inteligencia de la historia.

El M.I.R (Military Intelligence Research) fue un organismo de investigación militar creado en 1938, dependiente del War Office. En 1939 se incluyeron en el M.I.R todos los grupos de sabotaje e investigación secretos creados por Churchill como "defensa paramilitar" ante la amenaza alemana y espionaje de miembros ingleses filo-nazis.

3. Documentos del S.O.E: destruidos en un 80%:

"Unfortunately, the vast majority of SOE operational files have not survived. Many were destroyed in a fire at SOE's headquarters shortly after 1945 and some files, particularly personnel files relating to administrative staff seconded from the armed services were destroyed at the end of the war. As there was no central registry and no indication of the file series it is difficult to estimate overall losses, though these have been estimated as being as high as 80 percent. However, surviving SOE records can be found in department code HS".

"HS 9 - SOE Personnel Files (PFs) were transferred to The National Archives in 2003. As with SOE operational records many PFs were destroyed, particularly those of junior SOE staff, whilst others were damaged, or contain extracts that continue to be retained under section 3 (4) of the Public Records Act (1958). The aforementioned fire at SOE's offices is thought to have destroyed a further 3000 PFs. Other absences are explained by the fact that many PFs were transferred to the personal files maintained of other government agencies for which an individual agent subsequently worked.Because of the sensitive personnel nature of many of these files the Lord Chancellor has stated that SOE personnel files remain closed for the lifetime of the individual concerned (i.e. for 100 years from 1930). If a researcher can demonstrate that the person whose file they wish to examine was in fact born more than 100 years ago, or is deceased, or indeed if you are a living SOE agent and wish to examine your own file, then The National Archives will make the relevant record available. Please note, however, that application for disclosure, enclosing any copies of evidence of date of both, or of death, of the subject, must be made in writing to The National Archives and, because of the physical arrangement of the records, an estimated two weeks should be allowed after the approval of the Lord Chancellor before the record can be made available.

4.Documentación del MI5: 175.000 informes destruidos entre 1909 y principios1970 + 180.000 en los años 90:

"The KV series is accruing; additions are made bi-annually. However, the records of Security Service are necessarily incomplete. Between 1909 and the early 1970s more than 175,000 files were destroyed 'as obsolete or because of major contractions in the service,' primarily in the aftermath of the two world wars though some were microfilmed prior to destruction, and where these records have now been released, the records transferred to The National Archives are paper print outs (of varying quality) from those films. Following the realisation that the destruction of relevant records was hampering its investigations there followed a brief interregnum during which all files were preserved 'indefinitely'. However, following the fall of Soviet Communism in the early 1990s and the associated decline of 'the threat from subversion' a policy of review and destruction was again instituted leading to the destruction of a further 180,000 files."

24 Texto de la Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention

Protocol for the Prohibition of the Use in War of Asphyxiating, Poisonous or other Gases, and of Bacteriological Methods of Warfare. Signed at Geneva, June 17, 1925.

French and English official texts communicated by the President of the Council, Minister for Foreign Affairs of the French Republic. The registration of this Protocol took place September 7, 1929.

THE UNDERSIGNED PLENIPOTENTIARIES, in the name of their respective Governments :

Whereas the use in war of asphyxiating, poisonous or other gases, and of all analogous liquids, materials or devices, has been justly condemned by the general opinion of the civilised world; and

Whereas the prohibition of such use has been declared in Treaties to which the majority of Powers of the world are Parties; and To the end that this prohibition shall be universally accepted as a part of International Law, binding alike the conscience and the practice of nations;

DECLARE:

That the High Contracting Parties, so far as they are not already Parties to Treaties prohibiting such use, accept this prohibition, agree to extend this prohibition to the use of bacteriological methods of warfare and agree to be bound as between themselves according to the terms of this declaration.

The High Contracting Parties will exert every effort to induce other States to accede to the present Protocol. Such accession will be notified to the Government of the French Republic, and by the latter to all signatory and acceding Powers, and will take effect on the date of the notification by the Government of the French Republic.

The present Protocol, of which the French and English texts are both authentic, shall be ratified as soon as possible. It shall bear today's date.

The ratification of the present Protocol shall be addressed to the Government of the French Republic, which will at once notify the deposit of such ratification to each of the signatory and acceding Powers.

The instruments of ratification of and accession to the present Protocol will remain deposited in the archives of the Government of the French Republic.

The present Protocol will come into force for each signatory Power as from the date of deposit of its ratification, and, from that moment, each Power will be bound as regards other Powers which have already deposited their ratifications.

France

(1) The said Protocol is only binding on the government of the French Republic as regards States which have signed or ratified it or which may accede to it. (2) The said Protocol shall ipso facto cease to be binding on the government of the French Republic in regard to any enemy State whose armed forces or whose allies fail to respect the prohibitions laid down in the Protocol.

LA AUSENCIA

La ausencia
ha hecho un agujero en el tejado
y entra el olvido a mares.
El termómetro marca bajo cero en la memoria.
Con el tiempo
mi cuerpo se hizo angosto, ya no es aquél hospitalario y grande que se fue...
Aprendió el lenguaje de los besos fríos
y los labios finos: se quedó sordomudo.
Del país que yo vengo traje fotos amarillas de desconocidos, solemnemente anónimos,
que se parecen a ti.

Traje un equipaje lleno de rabia y de ironía,
y el amor se quedó en el tintero, que rompí, sin querer, haciendo las maletas.

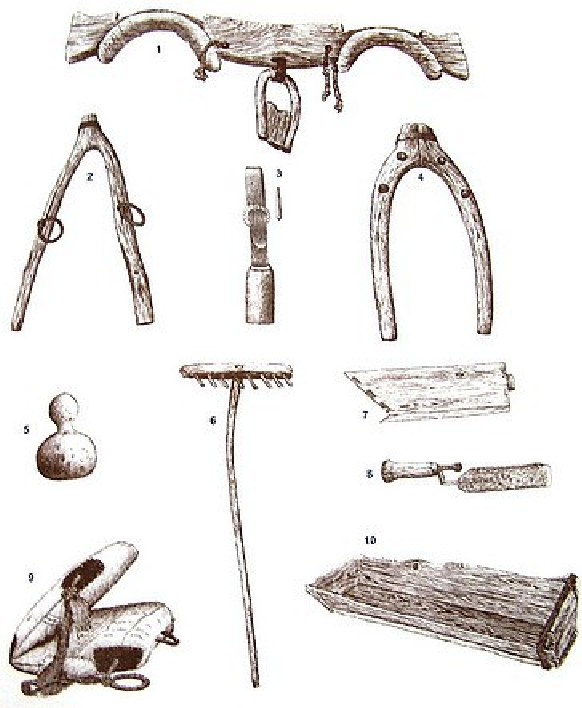
GRAMÁTICA YEYÉ



Ya se nos adelantó don Francisco el domingo pasado en el comentario crítico de las nuevas normas gramaticales –supresión de algunos acentos, cambios de nomenclatura, adaptaciones de extranjerismos- y poco podemos añadir nosotros aparte de que nos parece una cosa consecuente con los tiempos de calderilla que corren, como todos los tiempos por otra parte. Lo de los acentos iba siendo una causa perdida. Es cierto que toda lengua está llena de arbitrariedades y caprichos, entre ellas esas pequeñas virutas con que adornamos las vocales.

El mecanismo interior de una lengua le impone la ley del mínimo esfuerzo, imperativo de los propios hablantes, y la Academia no hace sino adaptarse a ella. Hace 50 años acentuábamos el "fue" y hoy no lo hacemos. Ahora vuelan acentos de palabras con la excusa de que no cabe la ambigüedad y que todo lo resuelve el contexto. Según eso, la coartada sería válida para todas las tildes, toda vez que los casos de ambigüedad solo los encontramos en los ejemplos forzados e ilustradores de las gramáticas y los juegos de dobles sentidos. Será una merma, desde luego, pero una merma atenida al contexto, el contexto del mínimo esfuerzo, por no decir pereza, la mala novia juanramoniana que nos ha recordado Bello. No es la primera vez ni va a ser la última que los gramáticos hacen poda en el sistema: se trata como decimos de registrar una evolución connatural a un cuerpo vivo, que va desdeñando vocablos añejos y grafías fosilizadas, al tiempo que incorpora nuevas creaciones y pasa la mopa para eliminar significados incorrectos. Algo menos justificable, pero también lógico, nos resulta el cambio de nombre a algunas grafías. El esbelto tirachinas de la "y griega" pasa a llamarse "ye" y el cambio arrastra a la i latina que se queda en i a secas. Los motivos son, según los académicos, concesivos y prácticos: en su tendencia a panamericanizar la lengua común quieren dar una alegría a los hablantes americanos (que ya la llaman ye) y al mismo tiempo hacer prevalecer el sonido consonántico de la letra, compartido con su rival ll. Este último argumento pasa por alto el hecho incuestionable de que si bien el uso vocálico de la y es menor, ese es precisamente el que se aplica a una de las palabras que más frecuencia de uso registra nuestra lengua, como es la conjunción y, lo cual bastaría para dejar las cosas como están. La justificación suena a evasiva, pues de lo que se trata más bien es de eliminar lastres historicistas, simplificar contenidos y darle mascada al hablante la ingestión de su propia gramática, en sintonía con la banalización de las nuevas enseñanzas. En este sentido podría hablarse de una Gramática LOGSE.

Es normal que un sistema educativo que ha ido apartando las humanidades, eliminando los aprendizajes memorísticos, anteponiendo los contenidos prácticos a los teóricos, sintetizando el conocimiento universal en libros de texto cada vez más parecidos a tebeos, demandara una gramática como la que se ofrece ahora, que borra acentos, se deshace de latinismos y le quita a la y su herencia griega. Una y como esa, la verdad, no tenía mucho sentido en una sociedad para la que las lenguas muertas no están solo muertas sino rematadas y en la que el único griego que nos va quedando es un servicio sexual en las páginas de contactos. Ya no sabemos latín ni griego, ni falta que nos hace, de modo que esa modesta grafía con sus brazos de victoria era un recordatorio molesto de nuestros orígenes, un conocimiento inútil, un exceso conceptual, una cosa rara. Llamarla ye nos libera de compromisos, no nos obliga a cuestionarnos nada y además es más fácil de decir, dónde va a parar. Sustituimos la tradición del nombre por la inmediatez aséptica del sonido, rebajándonos a la simplicidad del americano en lugar de ascenderlos a nuestra exigencia. Para qué decir Miguel de Cervantes, pudiendo nombrarlo Miki.

Estoy de acuerdo: el desprecio por la ortografía revela el mismo desprecio por la pericia que la cultura y el lenguaje deben contener, por su excelencia, en pro de un infecto totum revolutum como la telebasura a cada paso proclama. Es como los célebres perjúmenes de Trinidad J en Hispanoam, sobre los que escribo yo con sorna en il mío blog. Saludos cordiales

El diario El País publica entre sus necrológicas de ayer la dedicada al fallecimiento de Jacques Stroumsa, conocido como el violinista de Auschtwitz. El autor de esta nota necrológica, Jesús Duva, señala lo siguiente del fallecido: Lo que más llamaba la atención era que hablaba en ladino, en un español trufado de palabras del castellano antiguo.
Pese a ello, lo que aquí parece ser más importante es olvidar esas cosas, olvidar lo sucedido, convirtiendo la enseñanza de la lengua y de otras muchas cosas en un páramo completamente yermo.
El periódico La Vanguardia publica una serie de vídeos electorales con la siguiente apostilla: Los subtítulos en castellano son una deferencia para facilitar la comprensión del contenido a los lectores no catalanes que acceden a LaVanguardia.es.
Pues eso, Miki Cervantes.

HEMEROTECA (I): MARRUECOS Y EL SAHARA ... Y QUE LA HISTORIA NOS JUZGUE A LOS ESPAÑOLES

BREVE HISTORIA DEL SAHARA (Publicado en Gatopardo 1-XI-2005)

Desde mediados de diciembre último están teniendo lugar por todo Marruecos, con el patrocinio de la Instancia de Equidad y Reconciliación, unas declaraciones de antiguos represaliados políticos del régimen de Hassan II.

Ahora que se confirman los rumores que circulaban, muy en secreto, pues el terror que inspiraba el sistema hacía que la gente no se atreviera ni a admitir sus propios pensamientos, sabemos que las cosas fueron mucho peores de lo que sospechábamos.

Lo que está saliendo a la luz sobrepasa todo lo imaginable. En Marruecos no se privaron de aplicar al completo todo el repertorio de especialidades que puedan caber en el más exhaustivo manual del torturador: privación del sueño, quemaduras, estrangulamientos, corrientes eléctricas, el avión, la bañera, el loro, la picana, obligar a los detenidos a beber y comer sus propios excrementos, etc.

Todo ello llevado a cabo con maestría y eficacia en cárceles como salidas del infierno de Dante. En Tazmamart la vida de los presos transcurría en completa oscuridad en sótanos profundos como mazmorras medievales. A veces días y días con el cadáver, olvidado por los verdugos, de algún compañero que no había podido soportar las condiciones extremas en que vivían ni los suplicios a que se les sometía. Algo ligeramente aproximado, pero sin luz ni colores, pueden recordar los que vieron la película "El Expreso de Medianoche".

En una de las muchas manifestaciones que organizamos en la década de los ochenta para protestar contra las torturas y las desapariciones de muchos saharauis, se nos sumaron algunos marroquíes que habían huido en patera de su país, por estar perseguidos por razones políticas. Entre los carteles que habíamos preparado, me llamó la atención uno especialmente tétrico: un cadáver lívido, desnudo, con el rostro crispado tumbado sobre el mármol de la morgue. Pero cuando me disponía a cogerlo para exhibirlo durante la manifestación se me acercó un marroquí que en un tono tajante me dijo: Deja, ese cartel lo llevaré yo, el muerto era mi hermano. Le habían matado a palos en la comisaría.

Hubo muchos represaliados bajo el reinado de Hassan II. La Instancia de Equidad y Reconciliación (IER) ha recibido 22.272 instancias de indemnización, de las cuales la IER ha admitido 16.000 demandas. Más del 20% de éstas fueron entregadas por saharauis, según datos oficiales de la IER.

Si se tiene en cuenta que la población Marroquí es de unos 30 millones de personas, y la población saharaui es sólo de unos cientos de miles se comprende, a la vista de estos datos, que esa terrible represión se ejerció con especial virulencia sobre el pueblo saharaui. En su caso, el mero hecho de ser saharaui ya le hacía a uno ser sospechoso de simpatizar con el Frente Polisario, lo cual era particularmente peligroso. Yo mismo he conocido mujeres y hombres que han pasado en prisión 14 años, y más, sólo por su condición de saharauis.

A pesar del secretismo con que se perpetraban estas atrocidades en Marruecos, aquí en España se tenía un conocimiento bastante exacto de cuales eran los procedimientos del Sultán, y por si alguna duda había, era suficiente con recordar la saña con que el entonces Príncipe Hassan castigó a la población del Rif en las revueltas de 1958. Cuatro columnas de más de treinta mil hombres con artillería y otras armas destructivas arrasaron a sangre y fuego las aldeas del Rif no perdonando niños ni mujeres, causando miles de muertos y grandes sufrimientos a la población.

Moumen Diouri menciona en su obra "La Realidad de Marruecos" el discurso pronunciado por Hassan II el 22 de enero de 1984 después de "los motines del hambre" en el que aludiendo a la represión del Rif suelta esta terrible amenaza contra su propio pueblo: "me conocieron como príncipe, más les vale que no me conozcan como rey". O aquella otra con motivo del mensaje a la Nación el 30 de marzo de 1965 tras las huelgas de estudiantes y de intelectuales: "no hay peligro tan grave contra el Estado como el de los que se llaman intelectuales; más os valiera que todos fuerais analfabetos".

En 1975 hubo un cambio de escenario, ya no era el Rif, ahora era el Sahara pero los procedimientos los mismos. Uno se resistía a creer las noticias que llegaban, por demasiado horrorosas, pero tristemente las vemos confirmadas con todo lo que está saliendo a la luz pública mediante el testimonio de estas víctimas.

Desde todas las asociaciones, ONGs y otras organizaciones que defendían los derechos del pueblo saharaui se hicieron llegar innumerables denuncias a los diversos ministros de Exteriores como Morán, Fernández Ordóñez, Solana, Matutes etc. de las que en raras ocasiones tuvimos respuestas.

Con frecuencia, conseguimos unir a nuestras denuncias las firmas de prestigiosos intelectuales: Aranguren, Caro Baroja, Gala, en general personajes del mundo de las artes, de las letras, periodistas etc. Pero los políticos que gobernaban entonces (PSOE) hacían oídos sordos y la mayoría de los medios lo que publicaban, porque así se lo hacia llegar el Gobierno, era que en Marruecos se estaban haciendo grandes progresos hacia la democracia, o se justificaba el apoyo a Hassan II haciendo ver lo importante que era su permanencia en el poder como garantía contra el fundamentalismo.

Nosotros siempre opinábamos que la única garantía contra el fundamentalismo era un régimen justo que, por lo menos, garantizara un mínimo de libertades para que la población no fuera oprimida por una oligarquía como el Majzen, que disfrutaba de toda clase de privilegios mientras el pueblo hundido en la miseria y la ignorancia se moría de hambre.

Poco después de la invasión del territorio del Sahara [2] (14-XI-76) Felipe González había viajado a los campamentos de refugiados de Tinduf donde se había comprometido ante la historia a que el Partido Socialista estaría con el pueblo saharaui "hasta la victoria final".

Pero recién llegado al cargo el Ministro socialista Fernando Morán declaraba: "no sólo no haremos nada para desestabilizar al Rey de Marruecos sino que haremos todo lo que esté en nuestra mano para mantener su estabilidad".

Después de esto comenzaron una fructífera actividad vendiendo armas a Marruecos, a pesar de que este país estaba vetado internacionalmente para venderle armas por ser un país que mantenía un conflicto armado y a pesar también de que la UCD había suspendido la venta desde 1976.

¡No nos lo podíamos creer! Este cambio de postura no se podía entender. ¿Qué profundas razones tendría un socialista como Felipe González para emprender tan extraña amistad con semejante perla? Qué darán en Marruecos, nos preguntábamos.

En el caso del Ministro Abel Matutes las cosas estaban más claras: Filali, yerno de Hassan II, uno de los máximos responsables del régimen, era su amigo de muchos años. Así lo presento él mismo con motivo de las cumbres de ministros de España/Marruecos celebradas en su época. Nos expulsó de una de estas cumbres por pedir la libertad para el pueblo saharaui. Claro que de esta forma se aseguraba el buen funcionamiento de sus negocios en Marruecos a donde tuvo la desfachatez de viajar oficialmente haciéndose acompañar por su propia hija siendo ésta eventualmente la administradora de sus negocios en aquel país.

La señora Palacio, que puso tanto interés en que en la resolución 1495 figurara la cláusula de que ninguna solución sería impuesta, sino que ésta vendría dada mediante un acuerdo entre las partes, es una de las personas responsables de que el asunto haya quedado prácticamente sin solución. Por que, a ver, ¿cómo se puede esperar que Marruecos siendo infinitamente más fuerte que el Polisario vaya a ponerse de acuerdo en algo que no le interese? La única forma de conseguirlo sería obligando a Marruecos a cumplir con el derecho internacional pero esta irrepetible ministra, sola o en compañía de otros, ya se encargó de eliminar esa posibilidad al incluir la coletilla de que ninguna solución sería impuesta.

En el pecado lleva la penitencia esta señora pues después del inmenso favor que hizo a los marroquíes y los desvelos por llevarse bien con ellos ya se ve el agradecimiento con que la han pagado: desde el momento en que el PP perdió las elecciones no han parado de insultar a su jefe el Señor Aznar. Además, ¿cómo se puede decir que no se forzará una solución, si ya una de las partes ha impuesto su solución a la otra, por la fuerza? No otra cosa es lo que viene haciendo Marruecos desde que invadió el Sáhara. Lógicamente estarían plenamente justificados los medios que fueran, incluida la fuerza, para obligar a Marruecos a retirarse. No hacerlo equivale a aceptar una solución impuesta.

Imposible imaginar que a la llegada de Moratinos íbamos a añorar con tanta intensidad a doña Ana.

De todos estos horribles hechos, de los que dan testimonio sus víctimas ahora, pero que ya eran conocidos antes, el responsable máximo fue Hassan II, por lo que no deja de asombrar que hubiera jueces españoles que consideraran a aquella especie de bestia digna de ostentar honor y que, en consecuencia, encontraran resquicios en las leyes para poder condenar a dos periodistas, también españoles, por atentar contra el honor de Hassan II. Sí, sí, ha leído Vd. bien, el honor, el honor de Hassan II. Esto, a pesar de que los periodistas demostraron con pruebas que la información dada sobre tráfico de drogas era verdadera.

Durante los trece años de gobierno socialista, prácticamente tuvimos vetada la comparecencia en radios o televisiones de alcance nacional. Incluso a periodistas que, en privado, no tenían inconveniente en mostrar sus simpatías por la causa saharaui, se les hacía muy difícil acceder a emitir un comunicado o un reportaje sobre el tema saharaui, y no digamos una entrevista. Únicamente, podíamos acceder a emisoras de alcance muy limitado, como Onda Verde y otras.

Para aliviar un poco la tensión de este relato, y porque viene a cuento, voy a recordar una anécdota que nos ocurrió a la secretaria de la Asociación Amigos del Pueblo Saharaui y a mí en una fría noche de un principio de enero.

Fuimos convocados a una entrevista para hablar del Sáhara en la sede de una pequeña, pero simpática, emisora cuyo nombre, de por sí, ya era indicativo de su estilo: "Radio Carcoma".

Se entraba directamente desde la calle por una estrecha puerta por la que era imprescindible meter la barriga para adentro para poder pasar. Lo primero que llamaba la atención era una profusión de pintadas y "graffiti" en la pared: abajo esto, fuera aquello, muera Fulanez, y así. Pero sobre todo un gran cartel en el que alguien había escrito: "¡el hijoputa que se ha llevado un micrófono que lo devuelva!".

La entrevista, de más de una hora, la condujo muy bien un joven periodista que se mostró bastante tocado por la causa saharaui. Hacía un frío del demonio por lo que, en un momento dado, acerqué las manos hacia el calefactor para calentarme un poco, pero aquéllos loqueras en vez de el aire caliente ¡habían puesto el ventilador! Nos era muy difícil hacer llegar nuestro mensaje así que no podíamos desperdiciar ninguna ocasión.

Normalmente sólo encontrábamos colaboración en instituciones como sindicatos de enseñantes, asociaciones de amas de casa, de vecinos, casas de cultura, colegios ... A veces ocurría que nos convocaban para dar una charla y luego no acudían ni los convocantes; entre la población española, quizás de lo mejor informado sobre la cuestión del Sahara, sea el cuerpo de conserjes de universidad.

En la época más dura de la represión, Marruecos contó con la inestimable ayuda del mundo occidental cuyos mass-media derivaron especialmente sus críticas contra Chile o Argentina ocultando interesadamente lo que ocurría en los dominios de nuestro amigo el Rey.

Los años de plomo de Marruecos, fueron años de cera aquí en España; la cera con que los políticos se taponaron los oídos, lo mismo siguen haciendo ahora, porque no quieren enterarse de una realidad que les incomoda.

Termino este escrito con los colegios electorales aún abiertos [1] pero con la imposibilidad de que mi opinión pueda influir en cualquier votante. Seguro que ha ganado el SÍ pero yo declaro que he votado que NO. Este proyecto es a mayor gloria de Francia.

Recuerdo que cuando España ingresó en la OTAN, Ceuta, Melilla y los peñones[3] quedaron excluidos del compromiso de defensa por deseo expreso de Francia, ya que apoyan decididamente a Marruecos en sus reclamaciones sobre estas plazas.

Ahora se vuelve a repetir la historia, nuestras plazas de soberanía quedan excluidas de ser consideradas como territorio europeo porque Francia sigue apoyando a Marruecos y lo quiere así, pero sí que entran los territorios suyos. Cuando España quiera defender la soberanía sobre estas plazas nos recordarán que fueron los propios españoles los que con su voto reconocieron que no eran territorios europeos.

Recuerdo el comportamiento de este país con respecto a España a través de la historia, y más recientemente cuando la crisis de Perejil. Y tengo siempre presente que la culpable principal de todo el problema del Sáhara y los sufrimientos de los saharauis es Francia.

CONSUELO BERGES: SOBRE SAINT-SIMON

Introducción

En la transición del exilio exterior al interior, mi asepsia exagerada —rayana, por lo visto, en neurosis obsesiva— ante ciertos contactos, me impidió agenciarme, ni siquiera aceptar, alguno —o algunos— de los acomodos remunerados a la sombra maléfica de... «el régimen».

«Desperdiciada mi vida dándola sin canal de oficio o profesión»[1], mi condición nativa de animalejo incrustado en la biosfera de la literatura me condujo al único trabajo que yo podía desempeñar con gustoso esfuerzo para cubrir las mínimas necesidades de subsistencia: traducir libros del francés.

Esto comenzó hace cuarenta años y ha terminado hace muy pocos, parado el maratón por la barrera infranqueable de una longevidad próvida en variedades patológicas.

Después de traducir Los caracteres de La Bruyére para la colección «Crisol» de Aguilar, el fundador de la gran editorial, Don Manuel, me propuso extraer de las Memorias de Saint-Simon lo que contienen sobre España. Le dije que sí, claro.

Creo que, cuando comencé a internarme en la procelosa selva saintsimoniana, nadie en España había emprendido su prospección —al menos con resultado editorial— e incluso que eran muy contados aquí los que conocían las oceánicas Memorias, tan célebres, tan celebradas y editadas desde que se levantó el secuestro oficial en el que las clausuraron los gobiernos franceses desde la muerte del terrible duque, que no tenía pelos en la pluma, hasta pasados unos cuarenta años.

Nada más asomarme al primer tomo de los 43 que suma la espléndida edición crítica de Hachette (todavía no se habían publicado los siete de «La Pléiade»), me quedé deslumbrada, a la vez que abrumada por el empeño de cumplir el encargo de Aguilar (a 1.500 pesetas tomo de «Crisol»). Había que entresacar y enlazar, a lo largo de los trece primeros tomos, fragmentos de un mismo tema dispersos entre otros de un relato minuciosísimo (en orden o en desorden cronológico) sobre hechos y gentes del lar-guísimo reinado de Luis XIV y del copioso personal de su corte. Así llegué a componer dos volúmenes más o menos monográficos: La Princesa de los Ursinos (n.° 135 de «Crisol») y De Duque de Anjou a Rey de las Españas (n.° 228). Recientemente refundidos y reducidos por mí, y alegremente titulados Memorias por Bruguera, reaparecen en un volumen de la colección «Libro amigo».

Posteriormente volví a la carga, engolosinada por los grandes retratos de mujeres hechos con tan brillante pluma (y con tan mala uva en muchos casos) por el severo buscavidas que fue Saint-Simon, superduque y superpar de Francia.

Recolectado el sabroso contenido de este cuarto volumen, formado y reformado varias veces y varias veces reordenado, corregido y prologado, fui anotando algunos posibles títulos. Eliminé los más obvios («Mujeres de la Corte de Luis XIV», por ejemplo) y, superando algunas timoratas dudas, me decidí por el que campa al frente de este original y espero que alguna vez (quizá cuando yo haya cruzado la cercana frontera del sanseacabó) aparezca en la cubierta de un libro impreso*.

Me decidí por este título no sólo porque me encandiló y por mi condición de traductora de Proust, sino porque la ocurrencia —inspiración más bien— no fue, no es tan caprichosa o arbitraria como pudiera parecer a la ortodoxia titularía. Me la sugirieron unas líneas recortadas de un artículo que Michel Butor publicó en «Le Monde»[3] con ocasión del estruendoso centenario de Proust: «La otra traducción de Ruskin nos lleva directamente a una de las dos obras que Proust designa explícitamente como modelo de La recherche: Las Memorias de Saint-Simon y Las mil y una noches».

Declaración tan sorprendente no me pareció a mí —al menos en cuanto al primer supuesto «modelo»— una boutade contra alguno de esos más o menos impertinentes rebuscadores de influencias, que es lo que pudiera parecer a los lectores reverentes de Proust que no hayan recorrido, no ya todo el trayecto —sería demasiado pedir aun al más esforzado de los hipotéticos lectores—, sino alguna que otra singladura de las oceánicas Memorias.

Y la declaración proustiana que Butor recogió no me pareció a mí boutade, humorada u otro tipo cualquiera de salida de pie de banco, porque, en 1971 (fecha del aludido artículo), hacía muchos años que yo había espumado las suculentas bodas de Camacho ofrecidas por Saint-Simon y acababa de traducir los últimos títulos de La recherche y Jean Santeuil para el «L.B.» de Alianza Editorial, y, para «Alianza Tres», los escritos de Proust recogidos en Los placeres y los días y Parodias y miscelánea (títulos originales: Les plaisirs et les jours y Pastiches et mélanges) y en este menester me habían venido con frecuencia a las mientes mis anteriores inmersiones en el magma saint-simoniano. Seguramente mi evocación comparativa obedecía a ciertas aparentes analogías del estilo o como quiera llamarse —siempre mal— a la manera en que el pensar y el observar se traducen en escritura; probablemente mi recuerdo de Saint-Simon, al traducir a Proust, surgiría entonces de la endiablada dificultad de desovillar el laberinto parrafal o sintáctico de uno y otro.

En cuanto a la prosa de Saint-Simon, no tan primorosamente endiablada como la de Proust, he aquí cómo la juzga él en las páginas autocríticas con que se cierran las Memorias: «... Diré en fin unas palabras del estilo, de su negligencia, de las repeticiones demasiado multiplicadas, sobre todo de la oscuridad que se deriva a veces de la longitud de las frases» (el subrayado es mío).

Y en el pequeño prólogo a mi primera selección extraída de las Memorias, añadía yo: «En efecto, sólo el pobre traductor conoce bien este múltiple enlace de cláusulas subordinadas y vueltas a subordinar, esta desmesurada longitud de períodos e incisos, estas eslabonadas oraciones de relativo cuyo antecedente hay que ir, muchas veces, a buscar subiendo la cuesta de cuatro o cinco renglones...».

Algo parecido habría podido decir en cuanto a los problemas arquitectónicos que la prosa de Proust ofrece para su traducción (dejando aparte las dificultades de fondo).

En todo caso, la impregnación y aun asimilación de la manera de escribir de Saint-Simon es bastante evidente en la de Proust. Y me refiero, claro es, a la exageración dimensional y vueltas y revueltas del párrafo, que irrumpe con fuerza de torrente en Saint-Simon, que fluye con lentitud de remanso en Proust. Además de la citada declaración de deuda, él mismo nos dejó una significativa prueba de su larga inmersión en las Memorias: cuando en los Pastiches imita el estilo de varios escritores franceses tratando un mismo tema, su simulación saintsimoniana es tan perfecta, que, de no saber que es eso, simulacro, daría el pego.

Frente a estas analogías aparenciales de construcción y dimensión de párrafos, están, naturalmente, las otras diferencias, que se podrían resumir en muy pocas líneas: la prosa de Saint-Simon es la de Proust en bruto; si la pluma de Saint-Simon es como un estilete que «perfora la página» (esto lo dijo Cocteau) y avanza a toda marcha, la de Proust la acaricia lentamente, suavemente, perversamente.

Y me anticipo a lo que probablemente va a pensar algún lector sagaz: el parentesco fisonómico entre los textos de Proust y los de Saint-Simon no sería suficiente para explicar el sorprendente testimonio en el que Proust declara su Recherche tributaria de las Memorias escritas casi dos siglos antes. Ni creo que, cuando Bastide, por ejemplo, en su excelente estudio Saint-Simon par lui-méme[4], trae tantas veces a colación a Proust, pensara solamente —más bien nada— en tales apariencias. Ni mucho menos bastarían estas analogías de estilo, poco más que visuales, para que en la copiosa bibliografía de Saint-Simon figure este título: Saint-Simon and Proust (Publications of the Modern Language Association of America, junio de 1931). Es, pues, de suponer, sin mayores investigaciones, que, si las Memorias de Saint-Simon sirvieron de algún modo a Proust como «modelo» para su Recherche (y es claro que habría que rebajar mucho en este débito, aunque no tanto como en el difícilmente admisible que el propio Proust se atribuye respecto a Las mil y una noches), la onda inspiradora vendría de mucho más adentro: de ciertas semejanzas, también muy ostensibles, entre «el gran mundo» fin de siécle del Faubourg Saint-Germain novelado en La recherche y la cortesana grey histórica pintada en las Memorias. Espero que en los retratos saintsimonianos aquí seleccionados y en los hechos, historias e historietas que les sirven de fondo, tan divertidas y procaces a veces y hasta, a veces, salaces (sin quererlo y quizá sin saberlo el pudibundo autor); espero que en las damas exuberantes a lo Montespan, o severas, inteligentes y tortuosas a lo Maintenon, en las ingenuas y en las intrincadas, en la esperpénticas, en las disimuladas y en las desvergonzadas, y en los caballeros de corte o caballeros de industria (o de ambos títulos unidos, que pululan en torno a Luis XIV, empezando por algún fils de France; espero, digo, que los que hayan leído La recherche busquen y encuentren, no muy escondidos en las siguientes páginas, claros antecedentes de madame Verdurin, o de las Guermantes —por citar sólo estos ejemplares de primera línea—, y que el hermano de «el Rey Sol» (Monsieur con antonomástica mayúscula) les recuerde a monsieur de Charlus[5], y, cerca de él, hasta a su violinista, y aun a su chalequero, pero sin necesidad de emparejar figuras y con-trafiguras del mundo novelesco de Proust y del histórico de Saint-Simon, el parecido de conjunto entre uno y otro es bastante palmario.

El inglés George Painter ha inquirido con paciencia y sagacidad detectivesca digna de Scotland Yard quiénes son, quiénes fueron en la vida real los personajes del Faubourg que Proust transfiguró con los encantamientos de su quintaesenciante alquimia. Saint-Simon retrata a sus personajes sin la menor intención de transfigurarlos buscándoles recónditos trasfondos, sólo de pintarlos tales como los conoció, como los tropezó en los jardines, en los salones, en las antecámaras, en las cámaras y casi en las alcobas de Versalles, salpimentándolos a menudo con las anécdotas subidas de color que le contaban otros chismosos de la corte de no tan gran cuantía como este duque y par de Francia cuya cotillería se reviste de vigilante celo por la limpieza de la sangre real, por el rigor condenatorio de que Luis XIV elevara a las más altas dignidades y a los más altos casamientos a los hijos bastardos que hubo de la Montespan y que la Maintenon patrocinó, mientras se transgredían los sacratísimos privilegios debidos exclusivamente a duques y duquesas, a pares y paresas. En este implacable rigor por la meticulosa observancia de jerarquías, préséances y demás sacratísimas reglas de la coreografía palaciega, por la adjudicación debida o indebida del «derecho al taburete» (equivale, creo, al «derecho de almohada» en la pasada corte borbónica española) o el de sostener la palmatoria alumbrando a Su Majestad Cristianísima cuando se va a la cama, Saint-Simon llega a una especie de neurosis obsesiva que Bastide satiriza en muchas páginas de su citado libro, sin dejar de rendir más adelante el debido y muy explícito homenaje al escritor extraordinario («le plus grand écrivain de notre langue»), que llevó a cabo una obra tan enorme y sugestiva que, cuando pasado medio siglo de la muerte del autor, salieron del secuestro oficial sus millares y millares de folios y se publicaron, incompletos, esta primera edición y las subsiguientes suscitaron la admiración y hasta el asombro manifiesto de muchos de los grandes escritores franceses del xix.

Tal vez el primero y con seguridad el más apasionado y más constante fue Stendhal. En la biblioteca stendhaliana de Grenoble se conserva la citada primera edición de las Memorias, esmaltados de notas sus ejemplares. Releyéndolos está en Civitavechia, pasada la cincuentena, mientras comienza a escribir sus propias memorias —Vida de Henri Brulard—, en las que hace constar su más conocida profesión de fe saintsimoniana: «... Mi único placer era Shakespeare y las Memorias de Saint-Simon, entonces en siete volúmenes[6], que posteriormente compraré en doce, con caracteres Baskerville, pasión que ha durado como las espinacas en lo físico».

Y entre las muchas notas al margen de varios tomos de las Memorias (e incluso de otros libros) exalta a Saint-Simon como escritor y hasta le envidia su fuerza de palabra y de frase.

Tras Stendhal fueron brotando surtidores de pasmo de historiadores y sobre todo de escritores. Bastide (limitándose a los franceses) recoge algunas de esas loas asombradas: Michelet, Chateaubriand, Sainte-Beuve, Taine... Entre los de este siglo, Alain, Montherlant, Cocteau...

No sé si en los no muchos escritores españoles importantes del XIX tuvo eco este entusiasmo saint-simonista de sus colegas franceses. En mis contemporáneos del primer tercio del XX, yo no recuerdo haberlo encontrado (sin buscarlo, porque hasta 1944, yo misma, como he dicho, ignoraba totalmente a Saint-Simon). Pero creo que en los de la posguerra será difícil encontrar más de unos pocos interesados por el gran suceso histórico-literario que fueron, son y serán las Memorias. (Con ingenua alegría descubrí hace poco en la prensa una excepción del muy excepcional y muy excepcionado Juan Benet. En la lectura pública de unos fragmentos de un libro suyo, después de declarar que no soporta a los enciclopedistas franceses, da sus tres nombres preferidos entre los clásicos vecinos: Montaigne, Montesquieu y... ¡Saint-Simon!) También lo cita alguna vez Rafael Sánchez Ferlosio y supongo que algún otro escritor de primera fila.

En consecuencia, así como muchos lectores de otras lenguas, no sólo de la francesa, han gustado y degustado las Memorias de Saint-Simon o alguna parte de su imponente volumen, creo que en España, descontados los que hayan leído mis tres citadas selecciones, pueden contarse con los dedos de no muchas manos los españoles no inscritos en el censo de autores que tienen noticia directa, ni apenas indirecta, de la monumental pintura que Saint-Simon dejó de un reinado y de una corte superpoblada de grandes, de medianos y de pequeños personajes, protagonistas o testigos desde la escena, desde el proscenio o desde el gallinero, de grandes o curiosos hechos, acontecimientos históricos y trastrueques geográficos, todo ello acaecido y comentado a lo largo de un reinado de setenta y siete años que ha dado inagotable tema a historiadores y cronistas (y hasta título a uno de los libros de Voltaire, El siglo de Luis XIV.

Habrá, pues, que añadir a las precedentes observaciones mías excesivamente libertarias, como siempre, unas páginas informativas de la vida mortal del duque de Saint-Simon y de la elaboración de su obra prodigiosa.

En una muy insuficiente noticia autobiográfica que figura al principio de las Memorias y con la que abro esta muestra, informa Saint-Simon de la fecha, lugar y circunstancias de su nacimiento, su linaje y su inicial rumbo formativo, sin afición «al estudio y a las letras», contrapesada con «la que poseo innata a la lectura y a la Historia».

Esta curiosa oposición entre «las letras» y «la lectura» parece hoy difícil de compaginar con las grandes calidades de escritor que resplandecen en las Memorias, pero quizá se puede hallar cierta coherencia entre el desapego del niño Saint-Simon por «las letras» (que debían de ser para él lo que hoy llaman, yo no sé bien por qué, «literatura de creación») y un hecho señalado como extraño por Cabanis ayer, por Bastide hoy y supongo que por otros exegetas de las Memorias: entre los muchos y detenidos retratos que Saint-Simon hace de casi todos los grandes y menos grandes personajes de la Corte y de sus aledaños, sólo de pasada dedica algunas líneas —despectivas casi siempre— a sus contemporáneos de «las letras», que eran Moliere, Racine, Montesquieu, La Fontaine, La Bruyère, La Rochefoucauld y otros varios inmortales.

En 1692, su padre, modelo de «virtud» y de fidelidad devotísima a su rey, el «casto» Luis XIII —«virtud» y «castidad» son palabras muy repetidas en las Memorias como primeras cualidades tanto de hombres como de mujeres—, le presenta a Luis XIV para servirle en una de las compañías de mosqueteros.

El Rey Sol le encuentra demasiado joven —diecisiete años— y bastante esmirriado; sin embargo, se incorpora «al servicio» con una suite de treinta y cinco caballos. Llega a participar en el sitio de Namur y en la batalla de Neerwinden mandando una compañía de caballería.

La guerra no es lo suyo, en efecto. De niño había dicho a su madre que quería «llegar a ser algo mediante la lectura de memorias antiguas». Y a los diecinueve años, ya en el ejército, empieza a tomar notas y a reunir papeles para las suyas.

En 1702 cuelga la espada. Tiene veintisiete años, el castillo de La Ferié con sus gouvernements, unas cien mil libras de renta y la considerable dote de su mujer, hija del mariscal de Lorge, con la que se había casado a los veinte años y a la que, en diversos párrafos de las Memorias, presenta como un tesoro de virtudes, discreción ejemplar y tacto salvador para frenar los arrebatos del duque cuando se le disparan los resortes cada vez que se infringen los privilegios nobiliarios y las sagradas normas etiquetarias.

Durante algunos años vive en un pequeño hotel particular de Versalles, fuera del inmenso recinto cortesano, avizorando y anotando, con rigor de fiscal más que de juez, lo que pasaba dentro. Acaba por obtener un departamento entre los dos mil del complejo palaciego y, ya en el teatro mismo de la farsa, afina su implacable vigilancia de la vida de la corte; tiene en ella unos pocos amigos importantes, bien ganados a golpes de arremetida lenguaraz contra muchos personajes de la gobernación cortesana, de la bastardía real escandalosamente enaltecida y aun de Monseñor el Gran Delfín, cuya camarilla («la cabale de Meudon») es uno de los más insalvables obstáculos que le impiden subir a las altas esferas que él cree debidas a su rango y a sus talentos y saberes.

La muerte de Monseñor es para él una «liberación inesperada». Desde hace años, Saint-Simon ha cabalé (el verbo, que equivale a intrigar, es de Bastide) por el nuevo delfín, hasta ahora duque de Bourgogne. Espera mucho de este próximo heredero de la corona —Luis XIV está ya muy enfermo—, de su virtud, de su religiosidad, de su discreción, méritos éstos y otros que fueron severa y suavemente cultivados por un «mentor» llamado nada menos que François Salignac de la Mothe-Fénelon, obispo de Cambrai, gran moralista, teólogo, pedagogo, autor de varios libros muy preciados, uno de los más famosos escritores de su tiempo y en su especialidad de formación de jóvenes (¡cómo recuerdo, y no con especial cariño, su Traité de l'éducation des filles, no apto para nuestras jóvenes feministas!).

En funciones de preceptor del joven nieto de Luis XIV, y seguramente a él destinado, escribió el sabio obispo, afiliado a «el quietismo», su más conocido libro, Aventures de Télémaque, que los jóvenes de los años veinte leímos con el título de El joven Telémaco.

Saint-Simon tiene el mayor respeto por Fénelon, cuyos libros (suponiendo que los haya leído) no debe él de incluir en el desdeñado ramo de «las letras», y cuando, por abstractas e indirectas pero muy claras críticas que el mentor de Telémaco (el propio Fénelon) escribe pensando en el monarca disoluto y en su corte, es apartado del delfín, Saint-Simon asume su formación política, extraoficialmente y con triunfal alegría. Llega a escribir para el futuro monarca un Projet de gouvernement que completa verbalmente con recomendaciones de lo que deben ser principios básicos de un buen rey: «conocer a los hombres, despreciar las ciencias, manifestarse en la corte, huir de las bagatelas, atacar a los ministros, esos plebeyos». Y, ante todo, degradar a los bastardos de Luis XIV y de la Montespan, empezando por el duque de Maine, principal bête noire del oficioso consejero.

Pero en 1712 muere el joven delfín y se le hunden a Saint-Simon el Projet de gouvernement y todas sus quimeras personales: «J'ai goûté un peu de miel et voici que je meurs», escribe.

Una pequeña resurrección en 1715, año en que se extingue, al fin, el longevo Luis XIV. A Saint-Simon le queda en la corte un valedor, el duque de Orleans, amigo suyo desde la infancia y que lo sigue siendo pese a su grave libertinaje y a sus horribles desviaciones hacia las ciencias y las artes. Como primer y legítimo sobrino de Luis XIV, asume la regencia del que va a ser Luis XV, que tiene cinco años, y Saint-Simon empieza a los cuarenta «su carrera política».

Forma parte del Conseil de Régence e inicia oficialmente la batalla que durante tantos años planeó. El primer objetivo es desposeer al duque del Maine (hijo de Luis XIV y de la Montespan) de sus más escandalosos títulos. El segundo, arremeter contra los miembros del parlamento y contra los ministros, gente de poco más o menos, villanos, roturiers. En el lit de justice de 1718, obtiene en buena parte la victoria. La descripción, en las Memorias, de este acontecimiento es, dice Bastide, «su gran grito de odio», la fecha cumbre de su felicidad. Se siente «baigné dans la rage, muerto de alegría como se muere de embriaguez o de apoplejía».

Pero su gloria no va, de momento, más lejos de estos goces casi sensuales. Lo suficiente como para caer en los dominios de los chanteurs satíricos de París, siempre al acecho de lo que ocurre en las alturas, siempre más cerca, claro está, de los routiers que de los duques. Véase, reproducido del libro de Bastide, uno de aquellos couplets, dedicado a Saint-Simon, le petit furibond.

La culminación, oficial y personal, de «la carrera» de Saint-Simon se cumple en los años 1721-1722. El Regente le envía de embajador extraordinario con la misión de concertar una futura boda de Luis XV con una hija de Felipe V, ambos todavía niños, y, de paso, asistir a la del Príncipe de Asturias con una hija del Regente francés.

Más que «extraordinario», era, fue un embajador que ni pintado. Su embajada —«Mi embajada en España» titula su larguísimo relato— le arruinó, pero le reportó honores y orgías de ceremoniales palaciegos con los que ni siquiera había soñado en lo que para él era vergonzoso desbarajuste etiquetario de la corte del Rey Sol.

Vale la pena copiar de Bastide —ahora literalmente—: «Saint-Simon parte con seis nobles de alta graduación (seigneurs), ocho gentilhombres, doce pajes y treinta y seis lacayos (...). En los relevos del camino de Madrid invita a comer a toda la nobleza de la región, en Rouffet, en Burdeos, en Bayonne (donde salen a su encuentro a una legua au moins,) (...). Pero en Madrid, la cosa cambia, ¡estos españoles! Esta sí que es una nobleza que sabe lo que vale, que se siente fuerte y sabe responder; ¡qué lejos de "ces insectes de cour" de Versalles! Se baña en un raudal de oro y de grandeza, de grandes inquisidores, de mayordomos.

»Habla de los españoles como Stendhal de los italianos; tienen su pasión, la etiqueta, como los italianos tienen la del amor (...). Los derechos que recibe en la corte, como duque, o par de Francia, o embajador, o grande de España, son todos diferentes y no se confunden siempre, ¡qué deleite! (...). Los reyes de España le han honrado con una amitié charmante (...). En una comida han llegado a honrarle (se supone que algunos comensales) con regüeldos sonoros; esto le ha parecido delicioso...».

Pero el entusiasmo de Saint-Simon por su embajada en España y por los españoles no proviene única y desinteresadamente de la impecable ordenación de graduaciones, de las correctas préséances, de la perfección ceremonial. En un año de su embajada en España obtuvo, para él y para sus dos hijos —los bassets les llamaban, tan bajitos eran —, honores tales que ni en sueños lograra durante los dos lustros vividos y sufridos cerca de Luis XIV: además de los suntuosos y cordiales agasajos, la grandeza de España, transmisible al primogénito, y el toisón de oro para el segundón.

Pero cuando vuelve a París, este magnífico bagaje no le sirve de nada en la nueva situación dinástica. La salud del Regente acusa ya en grado extremo los efectos de su «vida depravada» (el calificativo es del Larousse), y muere, a los cuarenta y nueve años, en 1723, sin que, viviendo todavía el Regente, lograra Saint-Simon un lugar prioritario en la ceremonia de consagración del aún niño Luis XV en la catedral de Reims.

Y renuncia. Se retira a su heredad de La Ferié. Ha reunido noventa y ocho cuadernos de apuntes que, con el diario de Dangeau, copiado y anotado por el propio Saint-Simon, y otros muchos materiales (les calculan un peso de 12.000 libras), componían los seis mil volúmenes que había reunido en la biblioteca de su hotel de la Rué Grenelle.

Le quedan treinta y dos años de vida. Va a dedicarlos casi enteramente a su grandiosa obra, las Memorias (más de 40.000 páginas), que escribe en La Ferté y en su casa de París (218, Boulevard Saint-Germain).

A los setenta y cuatro años las suspende y, con el propósito de reanudarlas más adelante, se dedica a otros varios escritos (casi todos inéditos aún hoy), especialmente sus Notes sur les duches et pairies. De ellas recoge Bastide al final de su libro un precioso fragmento. En él, y en otros varios, se ve que Saint-Simon ha remansado sus furores en una perfecta serenidad filosófica expresada con el mejor estilo, «el mejor escritor que ha tenido Francia», dice Bastide olvidando o superando la crítica cruelmente burlesca con que, en las primeras treinta páginas de su libro, assomme al pobre duque que huronea y denuncia los entuertos infligidos a la dignidad —o más bien a las dignidades— de la corona y de las altas clases llamadas a servirla.

Sería interesante —ignoro si se ha hecho— marcar la fecha en que —dentro aún de las Memorias— empieza a notarse este cambio de tono en la escritura de Saint-Simon. Pero lo cierto es que, si antes le brotaba en chorro, al volar de la pluma, la palabra precisa, la frase rotunda, el juicio contundente y directo, ahora, en los fragmentos de sus años postreros que reproduce Bastide, le mana el pensamiento, le canta el sentimiento en metáforas bellísimas. Véase una pequeña muestra cuya hermosura da pena rebajar traduciéndola:

Y el hombre que ahora escribe así (y que antes escribió de otra manera, una manera de no menos alta calidad) escribe en la terminación de las Memorias, sin el menor sentido autocrítico, con la más pura inocencia literaria, las líneas de disculpa de su estilo que reproduje al principio de estas páginas y que continúan humildemente así:

«... Me he dado cuenta de estos defectos, no he podido evitarlos, arrastrado siempre por la materia y menos atento a la forma de tratarla que a la de explicarla. Nunca fui un académico y no he podido corregirme de la costumbre de escribir rápidamente (...). Sólo he pensado en la exactitud y en la verdad (...). En gracia a las mismas, el estilo merece cierta indulgencia...».

En efecto, nunca fue un académico, y por fortuna si pensamos en el sentido que esta palabra arrastra, al menos desde que Rubén Darío escribió su famosa receta preventiva («De las academias, líbranos, Señor»).

Nunca fue un académico, pero el superacadémico Chateaubriand, sentenció: «Saint-Simon escribía a la diabla para la inmortalidad».

Excelente texto. Me viene a la mente, como muchas veces, lo que decía Flaubert: "La littérature est ce qui console le mieux de vivre". Pensamiento autoconsolador: tengo que leer a Saint-Simon. Y a tantos otros, así que adelante.

BORRO LO DICHO: NO TODOS LOS INTELECTUALES SON UNOS VENDIDOS LAMECULOS...

Por fín un hombre:

Santiago Sierra rechaza el Premio Nacional de Artes Plásticas que concede el Ministerio de Cultura de España ¡Como éste no había en mis tiempos!

PS.
Texto de la carta en su blog Contraindicaciones:

Madrid, Brumaire 2010

Estimada señora González-Sinde,

Agradezco mucho a los profesionales del arte que me recordasen y evaluasen en el modo en que lo han hecho. No obstante, y según mi opinión, los premios se conceden a quien ha realizado un servicio, como por ejemplo a un empleado del mes.

Es mi deseo manifestar en este momento que el arte me ha otorgado una libertad a la que no estoy dispuesto a renunciar. Consecuentemente, mi sentido común me obliga a rechazar este premio. Este premio instrumentaliza en beneficio del estado el prestigio del premiado. Un estado que pide a gritos legitimación ante un desacato sobre el mandato de trabajar por el bien común sin importar qué partido ocupe el puesto. Un estado que participa en guerras dementes alineado con un imperio criminal. Un estado que dona alegremente el dinero común a la banca. Un estado empeñado en el desmontaje del estado de bienestar en beneficio de una minoría internacional y local.

El estado no somos todos. El estado son ustedes y sus amigos. Por lo tanto, no me cuenten entre ellos, pues yo soy un artista serio. No señores, No, Global Tour.

¡Salud y libertad!

El coordinador de la nueva Ortografía de la RAE, Salvador Gutiérrez Ordóñez, ha dicho que es "razonada y exhaustiva pero simple y legible"

Da pampurrias, tan mayor, y que aún no se haya enterado de la diferencia entre "simple" y "sencillo"

Así es que, ¡qué se puede esperar!

Gatopardo,
es que él habla según (su) el diccionario de la RAE que considera "simple" sinónimo de "sencillo", entre otros significados. Y pensar que no era mal chico, no, pero las malas compañías terminan haciendo estragos y le colocan a uno hasta en la Academia.
Yo pienso que toda esta reforma tiene como único objetivo vender los libros que la explican, la nueva gramática. Y hacer un poco el ridículo, que siempre da publicidad y entrevistas, y esplendor a don Víctor, hélas, no Hugo.

Autor: El Pendón Volteriano explica razonadamente la reforma ortográfica

En pacientes afectados por gilipollesia se produce disfunción en la actividad de los músculos encargados de la actividad fonatoria debido a que la unión del axón del nervio no se une a la fibra muscular correctamente y por tanto se imposibilita la correcta enervación.
Un afectado de gilipollesia tendrá enormes dificultades pronunciando polisílabos y optará por monosílabos (ye) ante otros sintagmas o palabras más complejos (y griega).
La relación entre gilipollesia y tono muscular puede verse en la foto de doña Leire Pajín y su descontrol de músculos faciales, en la sonrisa borbónica y en el retrato del Bufón Calabacillas (también conocido como el Bobo de Coria) de Velázquez.

Carmen, Pendón Volteriano:

Como dijo en su día doña Núria Carreras Patxot Délétra a propósito de los intelectuales catalanes que rondaban el legado documental de su abuelo:

"La situació és senzilla: el problema resideix únicament en el fet que l’experiéncia ens ha demostrar (i ho hem pagat molt car, sia moralment, sia materialment) que no podem fiar-nos a ningú. Els homs bons, leals, rectes, dignes i desinteressats són uns timorats sen se cap capacitat de fer-se responsables del que fós. Els altres, ni cal parlar-ne. El drama és que fora d’aquestes dues categories no n’hem trobat, per ara, cap altra"

Y ahí seguimos, sin que nuestros académicos e intelectuales consagrados nos permitan superar el acierto del análisis epigramático de esta señora.

El Santiago Sierra susodicho ha conseguido descoyuntar mi mente, hasta tal de olvidar en qué tiempo vivo, si en el de los heroicos o en el de los íntegros; pero ni en uno ni en otro, me temo, que de casos aislados siempre ha habido.
Lo de la gramática me ha pillado algo mayor, por no decir cosa peor, producto de la desesperanza; aunque, bien mirado, quizá sea una ventaja.

Hoy pensaba que a uno siempre le queda su lengua vernácula, rica y plena si se estudia con brío, pero atenaza la premura y cansa el esfuerzo, antes de dar comienzo la travesía del desierto.
Demasiados frentes abiertos, pienso, para las pocas ganas de lucha que quedan.
Solo queda blindar la lengua en una Academia paralela, de la cual y sin presión mediática, propongo al insigne gato como presidente de asamblea.

ROMANCE DE ALIARDA

Ya tocan a misa en Roma, en la iglesia de Santiago, dice misa el arzobispo, la predica el Padre Santo.

Galiarda y sus doncellas mucho habían madrugado;
no madrugan por rezar,
   ni les mata tal cuidado, madrugan por ver mancebos que van a misa de gallo.
Por la puerta del Perdón, mucha gente iba entrando;
entran condes y marqueses, personas de gran estado, entraba el conde Laurel con un niño de la mano.
Cada cual tomó asiento según eran sus estados;
el niño, por más pequeño,
   de trece o catorce años,
el niño, que era el más joven,
   tomó el asiento más bajo.
Galiarda, que lo vio,
   del niño se ha enamorado
y le ha hecho una señita con el guante de su mano.
Él, aunque luego comprende, atento a la misa ha estado;
así que acabó la misa,
   el niño se ha levantado:
—¿Qué me quieres, Galiarda?
   aquí estoy a tu mandato.
—Que me lleves de la iglesia hasta entrar en mi palacio;
también, si fuera tu gusto,
   que me lleves de la mano.
—Se lo diré a mi tío,
   que es más viejo y enseñado.
—A ti es a quien quiero, niño, yo de viejos no hago caso.
Por donde les veía la gente,
   la mano le iba apretando;
por donde no les ve nadie,
   de amores le iba hablando:
—¡Válgame Dios, muchachuelo, si fueras de veintiún años!,
comieras conmigo en mesa,
   dormirías a mi lado.
—Para eso, mi señora,
   ya estoy bastante criado, ¡oh, quién durmiera, Galiarda, sólo una noche a tu lado!
—De dormir, galán, dormir,
   de dormir, yo dormiría,
mas miedo me tengo, miedo
   que en la Corte lo dirías.
De dormir, galán, dormir,

de dormir yo sí holgara,
mas miedo me tengo, miedo
que en la Corte te alabaras.—
Sacó espada de su vaina
y la puso contra el día:
—¡Con ésta me mate el moro
si en la Corte lo diría!—
Sacó espada de su vaina
y la puso contra el alba:
—¡Con ésta me mate el moro
si en la Corte me alabara! — Toda la noche durmiera, toda la noche holgara;
otro día, de mañana,
en la Corte se alababa:
—Esta noche, caballeros,
dormí con una doncella
que en los días de mi vida
he visto cara más bella;
tenía la cama de oro,
los paramentos de seda,
y le relumbraba el cuerpo
—como la nieve en la sierra.—
Todos a una voz dijeron:
" Ésa Galiarda era".
Un hermano que allí estaba, ¡nunca en la Corte estuviera!:
—Cásate con ella, niño,
niño, cásate con ella,
ya que la has afrentado,
no la dejes en la afrenta.
—Juramento tengo hecho,
en la cruz de mi bandera,
de no casarme jamás con la que el cuerpo me entrega.—
Sacan espadas de vainas
y el niño conde dio en tierra.

En octubre de 1946, en el primer año de mi experiencia como colector de romances de la tradición oral, una mujer de unos 50 años, en la villa de Simancas, nos dijo, a Álvaro Galmés y a mí, una magnífica versión de "Ya tocan a misa en Roma". Estábamos completando nuestro primer artículo científico, sobre el límite lingüístico entre las pronunciaciones con f- inicial y con aspiración h- (hecha j-) en el Oriente de Asturias y el Alto León, buscando en el Archivo de Simancas documentación medieval acerca de los límites de los concejos asturianos partidos por esa frontera. Íbamos a Simancas desde Valladolid cada día en bicicleta y por las tardes aprovechábamos para recorrer pueblos del entorno en busca de romances. Esa versión fue uno de los hallazgos más preciados.

En la Península, el tema tiene su área de conservación moderna precisamente en Tierra de Campos, siendo las mejores versiones las recogidas en las provincias de Valladolid y Palencia; también son completas las de Burgos y Cantabria. En Asturias, la narración se ha contraído. Aisladamente, en Extremadura, se documenta en una espléndida versión recogida por J. Bal y Gal en 1931. En la tradición judeo-española de Tánger, Tetuán y Orán, también se ha conservado. En la de Oriente sólo sobrevive de forma muy fragmentaria (o incorporado a “Melisendra sale de los baños”), limitándose el recuerdo a la jactancia.

En el siglo XVI, la historia de “Galiarda (o Aliarda) y Florencios” se publicó fragmentada en varios romances: “Missa se dize en Roma / en el altar de Saniago”, “Galiarda, Galiarda, / o quién contigo folgasse” y “Esta noche, cavalleros, / dormí con una donzella”. De los dos últimos hay, además, versión manuscrita, diversa en variantes y asonancias. En otro texto impreso, la historia se cuenta unida, pero con un escenario introductorio diferente: “Ya se salía Aliarda / de los vaños de vañar”.

“Missa se dize en Roma” tiene, como el correspondiente trecho de nuestro romance del siglo XX, asonante -á.o. Por su parte, “Galiarda, Galiarda”, en la versión manuscrita, comienza en -á.e y acaba en -í.a, y, en la impresa (salvado el error de remplazar dos desinencias verbales en -ía poniendo -éis), se emplea, además de -á.e y de -í.a, el asonante -ó. “Esta noche. cavalleros” tiene asonante -é.a, como la parte análoga del romance moderno. En cuanto a “Ya se salía Aliarda”, al carecer de la escena de la iglesia, empieza en -á.e (-á); luego recurre a -á.a y, finalmente a -é.a. La tradición moderna comparte con la antigua la variedad de series asonánticas y, en Marruecos, se añade a ella el rasgo métrico, aún más antiguo, de las series paralelísticas.

La tradición peninsular no conserva rastro de la cínica respuesta de Galiarda al tener noticia de la muerte del muchacho, que remataba, con broche de oro, la historia en el siglo XVI:

> Desque Galiarda lo supo, > gran enojo recibiera:
> —Pésame, mis cavalleros, > hagáys cosa atán mal hecha;
> lo que aquel loco dezía
> no era cosa creedera, > hasta saberlo de cierto,
> no le avíades de dar tal pena.

En la tradición africana, aparece, como sustitución irónica, la retractación del alabancioso, hecha a tiempo para salvar su vida:

> —Anoche, mis caballeros,
> yo bebí mucho del vino, > que no sé lo que yo hablo > ni menos lo que yo digo;
> anoche, mis caballeros,
> bebí yo mucho del claro, > que no sé lo que yo digo, > ni menos lo que yo hablo.

La desaparición del tema, como conjunto narrativo, en otras comarcas de la tradición peninsular que llegó al siglo XX, no supone el desconocimiento total de su parte central, relativa al incumplimiento por el varón del juramento de no alabarse de la aventura. El famosísimo ciclo de romances referentes al Conde Claros y Claraniña, ha dado lugar en la tradición oral a que emerja como historia preferida aquella (ya conocida en el siglo XVI, aunque menos famosa que la de “Conde Claros preso”) en que el descubrimiento de la deshonestidad de Claraniña da lugar a que su padre, originalmente el Emperador Carlos, la condene a ser quemada. Esa historia aparece en el Romancero del siglo XX encabezada por muy diversas escenas donde se da cuenta de la deshonra de la infanta y de cómo la noticia llega a conocimiento de su padre. Sea cual sea el comienzo, funcionalmente viene a ser lo mismo en la “fábula”, y se narra de la misma manera cuánto sigue: el rey aprisiona a su hija, trata de provocarle el aborto y la condena a ser quemada; la infanta, por medio de un paje, comunica su sentencia al conde; el conde, disfrazado de fraile, acude al lugar del suplicio y, simulando confesarla, consigue comprobar que ella no ha otorgado su amor a otro que a él; el conde libera a la infanta del suplicio raptándola y llevándosela a sus tierras. Entre las diversas causas de que el padre se vea públicamente afrentado, se halla la de la indiscreción del amante por alabancioso, acompañada de más o menos elementos procedentes de "Aliarda". Por ejemplo, en el Sur de la Península, el romance de "Conde Claros en hábito de fraile" comienza así:

Se paseaba Elisarda
    por sus altos corredores, con un vestido de seda que le arrastran los tachones;
el conde, que la está viendo,
    la requería de amores:
—¡Quién te cogiera, Elisarda, esta noche en mis ardores!—
Elisarda le contesta:
    Esta noche y otras noches;
mas temo que eres muy niño, te alabarás en la Corte.
—Juro en la cruz de mi espada, también por la vida misma, de no me alabar, Lisarda, ni en la Corte ni en la villa.—
Otro día, por la mañana, por la Corte lo decía:
-Yo dormí con una dama,
    la flor de la maravilla.—
Todos dicen a una voz:
    Ésa será Elisardilla.

En el Occidente, desde el Algarve y las islas portuguesas atlánticas hasta Asturias y León, el romance de "Conde Claros en hábito de fraile" puede también incluir todo un episodio de "Aliarda", sea combinado con el insomnio amoroso del conde (procedente de "Conde Claros preso"), sea como comienzo:

—¡Galanzuca, Galanzuca, hija del conde Galán,
quién te me diera tres horas,
    a mi gusto y mi mandar!
—Tres horas a un caballero
    no se le pueden negar;
pero pareces ligero,
    luego te habrías de alabar.
—Con esta espada yo muera,
    con otra de más cortar, si a mujer que me dio el cuerpo yo la fuera a infamar;
secretos de una doncella

nunca yo los supe hablar.—
Otro día de mañana
fue a la plaza a pasear:
—Cuenten, cuenten, los señores, yo también he de contar.
Esta noche, caballeros,
sabréis que fui a cazar,
hallé una liebre tan fina,
que nunca vi tal saltar,
con tres horas de corrida nunca la llegué a cansar.—
Miran unos para otros:
"¿Quién sería, quién será?"
Allí estaban tres hermanos, que venían a pasear:
—¿Si será nuestra hermana,
que no la hay parigual?
—Ésa es, los mis amigos,
ésa es, ésa será;
para sacaros de dudas,
la hija del conde Galán.

En León, Asturias y Orense, el alabancioso describe la esplendorosa naturaleza de la dama gozada:

-Era alta como un pino
y blanca como el cristal;
la cintura tan delgada,
con dos manos la abarcar;
encima sus pechos nobles,
los dados pueden jugar.

BETTE DAVIS IBA CONMIGO A HACER PINTADAS

Las tres conjuradas hicimos tiempo hasta que la madrugada hubo despoblado las calles.

Nos habíamos atiborrado de café y de cigarrillos, y en la boca sentíamos la sequedad de brea del temor anticipado.

Hace frío, y el vaho de nuestra respiración nos precede y se mezcla con una niebla deshilachada, que nos impide distinguir la acera contraria.

Podríamos dormir o leer somnolientas en la cama, pero el enemigo está en vigilia, la democracia es frágil, y sería difícil vencer los remordimientos si optáramos por la comodidad.

Al poco, nos dispersamos y hacemos una pintada cada una en la rotonda del Gobierno Militar: allí quedan húmedas como sangre licuada: Un civil se puede militarizar, pero un militar no se puede civilizar, Militares, tenéis cerebro por error, os basta con la médula espinal y la más críptica, en azul mahón: El cromosoma Y es un cromosoma X cojo.

Un soldadito nos chista:

-¡Venga, idos al pijo que me va a caer un puro por vuestra culpa!

-¿Pero tú no eras antimilitarista y objetor, so capullo?

Adolfo, el recluta, hijo de un amigo nuestro de la infancia, pone cara de sufrimiento y nos vuelve a pedir que nos vayamos, pero nos lo pide por favor: por algo se ha votado "sí" a las reformas democráticas...

Sara lleva un anorac de su hermano, un gorro de lana hasta las cejas, y ha resuelto combatir la cistitis envolviéndose el bajo vientre con una bufanda kilométrica. No sé de dónde habrá sacado que es muy sano escupir y de vez en cuando lanza un escupitajo raquítico.

En el muro de su antiguo colegio, el de las madres dominicas, escribe: "La virginidad produce cáncer: ¡vacúnate!"

Ágata lleva el abrigo largo de su madre, con un cuello de dos palmos de piel apolillada, y parece un cruce de Miguel Strogoff con marquesa arruinada. Su estrabismo se agudiza cuando está cansada, y a estas horas uno de sus ojos mira fijamente su hombro izquierdo mientras el otro se pasea arriba y abajo por la acera por si encuentra alguna moneda. Con voz ronca susurra apenas:

-¿Sabéis cómo hace la policía el test para saber si has fumado hachich?

-Cómo el de alcoholemia, soplando en un aparato. -Contesto yo, que soy la cartesiana del grupo y suelo dejarme revolcar por su falta de lógica.

-Te hacen escupir varias veces, y si no tienes saliva, te trincan.

Nos reímos ante la argucia, si bien es cierto que yo no lo entendí hasta hace poco, porque jamás he fumado hachich, pero eso es como confesar que no hemos tenido una vida amorosa digna de la libertinas que aparentamos ser.

Llegamos al muro que hemos escogido en el Colegio de los Escolapios, a cincuenta metros del Gobierno Civil y la Comisaría. Tenemos los sprays listos, verde, rojo y azul, cada una el suyo.

-¿Quién vigila por si viene la bofia?

-Yo escribo, vosotras vigilad –digo caballerosamente. Y agito con vehemencia el bote para contrarestar el frío que impide salir la pintura. Hace un ruido atronador al golpear las bolitas de plomo que lleva el bote, o por lo menos eso se nos figura, pero aguantamos el miedo con los ojos desorbitados.

-Venga, que nos van a oir.

"Temblad, pequeños, yo fui quien mato a Mortimer el Cojo"

Y con una letra que nos hubieran alabado los padres escolapios, queda allí para pasmo de mis paisanos.

Según lo acordado, nos separamos al llegar al cruce y las tres seguimos caminos diferentes hasta llegar al siguiente punto, en la pared blanca que hay enfrente del Hospital.

Unos cuantos celadores fuman y bromean a la puerta y nos miran llegar escalonadas.

-Se han fijado en nosotras –digo tensa y con la voz agarrotada. Ágata fija en mí su inquietante mirada pendular y pregunta retórica:

-¿Cómo no se van a fijar? Llevas unas pintas...

-¿Qué pinta llevo? -pregunto más retoricamente que ella.

-Joder, agüela, la boina con visera, el pantalón de cuadros rojos tres tallas grande, el chaquetón de cuadros verdes de leñador, y, por si faltara algo, los botos con herraduras...

-Voy normal –digo- Mi asignatura negra es la elegancia, según ella, pero precisamente voy conjuntadísima: toda de cuadros, hasta la camisa de felpa y el jersey de rombos.

Sara corta la discusión:

-Vamos al mercado y luego volvemos.

Las calles tienen charcos de hielo y las farolas envueltas en niebla parecen fuegos de San Telmo. Hay que reconocer que mis botos hacen un ruido endemoniado, pero los zapatos de tacón de Ágata no les van a la zaga. La única discreta es Sara, que lleva unas botas militares que yo le envidio.

A la vuelta de la esquina nos sobrepasa el coche patrulla de la policía, que aminora la marcha y se pone a nuestro paso.

- ¡Buenas noches! ¿Saben dónde podemos encontrar una farmacia de guardia? –pregunto con una sonrisa boba a lo Bette Davis en "La solterona".

-¡Vaya, buscas una farmacia de guardia! ¿Se te ha resfríado el espray, agüela? -dice con mucho retintín uno de los bofias.

Tiro de mi album de interpretaciones y saco a Bette Davis en "¿Qué fue de Baby Jane?" cuando le lleva a la paralítica la bandeja con una tapadera que esconde una rata muerta -¿Qué spray?

Salen los otros policías del coche y nos rodean con caras de pocos amigos:

-¡Esperad un momento! ¡Vamos a hablarlo nosotros!– dice uno de ellos, y me separa de mis amigas:

-Nosotros no hemos visto nada y vosotras nos ponéis estas pintadas del Sindicato de Policía- Y me da el papel con sus reivindicaciones y diecisiete faltas de ortografía.

No hay otro remedio.

-Bueno, bueno, bueno... ahora sindicalistas ¿eh?

-¿Es que sí o que no?

-Que sí, que haremos vuestras pintadas y las nuestras.

-¡No, no, las vuestras no!

-Ah, entonces vamos a comisaría porque no hemos hecho nada por llevar un spray... -digo imitando a Bette Davis en "La Loba". Es para pintar las bicicletas.

Se queda pensativo y se va a hablar con los otros policías. Discuten. Mis amigas me preguntan en susurros:

-¿Qué pasa?

-Que para no detenernos, a cambio quieren...

-¡Ah, no, qué guarros, eso no!- corta Sara- ¡Que se paguen una puta!

- ...que les hagamos las pintadas del sindicato clandestino suyo: no os hagáis ilusiones, que no les interesa nuestra virtud.

Y a la mañana siguiente en la ciudad, hermanadas por la misma caligrafía, campaban nuestras reivindicaciones y las suyas en las que respetamos escrupulosamente sus coces al diccionario: Derecho ha sindicacion para la Policia. La libertad no se mendiga, se conquista . Horarios umanos para los policías. Si Dios existe es su problema. Unete al sindicato de Policia, conpañero. Mata al policía que llevas en la cabeza. Los Policias no tenemo derechos y es una verguenza. Parreño: tienes halitosis anal...

Y los policías que vinieron desde Valencia se hartaron de vigilar a los policías autóctonos, sin lograr pillarlos haciendo las pintadas que cada noche se multiplicaban por los muros de mi ciudad.

Fue heroica la transición y la consolidación de la democracia, os lo puedo asegurar: nos llenamos de sabañones, por poco se le queda crónica la cistitis a Sara, y los cabrones aquellos del Sindicato de Policía nunca nos pagaron los sprays.

Como relato de ficción, cualquier parecido con la realidad es pura coincidencia.

Lo único cierto es que los bofias dijeron que nos pagarían los sprays y no nos los pagaron.

PAQUITA LA DEL BARRIO, CHAYITO VALDEZ: TRES VECES TE ENGAÑÉ

Tu que me dejabas yo que te esparaba yo que tontamente siempre te era fiel

desgraciadamente
hoy fue diferente me topé con alguien
creo que sin querer

tres veces te engañé
tres veces te engañé
tres veces te engañé

la primera por coraje
la segunda por capricho
la tercera por placer

tres veces te engañé
tres veces te engañé

y despues de esas tres veces
y despues de esas tres veces

no quiero volverte a ver

[hablando] ¿me estas oyendo inutil?
bueno para nada...
pa' puras vergüenzas

Dices que me quieres
y que me perdonas pero lo que tu hagas no me importa ya

hoy me siento viva me siento importante
y de lo que pase yo me encargaré

tres veces te engañé
tres veces te engañé
tres veces te engañé

la primera por coraje
la segunda por capricho
la tercera por placer

tres veces te engañé
tres veces te engañé
tres veces te engañé

y después de esas tres veces
y después de esas tres veces
no quiero volverte a ver

DE LOS DESCEREBRADOS IGNORANTES

Aplico el vocablo de ignorantes no sólo a quienes carecen de letras y están privados de las ciencias y de las disciplinas, sino también, y mucho más, a quienes no tienen voluntad ni deseo de aprender cosa alguna que sea buena. Vituperan los sabios al emperador Valentiniano por esto: porque ardía en un odio inextinguible contra los letrados. Y lo mismo el emperador Licinio, que fue tan hostil y tan dañoso para las letras que las llamaba veneno y peste pública (aunque Battista Egnazio aduce una buena razón de su odio cuando explica que carecía de ellas hasta un grado tal que era incapaz de firmar sus propios decretos). Se mostraron asimismo ignorantes los atenienses cuando provocaron la injusta muerte de Sócrates, padre de la filosofía; y lo mismo los romanos, cuando desterraron de Roma a todos los filósofos; y mucho más aún los mesanos y los lacedemonios, que nunca los admitieron. Por esta misma causa es recriminado Domiciano, que los expulsó a todos de Italia. Mucho más lejos fue el rey Antíoco, que dio orden de que jamás se enseñara filosofía

¡Oh, míseros, oh, insensatos! ¿Qué se ha de enseñar? ¿La ignorancia? ¿Qué bien puede haber en su compañía? ¿No ha dejado escrito Aristóteles en el tercero de la Ética que "Todos los ignorantes son malvados" ¿No escribe Platón en el noveno de su República que "La ignorancia es la ausencia de todas las buenas costumbres"?(…)

¿Qué es el ignorante sino un pavo real de soberbia, un ganso de inteligencia, una oveja en el discurso, un cuco en el juicio y no más que un simple asno (según Pitágoras) en ciencia y conocimiento? Más aún: hay muchas razones por las que se puede demostrar que el asno es superior al ignorante: primero porque hay asnos que han hablado muy bien y con excelentes razonamientos (como la burra de Balaam), mientras que el ignorante no sabe formular una palabra, no sabe expresar un concepto, apenas sabe abrir la boca y, si, a pesar de todo, habla o razona, lo hace sin tino y sin lógica. El asno de Mario le sirvió de guía fiel cuando escapó de las furiosas manos de Sila. El ignorante, en cambio, necesita un guía para todas sus acciones porque es ciego de entendimiento y de juicio.

DIAS DE VINO Y ROSAS (DAYS OF WINE AND ROSES) DIRIGIDA POR BLAKE EDWARDS

"Días de vino y rosas" (Days of wine and roses) (1962), con guión de J.P. Miller, fue dirigida por Blake Edwards, interpretada por Jack Lemmon en el papel de Joe Clay, Lee Remick como Kirsten Arnesen Clay, con Jack Klugman (Jim Hungerford), Charles Bickford (Ellis Arnesen), Alan Hewitt (Rad Leland), Jack Albertson (Trayner), Tom Palmer (Ballefoy), Debbie Megowan (Debbie Clay) Maxine Stuart (Dottie), Jack Albertson (Trayner).

Su título, está inspirado en el poema "Vitae summa brevis":

They are not long, the weeping and the laughter,
Love and desire and hate:
I think they have no portion in us after
We pass the gate.

They are not long, the days of wine and roses:
Out of a misty dream
Our path emerges for awhile, then closes
Within a dream.

Ernest Dowson

El tema musical "Days of wine and roses" fue compuesto por Henry Mancini (letra de Johnny Mercer) y obtuvo el Oscar a la Mejor Canción del año 1962:

Mancini y Mercer fueron también los autores de Moon river , que cantaba Audrey Hepburn en "Desayuno con diamantes" (Breakfast at Tiffany's)

EL TRIBUNAL DE LA UE SENTENCIA QUE ES ILEGAL APLICAR EL CANON DIGITAL INDISCRIMINADAMENTE

Del artículo publicado en la Asociación de Internautas

"El Tribunal de Justicia de la UE ha sentenciado este jueves 21 de octubre de 2010 que el canon digital aplicado en España es ilegal. Los jueces comunitarios consideran que la tasa recaudada a favor de autores, intérpretes y productores no puede aplicarse de manera indiscriminada a empresas y profesionales que adquieren equipos y soportes de reproducción de contenidos digitales, porque el uso que realizan de los mismos es probablemente ajeno a la copia privada de creaciones protegidas por los derechos de autor."

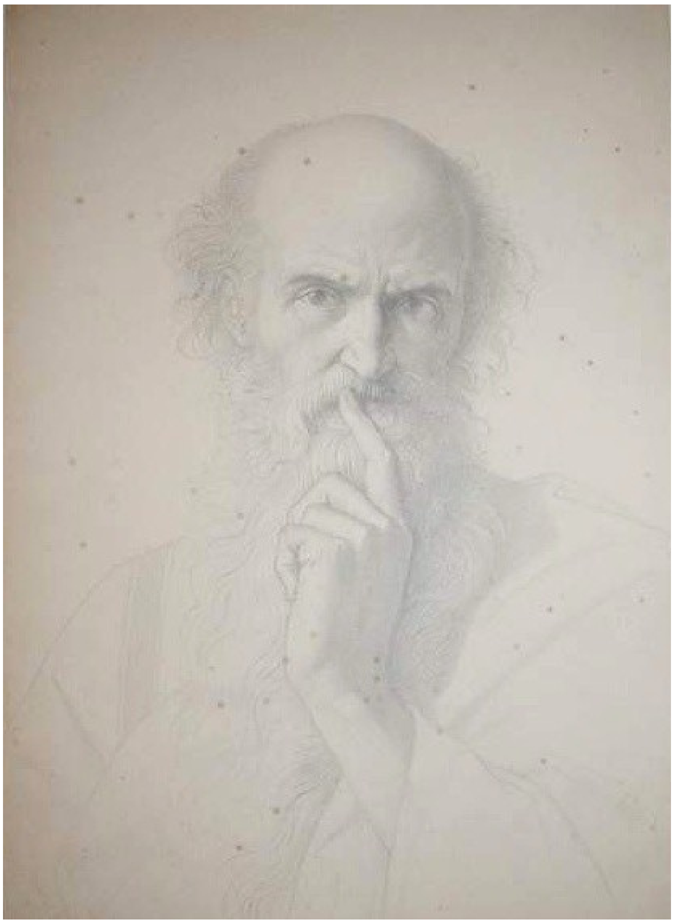
BALTASAR GRACIÁN: TODA PRENDA SIN AFECTACIÓN



Primor XVII
Toda prenda sin afectación

Toda prenda, todo realce, toda perfección, ha de engastar en sí un héroe, pero afectar, ninguna.

Es la afectación el lastre de la grandeza.

Consiste en una alabanza de sí muda, y el alabarse uno es el más cierto vituperarse.

La perfección ha de estar en sí, la alabanza en los otros; y es merecido castigo que, al que neciamente se acuerda de sí, discretamente le pongan en el olvido los demás.

Es muy libre la estimación; no se sujeta a artificio, mucho menos a violencia. Ríndese más presto a una elocuencia tácita de prendas que a la desvanecida ostentación.

Impide poca estimación propia, mucho aplauso ajeno.

Juzgan los entendidos toda afectada prenda antes por violenta que por natural, antes por aparente que por verdadera, y así da gran baja en la estimación.

Todos son necios los Narcisos, pero los de ánimo con incurable necedad, porque está el achaque en el remedio.

Pero si el afectar prendas es necedad de a ocho, no le quedará grado al afectar imperfecciones.

Por huir la afectación dan otros en el centro de ella, pues afectan el no afectar.

Afectó Tiberio el disimular, pero no supo disimular el disimular. Consiste el mayor primor de un arte en desmentirlo, y el mayor artificio en encubrirle con otro mayor.

Grande es dos veces el que abarca todas las perfecciones en sí y ninguna en su estimación. Con un generoso descuido despierta la atención común y, siendo él ciego para sus prendas, hace Argos a los demás.

Esta llámese milagro de destrezas, que si otras por extravagantes sendas guían a la grandeza, esta por opuesta conduce al trono de la fama, al dosel de la inmortalidad.

¿DÓNDE APRENDEN A REDACTAR ASÍ ESTOS MALDITOS BOTARATES?

He leído aquí esto:

"Culturas de archivo plantea una reflexión en torno a la problemática del archivo y su repercusión en las formas de acceder a la información y al conocimiento. Es un recorrido por varios momentos de la cultura y el arte contemporáneos centrado en los modos y los procesos de narración de la realidad que el archivo genera. Abarca diferentes aspectos de esta dialéctica entre la producción y la exposición del documento desde su hallazgo hasta su publicación. Refleja parte del debate sobre su condición represora, sin dejar de lado su papel como garante de derechos del ciudadano, o testigo del devenir de sus sociedades. Todo ello mostrando intervenciones directas de narradores y artistas con intenciones narrativas no marcadas por el positivismo subyacente a todo archivo.

Este portal esta configurado como espacio de reflexión entorno a las líneas argumentales del proyecto, permitiendo la participación de toda persona interesada en colaborar y construir esta comunidad de investigación y reflexión en la red."

Y me preguntaba -además de adónde y cómo aprenden a redactar así estos malditos botarates- si seríais tan amables de redactarlo de nuevo, traduciendo esa jeringonza de modo y manera que lo entienda, porque, a estas alturas de mi vida, cada vez que me encuentro con la deposición prosística de un genio de la Filología y la Semiótica, acabo dándole la lata a mi médico de cabecera para que me haga las pruebas, a ver si tengo un problema neurológico grave.

Y me preguntaba también si algún día lograremos un corpus legisativo que instaure la pena de mordaza para estos tuercebotas juntapalabras por el maltrato al idioma...

LAS LENTEJAS

Suena el teléfono cuando le faltan diez minutos a las lentejas. Subo y, entre tanto, ha saltado el contestador. Escucho el mensaje: "Gata, soy Isabel, me ha dejado mi hermana Pepa un recado para ti, llámame, es urgente."

— Hola, Isabel ¿qué tal estás?

— Bueno, ya sabes, a mi edad... tengo muy mal la cadera, y el médico me ha dicho que no encuentra nada, que será reúma; pero es un dolor como de fractura ¿sabes?

— Claro, a mí...

— No es un dolorcillo como el tuyo, sino un dolor fuerte. Hay días que me tengo que tomar un paracetamol para poder aguantar.

— ¡Vaya, qué horror! Te he telefoneado porque he oído tu recado para que te llame urgente: ¿pasa algo?

— Si, es que mi hermana se ha ido a la Notaría, que es con la que siempre hemos trabajado en mi familia. Con decirte que mi abuelo hizo las escrituras de la casa con el abuelo de Arnaldo ya te puedes figurar... Hay mucha amistad entre las familias: su hija hizo Derecho, pero no quiso trabajar con su padre en la Notaría, hizo oposiciones y está en Hacienda o en un banco o algo así... ha tenido una nena hace poco, y está con permiso de maternidad. Su marido es un mocetón guapísimo, muy simpático, pero no es de aquí.. Eso del amor es así... nunca se sabe donde estará el hombre de tu vida ¿verdad? ¿Y tú, sigues sin encontrar a nadie?

— ...Perdona, Isabel, es que tengo las lentejas en el fuego... me has dicho que tienes un recado urgente para mí de parte de Pepa... si acaso luego te llamaría con tiempo y ya charlamos ¿te parece?

— Si, ya me gustaría a mí ser tan despreocupada como tú y tener tiempo para dedicarme a charlar; pero no paro, de todo me tengo que encargar yo... es que llevar una casa sin más ayuda que una mujer que viene cinco horas... Mi hermana ya sabes que no hace nada. Ella tiene su trabajo, y espera que se lo den todo hecho...

— ... ¿Y cuál era el recado que me tenías que dar?

— Es que me ha dicho mi hermana que te diga una cosa, pero no sé qué es, no me acuerdo... y he pensado que, si me dices qué querías de ella, quizás me acuerde de lo que me ha dicho que te diga...

— Pues no sé, no hay nada que yo tuviera que preguntarle... ¡Da igual, no tiene importancia, Isabel, gracias de todas formas! Hablamos más otro día, porque las lentejas...

— Ay, no cambiarás nunca. ¡Para ti nada tiene importancia! Mi hermana me ha repetido tres veces: "no se te olvide decírselo si llama". Y no puede ser una tontería, Gata, si no, ella no me lo hubiera recalcado tres veces...

— Ya, Isabel, pero como yo no tenía nada que preguntarle y no sé qué es lo que quería que me dijeras, pues, cuando vuelva, que me llame y me lo diga... Isabel, tengo que colgar que las len...

— ¡Menuda es mi hermana, si le digo que he hablado contigo y no te he dado el recado! ¡Me pone a caer de un burro! No seas pasota y piensa un poco, que seguro que, al final, sé qué es lo que te tengo que decir... ¿Tienes algún asunto profesional que le hayas encomendado a ella?

— No, Isabel, y no hay nada personal pendiente tampoco: ninguna carta, ningún libro que espere que me comente, nada. Oye, guapa, haz una cosa, di que no he llamado y no me lo has podido decir, y sanseacabó.

— Es que tú mientes como respiras, pero yo no he dicho ni una mentira en mi vida, y no voy a empezar ahora.

— Oye que se me van a quemar las lentejas... te llamo después.

— No, no, no cortes, que yo en cuanto termine de hablar contigo, tengo que salir. He quedado a tomar café con Maruli ¿te acuerdas de ella?

— Si, si me acuerdo... Mira Isabel, vete a tomar café tranquila, que no pasa nada si no te acuerdas del recado.

— ¿Cómo que no pasa nada? Yo ya tengo un come-come que me tiene con palpitaciones. Me dijo el cardiólogo que no me disgustara por nada, que lo peor para lo mío eran los nervios y los disgustos. Y me está dando taquicardia y mareo con este jaleo, que no sé qué tenéis entre manos que yo no me pueda enterar. Porque, Gata, siempre vas con secretitos con mi hermana, que yo tonta no soy, aunque no sea tan larga como tú, que vas delante de las nubes... Y no quieres decirme a qué tenía que contestarte mi hermana, porque te gusta dejarme al margen de todo, me tratas como si no tuviera sentimientos, ni orgullo, ni fuera un ser humano... y... y....

— No, no, Isabel, por favor no llores. Es que te juro por mis muertos que yo no espero ninguna respuesta, ni ningún recado de tu hermana. No es que te quiera dejar al margen, es que hace más de dos meses que no hablo con ella siquiera...

— ¡Pues algo tenías que saber, porque mi hermana no miente, y me lo ha repetido tres veces que no se me olvidara! ¡Y este disgusto es gracias a ti, como otros muchos que hemos tenido Pepa y yo, por tu culpa!

— Bueno, Isabel, pues lo siento, pero es que tengo las lentejas en el fuego, ya hablamos en otro momento.

— Si, claro, tú a lo tuyo, a lo tuyo, no te preocupes de nadie más que de ti... Yo, a punto de tener un infarto, te doy igual, tú tienes que ocuparte de tus lentejas y, si me quedo muerta aquí mismo, porque tengo todos los síntomas de un ataque al corazón, ¡estoy teniendo un infarto, pero tú vete con tus lentejas, no llames a una ambulancia!.... ¡Ayyyyyy!

— Isabel... Isabel... Isabel... ¿estás ahí? ...Isabel...contéstame, por favor...Isabel, voy a llamar al 012 para que vaya la UVI móvil...tranquila, van enseguida...

Se ha cortado la comunicación.

— ¿Es emergencias? Una señora en esa ciudad estaba hablando conmigo y me ha dicho que estaba teniendo un infarto de miocardio cuando se ha cortado la...

— Oye, ciudadana, ¿te ha dicho que estaba teniendo un infarto?

— Si, me ha dicho que lo estaba teniendo.

— Oye, ciudadana, un infarto se tiene o no se tiene. Si se tiene no se puede retransmitir. Un infartado no habla, no dice ni Pamplona, ¿comprendes?

— Bueno, ¿y si le doy el teléfono y habla usted con ella a ver si es o no es? Yo es que no estoy en la misma ciudad, que si no me acercaría. Se llama Isabel y su teléfono es...

— ¿Isabel, la del teléfono 96... ...?

— Si, ese teléfono es... ¿ya han...?

— No te preocupes, lo suyo no es un infarto: está contándole al contestador que hay una víbora que se trae secretos con su hermana... Eso no es un infarto, tú tranquila.

Ha colgado.

Lentejas pegadas. Carbonizadas.

Dos horas después me llama Pepa.

— ¡Hola, despistada! ¿A que se te ha olvidado que me tenías que llamar?

— ¿Para qué?

— Para felicitarme por mi santo.

— Pepa ¿qué día es hoy?

— Día 19, es mi santo.

— Pepa, es 19 de mayo, hace dos meses que fue tu santo y te felicité.

—¡No fastidies! ¡Pues vengo de invitar a los de la notaría para celebrarlo y no me han dicho nada! ¡Qué caraduras!

— Pepa, ¿qué recado le habías dejado a tu hermana para mí?

— Que, cuando llamaras para felicitarme, te dijera que me telefonearas después, porque me iba a tomar el aperitivo con los de la Notaría... ¿No te lo ha dicho?

BRYN TERFEL CANTA "NON PIU ANDRAI", "LE NOZZE DI FIGARO", DE MOZART

Object 26

Non più andrai, farfallone amoroso,
Notte e giorno d'intorno girando,
Delle belle turbando il riposo,
Narcisetto, Adoncino d'amor.

Delle belle turbando il riposo,

Narcisetto, Adoncino d'amor.

Non piu avrai questi bei penacchini,
Quel cappello leggiero e galante,
Quella chioma, quell'aria brillante,
Quel vermiglio donnesco color!
Quel vermiglio donnes color!

Non piu avrai quei penacchini,
Quel cappello
Quella chioma, quell'aria brillante

Non più andrai, farfallone amoroso,
Notte e giorno d'intorno girando,
Delle belle turbando il riposo,
Narcisetto, Adoncino d'amor.

Delle belle turbando il riposo,
Narcisetto, Adoncino d'amor.

Fra guerrieri, poffar Bacco!
Gran mustacchi, stretto sacco,
Schioppo in spalla, sciabla al fianco,
Collo dritto, muso franco, Un gran casco, o un gran turbante, Molto onor, poco contante.
Poco contante
Poco contante

Ed in vece del fandango
Una marcia per il fango.

Per montagne, per valloni,
Con le nevi, e i solioni,
Al concerto di tromboni,
Di bombarde, di cannoni,
Che le palle in tutti i tuoni,
All'orecchio fan fischiar.

Non piu avrai quei penacchini,
Non piu avrai quel cappello
Non piu avrai quella chioma
Non piu avrai quell'aria brillante.

Non più andrai, farfallone amoroso,
Notte e giorno d'intorno girando,

CARLOS MONTERO CANTA ¡VICTORIA!, DE ENRIQUE SANTOS DISCÉPOLO

¡Victoria!
¡Saraca, Victoria!
Pianté de la noria:
¡Se fue mi mujer!
Si me parece mentira
después de seis años
volver a vivir...
Volver a ver mis amigos,
vivir con mamá otra vez.
¡Victoria!
¡Cantemos victoria!
Yo estoy en la gloria:
¡Se fue mi mujer!

¡Me saltaron los tapones, cuando tuve esta mañana
la alegría de no verla más!
Y es que al ver que no la tengo, corro, salto, voy y vengo, desatentao...¡Gracias a Dios que me salvé de andar toda la vida atao
llevando el bacalao
de la Emulsión de Scott..!
Si no nace el marinero que me tiró esa piolita para hacerme resollar.... yo ya estaba condeno
a morir ensartenao,

como el último infeliz.

¡Victoria!
¡Saraca, victoria!
Pianté de la noria:
¡Se fue mi mujer!
Me da tristeza el panete,
chicato inocente que se la llevó...
¡Cuando desate el paquete
y manye que se ensartó!
¡Victoria!
¡Cantemos victoria!
Yo estoy en la gloria:
¡Se fue mi mujer!

MUERTE SOSPECHOSA EN LA BASÍLICA DE GUADALUPE

Intriga y corrupción, elementos que no pueden faltar en un thriller, se presentan en la muerte de Jesús Guízar Villanueva, canónigo de la Basílica de Guadalupe, quien puso en juego su prestigio y su carrera eclesiástica para informar al Papa, al cardenal Norberto Rivera Carrera y al nuncio apostólico Christophe Pierre de las irregularidades cometidas por el rector del santuario, Diego Monroy. Los familiares de Guízar sospechan que fue eliminado, pues ″se había convertido en una piedra en el zapato", para las autoridades eclesiásticas.

Monseñor Jesús Guízar Villanueva, canónigo de la Basílica de Guadalupe y sobrino de San Rafael Guízar y Valencia, al parecer fue asesinado en enero de este año debido a que estaba enviando al Papa Benedicto XVI información confidencial sobre los multimillonarios negocios ilícitos que tienen las autoridades de la Basílica, a la que ya convirtieron en una jugosa "empresa" alejada de sus fines pastorales.

En sus reportes al pontífice, Guízar daba cuenta del "afán desmedido por el dinero" que tiene el actual rector del santuario, monseñor Diego Monroy, quien ha logrado acumular "riquezas inexplicables", no le paga al episcopado mexicano los "ingresos económicos" que le corresponden del santuario y, para colmo, puso como tesorero de la Basílica a un amigo personal, el "laico Héctor Bustamante", con quien suele realizar viajes a distintas partes del mundo.

Guízar pedía en sus documentos –enviados a través de la nunciatura apostólica en México– "no que se me crea, sino que se me oiga y que se investigue a fondo, con auditorías o con una visita canónica, pues todos estos asuntos de injusticia, corrupción y prepotencia ya están flotando en el ambiente clerical".

Aguardaba el influyente canónigo una respuesta de Benedicto XVI, quien había sido su maestro en la universidad, cuando el 20 de enero pasado sus familiares lo encontraron golpeado e inconsciente en su cama. Fue llevado al hospital donde murió en circunstancias extrañas.

Atacado en su casa

Su hermano Gonzalo Guízar relata la historia:

-"Ese día 20 mi hermano no respondía a nuestras llamadas telefónicas. Vivía solo en una casa propiedad de la Basílica. Mi hermana Juana se preocupó. Fue a su domicilio, tocó la puerta y nadie le abrió. Sospechó que algo le había pasado. Llamó a un cerrajero que abrió la puerta. Encontró a mi hermano inconsciente sobre su lecho, con golpes en distintas partes del cuerpo. Había sangre regada en la habitación. ¿Se había caído? ¿Alguien lo golpeó? No lo supimos.

"Se le trasladó en ambulancia al hospital Ángeles, de Lindavista. Ahí nos dijeron que no debía movérsele pues necesitaba unos tres días de reposo. Ingresó con una deshidratación. Yo soy médico y supuse que con algunas insoluciones quedaría restablecido.

Pero luego llegó el encargado de los seguros médicos de la Basílica, el sacerdote Rafael Bustillo. Éste maniobró para que mi hermano fuera trasladado ese mismo día al hospital Santa Elena, argumentando que allá sería mejor atendido, pese a que los médicos recomendaron que no se le moviera.

En el hospital Santa Elena le indujeron un coma para mantenerlo inconsciente. Y, extrañamente, su salud fue deteriorándose, al grado de que tuvo un paro cardiorrespiratorio que fue mal atendido y que, el 23 de enero, provocó su muerte."

–¿Les informaron sobre los golpes con que llegó su hermano?

–No, no hubo diagnóstico sobre los golpes. Y los tenía en varias partes: en el tórax, en el abdomen, en las piernas, en la cabeza... Dudo mucho que se los haya provocado una caída. Yo les dije a quienes lo atendían: "Miren cómo está de golpeado". Incluso la ropa que llevaba puesta nos la entregaron ensangrentada.

Hubo otro hecho muy extraño: el rector de la Basílica, monseñor Diego Monroy, llegó al hospital tan sólo cinco minutos después de que mi hermano falleció. Entró directamente a ver el cuerpo, en el área de terapia intensiva, y luego se marchó junto con los guaruras que lo acompañaban.

La gente de la Basílica nos insistió mucho en que cremáramos el cuerpo. Nos explicaba que se depositarían las cenizas en el nicho de los canónigos. Era muy sospechosa tanta insistencia. Les dijimos que no y sepultamos a mi hermano en el panteón Jardín."

Cuenta que en esas fechas la familia Guízar no sabía nada acerca de las irregularidades y corruptelas en la Basílica, mucho menos imaginaba que Jesús le había informado al Papa del problema, pidiéndole que abriera una investigación.

-"Mi hermano era muy reservado en sus cosas. No le comentaba nada a la familia. Sólo nos decía que tenía algunas diferencias con Diego Monroy", dice.

–¿Y qué supieron ustedes sobre esos desacuerdos?

–Nos enteramos que en una ocasión Monroy le pidió la renuncia y no se la entregó. Le respondió: "No voy a renunciar porque tú no me pusiste en el cargo". En 2003 Monroy le quitó a mi hermano la dirección de Jubilosa voz de Guadalupe, la revista de la Basílica. También lo desplazó, mediante una maniobra truculenta, de la secretaría del cabildo. Eso fue todo. Pero jamás imaginamos que fueran tan graves los problemas en la Basílica.

Hasta ese momento y debido a las extrañas circunstancias en que murió Jesús Guízar, su familia creyó que se trataba de un caso extremo de negligencia médica.

Sin embargo, cuando los familiares del canónigo recogieron sus pertenencias encontraron varias carpetas con documentación. Entre esos papeles había copias de los informes que, desde 2007, el religioso estaba entregando tanto al cardenal Norberto

Rivera Carrera, arzobispo primado de México y superior jerárquico de Diego Monroy, como al nuncio apostólico en México, Christophe Pierre.

El arquitecto Rafael Guízar Villanueva, el otro hermano del canónigo, también entrevistado por Proceso, relata:

-"Fue en abril cuando reparamos en la existencia de esos informes. Los tenía archivados. Estaban entre la papelería que dejó y que nosotros nos llevamos. Por suerte la gente de la Basílica no incautó esa información. ¡Se les fue! Hubieran podido extraerla muy fácilmente, pues mi hermano vivía en una casa propiedad de la Basílica. Estaba a merced de ellos. Lo único que hicieron fue vaciar de información su computadora, donde quizá también guardaba datos comprometedores.

A partir de nuestro hallazgo, las extrañas circunstancias de la muerte de mi hermano cobraron otra dimensión: los golpes que tenía; el absurdo traslado de un hospital a otro; el coma inducido que se le aplicó; los intentos de cremar su cuerpo y la súbita aparición de Diego Monroy tan pronto murió mi hermano. Él se había convertido en una piedra en el zapato que había que quitar para que ya no siguiera alebrestando".

Lo secunda Gonzalo Guízar:

-"Desde el punto de vista fisiológico, no era para que se hubiera muerto. Tenía 63 años y estaba relativamente sano. Había sufrido un infarto, pero se estaba atendiendo muy bien en el Centro Médico. Gozaba de buena salud".

–¿Sospechan entonces que monseñor Jesús Guízar fue víctima de un homicidio?

–Sí, tenemos esa fundada sospecha. Sin embargo, al momento de su muerte no hicimos ninguna denuncia ante las autoridades judiciales pues no imaginábamos el peligro que corría.

–¿Diego Monroy pudo estar detrás de este supuesto asesinato?

–Sí, sobre todo a través del sacerdote Rafael Bustillo, representante de Fratesa, la asociación que ofrece los servicios médicos a los canónigos y sacerdotes de la Basílica. Bustillo fue quien ordenó toda la intervención médica. Él tiene mucho qué explicar.

–¿Suponen que el cardenal Norberto Rivera también está involucrado?

–Bueno, por lo menos tenía conocimiento de todo. Ahí están los informes que le entregaba mi hermano. Ambos llevaban una amistad de años, por lo menos desde que fueron profesores en la Universidad Pontificia.

"Todo se esfumó"

En uno de sus reportes confidenciales, fechado el 14 de junio de 2007, Guízar le advierte al cardenal Rivera que desapareció todo el "patrimonio" que Guillermo Schulenburg, antiguo abad de la Basílica, le dejó al cabildo. Eran "cuatro cuentas bancarias" depositadas en Estados Unidos y que "sumaban más de 60 millones de pesos, más un lote de joyas y 30 centenarios" que "le fueron entregados a Héctor Bustamante", a quien Diego Monroy puso como tesorero sólo por ser su "querido".

Le dice: "Todo se esfumó… aún hay tiempo de investigar porque es mucho, muchísimo dinero".

Y se quejaba de que, mientras tanto, a los canónigos y sacerdotes del santuario no se les había aumentado el sueldo desde hacía más de seis años.

En otro informe, correspondiente al 11 de marzo de 2008, Guízar le comenta a su amigo el cardenal, a quien tutea, acerca de las ganancias de miles de millones de pesos que está obteniendo Diego Monroy con el negocio de la Plaza Mariana:

"La Plaza Mariana es todo un lío y, creo, un gran abuso. Monseñor Monroy ha dicho que el costo total de la construcción de la Plaza Mariana será de 900 millones de pesos. Bueno, pues con la sola venta de 115 mil nichos se va a obtener una cantidad aproximada de 5 mil millones de pesos mexicanos. ¿Por qué esa ganancia desmedida? Aparte, dice él que ha conseguido donativos en U.S.A. y, sin duda, habrá más bienhechores. ¿Eso está autorizado y controlado por ti? ¿De eso tampoco se debe informar? ¿Todos son asuntos secretos? ¿Inauditables?"

Ahí mismo le comenta del acelerado enriquecimiento de Diego Monroy:

"La fortuna personal de monseñor Monroy también resulta escandalosa: dos casas en la colonia Tepeyac Insurgentes (calle de Talara y en Habana y Chulavista); otra 'casa familiar' en Quiroga, Michoacán, y una 'casa-museo' en Pátzcuaro, Michoacán, amén de grandes colecciones de obras de arte. En cada una hay servidumbre abundante. ¿Dé dónde saca tanto dinero? Ojalá ahora se pueda hacer algo. Tal vez una visita canónica."

También le dice que Monroy "no trabaja en equipo con los canónigos ni con los sacerdotes de la Basílica", quienes sólo le sirven para "maquilar celebraciones de misa y horas de confesionario".

El verdadero "equipo" del rector, le asegura, "es un grupo de laicos incondicionales encabezados por Héctor Bustamante", quien siempre acompaña a Monroy "en viajes nacionales e internacionales (Chile, Italia, Brasil, Polonia, España, Francia, Filipinas, Estados Unidos, Turquía, Tierra Santa, Egipto…). No se sabe si él paga sus pasajes o corren por cuenta de la Basílica".

Sin dejar de tutearlo, Guízar le reprocha al cardenal Rivera haber impuesto a Monroy como rector de la Basílica:

"¿Quién es monseñor Diego Monroy Ponce? Las virtudes tú ponlas; en señal de que lo conoces, lo nombraste rector de la Basílica el 13 de enero del 2001 y, a pesar de no haber quedado en la terna presentada por el Cabildo Colegial de Guadalupe, le diste nombramiento por otros cinco años, en enero de 2006. Además, acuerdas con él y muchas cosas le has confiado, muchas."

Y por ello le pide tratar personalmente el problema:

"Yo no quiero que esta carta se quede guardada o dada al olvido. Pretendo que tengas tú un tiempo para platicar frente a frente conmigo, en dónde tú me indiques, y darte más pormenores de los asuntos aquí tratados."

Los siete pecados

El 9 de junio de 2008 –tres meses después de haberle escrito el anterior reporte al cardenal–, Guízar le envió un informe al nuncio Christophe Pierre aclarándole que se lo remite como "representante de su santidad Benedicto XVI" y para que El Vaticano "tenga una solución conforme a derecho".

Le dice que la "corrupción y prepotencia" de Monroy, así como su "afán desmedido por el dinero", han provocado que la Basílica se administre como si fuera "una empresa".

Asimismo, plantea lo mismo que le dijo en sus cartas al cardenal, y agrega que Monroy "no paga" al episcopado mexicano "el 10% del total de ingresos económicos, que le corresponden por determinación pontificia."

"Para que nadie lo controle, Monroy no ha establecido el Consejo de Asuntos Económicos ni el Consejo de Pastoral, como lo ordena el breve apostólico Praestantem Pietatem, que expidió el Papa Juan Pablo II en 1998", afirma.

Y agrega:

"Yo, señor nuncio, he actuado de frente al cabildo y al cardenal Rivera. Con valentía y en nombre de Dios he pedido no que se me crea, sino que se me oiga y que se investigue a fondo, con auditorías o con una visita canónica.

Concluye: "Todos estos asuntos de injusticia, corrupción y prepotencia de monseñor Monroy están flotando en el ambiente clerical".

En esta carta, Guízar le dice al nuncio que le adjunta "copias de tres documentos" que ya había entregado al cardenal Rivera y al cabildo de la basílica.

Otro documento elaborado por Guízar, titulado El rector y los 7 pecados capitales, se refiere a la soberbia, avaricia, lujuria, ira, gula, envidia y pereza que caracterizan a Monroy.

Ese documento detalla el fasto faraónico con que suele rodearse: "coche a la puerta", "elevador sin demora", "mancebos de compañía", "comelitonas", "fiestas de despilfarro", guardaespaldas permanentes, fotografías suyas distribuidas por todo el santuario… mientras que sus celebraciones litúrgicas, Monroy siempre las adereza con ceremonieros, cantores, fanfarrias, diáconos…

En el apartado sobre la "lujuria", por ejemplo, menciona "las fiestas" que organiza Monroy en el segundo piso de la basílica, junto a la venerada imagen del Tepeyac. En esas afiebradas bacanales, el rector siempre tiene "a su servicio una pléyade de solteros con fama de afeminados. Pero su mancebo predilecto, ni hablar, sigue siendo Héctor Bustamante, a quien aparte de darle el control de las riquezas del santuario y de pasearlo por todo el mundo, suele llevarlo con frecuencia a su rinconcito de Pátzcuaro".

Monseñor Jesús Guízar echó mano de todo su prestigio y sus influencias para que se le hiciera caso. En el ámbito eclesiástico era muy respetado por ser sobrino nieto del obispo Rafael Guízar y Valencia, quien fue canonizado en 2006. Hizo estudios en universidades europeas, como la Gregoriana de Roma, donde estudió teología. Hablaba ocho idiomas. Además fue catedrático en la Universidad Pontificia y en el Seminario Conciliar de México, entre otras instituciones.

También era poeta. Entre sus libros de poesía destacan Mi silencio andariego y Cantares leves. Estaba preparando su antología poética Ay, el tiempo, cuando murió. El pasado 7 de septiembre el Instituto Nacional de Bellas Artes le organizó un homenaje post mortem en el Palacio de Bellas Artes, en el que se declamaron sus poemas.

Sus hermanos Gonzalo y Rafael recalcan que, con el envío a Roma de toda esta información, el canónigo y poeta únicamente intentaba que se pusiera orden en la Basílica:

-"Quería que se impidiera tanto manejo turbio del rector. Recurrió hasta con el Papa, quien fue maestro suyo en la universidad. Sabemos que mi hermano también mandó copias de sus informes a algunos obispos mexicanos. Pero, según vemos, nunca le hicieron caso", dicen.

–¿Tras la muerte de monseñor Guízar, ustedes han intentado hablar con el cardenal Rivera?

–Sí, le solicitamos una audiencia, para hablar sobre las raras circunstancias en que murió mi hermano, y también para pedirle explicación sobre un bono que le correspondía.

Los Guízar muestran dos peticiones escritas de audiencia, dirigidas al cardenal. La primera es del 12 de abril pasado, la otra del 16 de junio. Ambas tienen el sello de recibido de la Arquidiócesis de México.

En esas solicitudes la familia de San Rafael Guízar pide al cardenal que les "conceda un poco de su tiempo para comentar algunas anomalías que vivimos con la enfermedad y sucesos posteriores a la muerte del canónigo Jesús Guízar Villanueva". Pero Rivera Carrera no ha querido recibirlos.

Concluyen los Guízar: "Estamos muy decepcionados de nuestros jerarcas. Hacia afuera hablan de paz y amor, pero por dentro están peleándose unos con otros. A la Basílica de Guadalupe la han convertido en una cueva de Ali-Babá. Eso nos queda muy claro".

LA MINITA

El 31 de agosto pasado, Carlos Slim anunció que donará a la Basílica de Guadalupe la construcción de la Plaza Mariana, que ya realiza Grupo Carso. De acuerdo con los cálculos del rector del santuario, Diego Monroy, la obra costará unos 900 millones de pesos.

El hombre más rico del mundo adelantó que su dádiva guadalupana correrá por cuenta de la

Fundación Carlos Slim. "Va a ser una plaza y la vamos a donar; vamos a construirla a cuenta de la fundación", dijo.

De concretarse este obsequio, Monroy y el cardenal Norberto Rivera Carrera no desembolsarán un solo centavo en la Plaza Mariana, ya que el terreno en que la están construyendo –una superficie de 30 mil metros cuadrados, que duplicará el área del atrio actual– fue producto de la donación hecha por Andrés Manuel López Obrador, en 2003, cuando era jefe del gobierno capitalino.

De entonces a la fecha, la delegación Gustavo A. Madero se ha encargado de sostener económicamente a los 1.300 comerciantes desalojados del área, a quienes se les prometió que serían reinstalados en la Plaza Mariana cuando quede concluido este proyecto religioso-comercial (Proceso 1749).

Desde hace varios años, Monroy ha recolectado donativos entre los fieles guadalupanos, sobre todo de México y de Estados Unidos, con el argumento de que se destinarán a la construcción de la Plaza Mariana. Para ello abrió cuentas bancarias ex profeso e incluso, con el apoyo de la empresa Starcom, logró que en Estados Unidos se venda una "tarjeta telefónica guadalupana" (Proceso 1571).

El rector de la Basílica asegura que otra fuente de financiamiento es la venta anticipada de los 115.000 nichos que tendrá la Plaza Mariana. Según los cálculos del canónigo Jesús Guízar, esa operación puede generar cinco mil millones de pesos. Pero Monroy jamás ha informado –como lo señala el mismo Guízar– cuánto dinero ha recaudado hasta la fecha, tanto en donativos como en la venta de nichos. Sólo se especula que ya suman miles de millones de pesos.

Desde antes de su construcción, la Plaza Mariana ya es una mina de oro para Monroy y Rivera Carrera.

Es de pésima ética profesional no comprobar las cosas que se afirman. Monseñor Diego Monroy es un ejemplo de amor a Dios. fidelidad a la Virgen de Guadalupe y una extraordinaria vocación de fé y respeto con los fieles. Es posible juzgar a un hombre que incremento la visita de los fieles al santuario o que llevó dignamente su cargo sin prepotencia, con humildad, porque yo soy doctora en derecho y me consta los actos de humanidad y amor que no le correspondía ayudar y que aún así lo hizo. Todos los días gente humilde se acercaba para pedirle ayuda, misma que el Gobierno se la hubiera dado por ser su obligación y Monseñor Diego lo hacía sin pedir nada a cambio, por nadie pondría las manos al fuego, por monseñor Diego Monroy si. Incluso mi Nombre ya que los que lo agreden solo vociferan veneno y se esconden en el anonimato sin responder por sus injurias. Dudo que encuentren un rector que ame mas a la Virgen de Guadalupe que Monseñor Diego Monroy Ponce Ojala, gato pardo no borres mi comentario porque al igual que tú es mi deber decir la verdad y los hechos que me constan, así como encontrar pruebas. y si tu y otros "escritores" hicieran su trabajo bien hablarían con el nuncio apostólico en México, con Autoridades federales para ver corroborar tus fuentes o datos. Don Jesus Guizar NUNCA denuncio a Monseñor Diego Monroy Ponce de nada, ni en México y menos en el Vaticano existe expediente. pero en fin te dejo juzgando y especulando. Si en verdad quieres hacer bien tu chamba puedes acudir a las oficinas de la nunciatura Apostólica, si se te dificulta viajar al vaticano para hacer tu trabajo ó bien buscar algún expediente u otra cosa que no sean palabras, si te sirve te puedo dar muchos documentos de caridad, fe, amor y devoción de monseñor a la Virgen de Guadalupe y sus fieles y que consta en papel. Mi correo es samanomaria@hotmail.com y tampoco me quiero hacer publicidad ya que vivo bien como doctora en leyes no en juzgar ni difamar personas.

gracias y Ojala tus palabras no sean tan ofensivas conmigo porque ni me conoces, como lo fuiste con Monseñor Diego Monroy

Es lamentable ver de que manera hipócritas "se rasgan las vestiduras" ante esta nota que sólamente evidencía lo que mucha gente sabe lo que sucede al interior de la Basílica de Guadalupe, es innegable la gran cantidad de recursos económicos que se generan, La Imagen Guadalupana es uno de los mejores negocios que existen en el país, y claro, a través de la devoción de quienes no se atreven a mirar de frente la gran falsedad histórica de la cual hemos sido víctimas. Con relación a la supuesta integridad moral del Monseñor Diego Monroy, permitáme hacerle mención D. D, María de Jesús Sámano Pérez, sobre el artículo aparecido en la revista Proceso, titulado "La Guadalupana Marca registrada" del periodista Rodrigo Vera.
Dónde menciona que el monseñor Diego Monroy Ponce, vendió por 12.5 millones de dólares los "derechos de propiedad", de exclusividad de la imagen de la Guadalupana a María Teresa Herrera Fedyk, representante en México de la empresa estadounidense Viotran; peor ciego el que no quiere ver, y peor aún cuando éste esta movido por interéses espurios y mezquinos como los que siempre han movido a la mayoría de los prelados dentro de la Iglesia Católica, obvio, el objetivo, el poder y el dinero. Es lamentable que no se den cuenta que los únicos culpables de que la Iglesia esté podrida, son ustedes, con su alcahuetería y omisiones; ejemplo Brasil, donde la Iglesia Católica, lamentablemente, está perdiendo terreno, esperemos que en México no suceda lo mismo, pero que los feligreses asuman un papel más crítico ante sus autoridades eclesiásticas y ante los "espejistos" que éstos les venden.

RICARDO ARJONA Y PAQUITA LA DEL BARRIO: NI TÚ NI YO

Lo nuestro pa empezar no es de novela ni de Romeos muriendo por Julietas ni haremos de Love Story la secuela ni somos de este circo marionetas

Lo nuestro tiene un poco de desquite y no comparte fines de semana lo nuestro se cocina en escondite y se sirve de a dos sobre la cama

Por hoy déjame ser tu hombre perfecto mientras que te aparece el indicado para casarte busca un arquitecto para hacer el amor, un desalmado

Lo nuestro no pregunta por futuros jamás llegué o me fui con equipaje lo nuestro se sustenta en lo inseguro
y no se ampara en celos ni chantajes

Ni tú ni yo, ni yo ni tú
queremos que se contamine
este amor que sin permiso
durará hasta que termine ni tú ni yo estamos pa' los modales que requiere el protocolo
de las páginas sociales.
Ni tú ni yo, ni yo ni tú

(¿Me esta oyendo, inútil?
este amor durara hasta que tú quieras)

Lo nuestro es por salvaje verdadero y no se ampara en códigos morales lo nuestro es clandestino y tan sincero que no precisa abrir más sucursales

Jamas te amenacé ojo por ojo ni hago chantajes con lo que dijiste reinventas Kamasutras a tu antojo
y nunca pregunté donde aprendiste

Ni tú ni yo, ni yo ni tú
queremos que se contamine
este amor que, sin permiso,
durará hasta que termine

Ni tú ni yo
estamos pa' los modales
que requiere el protocolo
de las páginas sociales
ni tú ni yo, ni yo ni tú

Ni tú estas pa' jardín con sube y baja ni yo pa' barbecues ni domingadas aquí cada quien va para su casa
y no se anda con tanta tarugada

ADEMÁS DEL MEJILLÓN CEBRA, LA INFESTACIÓN DE HOMO NOVUS

El juego de la rana requiere tino, vista y temple para acertar e introducir diez discos de hierro en los múltiples orificios con obstáculos de la mesa de la rana. El juego de las bochas precisa serenidad, fuerza y visión de estratega; la bola de metal debe pesar entre 900 y 1.200 gramos, y, además de situar las propias bochas lo más cerca posible de un objetivo llamado "balín", hay que golpear y alejar aquellas que se lo impiden. La lucha leonesa es un rudo ballet en el que no se trata de herir o golpear al contrario, sino de que su espalda toque el suelo; el lanzamiento de barra castellana desarrolla por igual los músculos y la destreza, y de este juego decía Sebastián de Covarrubias: "De estas barras tienen en los molinos para levantar las piedras de ellos, y los molineros, que de ordinario son hombres de fuerzas, suelen tirar con ellas y hacer apuestas". Gana el lanzador que tira más lejos la barra metálica de más de setenta y cinco centímetros de longitud y más de cinco kilos de peso, sin que gire en el aire por su eje transversal. El juego del palo canario , ya sea al estilo Palo Corto o al estilo de Palo Largo, ya sea agarrándolo por el centro, sin recogidos ni molinetes de defensa, agachados o, incluso, con la rodilla en tierra; ya sea con Palo Largo, agarrado por un extremo, con técnicas circulares (golpes) y punzantes (finchadas), es un enfrentamiento lúdico entre dos jugadores que se marcan (señalan) y se atajan (defienden) con golpes retenidos, evitando hacerse daño, y requiere una gran pericia.

Durante siglos, esta vieja raza en la que se mezclan tantas ha urdido juegos y diversiones que no precisan otra cosa que una era o un erial, un corral y los utensilios a nuestro alcance, y hemos atravesado los siglos cruzando a pie enjuto el proceloso mar de las diversiones de señoritos.

Actualmente, sin embargo, entre nuestros retoños ha surgido la raza trepadora del homo novus o advenedizo, que concede gran importancia al status social, que desprecia y rechaza a los que considera inferiores y que admira, imita y pretende asociarse con aquellos que lo desprecian y se consideran superiores. A este oprobio le ha dado por jugar al golf, donde se cultiva la rodilla genuflexa, la curva de la cadera praxiteliana, el pie zambo, la verticalidad sin donaire, cierta propensión al paseito endomingado, y esa capacidad para concentrar la atención en las chuminadas que distingue a un snob, un pisaverde, un currutaco, un cucubeo mental, un mequetrefe, un chichipán, de un hombre de verdad.

Golpear una pelotita con un bastón rematado con una especie de cacito en calderón, tocarse con una gorra de jinete asalariado, llevar un guante almohadillado, unos zapatos anatómicamente inapropiados para los pies, con unas posturitas y jeringonzas propias de los caricatos de Circuitos Carceller, no puede ser sano para el cerebro, y mucho menos para el amor propio. Si lo tuvieran...

Se les debería declarar "material biologicamente nocivo", molas invasoras, y acabar con esa infestación de campos de golf que los alberga.

"CC.OO. recibió 96.183.980,70 euros y UGT 96.117.804,59, en subvenciones diversas por parte del Gobierno durante 2009. Muy cuantiosas fueron las ayudas de Trabajo por realizar sus actividades: 6.397.610,94 euros para CC.OO. y 6.080.603,57 para UGT. A ellas se añadieron las subvenciones por participar en los órganos consultivos del Ministerio: 1.804.638 para CC.OO. y 1.075.269 para UGT. Sólo Administraciones Públicas repartió entre las organizaciones sindicales 28.908.000 euros para cursos de formación, más de la mitad de lo que ingresaron las comunidades autónomas por el mismo concepto.
Pero aparte, llueven millones desde todas las autonomías. Por ejemplo, la Junta de Andalucía distribuyó subvenciones mediante convenio de colaboración para formación Profesional: 8.002.262,75 para CC.OO. y 8.021.823 para UGT. Subvenciones públicas para planes intersectoriales de formación: 9.850.542,50 para CC.OO. y 9.851.005 para UGT. Al cabo de algún tiempo, es interesante releer según que cosas. Se demuestra mucho para el que quiera verlo, claro. Por ejemplo se demuestra que el señor gatopardo es el más subvencionado, porque los sindicatos reparten entre más de tres millones de afiliados, y el dinero que el señor Gatopardo recibe de los poderes financieros para intoxicar informativamente se lo queda él solo. Subvenciones también hay para la casa real, las ONG, la Iglesia, los partidos políticos y todas aquellas organizaciones e instituciones que, en nuestro Estado de Derecho, son consideradas positivas de acuerdo con la Constitución. ¿Contra el Gobierno la huelga? ¿que más importa el gobierno que aplique medidas injustas? Lo injusto son las medidas independientemente del gobierno que las aplique, pero ustedes, por supuesto, hacen distingos, porque las medidas les parecen bien, y les parecerían mejor si las aplicara otro gobierno, que es de lo que se trata. Miren, la mitad de ustedes son unos torpes, y la otra mitad, acaudillados por el cobarde gatopardo, unos vendidos que nos conducen al abismo. el señor gatopardo y los de su calaña, en el último segundo, se echaran a un lado y observarán como se estrellan los demás. Mire, gatopardo, es usted un delincuente, porque tiene inteligencia suficiente para saber que mentir en perjuicio de la mayoría por un dinero, está, como mínimo, mal. Gente como usted debe extinguirse para que la mayoría podamos tener algún futuro. Extíngase rápido.

DIEGO CATALÁN: SOBRE LA OBRA DE D. JOAQUÍN DE ENTRAMBASAGUAS

ES NECESARIO HACER CRÍTICA

Ocupado en la enseñanza de la literatura española en el Bachillerato cayó en mis manos una edición para estudiantes de tres poetas, titulada Antología de los Manriques, poetas del s. XV por don Joaquín de Entrambasaguas, tercera, edición, año 1949 (primera ed. de 1940) Clásicos Ebro, T. VIII.

Esta edición, hecha por un catedrático de la Universidad de Madrid, la recomendé en un principio inocentemente a mis alumnos, pero un día, al repetir uno de ellos las conocidísimas coplas de Jorge Manrique, me sorprendieron en su recitación algunas palabras ininteligibles atauijos, toujeramo, que naturalmente le corregí. Trabajo me costó creer sus afirmaciones de que cuanto decía estaba en el texto del Sr. Entrambasaguas; solo hube de rendirme ante la evidencia: Efectivamente, allí, en la pág. 113, versos 223-25, donde Jorge Manrique dice "los jaeces, los caballos/ de sus gentes, e atavíos/ tan sobrados..." el Sr. Entrambasaguas imprime e atauijos tan sobrados, aclarando en notas "(atauijos), de ataujia, obra de arte hecha por los moros embutiendo unos métales en otros, semejante al damasquinado que se fabrica en Toledo y en Eibar". El catedrático Sr. Entrambasaguas ignora las más elementales normas de la ortografía vigentes hasta en el siglo XVI, desconociendo las correspondencias u=v, j=i. Y digo ignora porque la falsa lectura del Sr. E. no está motivada por una ofuscación ocasional, ya que en las propias Coplas de Jorge Manrique (pág. 110, v. 145-152) vuelve a imprimir algo similar; "Si fuese en nuestro poder / hacer la cara hermosa.../ que diligencia tan viva / toujeramo (sic) toda hora..."/. El extraño toujeramo ha de leerse naturalmente tovieramos. Pero el Sr. E. reafirma su error en nota según acostumbra: (toujeramo) "form. ant: Trujéramos o trajéramos".

Descubiertos tan graves errores me entretuve en repasar con detención las 126 páginas del libro del Sr. E., y hallé tantos que me creo en el deber de poner en guardia a cuantos pudieran caer en la tentación de manejarlo.

No voy a señalar aquí los innumerables errores de lectura que ofuscan el texto, pues no hay página sin varios de ellos. Me limitaré solo a destacar algunos de los disparates que van reafirmados en notas (además de los ya citados atauijos y toujeramo, y que por tanto no son fruto de ligereza sino de la meditación de un profesor que quiere guíar al público en la comprensión de los clásicos.

Así por ejemplo, pág. 41, v. 30 (Habillada) "es latinismo" según la nota del Sr, E., todo el mundo sabe que en español se trata de un galicismo (comp. fr, habiller) y que esta palabra es en francés un celtismo (de donde salen bille, billard) (comp. en el vulgarísimo diccionario de Meyer Lübke la voz gálica bilia o FEW sub bilia, y Wartburg Probs. y Mts. de la Lingüística, ed. esp. pág. l86-187). ¿Tendrá el Sr. E. en su diccionario latino el verbo habilio, as, are?

Pág. 52, v. 5: Cuando Gómez Manrique dice Tu fuste desde ab eterno, el Sr. E. se lanza a corregir el correcto ablativo del texto, que le parecía mal latín, sustituyéndolo por un disparatado acusativos "ab aeternum, desde la eternidad". (¡Por menos suspenden en el Examen de Estado! se asombró uno de mis colegiales)

Pág. 55, v. 63: Nueva y extraña nota de la palabra alcandora "Alcandora se llamaba la hoguera o fogata que servía de señal. Aquí el sentido es que el Marqués de Santillana, a quien se refiere, venía a ser la luz poética de Juan II de Castilla». El pasaje anotado dice así «¡Oh Castilla» llora, llora / una perdida tamaña/ e tu real alcandora, / pues es llegada la hora, / con las tus lágrimas baña".

Bastaba acudir a fuente tan poco recóndita como el Diccionario de la Academia para saber que alcandora significa aquí "una vestimenta a modo de túnica", ya que el Sr. E. nunca había tropezado con versos tan conocidos como los de Villasandino a una bella mora o los del romance de la linda Melisenda (Todas las gentes dormían...) vistiérase una alcandora / no hallando su brial/ que otros nos sabemos de memoria. Gómez Manrique, pues, no quiere, como afirma el Sr. E., que Castilla llore sobre una hoguera y trate de apagarla con sus lágrimas, sino que representándose a Castilla como una mujer, le dice que llore hasta empapar en lágrimas su vestidura.

En la pág. siguiente (la 56) se dice en nota aclaratoria de los v. 76-78, que Tebas es "capital de la Croacia (Grecia)" ¿Cómo se confunde el Sr. E, olvidándose de la Beocia?

Dos páginas más adelante (en la 58) nos sorprende una nueva nota, la que pretende esclarecer al lector ignaro el sentido del verso 9: Comienza así la invocación de las coplas para el Sr. Diego Arias de Ávila de Gómez Manrique: "De los más el más perfecto / en los grandes el mayor,/ Infinito sabidor/ de mí, rudo trovador/ torna sotil e discreto,/ que sin ti prosa nin rimo / es fundada / nin as puede facer nada, / Joannis primo/”.

Sin conocimientos especiales, simplemente con la lectura de esos versos y con los que siguen inmediatamente: “Tú que das lenguas a mudos, / faces los bajos sobir”, etc. Bastaba para comprender que esta invocación estaba dirigida a Dios Nuestro Señor; el Sr. E. no ha entendido ni una palabra y con su perspicacia habitual cree que el autor habla con el mismo Diego Arias (¡!) anotando así el verso “Joannis primo”: "Primo de Juan, refiriéndose a Juan II. El sentido de este tratamiento, muy frecuente en la época ya se explicó". Pero lo inexplicable es el atrevimiento del Sr. E., así como también el que no sepa que ese Joannis primo no quiere decir sino “En el primer capítulo del Evangelio de San Juan. En efecto allí, en el Evangelio de San Juan habría encontrado en Sr. E., en el capítulo I (que se lee todos los días en la misa), versículo 3º, estas palabras refiriéndose a Dios: “et sine ipse factum est nihil, quod factum est”.

En verdad, antes de haber leído otras obras del Sr. Entrambasaguas, tamaños errores me llenaron de estupor; pero después de dar una ojeada sobre algunas de sus contribuciones en cuerpo 24 a la ciencia española, ya nada me asusta.

desconocido! Me imagino el gesto de asombro de quienes, enterados de la vida del Fénix, se enfrenten con este trabajo”

Grande fue, en efecto, el asombro de los lopistas al ver la inocente vanidad de este escrito (donde se nos habla eruditamente de los padres de la la amada, panaderos de la viuda de Maximiliano II, de su tío Fabricio de Mora, de su futuro marido Hans Uquer etc. y se llega a identificar a Doña María de Aragón con la Marfisa de la Dorotea) cuando la personalidad de Lope de Vega Portocarrero era de sobra conocida, y, entre otros que habían tratado de él, Gómez Centurión, allá por el año de 1913 (Bol. R. Acad. Hist. T. LXIII, pág. 271) nos había dado noticias de él, de su mujer María de Aragón y sus descendientes [2] Hubiese bastado al Sr. E. un mínimo conocimiento bibliográfico para librarse de semejante pitaflada.

¡Cómo ha de asombrarnos la malhadada edición estudiantil que reseñamos si en una obra titulada "Lope de Vega y los preceptistas aristotélicos" (1932) el Sr, E. lee así un verso de Lope "de los aristélicos de las cremas" (pág. 404, v. 330) anotándolo por triplicado! "Aristélicos no consta en ninguno de los diccionarios y glosarios que he consultado, ni recuerdo haber dado con esta palabra en ninguno de los textos del siglo de oro que conozco. Tal vez pueda tratarse de un diminutivo de arista o pajilla de la espiga tan conocida como muy combustible"; (Las) “falta en el manuscristo"; (cremas) "Quemas. Se refiere a las de los autos de fé, sin duda alguna, como Covarrubias considera el quemar por antonomasia la pena de herejes sométicos (sodomitas) y falsarios de moneda". Cuando ni se trata de pajitas combustibles ni de quemar somoditas, sino de leer bien "aristotélicos teoremas", lectura que podía habérsele ocurrido al comentador Sr. E., estando escribiendo esta su obra maestra acerca de los preceptistas aristotélicos!. Huelga todo sabroso comentario. Sólo diré que la lectura “aristélicos de las cremas” sigue siendo mantenida por el Sr. E. durante al menos diez años, pues vuelve a estamparla en sus "Cardos del jardín de Lope”, ed. C.S.I.C.,Madrid 1942 [3].

Diego Catalán, año 1952.

NOTAS

1 Sirvan de ejemplo estas anotaciones del Sr. E. reveladoras de su gran cultura: pág. 69 nota del verso 2 que reza donde vuestro vulto vi, de una poesía “A una dama que iba cubierta”; "bulto hasta época mderna equivalía a figura o escultura” (cfr. Dicc. Academia vulto: cara); pág. 71 v 2 nota el toponimo Matapozuelos: “pueblo de la provincia de Madrid” (es de Valladolid cfr. Dicc. Madoz); 105 v. 27 nota al vino de Villarreal “los vinos famosos ya en esta época … de Villarreal (Castellón)" . El poeta se refiere, claro está, al Villarreal manchego, hoy Ciudad Real (según el cambio honorífico de nombre concedido por Juan II)) cfr. La Serranilla de la Zarzuela Yo me iba, mi madre, a Villarreale); pág. 116 v, 323 Marco Tulio en la verdad que prometía; la lección verdadera es Marco Atilio, pero el Sr. E. nos aclara el verso eruditamente "Marco Tulio Cicerón". Añádase a todo ésto que el Sr. E. repite lamentablemente todas las erratas del texto publicado por Cortina en 1929 (ej. "que nos dejen da deshora" pag 108 v. 110, léase "a deshora") y hasta alguna anotación equivocada (pág. 114, nota a los versos 253-58). Todos estos errores habían sido ya señalados por A. Castro RFE XVII 1930, y Cortina los corrigió en su edición de 1941.

2 Un facsímil de la escritura de matrimonio entre Lope de Vega y Portocarrero con Doña María de Aragón ha sido reproducido con posterioridad por F. Vindel ''Por el honor de Lope de Vega y Portocarrero, Madrid 1941.

3 Últimamente un alma caritativa, dejándose llevar de su natural bondadoso libró al Sr, E. de reimprimir una vez más su triple anotación. El Sr. E., de acuerdo oon la advertencia, corrigió la lectura en su ultima edición pero olvidó agradecer en nota la indicación de su bienhechor.

¡Cristo, qué delicia de notas las de Catalán, el nietín de Pidal, ¿no?, y qué maravilla de blog, cómo es posible no haberlo conocido antes! Ahora entiendo, entre otras, no solo mi casi natural animadversión por Entrambasaguas, y no solo, sino los ajustes de cuentas de un cátedro que tuve en la Fac. de Filología de Oviedo, allá en la prehistoria, que lo llevaba hasta a rimar Entrambasaguas con 'enaguas' y sonreía satisfecho de su hazaña ripiosa, pero entiendo que con alguna base... semántica. Dios te lo pague, Gatopardo, volveré, estate seguro, me encanta todo este paisaje. Gracias.

ALEJANDRINO CALVO SANGUINO: EL RATÓN

Debajo de un arbolito, Cerca de la carretera.
Dentro de una ratonera,
Un día nació un ratoncito.
Su mamita y su papito,
Doña rata y don ratón,
Con mucha dedicación,
Lo cuidaban noche y día,
Y el bebecito crecía,

Sano fuerte y júguetón.

Llegó el tiempo de la escuela,
Cuadernos y borradores,
Lapicítos de colores,
Y un uniforme de tela.
Tareas hechas por la abuela.
Regaños del profesor,
Pero entre acierto y error, Con talante y con talento,
El ratoncito del cuento,
Llegará a ser un doctor.

Al comenzar cada día,
Se amarra bien los zapatos.
Para escapar de los gatos,
Que salen de cacería.
Un perro que es policía,
Y patrulla en el sector,
Ya le ha dicho que es mejor,
Que no ande desprevenido,
Que debe ser precavido,
Si quiere un día ser mayor.

Y es que en varias ocasiones,
La muerte ha visto cerquita.
Como un día de mañanita,
Que estando de vacaciones,
Junto con otros ratones,
Al campo iban de paseo.
Cuando un gato grande y feo,
Armado con escopeta,
Con fusil y metralleta,
Formó un fuerte tiroteo.

De infarto se murió un grillo.
Y se oían gritos de miedo.
Pero el gato con su dedo,
Seguía oprimiendo el gatillo.
Nuestro amigo ratoncillo,
Pensó, de ésta no me escapo.
Cuando de repente un sapo,
Bien soplado se metió,
Y tendido allí quedó,
Por querer ganar de guapo.

Celebró el gato su acierto,
Y fue a tomar la enorme presa.
Pero vaya! que sorpresa.
Que dolor. que desconcierto.
Porque el pobre sapo muerto, Parecía una uva pasa.
A correr se dieron traza,

Los ratones del lugar,
En silencio y sin hablar, Regresaron a la casa.

Otro día, fue una serpiente.
Que ocultando su apetito,
Se dirigió al ratoncito,
Con aire triste y doliente.
Hablando pausadamente,
Con voz trémula le dijo.
Soy un pobre lagartijo,
Que perdió sus cuatro patas,
Y vengo a ver si las ratas,
Me dan amparo y cobijo.

Obviamente el ratoncito,
No sospechaba el engaño.
Ni creía recibir daño,
De tan tierno animalito.
Se acercó poco a poquito,
Con su mirada inocente,
Pero al descubrir el diente,
Criminal de la culebra,
Saltó al lomo de una cebra,
Que dormía plácidamente.

Molesta y muy sorprendida,
Al sentir el cosquilleo,
Entre trote y corcoveo,
La cebra emprendió la huida.
Después vino la caída,
Del intrépido ratón,
Que aunque se metió un raspón,
Contra el duro pavimento,
Volvió a casa muy contento,
Dando saltos de emoción.

Una feliz circunstancia.
¡Como pocas en la vida!
Hizo que en una salida,
De las tantas de su infancia,
Encontrara en cierta estancia,
A un gracioso cachorrito.

Su pelo, era suavecito.
Los ojos, eran grandotes.
Tenía orejas y bigotes,
Mejor dicho era un gatito.

Se miraron fijamente.
El felino se acercó,
Y el ratón lo saludó,
Con un gesto reverente.
Como en casa, no había gente,
Que pudiera molestar,
Tuvieron tiempo de hablar,
Hasta que les vino en gana,
Y seis veces por semana,
Volvían al mismo lugar.

Armaban la jugarreta,
Propia de un ratón y un gato.
Después de correr un rato,
Y de sudar la camiseta,
Comían pan, comían galleta,
Bebían leche en cantidad,
El lazo de su amistad,
Era cada vez más fuerte,
Hasta que por fin la muerte,
Y lo rompió por la mitad.

Un día lleno de neblina,
Que el sol se quedó dormido,
Su amiguito tan querido,
Se murió de tos felína.
Con alas de cartulína,
Y de blanco terciopelo,
En un apacible vuelo,
Convertida en angelito,
El alma de su amiguito,
Se fue con Dios para el cielo.

Solo y ya sin el gatito,
El ratón siguió adelante.
Siguió siendo un estudiante,
Y así muy poco a poquito,
Un médico ya viejito,
Lo enseñó a ser cirujano.
A trasplantar una mano,
Una pierna un corazón,
Aprendió a la perfección,
Las técnicas del anciano.

A su consultorio un día,
Le trajeron malherido,
Un gato viejo bandido,
Que ya casi se moría.
El ratón, lo conocía.
Cazador, de cazadores.
Que en épocas anteriores,
Le quiso quitar la vida.
Pero convocó en seguida,
A una junta de doctores.

Es un deber del galeno,
Salvar la vida al paciente.
Muy independientemente,
De que este sea malo o bueno.
En el ejercicio pleno,
De tan noble profesión,
No cuenta la filiación,
Sexo, creencia ni raza.
La ética sobrepasa,
Toda discriminación.

A sala de cirugía
Lo trasladó de inmediato
Pero el corazón del gato
Ya ni siquiera latía
La sangre ya no fluía
Faltaba respiración
Para más complicación
Había un trauma cerebral
Todo se veía muy mal
En aquella operación

Había que hacer un trasplante
Y cuanto más pronto mejor
Pero el problema mayor
Era encontrar un donante
Se presentó un elefante
Un caballo y un león
Pero hecha la evaluación
No se podía con ninguno
Pues para un pecho gatuno
Era mucho corazón

Cuando ya todo indicaba
Que se iba a morir el gato
De pronto apareció un pato
Que con tristeza lloraba
Y dijo que él le donaba
El corazón de su esposa
Una pata muy hermosa
Que acababa de morir
Y más demoró en decir
Que efectuarse la cosa

Después de ocho días y un rato
De cuidados intensivos
En el mundo de los vivos
Se volvió a contar el gato
Y abrazado con el pato
Abandonó el hospital
Dejó de ser criminal
Y de matar ratoncitos
Y hoy cuida cinco patitos Con cariño maternal

Una ratita enfermera
Asistente del doctor
Sufrió un ataque de amor
Una mañana cualquiera
Y vaya ¡quien lo creyera!
Uno pensaría que no
Mas como nadie inventó
Contra el amor la vacuna
Sin resistencia ninguna

El doctor se contagió

Y para poder curar
Tan dulce padecimiento
Solo existía un tratamiento
Que ambos debían aplicar
Fue así como en el altar
De una bella catedral
Sonó la marcha nupcial
Y gracias a san Ratonio
Finalizó en matrimonio
Aquel amor sin igual

Todo es paz y armonía
Viven tiempos muy bonitos
Ya tienen dos ratoncitos
Y esperan más todavía
Deseándoles muy buen día Aquí me despido yo
Si hubo alguien que no entendió
Debe oír con más cuidado
Y colorín colorado
Este cuento se acabó

ROMANCE DE PARIS Y ELENA

18 PARIS Y ELENA

Estando la reina Elena en su bastidor bordando, agujica de oro en mano,
    un pendón de amor labrando:
-Dios guarde a la reina Elena, Dios la ponga en alto estado.
-¿Quién es ese caballero
    tan cortés y bien hablado?
-París soy, la mi señora, París, vuestro enamorado.
-Por vuestro cuerpo, París, ¿qué oficios tenéis en mano?
-Mercader soy, mi señora,
    y por la mar gran corsario;
tres navíos tengo al puerto,
   de oro y almizcle cargados.
En el más chiquito de ellos tengo yo un rico manzano, que echa manzanitas de oro
   en invierno y en verano.
-Si tal es verdad, París, razón es de ir a mirarlo.-
Con ciento de sus doncellas, reina Elena se ha embarcado.
-¿A dó el manzano, París, dónde está el rico manzano?

-Yo lo soy, la reina Elena, yo soy el rico manzano, que echo manzanas de amores
en invierno y en verano;
las manzanas son los hijos que vais parir cada año.
¡Iza vela, marinero, está la presa en la mano!
-¡Échame en tierra, París, París, el descomulgado!
-No lloréis, la reina Elena, ni hagáis llanto tan sonado, que la ciudad ya se aleja, el aire me está ayudando.

A finales de la Edad Media, hubo una generación de juglares romancistas cuyas más divulgadas creaciones fueron los llamados "romances juglarescos carolingios", de que ya he hablado y habré de hablar repetidamente; pero su actividad no se limitó a temas más o menos relacionados con la poesía épica medieval, pues cubrieron campos muy diversos. Entre ellos, los que la historia y la novelística medieval heredaron de la épica homérica.

Dos Pliegos sueltos, una Ensalada de muchos romances (incluida en otro) y el Libro en el qual se contienen cincuenta romances (hacia 1525-1530) nos revelan la difusión de un romance de 138 octosílabos (ó 69 dieciseisílabos, con cesura), en dos series asonánticas, -á.o y -á, que con lenguaje, expresiones y motivos convencionales, y recursos compositivos típicos de la juglaría romancística tardo-medieval narra el rapto de Elena, el asalto a Troya por Menelao y Agamenón y su venganza y, finalmente, el cruento castigo de Paris. No hay duda de que el texto impreso en el siglo XVI venía de tiempo atrás.

Los cantores tradicionales que, desde el siglo XV hasta el siglo XX, repitieron oralmente el romance, haciendo posible su pervivencia en las comunidades sefardíes de Oriente (en Salónica, Lárissa, Constantinopla, Bucarest y Pazardjik) y de Occidente (en Tánger, Tetuán, Larache, Alcazarquivir y Orán), así como en las Islas Canarias, segregaron, sin duda desde muy pronto, la escena inicial, la del rapto, dotándola de autonomía literaria. El hecho de ser, ya en el romance juglaresco, una escena en que predominaba el diálogo, la hacía especialmente apta para ser recordada, no ya tan sólo por profesionales de la narración cantada pública, sino como parte del repertorio de cualquier gustador de romances. Bastaba eliminar de ella los rasgos más típicos del arte narrativo juglaresco, como es el de la presencia de versos o incisos destinados a aclarar quién habla o el de dirigirse con un vocativo al noble auditorio. Es sorprendente la extraordinaria memoria de los versos del antiguo texto que, pasando de boca en oído y de oído en boca durante tantos siglos, se han perpetuado en las tres ramas, tan distantes entre sí, de la tradición.

Pero la comparación de las tres ramas de la tradición oral de los siglos XIX y XX, la balcánica, la marroquí y la canaria, entre sí y con el romance juglaresco de donde proceden, muestra, por otra parte, que no sólo en el hecho de hacer autónoma la escena del rapto proceden de un mismo entronque. En el romance juglaresco para nada se habla del fantástico manzano, que tanto en la tradición oriental, como en la del Magreb, como en la canaria sirve para atraer a la reina Elena al navío corsario, ni, por tanto, de su simbolismo, revelado por Paris cuando el navío alza las velas. Otros aspectos menores del trabajo de adaptación del texto juglaresco al estilo propio del romancero tradicional confirman la evidencia de que las tres tradiciones recorrieron juntas parte del camino.

Entre ellos, me interesa destacar la pregunta de Elena:

-¿Qué oficios tenéis, París
qué oficios habéis tomado?

que tienen en común, con pequeñas diferencias verbales, las ramas oriental y marroquí (y que la canaria deforma, convirtiendo en "vicios" los "oficios"), substitutiva de la del texto juglaresco:

-Paris, ¿dónde avéys camino, donde tenéys vuestro trato?, ya que reaparece en el Alto Aragón:

-¿Qué oficios tenéis, mi hijo,
qué oficios habéis tomado?

en un romance religioso que es contrafacta de dos romances tradicionales profanos "Las almenas de Toro" y "Paris y Elena". La Contrarreforma, entre otros fenómenos literarios que trajo consigo, fomentó el de "volver a lo divino" toda clase de productos literarios exitosos. Respecto al Romancero y la lírica tradicional, aparte de los grandes maestros de éste arte (como López de Úbeda y Valdivielso), múltiples ingenios de aquellos tiempos se dedicaron a contrahacer romances y canciones de todo tipo y temática. Bastantes de esos romances "a lo divino" llegaron a entrar en la corriente del romancero tradicional, acomodándose a su estilo, y, llevados por ella, llegaron al siglo XX, en que fueron recogidos en las más diversas regiones. La prresencia en el Alto Aragón (y, más deformado, en la Lérida pirenaica y aún en Castellón) de textos de "Las almenas de Toro, a lo divino" rematado con "Paris y Elena, a lo divino" muestra que el romance tradicional surgido del juglaresco tuvo difusión en la Península y, a lo que parece, con variantes análogas a las que comparten las muy distantes áreas tradicionales en que el romance continuó recordándose hasta tiempos modernos.

La modernidad está acabando con estas joyas de la tradición oral. Se conservaron tan vivas (y asombrosamente parecidas en regiones tan distantes) durante siglos y ahora van a desaparecer en el breve tiempo de un aleteo.

Coomaraswamy decía que la alfabetización había sido una ruina para la Tradición.

Antes, las personas eran capaces de recordar y recitar de memoria miles y miles de versos de las teogonías hindúes, etc.

El Corán es aprendido de memoria aún hoy, ¿no es cierto? ¿No parece increíble?

Un saludo.

OTRO PLAGIARIO: TONY GARCÍA VICENTE

Tony García Vicente, Piscis, de Barcelona (España), cuyo e.mail es tgarciavicente@gmail.com, tiene un blog muy colorido llamado Sapientiathekes Nostrum, con lemas como "Escribo porque no hacerlo contribuiría a que me dedicase a actividades más penosas, como planchar, cocinar, o escuchar sandeces."

Tony García Vicente ha publicado "No me esperes levantada..." (copia literal de "Como una colilla"), y también ha publicado "La melaza mística y el aspartamo emocional copiado de aquí, y "Pobreza vergonzante y lucro sin pudor", copiado de aquí, todo ello bajo el epígrafe "Mis opiniones" (sic), teniendo buen cuidado de no decir que los ha chorizado, y se atribuye la autoría.

Como comprenderán, me ha plagiado a mí, y ha plagiado a otros. Basta con poner un párrafo de sus artículos en el buscador Google para comprobar donde roba este mangante.

Por si acaso, tengan cuidado con su carteras si anda cerca...

De nada. Ya saben que me gusta ser útil.

Me parece increíble. Yo sigo asiduamente este blog e intentando acceder hoy a él me ha encontrado con esto. Precisamente ese blog estaba pensado como COMPENDIO de distintos saberes encontrados en internet y por eso trataba de temas tan diversos (desde posts sobre historia, filosofía matemáticas, ciencia...) y era tan prolífico en entradas. En ningún momento su autor (a quien no tengo el gusto de conocer personalmente) quiso dar a entender que eran propiedad intelectual suya, sino una recopilación de distintos temas que yo personalmente encontraba muy interesantes. Cualquiera se da cuenta que no es posible acaparar tanto saber y que lo que pretendía era ser un blog ameno e instructivo. Incluso ES ALGO QUE EL AUTOR DEJABA CLARO EN LOS PRIMEROS POSTS DEL BLOG. Viendo los comentarios que destiláis por aquí no me extraña que lo haya cerrado, pero os aseguro que no era en absoluto la intención del blog.

Esa entrevista creo recordar que era completamente irónica, además que les dije que dejaba claro en los primeros posts que se trataba de recopilaciones de internet, el mismo título del blog lo daba a entender, era algo asi como "armario -por el sufijo "teca"- de sabiduría nuestra". Casi todo lo que yo he leído en ese blog eran temas de historia o de ciencia o de filosofía, y jamás vi comentarios a los posts, ni en un sentido ni en otro, alguno en su inicio y en un lateral, y probablemente de conocidos suyos.

OCURRIÓ EN INVIERNO, EL SIGLO PASADO...

Huelva es una de las ciudades más contaminadas de España, junto con Tarragona y Avilés. A cambio de los puestos de trabajo, los onubenses tienen las industrias tóxicas que ningún país europeo ha querido en su territorio.

A unos cuatro kilómetros del centro, en la carretera de Sevilla, se encuentra el Hospital Psiquiátrico Provincial. Cuatro veces al día llegan y se van los autobuses de línea que comunican con la gente normal, que respira con toda normalidad los gases de las fábricas de titanio, cloro, celulosa, ácido clorhídrico, fertilizantes...

En "El País" del domingo, 28 de noviembre de 1982, en la sección Cartas al Director, Alicia de las H. J. denuncia estar internada contra, su voluntad y a petición de su padre, en este hospital, "donde me encuentro y me considero secuestrada".

Quizás haya sido ese oscuro temor ancestral, que todos tenemos a los todopoderosos psiquiatras, capaces de leer en el fondo de nosotros la anomalía, o la película del sábado en la televisión, con escenas de manicomio dignas de Dickens; el caso es que he llegado al Hospital Psiquiátrico echando de menos aquel cursillo de autodefensa y supervivencia, y todo porque me gustaría tener en mi haber el rescate y salvamento de una dama.

En el viaje he imaginado los muros grises, erizados de alambre de espinos y vidrios rotos, los psiquiatras hoscos de penetrante mirada y traje oscuro, casi talar, rodeados de cuidadores, antiguos pesos pesados, y algunas enfermeras de gesto enigmático. Al llegar creo haberme equivocado de establecimiento: el camino que conduce al Psiquiátrico está bordeado de árboles y paseantes; en el vestíbulo los pacientes conversan, entran y salen sin que nadie intente impedírselo. Fingiendo un desparpajo que no siente ningún visitante, me adentro en un dédalo de pasillos hasta un patio interior, con ventanas de visillos naranjas, en busca de Don Antonio R, el director, que parece un bebé de anuncio con cuarenta años más, y del psiquiatra que lleva el caso de nuestra victima, Don Antonio P, un hombre joven, prematuramente serio, que quizás se muerda las uñas en secreto.

Buscamos un sitio para hablar, pero del primero nos despacha otro psiquiatra porque hay consulta externa de psicoanálisis y solo allí existen las condiciones idóneas, me explican. Así me entero de que el Hospital ofrece un servicio de consultas que en el año anterior superaron las seis mil sesiones.

Me hablan de psiquiatría preventiva, de la necesidad de sanear el medio ambiente familiar y social del enfermo, de su inserción en la sociedad, previamente concienciada para que desarrolle una comprensión y aceptación que hoy no tiene.

En mi pueblo siempre se ha protegido mucho a los tontos y los locos, pero en una sociedad masificada me parece mucho más difícil conseguir sus propósitos. Sin embargo no se lo digo, me parece un crimen quitarles las ilusiones a estos especialistas de la psique y ofrecerles, mondo y lirondo, el principio de realidad con la consiguiente lucidez amarga y desencantada, que los psiquiatras se empeñan en hacer coincidir con la salud mental; prefiero dejarles que arreglen el mundo con sus presupuestos antipsiquiátricos, con tal de que conserven ese esperanzado entusiasmo.

Pero cuando, al fin, encontramos un despacho libre y planteo el tema de Alicia, que acusa al Hospital Psiquiátrico de "secuestro", misteriosamente desaparecen los ingenuos reformadores y surgen los "psiquiatras institucionales" a la defensiva.

-Primero: El País no debería haber publicado la carta de una enferma mental, porque si se generaliza la práctica, se desprestigia, la institución médica y su especialidad.

Sonríe Antonio P irónicamente, y pregunta si es costumbre publicar todas las cartas de los locos contando delirios de persecución.

-Segundo: Deberían de haber consultado con el Director del Hospital Psiquiátrico de Huelva. No es tan fácil ingresar y retener a alguien contra su voluntad, sin una patología, clara, eso deberíamos saberlo. Es necesario que un médico ajeno al establecimiento recomiende el ingreso, que un psiquiatra del centro lo admita, y el director confirme el diagnóstico. No es tan fácil.

Habla el director, que me ha dejado sentada en una esquina del despacho, en un sofá bajito, y se ha instalado en un sillón giratorio a tres metros de distancia, con las piernas cruzadas, agarrado al historial de Alicia de las H, -una demente que ya ha sido ingresada en dos ocasiones, en Murcia y Tenerife, que ha recibido tratamiento psiquiátrico con anterioridad- remacha triunfalmente ante mi desconcierto.

Y esto no es América, donde la gente va al dentista un par de veces al año y al psiquiatra todas las semanas –pienso-, aquí se va al dentista para que nos ponga la dentadura postiza y al psiquiatra no vamos, van los locos, o mejor dicho, los llevan. Haber recibido tratamiento psiquiátrico es simple y llanamente infamante. A esa gente no se le publican cartas en los periódicos, ni se les hace caso si protestan.

-Y parece mentira, que pierda el tiempo pretendiendo investigar un asunto así, si quiere llegar a hacer algo en periodismo (sic).

Lo que sí sería interesante -prosiguen- es escribir sobre la labor que hace un hospital abierto, sin muros exteriores, con una Psiquiatría de talante liberal, no manicomial, eso sí es serio. Y hablar de lo que piensan, quieren y opinan los psiquiatras, que se encuentran sin eco en la prensa y muchas veces enfrentados a los poderes públicos que quieren que el Hospital sea el almacén de detritus cerrado a cal y canto que no deje filtrar la anomalía.

A modo de terapia de relajamiento muestro un desmesurado interés por su peripecia, confesando, entre grandes exclamaciones, hasta qué punto ignoraba que un tema de esa magnitud periodística estuviera oculto tras su callada labor.

A los diez minutos somos cuatro compinches que comentan desde la misma perspectiva los errores de la psiquiatría clásica: Antonio P, médico encargado del caso de Alicia H, Antonio R, director del Hospital Psiquiátrico de Huelva, responsable en última instancia de su internamiento, Ladislao L, psiquiatra recomendado como interlocutor por la izquierda onubense y apasionado investigador de la ecología de la provincia, y yo, profana que accedió a su mundo trabajando una temporada como auxiliar en un manicomio de Barcelona, donde se desbravaban los psiquiatras que salían de la Universidad con ideas raras, sacadas de Cooper, Laing y Bassaglia, para pasar tres años como residentes, y mientras se reafirmaban en sus teorías -las lobotomías y el electoshock a troche y moche de López Ibor y los psiquiatras del sistema no les parecían progresistas-, en la práctica, comprendían que el arsenal de tranquilizantes, hipnóticos, antidepresivos y ansiolíticos es lo más idóneo para crear un clima de tranquilidad edénica en las salas de confinamiento.

Los pacientes llegaban gritando, protestando, con veleidades individualistas, y al mes eran adorables vegetales que engordaban y esperaban con parsimonia las horas de las comidas, la televisión y la laborterapia —barrer y fregar para las mujeres, y montar en cartoncitos cierres automáticos y botones si son hombres.

Y las raras visitas eran de gente apresurada, que se mantiene ojo avizor, por si acaso, que desmenuzará ante el medico cualquier manifestación del enfermo, hablando de sus "manías" y "rarezas" como única aportación a la terapia… Porque tenerlo en casa es un incordio, ya se sabe; cuando esté bien adocenado se podría intentar que salga, pero esos son los menos: normalmente llegan a ser veteranos en la sección de crónicos, y saben más de los entresijos y secretos del centro que el director o el administrador de turno, gente de paso, al fin y al cabo.

Esos, los veteranos, ya no se tragan las pastillas, y cuando han acumulado una buena cantidad, las venden a cambio de los enseres del que quiera suicidarse. Se puede prever quien ha comprado una vida mejor por el discreto trasiego de pertenencias que hay de una mesilla a otra. Se puede saber quien es el proveedor habitual de la dulce y definitiva solución por los signos exteriores de riqueza, y por el respeto que despierta ese curtido enfermo crónico que ya forma parte de la institución.

Un manicomio es lo más parecido a la vida real, allí como afuera el saber da poder: el poder que otorgamos al abogado, al médico, al confesor, que pueden salvarnos y condenarnos según sea su sabiduría y nuestro pecunio para alquilársela.

Pero para estos psiquiatras yo soy una periodista despistada a la que informar, y mis afables interlocutores me explican el a, b, c, de su credo:

- "Hablar de los fallos de la psiquiatría tradicional ya resulta hasta burdo. Se hizo un experimento en América, enviando una circular a los hospitales psiquiátricos, en la que se avisaba que se incluiría para ingreso a un porcentaje de sanos entre los pacientes realmente enfermos, para detectar la fiabilidad de diagnóstico en cada centro. De cada cien casos los psiquiatras detectaron casi setenta "falsos enfermos". Y estalla en sonoras carcajadas Antonio R, el director, mientras lo cuenta: -"Todos los casos eran pacientes con un historial clínico de al menos diez años de trastornos graves."

Y continúa Ladislao L: -"La locura es una apreciación, subjetiva del psiquiatra, en gran parte. Llamamos discurso ilógico o delirio a todo mensaje que escapa a nuestras coordenadas de referencia habituales, pero con nuestra especialización creciente, estamos abocados a comprender cada vez menos al otro, que tiene su propio argot especializado y su propio mundo referencial"

-"Un diagnóstico previo condiciona inconscientemente a quien observa hasta hacerle descartar cualquier dato que no sea pertinente con el "caso" que tiene que describir, y eso lo olvidan los psiquiatras tradicionales; amén de que la institución manicomial genera psicopatías características, miméticas de la enfermedad que se le atribuye a los que permanecen internados, muchas veces más graves que los desarreglos que los llevaron allí" - comenta contento de su perspicacia Antonio P.

No son psiquiatras papanatas que, carentes de espíritu crítico colaboren con el desaguisado manicomial, es obvio.

Y llegados a este punto, como recordarles sus anteriores afirmaciones diciendo que Alicia se ha quejado, como todos los locos, que no es serio poner en duda la infalibilidad de un examen de casi veinte minutos, realizado por un psiquiatra de guardia, refrendado por el director, que ha confesado que no conoce a esta paciente personalmente, y que muchas veces, ahogado por la burocracia, no compulsará los datos, sino que confiará en el médico, al que, por otra parte, no puede poner en causa porque así empiezan las fricciones.

Y cómo les recuerdo lo de la campaña a desarrollar para la comprensión del enfermo mental en el medio social y el discurso lógico o delirante. Se me olvidará también preguntar si es una práctica terapéutica negarle al loco la posibilidad, de expresarse y defenderse, porque quizás nunca llegaré a ser una periodista incisiva, pero sobre todo, porque no pretendo tener un historial abierto en el Psiquiátrico de Huelva, y realmente temo al poder de los psiquiatras para decretar sobre mi normalidad y mi locura desde aquella vez en que el Director del Psiquiátrico, donde yo trabajaba en Barcelona, perteneciente al grupo de los "Setze jutges" en sus ratos libres, me comunicó, al margen de los cauces reglamentarios, que mis desafectos y reivindicaciones laborales, podían terminar el día que él decidiera rellenar una orden de ingreso bajo su responsabilidad: -"que, deontológicamente, ni siquiera tus amigos los antipsiquíatras podrían rebatir".

Callaré todo esto y nos despediremos como si estuviéramos de acuerdo en todo, pero me da pena, porque una vez más he descartado a alguien como interlocutor válido, y decía Marco Penella que el fascismo empezó el día que alguien, por comodidad o por cansancio, no dijo que no estaba de acuerdo y calló. Y es especialmente triste porque, humanamente, estos psiquiatras me han parecido, como tantas buenas personas, unos pobres mestizos de imbécil y canalla.

Así es que decidí buscar a Alicia, que había salido una semana antes del Psiquiátrico.

Me ronda en la cabeza una frase de su psiquiatra, Antonio P: "Es una mujer muy atractiva, joven, que alteraba gravemente a los enfermos varones y hubo que recluirla en la sección de mujeres para impedir incidentes"; y esta otra: "Su familia está muy afectada, porque hay gente que ha creído en los malos tratos, cosa absolutamente falsa", que se contradice con la del director en la cháchara cómplice final: "Alicia no se opuso a ser ingresada cuando Onésimo G -el médico de guardia- viendo el estado de agitación y violencia del padre y las marcas de los golpes que tenía la paciente, creyó oportuno dejarla en el Psiquiátrico, sobre todo, para protegerla."

A mí siempre me habría gustado creer en el periodismo objetivo e imparcial, pero cada vez que he admirado a un entrevistador, a un reportero, he tenido que admitir que mis ídolos eran un dechado de arbitrariedad, y lo peor es que no me molesta que así sea. Como, además, yo no soy periodista, y sólo mi afán cotilla me ha metido en este caso, tengo que advertir que mi parcialidad tiene coordenadas bien precisas: como feminista, creo que las mujeres suelen tiener razón, aunque haya mujeres que he de escamotear para creérmelo, y como antifascista doy por hecho que lo mío es la tolerancia y la ponderación, aunque siempre esté de bronca.

He seguido los pasos de Alicia a través de Huelva, Cádiz y Sevilla; he ido al pub donde pasa sus veladas en Cádiz, he estado en el Hotel dónde se hospedaba, he jugado a los encuentros casuales con sus familiares durante cinco días, sin apenas dinero, comiendo bocadillos, sentándome a descansar en los bancos públicos, durmiendo una noche sí y otra no a cubierto, en pensiones dignas de la Corte de los Milagros. Mis pies están llagados, en carne viva, pero lo que me sostiene es la convicción de que el retrato que me hacen de ella no puede ser cierto: esa mezcla de superficialidad, egocentrismo, inutilidad, vulgaridad y utilitarismo no puede ser veraz: es una mujer maltratada por su marido, por su padre y por la institución psiquiátrica, es una victima.

Y en Sevilla, después de una noche en vela, tras un viaje de ida y vuelta a Cádiz, infructuoso, al fin marco el número de teléfono en el que me contesta Alicia. Quedo citada con ella en casa de sus tíos a las nueve de la mañana.

Sale a mi encuentro en la calle, me abraza como si nos conociéramos de toda la vida. Lleva un abrigo, imitación de visón, una de esas maravillas de los derivados del petróleo, un vestido drapeado con una abertura lateral, que deja al descubierto un muslo a cada paso, y como las medias se le bajan, cada tres minutos se las sube dejando ver generosamente las bragas. Los zapatos la alzan diez centímetros y ponen su equilibrio en un aprieto. Su rostro se halla semioculto tras el maquillaje, el rimel, y un azul eléctrico que centellea en sus párpados, pero eso apenas se nota porque la boca, delineada con un grueso trazo marrón, pintada de fucsia, atrae poderosamente la atención.

Me invita a entrar a casa de sus tíos, donde pernocta, y sale a mi encuentro un hombre de unos sesenta años con un capote de guardia civil sobre el pijama; es el hermano de su madre, treinta y un años en la Benemérita, habló personalmente con Franco en una cacería, casi cinco minutos estuvo el Generalísimo a su lado, que han sido los cinco minutos, más importantes de su vida, y me lo dice así, de entrada. Ya sentados, añade que yo, como periodista sé de qué va la cosa, tanto como él, y debo aconsejar a su sobrina que retire la denuncia por secuestro:

-Cuando alguien iba protestando porque le habíamos pegado en el Cuartel, poníamos en las diligencias que se resistió y agredió a los números que llevaron a cabo su detención, de palabra y obra, profiriendo asimismo insultos. Y si seguían pasándose de listos, otra paliza y otra detención por agredir a un número y blasfemias. ¡Y no nos han pillado nunca, nunca nos ha pasado nada!- cuenta con ese aire pícaro y de superioridad de quien está en el secreto de los dioses y ha sido su correveidile.

La esposa del ex guardia civil nos sirve un café con leche, recalentado y tibio, y sujeta un bote de cocina dónde está escrito en gruesas letras “SALERO”, para que me sirva a mi gusto. Pruebo una pizca y la miro sorprendida; tiene ese aire arrebolado de las mujeres que los poetas llaman sencillas y en mi pueblo calificamos de tontas. -"Es sal"- le digo. Contesta que sí, sin expresión, que no hay azúcar, y no han abierto aún la, tienda, y sigue tendiéndome el salero: -Échale un poco, que, si no, está soso-, mientras su marido me cuenta con aire triunfal que le tiene tanto cariño a la Guardia. Civil, que siempre lleva el capote en casa, desde que se levanta hasta que se acuesta.

Me trago el café con leche sin azúcar al tiempo que Alicia me va tendiendo folios y folios, escritos con una caligrafía irregular y selvática, con "poemas" -llamados así los escritos de cualquiera que no aproveche todo el renglón- y prosas con un sinfín de sucesos escatológicos, golpes, palizas y hematomas, y mucho "semen", "follar", "mamada" y el verbo "enamorar" declinado en todos los tiempos, números y personas.

Por instinto de conservación salgo de la casa, llevándome a Alicia, que en cuestión de un cuarto de hora había llegado a la conclusión de que se viene a vivir conmigo: quiere recoger cinco maletas grandes, dos bolsos de viaje, tres muñecas y un cuadro al óleo con su retrato de ochenta por ochenta, para venirse a Madrid conmigo. No sé todavía cómo consigo que salga de la casa sin equipaje y me la llevo a una cafetería. Le explico pacientemente que sólo quiero hacerle una entrevista, que me cuente lo que ocurrió en el Hospital Psiquiátrico, con una grabadora que dé testimonio de nuestra conversación, que no soy rica ni famosa, que cuando vuelva a Madrid me alojaré en casa de una amiga porque he dejado mi trabajo, sin avisarle a mi patrón, para ir a buscarla, que no tengo sitio para que viva en Madrid conmigo.

Alicia asiente a todo lo que le digo, concentrada en lanzar sonrisas y miradas incendiarias a los parroquianos. Cuando termino, después de darme la razón continúa ella:

-Como estoy escribiendo un libro, que voy a presentar al Premio Café Gijón, me voy contigo, trabajaré contigo, firmamos las cosas a medias y luego, ya empezaré a trabajar en "Interviú" o en ''El País'', porque como le dije en una carta al Director de "Interviú", lo que hace falta son periodistas jóvenes, savia nueva. -Y me vuelve a enseñar los quince folios que ella llama modestamente "mi libro", y me pregunta que cuanto podría pedir por él.

Yo insisto que no lo sé, que no soy periodista, que ha sido curiosidad, que me he venido y me iré en auto-stop, que no tengo medios para sufragar su viaje ni su estancia en Madrid, que en cuanto llegue tengo que buscar trabajo. A Alicia no le importa, me repite que vivirá en Madrid conmigo, en mi casa, trabajará conmigo y yo sólo he de pagarle la mitad de lo que cobre por su entrevista en "El País", no hay problema.

A la hora de este diálogo de sordos, Alicia logra extraer de mí mi peor yo. Solicita con la misma naturalidad que respira y coquetea que resuelva por ella, porque por haber llegado la última ha decidido que sus proyectos están íntimamente unidos a mí, que he de resolver sus problemas de supervivencia.

Si es verdad que está loca, su locura consiste en llevar hasta las últimas consecuencias las características que hacen que una niña se convierta en una anciana, pasando por la madurez, sin perder jamás su inanidad esencial, llenando siempre su vacío por persona interpuesta, ya sean los padres, el marido, los hermanos , los hijos o las personas que accidentalmente se crucen en su camino, en las que delega su responsabilidad y se delega; es decir, ese tipo de mujer, soñada por el varón, que paradójicamente despierta su misoginia cuando comprende el alcance del desaguisado humano.

El padre pretende que su hija no crezca para jugar eternamente su papel de semidiós, pero de su proyecto emerge una mujer que necesita el juicio aprobatorio de los otros para seguir existiendo, y utiliza sus dotes de seducción indiferenciadamente, incapaz de aguantar el rechazo de alguien con pantalones. Suele casarse embarazada del último varón ante el que desplegó su dulzura, su debilidad, su incapacidad para sobrevivir y su absoluta disponibilidad, apelando a la firmeza, la fuerza, la territorialidad, la autosuficiencia y la autoridad del hombre que se la lleva. Pero en esta caricatura de mujer, el hombre encuentra también su propia caricatura: dureza, violencia, sadismo, intolerancia y tiranía, al sentirse acorralado en una interpelación que le obliga a tomar las riendas de si mismo y de esa amorfidad que espera todo de él y llora casi por todo, haciendo de la queja su característica por antonomasia.

Tengo que admitirlo: seré muy feminista, seré muy antifascista, pero me identifico plenamente con el pobre marido. Estas mujeres extraen al homicida que yace en el hombre pacífico, y una, que no es un dechado de perfecciones, siente que ese yo oculto que participa, del fascismo y de la misoginia a partes iguales, surge incontenible.

Días después Alicia mostrará otra cara conmigo. Ha venido a Madrid sola, y se presenta sin avisar:

-Me he tenido que echar nueve polvos –me dice rencorosa- para que me traigan en auto-stop…

-Pues yo he venido en auto-stop y no me he tenido que echar ningún polvo -le contesto.

-Con esas pintas que llevas, no me extraña... -deja caer con retintín.

Y con toda naturalidad pretendía quedarse en casa de mi amiga o le diera dinero para el taxi y un hotel.

-Ya te expliqué que no te podías venir a vivir conmigo, que no tengo ni dinero para mí y estoy sin trabajo ahora.- le repito una vez más.

-Podemos ir a medias: tú escribes mi historia en "El País", y yo presento mi libro al premio Café Gijón ...

Despiadadamente la he dejado en la calle sin un céntimo, sin conocer a nadie en Madrid.

Vuelve a verme al día siguiente. Ya no finge ignorar que soy pobre como una rata, desconocida como un recién nacido, sin ninguna influencia y que no arrebato a los hombres, ni puedo aplastar con mi presencia y mi guardarropa a las mujeres, y me dirigirá sus carcajadas y su desprecio sin disimulos:

-Tú, hija mía, eres tonta perdida. Si le dices a los hombres que no has comido, que tu marido te pegaba, que era alcohólico, que tu padre también te pega y cuando intentaste suicidarte porque no aguantabas más, te metieron en el manicomio... te invitan a champagne, pagan el hotel y después de echar un polvo te dan dinero; a los hombres hay que irles así...

-Sí, como me fuiste a mí, porque me has contado lo mismo y querías sacarme dinero, pero, encima, sin tener que echar un polvo.

-Hija, es que tú vas de prima por la vida... Mira lo que he sacado hoy...

Y me enseña orgullosa el dinero recaudado en sus encuentros -la mitad de lo que yo gano en un mes por sesenta horas de trabajo a la semana, y sin reglamentación laboral- y me muestra las botas de ante nuevas, y el cheque para pagar una semana de hotel con baño y teléfono en la habitación, que le había dado uno de sus protectores.

Luego el talón resultó sin fondos, pero qué más da. Otro aluvión de hombres se expondrá a un encuentro casual con Alicia en el metro, en la calle o en un paso de peatones del extrarradio, y tendrán la inefable sensación de ser providenciales salvadores de una dama.

Un mes después volvió Alicia para que le diese dinero para ir a un médico particular, porque no quiere volver a una consulta pública. Dice que es humillante. Tiene sífilis.

E imaginando las caras de sus conquistadores cuando se den cuenta, me dio un ataque de risa.

No le di dinero, claro. Yo no soy uno de sus hombres, y no necesito blindarme el ego subvencionando tontiastutas.

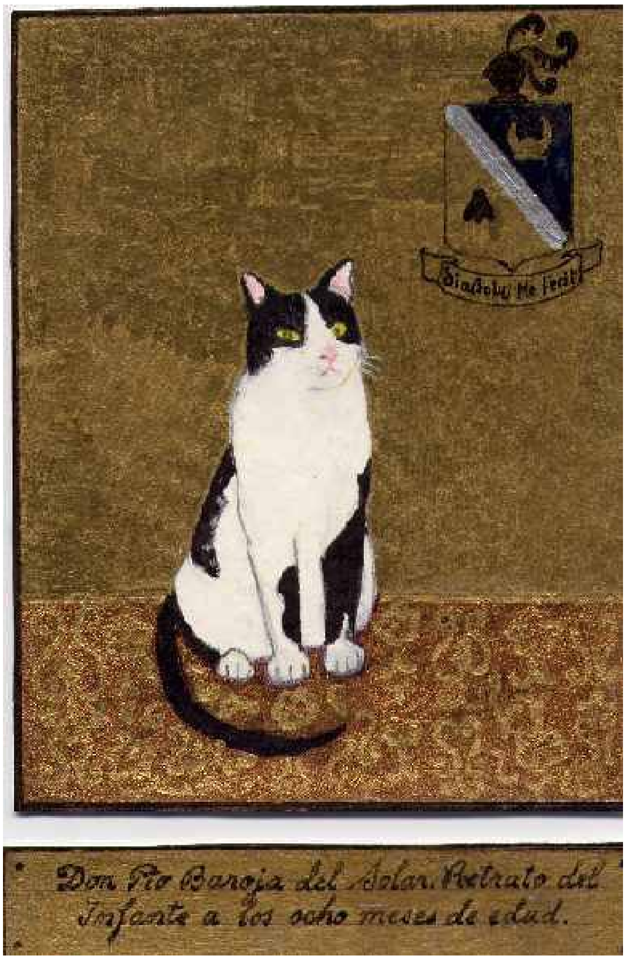
MI GATO



Mi gato
comparte con los reyes destronados el orgullo de no ser conocido por gente que desprecia,
y cierta propensión a la molicie que le hace jugar a ser su estatua.
Mi gato es intransigente,
mide sus halagos
y toma los que acepta como ofrenda, que obliga a quien la entrega y lo enaltece, pero no modifica su conducta ni su audaz insolencia
y sólo obedece a sus orígenes, a su remota estirpe perseguida,
bello como el pecado,
altivo como un dios de suave pelambrera.

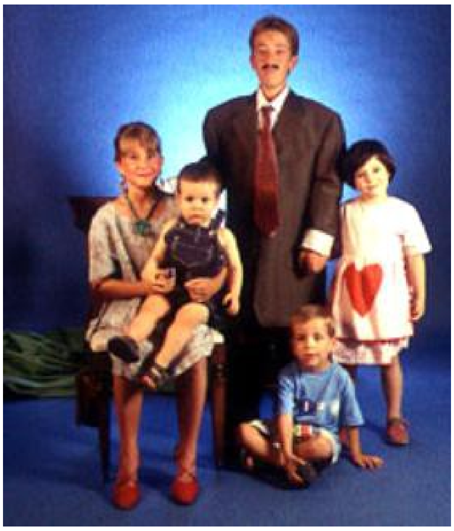
SUBLIME SECRETO



Ramona sabía cómo ocurría, porque lo había visto en el cine, lo había leído en las novelas de Corín Tellado, se lo había contado su madre, sus tías, sus amigas. Y cuando Julián se puso de rodillas y la miró con el rostro transfigurado, su mente estaba preparada para la pregunta ritual: "¿Te quieres casar conmigo?". Y sin embargo fue infinitamente más profundo, más hermoso, y más sublime de lo que hubiera podido soñar:

— ¿Quieres ser la madre de mis hijos?

Le vino a la cabeza aquellas frases de Ruth a Noemí, que había leído tantas veces, hasta quedar en el subsuelo de su alma como las de la suprema entrega: "...adondequiera que tú fueres, iré yo, y dondequiera que vivieres, viviré. Tu pueblo será mi pueblo, y tu Dios mi Dios. Donde tú murieres, moriré yo, y allí seré sepultada." Y rompió a llorar ahogada por la emoción.

Los padres jugaron a ser sus hadas madrinas, y los preparativos de la boda, la compra del piso, cada mueble y cada adorno de la casa, el ajuar, el seguro a todo riesgo del hogar, el viaje de luna de miel, el banquete de bodas, el traje de novia y el de las damas de honor los tuvo como cómplices entusiastas de quien ellos llamaban dulcemente "nuestros hijos", excluyendo las palabras teñidas de lejanía de nuera y yerno.

En el viaje de novios Julián preveía sus deseos, se adelantaba a sus cansancios para ofrecerle reposo, adivinaba un capricho para ofrecérselo, y cifraron en frases inaccesibles para el resto los momentos más tiernos, como aquel "Osita" que él le dijo al verla somnolienta y acurrucada en la guarida del edredón o aquel "Malo" que ella gimió extasiada... y que sepultaron sus nombres del Registro Civil, impuestos por sus padres.

Los primeros tiempos crearon ritos y costumbres que por ser nuevos les dieron la sensación de ser únicos: como ella iba a trabajar como profesora de inglés una hora antes, preparaba el desayuno en una bandeja y se lo llevaba a la cama con un beso aromatizado de dentífrico; el fin de semana ella remoloneaba en la cama hasta que él aparecía con una taza de café instantáneo y le susurraba: "Osita, tendrás que cambiar de marido si quieres un desayuno como Dios manda." Y le hacía reír, porque Malo era un desastre para las cosas más sencillas de la casa y, a pesar de ser ingeniero industrial, no comprendía el diagrama que indicaba qué fuego correspondía encender y era incapaz de llegar más allá de calentar el agua del café instantáneo en el microondas. Lograba inspirarle mayor ternura esa carencia que toda su destreza para arreglar el coche y cualquier electrodoméstico o el circuito informático que instaló para la calefacción y las luces de la casa.

El sábado solían comer en la casa de los padres de Malo, y "Mamá", como le había exigido que la llamara, porque no había tenido hijas y consideraba que Osita lo era, contaba con ella como ayudante de cocina y le explicaba el secreto del relleno o de las especias que había que usar, y cómo adobar la carne o aderezar la ensalada, mientras Malo y papá miraban la televisión, con un aperitivo para matar la impaciencia. El domingo comían con los padres de ella, pero "madre", como había pedido a Malo que la llamara, no soportaba a nadie en la cocina y allí no se estilaba el aperitivo porque estaba instituido no tomar nada entre horas, y Malo aceptaba la norma con buen humor porque les esperaba una comida con entrantes de mariscos y embutidos, entremeses, primer plato, segundo, ensalada y postre casero. "Padre" escogía el vino para cada plato y detallaba sus características, y su bouquet era objeto de análisis y de controversias.

Al cabo de dos meses, "mamá" le pidió que se sentara mientras ella hacía la mahonesa:

— Estando con la regla se cortaría si la hicieras tú, Osita– le dijo.

—¿Pero cómo puedes saberlo? — y se miró por si llevara manchado su pantalón.

— Malo siempre me avisa para que no nos hagamos ilusiones.

Y Osita sintió cuánto amor le esperaba a sus hijos cuando nacieran. Querían tener por lo menos cuatro, porque los dos eran hijos únicos.

El domingo, cuando preparaba la bandeja con las tazas para el café en la cocina, le comentó halagada a su madre que Malo avisaba a sus padres cuando le bajaba la regla. Madre la dejó de una pieza:

— Claro, es normal, a nosotros también nos lo dice. Como eres tan reservada... pero deberías ser tú quien nos lo dijera.

Y al cabo de los meses, Osita empezó a temer como un fracaso la aparición de aquella sangre. Era como si su naturaleza se empeñara en defraudar las esperanzas de continuidad de sus padres, de sus suegros, de Malo y, a escondidas, buscó explicaciones sobre los problemas de fertilidad. Ingenuamente había creído que hacer el amor era la única condición para tener hijos, y empezó a caer en la cuenta de la cantidad de matrimonios que no podían tenerlos, los problemas ginecológicos, anatómicos que podían amenazar la fertilidad. No podía comentarlo con Malo, y se creó la primera zona minada en la comunicación entre los dos.

Al cabo de siete meses, dormitaban después de cenar sentados en el sofá cuando de golpe y porrazo, en la televisión anunciaron "Yerma" y a los diez minutos de empezar, sin poderlo evitar, se rompió el dique y el llanto surgió como un ronco alarido interminable.

Malo apagó la televisión y la abrazó como si quisiera fundirla con él, que tampoco pudo evitar las lágrimas. Y hablaron entre sollozos de ese drama que habían soterrado como un fango que todo lo impregnaba. Supo que él se había hecho análisis de semen y que el problema era de ella con toda seguridad, y se aterrorizó ante la perspectiva de que un estudio médico diera el finiquito a sus ilusiones, pero pensó que era su deber saber qué le impedía ser madre.

Y durante dos meses cumplió todos los protocolos que impuso su ginecólogo: se tomó la temperatura cada día mañana y noche y la apuntó en una gráfica, se sometió a ecografías, a resonancia magnética, a exploraciones. Y aquel jueves, a las seis, con un nudo en el estómago, llegó con él para recoger los resultados del estudio, porque se sentía incapaz de asumir sola el diagnóstico.

El médico estudió en silencio cada informe y cada análisis con el ceño fruncido. Tras un tiempo que se les hizo angustioso, al fin dijo:

— No hay ningún problema para que no tengáis una docena de hijos, salvo la ansiedad por tenerlos. Relájate, y deja que la naturaleza siga su curso, que es muy sabia y bastante previsible.

Fueron paseando hasta casa, entrelazados con el brazo por la cintura como cuando eran novios, exhaustos por los presagios que les habían atenazado, notaron que respiraban hondo sin sentir ese ahogo, ese peso como una pelota de angustia. Y se durmieron abrazados como dos criaturas felices que no tuvieran pasado.

Dos meses después, no se atrevió a pensar que estaba embarazada y creyó que sería un retraso. Esperó diez días para hacer en secreto el test que compró en la farmacia. Cuando vio que el resultado era positivo, siguió dudando. Esperó diez días más y volvió a hacerlo, pero entre tanto notó que sus pezones tenían una sensibilidad nueva, entre picor y escozor, su paladar y su olfato detectaban olores y sabores que le repugnaban, y tenía una somnolencia que dejaba el exterior en una especie de nube. Y cuando volvió a ver el resultado positivo salió corriendo del baño donde se había encerrado para no dejar que Malo sufriera la decepción con ella y se lanzó a sus brazos sin poder articular una palabra.

— ¿Qué pasa, Osita?

Y ella lo llevó de la mano hasta el milagroso resultado y le dio el prospecto con las instrucciones para que lo comprobara. Y Malo se quedó ahí parado, estupefacto, pálido, aterrado por el misterio cósmico que representaba esa manchita de color en un recipiente. Le dio igual que estuviera en un baño diminuto de un piso de sesenta metros cuadrados: se arrodilló y dijo "¡Gracias, Dios mío!" con los ojos nublados por las lágrimas.

Invitaron a los padres de ella y de él para comunicarles la noticia a la vez, y mientras preparaba la cena, Malo se inquietaba por sus idas y venidas, y el tiempo que estaba de pie:

— ¿No sería mejor que descansaras, Osita?— le preguntó cien veces. Y ella lo tranquilizaba:

—No, Malo, nunca me he sentido mejor.

Nada más llegar los padres supieron que había gran noticia, pero fingieron sorpresa, dieron todos los alaridos de alegría que se esperaba y aconsejaron todas las precauciones que había que tomar para el embarazo. Y Osita se esponjó de dicha abrazada a sus "dos madres", formando parte de la universal conjura de las mujeres fértiles.

Cuando Ramona y Julián se fueron a la cocina para traer la cena, se perdieron la escena de las consuegras que reprimían las carcajadas y la expresión malévola:

— ¡Ahora se van a enterar estos de lo que es bueno y lo que dura el amor!¡Un niño!

— Pronto se les habrá acabado esa cursilería...¡Se van a enterar!

— ¡Ay, sí, no veo el momento... Ya me cuesta aguantar la dentera que da tanta miel!

Y sus maridos asentían hastiados ante esa necesidad de verbalizar lo obvio que aqueja a las mujeres.

ME CASÉ CON UN ENANO PA JARTARME DE REÍR

Me casé con un enano,
salerito, pa jartarme de reír,

Pa jartarme de reir,
me casé con un enano,
olé salerito y olé

me casé con un enano, salerito
pa jartarme de reír,
olé ahí, ese tío que va ahí.

Pa jartarme de reír,
le puse la cama en alto,
olé, salerito, y ole,

le puse la cama en alto, salerito,
y no se podia subir.
olé ahí ese tío que va ahí.

Y eso sí que fue de veras,
y eso sí que fue de veras ,
olé, salerito, y olé,
que al bajarse de la cama,salerito,
se cayó en la escupidera.

Pa jartarme de reir
Le puse la cama en alto
Olé, salerito, y ole
Le puse la cama en alto, salerito,
y no se podía subir

Y no se pudo subir
y eso sí que fue trabajo,
y eso sí que fue trabajo
Porque yo subí a la cama, salerito, pero el se quedó abajo.

Gatopardo,
gracias, por fin me he reído después de mucho tiempo sin hacerlo. Aunque la jartura de la Bruni debe de ser más bien de poder que de risa.
Muy interesantes también tus últimas reflexiones, aunque no dije nada en su momento porque ya sé que te gusta ser útil.
¿No has pensado en escribir un manual de lugares comunes literarios? Sería de gran ayuda para los estudiantes de periodismo. Una especie de "ContraLázaroCarreter", a ver si surtía más efecto. Aunque los manuales de estilo de algunos periódicos han desbrozado ya el terreno. La sufragista, los agujeros en las orejas, la puta y pillo,etc ¿qué decirte? Pues que, desde luego, don Alimaña no se ha herniado, no. Pero claro, mira dónde estaba el muy cuco (dialectalismo), tan calentito en la cama, y con una giganta, que tiene su aquel.

ALGUIEN QUE PRESTA ATENCIÓN AL MUNDO

"Un escritor es alguien que presta atención al mundo", dijo Susan Sontag.

Pero los humanos nos creemos tan especiales que nos interesamos exclusivamente por nuestra propia peripecia y nuestras deposiciones mentales, y no sólo nos citamos, glosamos y nos plagiamos a nosotros mismos, sino que el talento que derrochamos magnificando nuestras inanidades es más digno de estudio que nuestras conclusiones, que son el resultado del desprecio a la inteligencia, donde caben todo los lugares comunes. Y solemos confundir eso con tener ideas propias, porque no tenemos otras.

Un buen escritor se diferencia de un juntapalabras infatuado en que es capaz de recurrir a la riqueza atesorada en la Literatura universal, y no añade los calificativos desgastados por el uso y la falta de idoneidad que consagra la pereza mental: no describe como "inmensa" a la "mayoría", "ensordecedor" al ruido; ni jamás añade "inquebrantable" a "opinión", "de elefante" a "memoria", ni "a flor de piel" a "sensibilidad", y "enfebrecida" a "multitud", y no dice "espectacular" para describir lo indescriptible, ni confunde "patético" con "grotesco", ni espolvorea los atributos por triplicado, porque lo previsible y lo redundante es lo contrario de lo elocuente.

Un buen escritor no usa los modos y tiempos del verbo al buen tuntún, y, después de César, si usara el presente histórico tendría la decencia de cortarse las manos, como se cercenaría las orejas antes de usar palabras de oídas, cuyo significado desconozca.

Un buen escritor no se extasía con el ritmo de la frase hasta el punto de olvidar lo que ha de decir, ni altera el orden sintáctico, no recurre a los juegos de palabras puramente fonéticos, ni al glutamato intelectual y a la sacarina emocional, no se deja llevar por el afán esteticista y ético dejando de lado lo esencial, que es expresar y transmitir con claridad.

Y, por encima de todo, después de Proust, un buen escritor se limita a legarnos su obra, y no comete la descortesía de adobarla con su autorretrato y su autobiografía en punto repulgo, realce, filtiré, y petit point.

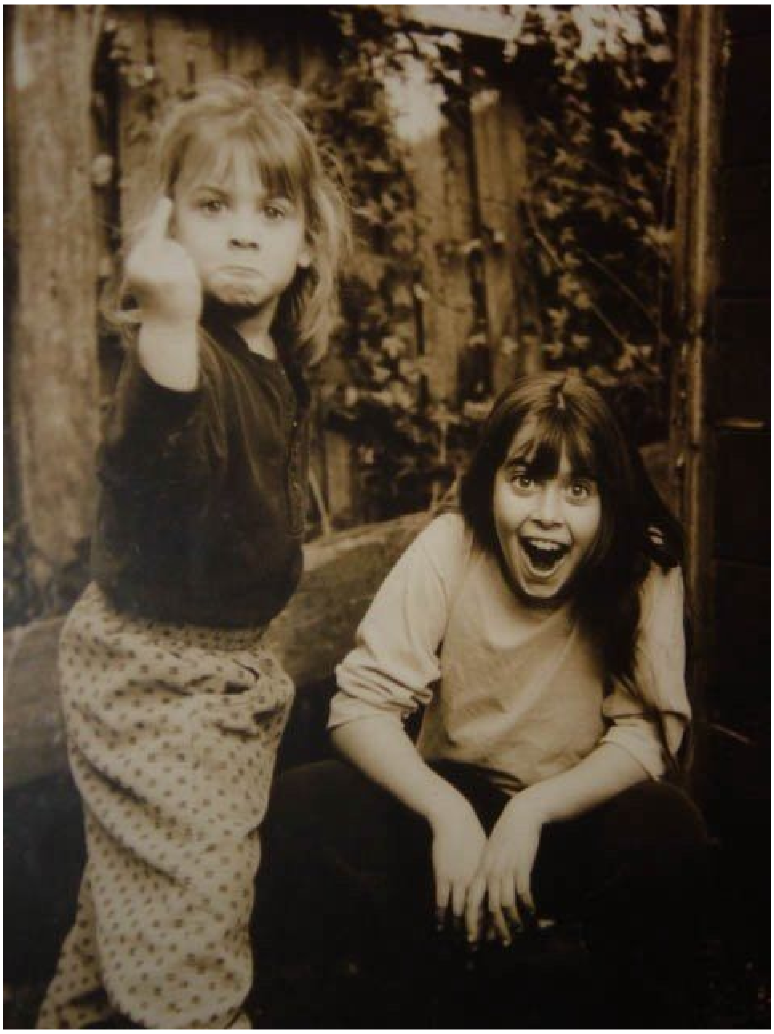
A UNA RECIÉN NACIDA A QUIEN LE HAN TALADRADO LAS OREJAS



Apenas tenías una horas de vida, y consideraron natural taladrarte las orejas, para poderte abrochar unos pendientes.

Todas las mujeres de tu familia lo encontraron normal. Y los hombres se encogieron de hombros, porque eso forma parte de las costumbres bárbaras para el gineceo.

Apúntalo en el haber de una vida planificada para convertirte en una mujer. Luego vendrá aprender a dar los pasos cortos, llevar zapatos de tacón, cinturón para afinarte la cintura, caminar como una muñeca rígida, no correr, no saltar, no agacharte con naturalidad, no hacer gestos amplios, libres, hasta perder toda la agilidad, abotagar tu cuerpo poco a poco, y llegar con los años a ser una anciana semiparalítica, con el trigémino anquilosado a fuerza de sonrisas ficticias.

La necesidad de aprobación es un móvil legítimo, que se desmesurará para ocupar el lugar de tu afirmación como individuo y tu desarrollo personal, hasta convertirse en un freno y una patología que te impide actuar por miedo al rechazo , un títere de las expectativas ajenas, una caricatura de mujer, una especie de zombi, con tal de no defraudar.

El cariño que te ofrecen los tuyos se convierte en una pesada cadena, que te recuerda que tienes que acoplarte a lo que esperan de ti. Y, aunque, en tu interior, sabes que son los culpables de tu falta de integridad, lo fácil es ceder y hacer todas las concesiones.

La alternativa es aprender a no gustar indiferenciadamente, y asumir el rechazo. Aprender a correr, a saltar, a pelear, cultivar la fuerza física y mental, hacerte resistente psicológicamente, no prepararte para ser una víctima.

No recibirás refuerzos positivos, ánimos, consuelos, caricias, ni has de echarlo en falta, porque las mujeres fuertes, íntegras, inteligentes no despiertan la ternura de los débiles, cómplices de los verdugos.

Aprende a prescindir del amor que no se base en tus merecimientos, sino en tus carencias.

Y sobre todo, aprende a cabrearte y a carcajearte cuando te ofendan. Y desconfía de las mujeres que te digan: "¡Más se gana lamiendo que mordiendo!", "¡Déjalo!, ¡No discutas!, ¡No vas a conseguir nada por las malas!", "¡Di que sí, y luego, sin que se enteren, haz lo que te parezca!".

Tratarán de convencerte esgrimiendo la autoridad moral que les da haber sufrido y aguantado mucho. No las compadezcas. Son esclavas asalariadas del miedo, y son sus capataces.

La alternativa que te tienen preparada, si sigues sus enseñanzas, es un cóctel de antidepresivos, ansiolíticos y tranquilizantes: la lobotomía, la camisa de fuerza que fabrica la industria farmacéutica para neutralizar el sufrimiento y la insatisfacción de las mujeres como Dios manda.

THIERRY MEYSSAN Y NICOLAS SARKOZY: DE PUTA A PILLO

Thierry Meyssan, en su investigación sobre la vida y obra de Nicolas Sarkozy ha descuidado los orígenes del presidente de Francia. Quizás es porque no le cuadra con sus explicaciones sobre la protección de los Rothschild a Sarkozy, pero lo que a Thierry Meyssan le pone nervioso es escudriñar en el pasado, sobre todo el suyo.

Nicolas Sarkozy siempre ha resumido su genealogía declarándose "Hijo de un inmigrante húngaro" y ahí ha dejado la cosa. "Sé lo que significa formar parte de una historia que no es la de los antepasados de uno... En el fondo, sé que Francia es un impulso del corazón". (Discurso patriótico ante los militantes de la UMP, en Nimes, 9 de mayo de 2006) Sarkozy ha tenido buen cuidado en no afirmar ni desmentir los orígenes que la prensa le atribuye , y cuya fuente principal, a lo largo de los años, ha sido su padre, Paul Sarkozy.

Según las fabulaciones de Paul Sarkozy, la familia, noble, poseía un castillo cerca de la villa de Alattyan y unos dominios de miles de hectáreas de gran riqueza agrícola e industrial. Todo este patrimonio sucumbe a la entrada de las tropas rusas en Hungría y Paul tiene que huir del stalinismo rampante: "J'étais un réfugié politique fuyant le stalinisme et la France m'a accueilli." (Le Monde, entrevista con R. Bacqué, 6 de octubre de 2002).

Veamos la historia real:

El castillo y los dominios de Alattyan nunca pertenecieron a los Sarkozy. Su dueño fue Lajos Tóth Maar, que los heredó, en el año 1933 de su padre adoptivo, Zoltán Maár, según constata el historiador Mosonyi Sandor. Es cierto que la familia Sarkozy estuvo de invitada en vacaciones, pero a eso se reducen los títulos de propiedad. No hay un solo documento en los que pueda basarse la leyenda del castillo.

Paul Sarkozy (nacido Pal Istvan Ernö Särközy Nagybocsa) y su familia están ligados a otra historia más sucia y más siniestra: la de Szolnok , ciudad que creó uno de los campos de exterminio que tuvo Hungría durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial, junto con los de Balf , Csepel, Hajduhadhaz, Koeszeg, Pestfuerdoe, Puspoek Ladany y Szentkirlyszabadja. Se sabe que el número de judíos hungaros exterminados fue de 360.000. Szolnok era un campo de concentración desde el que se enviaban prisioneros a Auschwitz y Mathausen. La lista de víctimas y carceleros aún está elaborándose, ya que estos archivos sólo fueron accesibles tras la caída de la Unión Soviética. Avram Hershko, premio Nobel de Química en 2004, estuvo con su familia en el campo de concentración de Szolnok.

El abuelo de Nicolás Sarkozy, György, oficial de notario, inicia su carrera política y la fortuna de la familia a fines de los años veinte, como dirigente del Levente de Szolnok. El Levente es la facción húngara de las Hitler Jugend o Juventudes Hitlerianas. Del Levente salieron las temibles milicias del Partido de la Cruz Flechada a las que Ferenc Szalasi ordenaría la caza y asesinato de judíos.
En 1938 György Sarkozy es un líder consolidado y es ya teniente de alcalde de Szolnok, pero estalla el escándalo Speyer, Hungría se declara incapaz de devolver los enormes préstamos que ha pedido para la modernización del país y que se han perdido en malversación y corrupción. György Sarkozy es arrestado, juzgado y declarado culpable de malversación de fondos públicos. Tiene que dimitir. Pero un año más tarde se le nombra gerente de una industria textil a las afueras de Budapest.

A partir de aquí hasta 1948, la familia Sarkozy es un auténtico misterio. Se sabe que los tíos del presidente francés, György hijo y Gedeon, lucharon con el III Reich, (Gedeón en el regimiento de húsares) desde el año 41, cuando Hitler inicia la Operación Barbarroja contra la Unión Soviética.

El 13 de febrero de 1945, el ejército soviético entra en Budapest. Miles de húngaros huyen ante el temor de ser investigados como colaboracionistas con el régimen nazi. Gyorgy Sarkozy huye a la casa de su amigo Lajos Tóth Maár, pero éste es acusado de ser miembro del Partido de la Cruz Flechada y sus tierras son confiscadas. Gyorgy vuelve a Szolnok, donde muere en 1948. Y es enterrado en el mausoleo familiar de Szolnok, no en Alattyan, supuesta cuna de la estirpe.

El siguiente documento fiable que tenemos de Paul Sarkozy es su inscripción en la Legión Extranjera francesa, compuesta en más de un cincuenta por ciento por oficiales de las Waffen SS, que eludían así prisión e incluso penas de muerte. El padre de Nicolas Sarkozy firma como Pal Sarkozy. Nº 58532 . En su ficha como legionario cuenta otra sarta de embustes: su quinta se había sorteado en mayo de 1944, pero se hace refugiado político y huye con sus padres a Saint Paul, Austria (en otros momentos dirá incluso que estuvo en un comvento-abadía de Saint Maurice, aunque los religiosos niegan categoricamente semejante cosa). Vuelve a Budapest en 1946 para proseguir sus estudios, pero le roba las joyas a su madre para huir de nuevo y, después de trabajar de mozo de granja en Klagenfurt, intenta prestar sus servicios en la Legión. Su padre ha muerto; su madre también ha huido, pero con pasaporte y , siempre según el futuro legionario, tiene un taller de modista. En el relato han desaparecido nobleza, castillos, cargos y hasta hermanos. Lo único verdadero son las anotaciones del oficial que lo entrevista :"Habla correctamente francés y alemán". Efectivamente, los Sarkozy nunca hablaron húngaro. Cuando Europa estaba bajo la bota nazi, Alemania tambien era un élan de coeur para esta familia.

No es extraño que, cuando Nicolás Sarkozy ha ido a Hungria, nunca haya visitado Alattyan ni Szolnok . En el primero porque no se deben de acordar de los nobles Sarkozy y el el segundo porque deben de acordarse demasiado.

Los archivos húngaros aún están por explorar. La documentación que confiscaron los soviéticos también, pero ya se está estudiando la documentación de Szolnok. Nicolás Sarkozy tiene que acordarse del Caso Kurt Waldheim. Y no creo que los Rothschild quieran comprar nada. En todo caso, cobrar.

Gran parte de los datos de este artículo, convenientemente contrastados, proceden de "Les Sarkozy, une famille française" de Pascal Nivelle y Elise Karlín. Thierry Meyssan los ignora. Meyssan, que ve judíos por todos lados, nunca se acuerda de que su benefactor, el rey de la prensa porno, cofundador de la Red Voltaire, Michel Sitbon es judío. Meyssan mete a Sarkozy en la transcontinental sionista y siempre se le olvida hablar del papel que tuvo su abuelo materno, el coronel Gaïsset, en la venta de armas de Francia a Israel, en 1956.

Y es que quien tiene parientes, más vale que hable de pollos y de gallinas.

NÚREMBERG: VENCEDORES ENAMORADOS DE VENCIDOS

Los documentos que van desclasificándose y no han sido sometidos a cirugía estética hacen tambalear la imagen del "Churchill justiciero". El gobierno británico puso toda clase de impedimentos a que los criminales nazis fueran castigados por cualquier clase de tribunal. En el memorandum de Anthony Eden (Foreign Secretary del gabinete), TREATMENT OF MAJOR ENEMY WAR CRIMINALS, (Top Secret) de fecha 16 junio de 1944,(cab/66/51/30, antiguo WP (44) 330, de los National Archives) se expone con claridad meridiana la postura del gobierno Churchill ante los posibles juicios a criminales de guerra La lista de criminales que Eden considera justiciables, incluyendo a los italianos, no llega al medio centenar. Respecto a ciertos estamentos dice:

"El único miembro de las fuerzas armadas incluido en la lista es el mariscal de campo Keitel. La cuestión de si debe incluirse a soldados profesionales entre los grandes criminales de guerra, siguiendo nuestro expreso deseo de erradicar el militarismo prusiano, es una cuestión difícil. Sin embargo, en su conjunto, recomiendo que la lista no incluya otros nombres, ni siquiera los del general Jodl, el almirante Donitz o el general Milch ,cuya asociación con el régimen nazi y su política ha sido manifiestamente estrecha. La situación del mariscal de campo Keitel es especial y debe asumir su parte de responsabilidad del régimen nazi, ya que fue nombrado Ministro de Defensa del Gobierno Alemán en 1938. Pero, si ampliamos la lista más allá de él, es prácticamente imposible diferenciar entre responsabilidad general política y la responsabilidad de profesionales que simplemente estaban cumpliendo órdenes del régimen.

Tras considerarlo detenidamente, he decidido además no incluir en la lista alemana a ninguno de los grandes industriales, aunque sea indudable que han contribuido a la preparación y realización de la guerra. En este caso también he llegado a la conclusión de que es imposible trazar una linea satisfactoria (de responsabilidades) que lo justifique."

Este documento está firmado diez días después del Desembarco de Normandía, seis días después de la Matanza de Oradour sur Glane y el mismo día en el que caen sobre Londres más de 70 bombas voladoras.

Tres años después de finalizar la Segunda Guerra Mundial, el Gobierno británico había conseguido obstaculizar los juicios de militares nazis. La situación produjo un escándalo diplomático internacional de tal calibre que el Attorney General (Fiscal General) Hartley William Shawcross redactó un memorandum "protestando" ante el gabinete del primer ministro, responsable de estar protegiendo a criminales de guerra. El primer ministro, en ese período, era Clement Attlee, laborista, votado en 2004 como el mejor premier del siglo XX. El documento (CAB 129/28 de los National Archives) que traduzco en su integridad por su importancia dice:

SECRETO 22 junio 1948
GABINETE
CRÍMENES DE GUERRA: EL CASO DE LOS GENERALES ALEMANES EN CUSTODIA BRITÁNICA
MEMORANDUM DEL ATTORNEY GENERAL(***)

He visto el memorandum del Secretary of State (for War) (Emanuel Shinwell) (CP. (48) 151). Me veo en la obligación de expresar mi preocupación ante esto y recordarle a mis colegas la historia del asunto. En líneas generales, estoy completamente de acuerdo con la opinión expresada por el Foreign Secretary (Ernest Bevin) expresada en el parágrafo 13 y sig. El juicio de estos generales ha sido inexcusablemente retrasado durante dos años. Durante ese período se han ido presentando una razón tras otra para abandonar el juicio propuesto, razones que fueron rechazadas invariablemente en instancias más altas. No me extraña que todos los problemas que ha causado semejante procrastinación se hayan alegado como base para no seguir con el asunto. Sin embargo, si permitimos que estos problemas prevalezcan, no hay duda de que los Americanos y la Asamblea de las Naciones Unidas van a decir que los generales han escapado, mientras que sus inferiores han sido ahorcados, porque los oficiales británicos son reticentes a permitir que altos mandos de la profesión militar sean sometidos a tales indignidades y porque la mayoría de sus víctimas, al fin y al cabo, sólo eran rusos o polacos. Ya se han hecho críticas de esta clase.

1. La sentencia de Nuremberg formulada por el Lord Justice Lawrence (lo era entonces) en Octubre de 1946 establecía que había "evidencia clara y convincente" de que muchos de los principales generales alemanes eran no sólo culpables de planear y hacer una guerra agresiva, sino tambien "de cometer crímenes de guerra y crímenes contra la humanidad" y decía que esos hombres deberían ser llevados a juicio para que no escaparan al castigo".

2. Los cuatro oficiales de alto rango nombrados, que eran sin duda los peores criminales y con más autoridad en este campo, estaban entonces bajo nuestra custodia. Deberían -y podían- haber sido llevados inmediatamente a juicio.

3. En agosto de 1947 el Chief of Counsel (Jefe de la Fiscalía) de los Estados Unidos solicitó que se revisara la decisión del Tribunal de Nuremberg, porque,decía, habían descubierto una gran cantidad de información que implicaba a los cuatro oficiales y pedía que se tomaran acciones contra ellos, conforme a la Ley nº 10 del Control Council y de la Sentencia del Tribunal de Nuremberg. La solicitud iba acompañada de un detallado memorandum, que sustentaba la acusación contra los prisioneros.

4. El 9 de setiempre, escribí al Foreign Secretary y al Secretary of State for War informándoles de la posición de los Estados Unidos.

5. El 3 de octubre, el Secretary of State escribió al Foreign Secretary diciendo que se había revelado un caso prima facie , pero sugería que los juicios deberían organizarlos los americanos o los polacos.

6. El 9 de octubre (estando yo ausente en Nueva York) mi Secretario Privado Parlamentario, el mayor Elwyn Jones, que formaba parte de la Consejo Fiscal de Nurember, presentó mi opinión al Foreign Office. Al parecer el General Clay por esa fecha había dicho que le parecía que los británicos no estaban haciendo bastante respecto a los crímenes de guerra y que no era probable que los americanos estuvieran preparados para asumir los juicios.

7. El 23 de octubre, el General Telford Taylor me volvió a escribir, diciendo que su investigación había descubierto una acusación amplia y convincente contra ciertos oficiales, que estaban bajo custodia de Estados Unidos y me preguntaba qué decisiones habíamos tomado respecto a los cuatro generales. Añadía: "Algunos de los acusados del caso que estamos preparando sirvieron bajo el mando de Brauchitsch, Manstein or Rundstedt y, en algunos casos, los crímenes cometidos por nuestros acusados lo fueron cumpliendo órdenes dadas por Brauchitsch, Manstein and Rundstedt."

8. El 23 de octubre, el Comander in Chief (General Brian Robertson) en Alemania, al que el Foreign Secretary había ordenado que hablara con las autoridades de Estados Unidos para que se encargaran del juicio, telegrafió (para sorpresa del Foreign Office) diciendo que "no le gustaba" la idea de que esos hombres fueran juzgados y que no le había hablado al General Clay.

9 . El 29 de octubre el General Taylor telegrafió: "Ohlendorf, al declarar aquí en su defensa, ha implicado gravemente a Manstein ya que lo ha hecho responsable de que los Einsatzgruppen, que formaba parte de la unidad de Manstein, hiciera una masacre de judíos."

10. El 29 de octubre, se urgió al Foreign Office para que tomara una decisión que yo comunicaría al General Taylor.

11. El 3 de noviembre, en vista de cómo se estaba desarrollando la Asamblea General de la O.N.U, envié un telegrama desde Nueva York pidiendo una decisión para comunicarla a los americanos.

12. El 12 de noviembre, el General Taylor telefoneó pidiendo información y no se le pudo dar ninguna.

13. El 3 de diciembre el Foreign Secretary afirmó que su departamento estaba de acuerdo que el memorandum de los Estados Unidos probaba la responsabilidad de los generales en crímenes de guerra y decía que deberían ser juzgados por una corte marcial británica. Añadía: "Cualesquiera que sean las dificultades de llevar a juicio a estos generales, sería un error dejar sin castigo a los hombres cuyas órdenes llevaron a cometer las mayores atrocidades, mientras sus hombres cumplen condena, como muchos lo han hecho ya."

14. El 9 de diciembre, se celebró una conferencia en el Foreign Office, en la cual el Secretary of State for War dijo que "estaba satisfecho de que el caso fuera lo suficiente fundamentado como para merecer un juicio y que, a pesar de que había ciertas presiones para que se dejaran de juzgar a criminales de guerra, transcurrido tanto tiempo desde el cese de las hostilidades, él consideraba que los juicios deberían tener lugar" Se invitó al Lord Chancellor (William Jowitt) a considerar el caso.

15. El Lord Chancellor lo hizo inmediatamente. Informó de que se trataba de un caso prima facie y que se requería tomar medidas rápidas para prepararlo. El Foreign Secretary invitó al Secretary of State for War a tomarlas.

16. El 23 de diciembre, a peticion del Foreign Office, informé al General Taylor de que "era probable" que decidiéramos juzgar a los generales.

17. El 26 de enero de 1948, el departamento del Judge Advocate-General informó al Foreign Office de que "todo el asunto estaba muy embrollado" porque un informe médico afirmaba que los generales no estaban en condiciones de ser juzgados. Al parecer se había llamado al Army Medical Board (tribunal médico castrense) para examinarlos y había afirmado que ninguno de los generales estaba en condiciones físicas de soportar un juicio. Sugerí que el examen forense lo realizara una investigación médica independiente, como la que tendría peso en un tribunal inglés.

18. Después de alguna demora un tribunal médico del Home Office examinó a los generales y concluyó que tres de ellos eran aptos para ser sometidos a juicio.

19. Entonces, el War Office alegó que no estaría bien juzgar sólo a tres de los cuatro, que todos o ninguno. Este argumento no se había alegado antes, como podría haberse hecho, para proteger a sus mandos inferiores.

20. No se me ha informado ni he tenido concimiento de lo que puede haber sucedido para que el Secretary of State, el 2 de abril, dijera que todos los generales deberían ser puestos en libertad. Sin embargo, no me importaría secundar la idea de retrasar su puesta en libertad y mantenerlos hospitalizados (en dos casos sin necesidad alguna) hasta la fecha límite en que hemos asumido entregar los criminales de guerra a los otros gobiernos. Lo he consentido para protegerlos de ser extraditados a los estados donde se cometiron tan abominables crímenes. Por otro lado, no creo que sea inteligente afirmar públicamente que nuestra decisión de no juzgarlos se deba a problemas administrativos o que se honrado decir, salvo en el caso de Brauchitsch, que se debe a la mal estado de salud de los prisioneros. No tengo deseo alguno de ser vengativo. Estoy hastiado de estos juicios por crímenes de guerra. Pero está en juego nacional e internacionalmente nuestra buena fe. Propongo que: (a) debemos juzgar a los tres hombres que los doctores del Home Office consideran aptos para juicio;(b) que aceptemos enviarlos a Nurember si lo exigen los americanos.

H. W. S. (Hartley William Shawcross) Law Officers' Department, 22 Junio, 1948.

NOTA: He añadido entre paréntesis los nombres de los individuos que ostentaban el cargo en esa fecha. Los cuatro generales eran:

Erich von Manstein, condenado en 1949 a 18 años. Cumplió 4. En 1953 fue nombrado asesor militar del gobierno de Alemania Occidental (Conrad Adenauer)

Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt. Liberado en 1948 por mala salud.

Adolf Strauss, puesto en libertad en mayo de 1949.

Walther von Brauchitsch murió en Hamburgo en 1948.

Gracias al interés, admiración y desvelo que Winston Churchill y Anthony Eden profesaron por otro criminal de guerra condenado en Nuremberg, Albert Kesselring, éste, condenado a muerte por crimenes de guerra en 1946, fue liberado en 1953.

Hitler no los habría protegido mejor.

WAR CRIMES: CASE OF GERMAN GENERALS IN BRITISH CUSTODY
MEMORANDUM BY THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL

I have seen the Secretary of State's Memorandum (CP. (48) 151). I feel bound to express my concern at it and to bring the history of the matter to the notice of my colleagues. On the general position. I fully concur in the view expressed by the Foreign Secretary as set out in paragraph 13 hereunder.

The trial of these Generals has been, as I think, inexcusably delayed for two years. In the course of that period one reason after another for abandoning the proposed trial has been put forward, only to be rejected by higher authority. I am not altogether surprised that the difficulties which have been caused by all this procrastination should now themselves be put forward as a ground for not proceeding with the matter. If, however, those difficulties are allowed to prevail there is no doubt that it will be said both by the Americans and at the Assembly of the United Nations that the Generals have escaped, while their underlings have been hanged, owing to the reluctance of British officers to allow highly placed members of the profession of arms to be submitted to such indignities, and owing to the fact that, for the most part, the victims were, after all, only Russians or Poles. Criticisms of this kind have already been made.

1. The Nuremberg Judgment delivered by Lord Justice Lawrence (as he then was) in October 1946 stated that there was " clear and convincing evidence " that many of the leading German Generals were not only guilty of planning and waging aggressive war, but also "of committing war crimes and crimes against humanity," and said that these men should be brought to trial so that they should not escape punishment.

2. The four high-ranking officers named, who were certainly amongst the leading and worst offenders in this field, were at that time in our custody. They ought to have been, and could have been, promptly brought to trial.

3. In August 1947 the United States Chief of Counsel wrote calling attention to the decision of the Nuremberg Tribunal, stating that they had unearthed a good deal of information further implicating the four officers' and expressing the opinion that action should be taken against them under Control Council Law No. 10 and the Judgment of the Nuremberg Tribunal. He enclosed a detailed memorandum setting out the case against the prisoners.

4. On 9th September, I wrote to the Foreign Secretary and the Secretary of State for War, informing them of the United States view.

5. On 3rd October, the Secretary of State for War wrote to the Foreign Secretary that a strong prima facie case was disclosed but suggesting that the trials should be conducted by the Americans or the Poles.

6. On 9th October (in my absence in New York), my Parliamentary Private Secretary, Major Elwyn Jones, who was one of the Nuremberg Counsel, represented my views to the Foreign Office. Apparently General Clav had at that 35517 time indicated that he did not think the British were doing enough in regard to War Crimes, and the Americans were not likely to be prepared to take over the trials.

7. On 23rd October, General Telford Taylor again wrote to me, stating that his investigations had disclosed an ample and convincing case against certain officers in United States custody and asking what decision we had taken with regard to the four Generals. He added :

—"Certain of the Defendants in the case we are preparing served under Brauchitsch, Manstein or Rundstedt, and in some cases orders which appear to have been the basis for some of the crimes committed by our Defendants were transmitted through Brauchitsch, Manstein and Rundstedt."

8. On 23rd October, the Commander-in-Chief, Germany, who had been instructed by the Foreign Secretary to approach the United States authorities with a view to their taking over the trial, telegraphed (to the surprise of the Foreign Office) that he " did not like " the idea of these men being tried, and bad not approached General Clay.

9. On 29th October, General Taylor telegraphed —"Ohlendorf in his testimony in his own defence here has heavily implicated Manstein in responsibility for mass slaughter of Jews by Einsatz Gruppen attached to Manstein.'s Army."

10. On 29th October, the Foreign Office were pressed for a decision which I might communicate to General Taylor.

11. On 3rd November, in view of developments at the United Nations Organisation General Assembly, I cabled from New York asking for a decision which could be communicated to the Americans.

12. On 12th November, General Taylor telephoned for information and could not be given any.

13. On 3rd December the Foreign Secretary stated that his Department agreed that the United States Memorandum proved the responsibility of the Generals for War Crimes and said that they should be tried by a British Military Court. He added :

—" Whatever the difficulties of bringing these Generals to trial, it would clearly be wrong to let men who were responsible for issuing orders which led to the most atrocious crimes to go unpunished, while their subordinates. . . . pay the penalty, as many have already done."

14. On 19th December, a conference took place at the Foreign Office, at which the Secretary of State for War said :

—"He was satisfied that the case was strong enough to merit trial. In spite of the fact that there was some pressure to cease trying any more war criminals so long after the end of hostilities he considered that the trials ought to take place."

The Lord Chancellor was invited to consider the case.

15. The Lord Chancellor immediately did so. He reported that there was a prima facie case and that prompt action was required to prepare the case. This the Foreign Secretary invited the Secretary of State for War to take.

16. On 23rd December, at the suggestion of the Foreign Office, I informed General Taylor that " it was likely " that we should decide to try the Generals.

17. On 26th January, 1948, the Judge Advocate-General's Department informed the Foreign Office that ′′ the whole question was rather in the meltingpot ″ because of a medical report that the Generals were not fit to be tried. Apparently Army Medical Boards had been called in to examine them and had reported that none of them was fit to stand trial! I suggested that there should be an independent medical enquiry directed to the kind of consideration which would weigh with an English Court.

18. After some delay, a Board of Home Office doctors examined the Generals and reported on 25th March that three out of the four were fit to stand their t n al.

19. The War Office then suggested that it would not be right to try only three out of the four. All should be tried or none. This argument had not previously been raised, as it might have been, to protect the underlings.

20. I have not myself been brought into, nor have I any knowledge of, what may have transpired since the Secretary of State for War, on 2nd April, suggested that all the men should be released. I should, however, not myself care to acquiesce in the suggestion that their release should be delayed and that they should be kept (in two cases quite unnecessarily) in hospital here until the last date on which we have undertaken to surrender war criminals to Other Powers I had passed, so as to protect them against the risk of extradition to those States in which their abominable crimes were committed. Nor, on the other hand, do I think it would be wise to state publicly that our decision not to prosecute was due to reasons of express and administrative difficulty, or, save in the case of Brauchitseh, honest to say it was owing to the ill-health of the prisoners. I have no desire to be vindictive : I am myself thoroughly sick of these war crime trials. But both nationally and internationally our good faith is very much involved. I suggest that (a) we ought to try the three men whom the Home Office doctors think fit for trial: (5) that we should also agree to those men being sent to Nuremberg if required by the Americans.

LA OPOSICIÓN

Los acuerdos y los actos de afirmación en Sicilia siempre son contra alguien. A ser posible, en grupo, y contra quien dé señales de no poderse defender. Se utiliza la táctica del picoteo de las gallinas de corral contra el ave herida y débil. Poco a poco, primero las más agresivas, y, luego, las demás, se lanzan a picotear a la víctima, hasta que la matan. Cuanto más debilidad muestre, más enconado será el ataque.

Los sicilianos no suelen actuar por convicciones, lealtades, ni simpatías, porque no las tienen. Los cohesiona el deseo de hacer daño, y quien cometa la imprudencia de intentar llegar a un acuerdo en cualquier conflicto, sea de pareja, o de política municipal, descubrirá que su intento dialogante es una debilidad que no debería mostrar si no quiere exacerbar la crueldad de sus adversarios.

El siciliano está acostumbrado a ser súbdito y vasallo , y sólo respeta a quien lo desprecia e impone sus razones por la fuerza, y ha desarrollado una filosofía que pasa por astucia, y sólo es cobardía. Cultiva su capacidad de aguante y su sumisión frente a los poderosos con la íntima convicción de que en ellas está su fortaleza, y hace proselitismo con frases que ha heredado y dejará como compendio de sabiduría a sus descendientes: Más puede quien cede que quien muere. Más vale doblarse que partirse. Contra el amo y contra el rayo, no hay árbol que proteja. Donde hay patrón, no manda marinero. El que manda, manda, y los demás a obedecer.

Y narran con delectación las veces en que han agachado el testuz y han obedecido sin protestar, como demostración de listeza. A lo largo de su vida, habrán visto asesinar a muchos, pero jamás han señalado a los asesinos. Habrán sido objeto de golpes y de robos, pero han aprendido a callar y a aguantar. Sólo sacan su espíritu justiciero y su ira si los guardias han pillado a un don nadie, y lo conducen esposado, para insultarle y lanzarle una patada o una pedrada. Saben que no habrá consecuencias, porque los guardias jamás se atreverían a detener a un capo realmente peligroso, que para eso habrían venido los policías de Roma, y en ese caso los sicilianos se esconden en su casa para evitar la mirada del reo que se pudiera sentir agraviado.

En Sicilia saben que el agua del grifo es un líquido turbio que contribuye a las infestaciones de giardias, que ya son parásitos endémicos en la zona, porque el farmacéutico que hace los análisis tiene por costumbre poner los resultados al buen tuntún para que ese caldo pase por agua potable, porque el encargado de la potabilizadora desconoce los protocolos, las dosis y hasta lo más elemental del trabajo que desempeña, y está ahí, precisamente, porque es un hombre discreto, que debe favores, y los hace. Los médicos, en un alarde de sinceridad, pueden aconsejar a los enfermos que beban agua mineral y que laven las verduras crudas con unas gotas de cloro en el agua del grifo; pero no se les ocurrirá avisar al Ministerio de Sanidad, y hablarán de un misterioso virus para justificar las epidemias de diarrea que, continuamente, asolan el pueblo.

Entre las obras urgentes hay rotondas que periódicamente se reforman para poner césped y plantas, y una fuente, que será sustituida por un monumental conjunto escultórico más feo que pegarle a un padre, y un suelo de adoquines, que antes o después, dará paso a una fuente y césped con plantas, mientras se olvida sistemáticamente las filtraciones que se embalsan en los cimientos por culpa de unas tuberías y un sistema de desagües que no se han cambiado desde hace siglos, y que se han ido parcheando en los tramos donde peligraban los cimientos de la casa de un preboste.

Los constructores pactan rebajas en el espacio que han de destinar al común, y edifican sin molestarse en tomar demasiado en cuenta la Ley de Administracion Local, el Plan General de Ordenación Urbana, ni la legislación que impide a una promotora ganar un concurso para realizar una obra pública sin contar con un solo empleado en la Seguridad Social, subcontratando a empresas que no pueden pagar las "comisiones" a los ediles.

Cuando alguien quiere destapar estos asuntos, obtiene el mismo resultado que el Dr. Stockman: es considerado un enemigo del pueblo, y su denuncia se considera una imperdonable demostración de deslealtad.

En Sicilia no se controla, ni se fiscaliza, ni se discuten las decisiones del partido que esté en el gobierno, sino las de quienes están en la oposición, y para la mayoría de los sicilianos, los opositores deberían ser ilegalizados y encarcelados. Como no es posible, en las conversaciones, en los artículos de opinión, en las tertulias, se critica y se sataniza a quienes no tienen el poder, y se duda muy mucho que tengan derecho a ejercer la oposición, a criticar y decidir sus tácticas para desgastar al gobierno. Y si alguien dice que la democracia necesita que existan y se expresen con total libertad, se encontrará con lo que no hubiera querido escuchar.

En Sicilia, a los únicos que los ciudadanos controlan, critican y fiscalizan, es a los que no tienen la responsabilidad del fraude, de la especulación, del saqueo de las arcas públicas, del tráfico de influencias, y de las decisiones contra el interés general, que para eso ganaron en las urnas.

España es una pedanía de Sicilia.

QUE LO APRENDAN LOS IGNORANTES Y NO LO OLVIDEN LOS QUE LO SABEN

La función sintáctica de la preposición "desde" es la de complemento circunstancial de lugar, e indica origen espacial o temporal.

Pero algunos pervertidos tomaron a mal estas restricciones, y decidieron que la preposición "desde" se usara a modo de infestación tontilocua, y ya nadie habla con emoción, sino desde la emoción; no actúan por orgullo, sino desde el orgullo, no muestran su aflicción con lágrimas, sino desde las lágrimas; no luchan por patriotismo, sino desde el patriotismo; no se embelesan con la belleza del paisaje, sino desde la belleza; no luchan por convicción; sino desde la convicción; y si Dios no lo remedia , no se harán las paellas con arroz, sino desde el arroz; y no discutiremos don Antonio García Muñoz y yo para nuestro refocile, sino desde el refocile; de forma y manera que, hasta donde la vista alcance, no nos van a dejar otra preposición en pie que no sea ese comodín que nos salpican aquí y acullá, sin ton ni son, que para eso el presidente de la Real Academia Española1 es uno de sus más entusiastas propagadores, como no podía ser de otra manera, siendo tan ignaro y soplagaitas que ha entrado en la que fue docta casa y ahora es de la Concha.

Dice Valentín García Yebra:

"Las preposiciones, esas palabras generalmente diminutas (de una o dos letras las más usadas: a, de, en), son importantísimas para ordenar y estructurar la frase. Tienen en español tanta importancia como los casos en las lenguas que declinan los nombres: determinan la función sintáctica de éstos, y a veces precisan el significado del vocablo que las rige.

Se ha dicho muchas veces,y con razón, que no es posible llegar al conocimiento profundo de una lengua mientras no se adquiera el dominio de su sistema preposicional. Se puede afirmar también que no es posible escribir bien una lengua sin manejar correctamente sus preposiciones. Aseguraba Pérez de Ayala que "en el empleo de las preposiciones está el quid del castellano". Y que no nos damos cuenta "de todo el rendimiento expresivo de una preposición en su sitio".

Es de Azorín la frase (...) : " He observado que oradores y literatos claudican en el uso de las preposiciones". Esta claudicación, esta cojera del lenguaje, es ahora mucho más frecuente que cuando el fino estilista de Monovar la lamentaba".

(Valentín García Yebra: "Claudicación en el uso de preposiciones": Editorial Gredos)

[GERALD DURRELL: MI FAMILIA Y OTROS ANIMALES. LAS URRACAS]

Los Bosques de Ciclamen era un lugar excelente para pasar la tarde. Tumbado a la sombra de los olivos, veía desde allí todo el valle, un mosaico de campos, viñedos y huertos, hasta donde el mar brillaba entre los troncos de los árboles, salpicándose de mil chispas encendidas al apretarse perezoso contra la costa. El cerro parecía tener su brisa propia, aunque modesta, y por mucho calor que hiciera en el valle, en los tres olivares soplaba constantemente un viento leve, susurraban las hojas y los lánguidos ciclámenes cabeceaban en eterno saludo. Era el sitio ideal para descansar después de una implacable cacería de lagartos, cuando la cabeza me latía de calor, se me pegaba al cuerpo la ropa descolorida por el sudor y los tres perros sacaban sus lenguas rosadas para jadear corno locomotoras antiguas de juguete. Así estábamos descansando un día cuando se me presentó la ocasión de adquirir dos nuevos animales, desencadenando indirectamente una serie de acontecimientos que afectarían a Larry y al señor Kralefsky.

Con la lengua afuera, los perros se habían tirado entre las flores y yacían tripa abajo, estirando las patas posteriores para cubrir la mayor extensión posible de tierra fresca. Tenían los ojos entornados y la papada oscura de saliva. Yo estaba recostado en un tronco de olivo que llevaba los últimos cien años adquiriendo las características de un respaldo perfecto, y oteaba los campos tratando de identificar a mis amigos campesinos entre las manchitas de color en movimiento. Muy abajo, sobre un cuadrado rubio de maíz crecido, apareció una pequeña forma blanca y negra, como una cruz de Malta, que planeando velozmente sobre los llanos cultivados se dirigía derecho a la cima. Al aproximarse a donde yo estaba, la urraca emitió tres graznidos secos que sonaron con sordina, como si llevara el pico lleno de comida. Recta como una flecha se zambulló en la copa de un olivo no muy lejano; hubo una pausa, y de entre el follaje salió un coro de grititos agudos que subió en crescendo para luego apagarse lentamente. De nuevo oí graznar a la urraca con voz suave y amonestadora; saltó de las ramas y descendió planeando por la ladera. Esperé hasta verla convertida en un mero puntito, una mota de polvo flotando sobre el encrespado triángulo de viñas en el horizonte; entonces me levanté y rodeé con sigilo el árbol de donde habían salido los curiosos sonidos. En las ramas altas, semiescondido por las hojas verdes y plateadas, distinguí un amasijo oval de palitos, una especie de gran balón peludo. Lleno de emoción, empecé a trepar tronco arriba, mientras los perros se reunían al pie para observarme con sumo interés; ya cerca del nido, bajé la vista y el estómago me dio un vuelco, porque las cabezas de los perros, que me miraban preocupados, aparecían del tamaño de pimpinelas. Me sudaban las palmas de las manos; con cuidado, fui corriéndome por las ramas hasta acurrucarme junto al nido, entre las hojas rizadas por la brisa. Era una construcción enorme, un gran cesto de palitos entretejidos con esmero, con un tazón hondo de barro y raicillas en el centro. El agujero lateral de entrada era pequeño, y las ramitas que lo rodeaban estaban erizadas de espinas agudas, lo mismo que los costados del nido y el redondo tejado de cestería. Era el tipo de nido pensado para desanimar al ornitólogo más ardiente.

Intentando no mirar hacia abajo, me tumbé sobre una rama e introduciendo la mano cuidadosamente en el espinoso envoltorio rebusqué en su interior. Sentí bajo los dedos la masa blanda y temblorosa de piel y plumón, y un coro estridente de píos salió de dentro del nido. Con mucho tiento cerré los dedos en torno a un bebé gordo y caliente y lo saqué. A pesar de mi entusiasmo, había que reconocer que no era ninguna belleza. El pico chato, con un pliegue amarillo en cada comisura, la cabeza calva y los ojos semicerrados y pitañosos se unían para darle un aspecto borracho y bastante estúpido. Por todas partes le colgaba la piel en bolsas y arrugas, aparentemente sujeta de mala manera a la carne por cañones negros. Entre las patas raquíticas aparecía un enorme estómago fláccido, con la piel tan delgada que a su través se distinguían vagamente los órganos internos. El pollo se asentó sobre mi mano, con la barriga extendida como un globo lleno de agua, y pió esperanzadamente. Hurgando de nuevo en el nido encontré otros tres pollos, cada uno tan repulsivo como el primero. Tras examinarlos atentamente uno a uno y pensarlo un poco, decidí llevarme dos y dejarle los dos restantes a la madre. Me pareció lo más equitativo, y estaba seguro de que ella no tendría nada que objetar. Escogí el mayor (porque crecería rápidamente) y el más pequeño (por su patético aspecto), los envolví tiernamente en mi camisa y bajé con cuidado. Al mostrarles la nueva adición al zoológico, Widdle y Puke decidieron de inmediato que debían de ser comestibles y trataron de comprobarlo. Después de regañarles, se los enseñé a Roger. Él los olisqueó con su gesto habitual y retrocedió prestamente al ver que los pollos estiraban el cuello largo y pellejudo, abriendo de par en par la roja boca y piando con energía.

Durante la vuelta a casa con mis nuevos protegidos fui todo el rato pensando qué nombre ponerles; aún me debatía con ese problema cuando llegué a la villa y encontré a la familia, que venía de compras en el pueblo, saliendo del coche. Acercándoles los polluelos en la mano, Pedí que alguien me sugiriera un buen par de nombres. Todos se volvieron a contemplarlos y cada uno reaccionó a su estilo.

—¡Qué monada! —dijo Margo.

—¿Con qué los vas a alimentar? —preguntó Mamá.

—¡Qué cosa tan repugnante! —dijo Leslie.

—¿Más animales? —exclamó Larry con desagrado.

—Válgames, señorito Gerrys —dijo Spiro con cara de asco—, ¿qué son?

Repliqué con frialdad que eran urracas pequeñas y que yo no le había pedido a nadie su opinión sobre ellas, sino simplemente alguna sugerencia para ponerles nombre. ¿Cómo podían llamarse?

—Pobrecitas criaturas, mira que quitarlas de su madre —dijo Margo.

—Espero que serán ya lo bastante mayores para comer solas, querido —dijo Mamá.

—¡Qué barbaridad! Las cosas que encuentras el señorito Gerrys —dijo Spiro.

—Tendrás que vigilarlas para que no roben —dijo Leslie.

—¿Roban? —preguntó Larry alarmado—. ¿No son las grajillas las que roban?

—Y las urracas —dijo Leslie—; menudas ladronas son las urracas.

Larry sacó del bolsillo un billete de cien dracmas y lo agitó ante los pollos: al punto se irguieron, estiraron el cuello con el pico abierto de par en par y se revolvieron frenéticos. Larry retrocedió rápidamente.

—¡Tienes razón, qué demonios! —exclamó muy excitado—. ¿Habéis visto? ¡Nada más ver el dinero se disponen a desvalijarme!

—No seas ridículo, querido; lo que pasa es que tienen hambre —dijo Mamá.

—Nada de eso, Mamá... ¿no has visto cómo se me tiraban? Es el dinero... ya a esa edad tienen instintos delictivos. No nos podemos quedar con unos bichos así; sería como vivir con Arsenio Lupin. Llévatelos y los dejas donde estaban, Gerry.

Candorosa y falazmente expliqué que no podía hacerlo, porque la madre los abandonaría y perecerían de hambre. Ese argumento surtió el efecto previsto sobre Mamá y Margo.

—No vamos a dejar que las pobres criaturitas se mueran de hambre —protestó Margo.

—Yo no veo ningún inconveniente en quedarnos con ellas —dijo Mamá.

—Te arrepentirás —dijo Larry—; son ganas de buscarse complicaciones. Nos expoliarán toda la casa. Tendremos que enterrar todas las cosas de valor y ponerles un vigilante armado. Es una locura.

—No digas tonterías, querido —dijo Mamá tratando de calmarle—. Podremos tenerlos en una jaula y sacarles sólo a que hagan ejercicio.

—¡Ejercicio! —exclamó Larry—. Le llamarás ejercicio a que revoloteen por todos lados con billetes de cien dracmas en sus cochinos picos.

Yo prometí seriamente que bajo ninguna circunstancia se les permitiría robar. Larry me miró con desconfianza. Señalé que aún estaban sin bautizar, pero a nadie se le ocurría un nombre apropiado. Todos nos quedamos mirando a los temblorosos pollos, pero no nos soplaba la inspiración.

—¿Y qué van a hacer con esas porquerías? —preguntó Spiro.

Con cierta acritud le respondí que pensaba quedarme con ellas, y que además no eran ninguna porquería, sino unas urracas.

—¿Cornos se llaman? —preguntó Spiro, frunciendo el ceño.

—Urracas, Spiro, urracas —dijo Mamá con pronunciación clara y pausada.

Spiro se quedó rumiando la nueva adición a su vocabulario inglés, repitiéndola entre dientes para aprendérsela bien.

—Curracas —dijo por fin—; gurracas, ¿no?

—Urracas, Spiro —le corrigió Margo.

—Pues esos es lo que he dichos —replicó Spiro indignado—, gurracas.

Desde aquel momento renunciamos a buscarles nombre y pasaron a llamarse simplemente las Gurracas.

Transcurrido el período de voracidad necesario para que adquirieran toda su pluma, Larry estaba ya tan acostumbrado a verlas por casa que se olvidó de sus presuntos hábitos delictivos. Gordas; lustrosas, locuaces, posadas sobre su cesta y batiendo las alas con energía, las Gurracas eran la imagen misma de la inocencia. Todo fue bien hasta que aprendieron a volar. Las primeras etapas consistían en saltar de la mesa de la terraza, aletear con frenesí y planear hasta estrellarse en las losas de piedra, unos cinco metros más abajo. Su valor fue robusteciéndose al tiempo que sus alas, y no hubo que esperar mucho para presenciar su primer vuelo auténtico, una especie de tiovivo alrededor de la villa. Estaban tan bonitas con la larga cola reluciente al sol, las alas silbando al bajar como flechas para pasar por debajo de la parra, que llamé a la familia para que saliera a verlas. Conscientes de su público, las Gurracas se pusieron a volar cada vez más deprisa, persiguiéndose la una a la otra, tirándose contra el muro para esquivarlo a unos pocos centímetros, haciendo juegos de acrobacia en las ramas del magnolio. Hasta que una de ellas, excesivamente fiada de nuestros aplausos, calculó mal la distancia, chocó con la parra, fue a estrellarse en la terraza y, en lugar de un ágil y temerario as de la aviación, me encontré con un desconsolado paquete de plumas que abría la boca para gemir tristemente cuando lo recogí y traté de reanimarlo.

Pronto aprendieron que la cocina era un lugar excelente de visita con tal que permanecieran en el umbral; en el cuarto de estar y el comedor no entraban nunca si había alguien; de las alcobas, sabían que la única donde que se garantizaba una cálida acogida era la mía. En las de Mamá y Margo entraban, pero continuamente se les estaba diciendo que no hicieran esto ni aquello, y se aburrían. Leslie no les permitía pasar más allá del alféizar de su ventana, y dejaron de visitarle a partir del día en que se le disparó accidentalmente una escopeta. Aquello les produjo un ataque de nervios, y creo que tenían la vaga impresión de que Leslie había atentado contra sus vidas. Pero el cuarto que más les intrigaba y fascinaba era, por supuesto, el de Larry, posiblemente porque nunca lograban echarle un buen vistazo. Antes de tocar siquiera el alféizar recibían tales rugidos de ira, seguidos de rápida lluvia de proyectiles, que no tenían más remedio que aletear velozmente hasta la seguridad del magnolio. Incapaces de comprender la actitud de Larry, dedujeron que si armaba todo aquel alboroto sería porque tenía algo que ocultar, y se impusieron el deber de encontrarlo. Para ello esperaron pacientemente hasta una tarde en que Larry salió a darse un baño y dejó la ventana abierta.

Yo no descubrí a qué actividad se estaban dedicando las Gurracas hasta que volvió Larry; las eché de menos, pero supuse que habrían volado monte abajo a robar uvas. Es obvio que tenían conciencia de estar haciendo una maldad porque, aunque habitualmente locuaces, llevaron a cabo su incursión en silencio y (según Larry) turnándose de centinelas en el alféizar. Allí es donde él, al subir por el monte, vio con horror a una de ellas y le gritó iracundo. El pájaro dio un chillido de alarma, el otro salió de la habitación y ambos volaron al magnolio graznando con voz ronca, como escolares sorprendidos saqueando un huerto. Larry entró corriendo en casa y se abalanzó a su cuarto, agarrándome por el camino. Al abrir la puerta exhaló un alarido de alma en pena.

Las Gurracas habían registrado el cuarto con la minuciosidad de un agente secreto en busca de planos. Como cúmulos de hojas otoñales yacían por el suelo montañas de papeles escritos a mano y a máquina, decorados en su mayoría con primoroso encaje de agujeros. Hay que decir que las Gurracas sentían pasión por el papel. La máquina de escribir aparecía en mitad de la mesa cual caballo destripado en el ruedo, saliéndosele la cinta por todas partes y con las teclas salpicadas de excremento. Una escarcha de brillantes clips recubría alfombra, cama y mesa. Las Gurracas, sin duda llevadas de la sospecha de que Larry fuera traficante de drogas, habían luchado valerosamente con la lata de bicarbonato hasta derramar su contenido sobre una fila de libros, confiriéndoles todo el aspecto de una cordillera nevada. La mesa, el suelo, los manuscritos, la cama, y sobre todo la almohada, aparecían adornados con artística y original cadeneta de pisadas en tintas verde y roja, como si cada una de las aves hubiera vertido su color favorito para pasearse en él. El frasco de tinta azul, que no había resultado tan llamativo, estaba intacto.

—Esto es el colmo —dijo Larry con voz temblorosa—, el verdadero colmo de los colmos. O haces algo con esos animales, o les retuerzo el cuello personalmente.

Yo protesté que no podía culpar a las Gurracas. Les llamaban la atención los objetos, expliqué; no lo podían evitar, estaban hechas así. Todos los miembros de la familia de los córvidos, continué acudiendo con calor a su defensa, eran curiosos por naturaleza. No tenían conciencia de haberse portado mal.

—No pretendo que me des una conferencia sobre la familia de los córvidos —dijo Larry amenazador—, y no me interesa el sentido moral de las urracas, sea heredado o adquirido. Lo único que te digo es que o te deshaces de ellas o las encierras, porque en caso contrario les voy a arrancar las alas de cuajo.

El resto de la familia, ante la imposibilidad de sestear mientras durase la discusión, acudió a averiguar la causa del alboroto.

—¡Dios santo! Pero, querido, ¿qué has hecho? —preguntó Mamá, paseando la vista por la habitación arrasada.

—Mamá, no estoy de humor para contestar preguntas imbéciles.

—Deben haber sido las Gurracas —dijo Leslie, con la satisfacción con que el profeta ve cumplidas sus profecías—. ¿Te falta algo?

—No, no falta nada —dijo Larry con rencor—; ese detalle me lo han perdonado.

—Tus papeles han quedado hechos una pena —observó Margo.

Larry la miró un momento, respirando hondo.

—Qué eufemismo tan magistral —dijo por fin—; siempre encontrarás la estupidez más apropiada para resumir una catástrofe. Cómo envidio tu incapacidad pensante frente a la Fatalidad.

—No hay por qué insultar —dijo Margo.

—Larry no habla en serio, querida —explicó Mamá faltando a la verdad—; es natural que esté disgustado.

—¿Disgustado? ¿Disgustado? Esos buitres tiñosos me asaltan esto como un par de críticos, me destrozan y empuercan el manuscrito cuando ni siquiera estaba aún terminado, ¿y te parece que estoy disgustado?

—Es muy enojoso, querido —dijo Mamá, intentando mostrarse vehemente—, pero estoy segura de que no lo han hecho a propósito. Ten en cuenta que no entienden... no son más que unos pájaros.

—Mira, no empieces —dijo Larry con ferocidad—. Ya he tenido que soportar un discurso sobre el bien y el mal en la familia de los córvidos. Vuestra actitud ante los animales es algo repugnante: tanta cursilería antropomórfica para excusarles, pobrecitos. ¿Por qué no os hacéis todos Adoradores de las Urracas y construís un templo en su honor? No parece sino que soy yo el culpable, y que es culpa mía que mi cuarto esté como si acabara de saquearlo Atila rey de los hunos. Pues os lo aviso: si no se hace algo con esos bichos de inmediato, yo mismo me encargaré de ellos.

Como Larry parecía dispuesto a realizar sus propósitos asesinos, decidí que sería más prudente poner a las Gurracas a buen recaudo; mientras pensaba qué hacer con ellas, las hice entrar en mi alcoba con ayuda de un huevo crudo y las encerré en su cesto. Era obvio que habría que meterlas en una jaula, pero tendría que ser realmente espaciosa, y no me consideraba capaz de emprender yo solo la construcción de un aviario grande. Sería inútil pedir la colaboración de la familia, y no vi otro recurso que engatusar al señor Kralefsky. Podía venir a pasar el día con nosotros, y una vez acabada la jaula tendría oportunidad de enseñarme a luchar, cosa que yo venía esperando desde hacía mucho tiempo y para la que esta ocasión parecía ser ideal. La habilidad pugilística del señor Kralefsky no era, según descubrí, más que uno de sus muchos talentos ocultos.

Compuso cientos de canciones de resistencia que forman parte de acervo común, sin mucho preocuparse de los derechos de autor, cosa que sirvió para que algunos se aprovecharan, como Joaquín Sabina, que grabó Círculos viciosos atribuyéndose la autoría en su disco Malas compañías (1980). Chicho Sánchez Ferlosio, agotada la vía amistosa para que corrigiera el plagio, tuvo que acabar demandando, en 1981, a las casas discográficas que habían publicado el disco de Sabina (CBS y April Music) por falsificación de copyright.

MÉXICO, LA SEÑORA GASKELL Y CRANFORD

Al anochecer, acuden los vecinos, conecto el generador durante una hora, y nos convertimos en estatuas de ojos chispeantes, que acechamos Cranford en la pantalla del ordenador portátil que usamos como lector de DVD.

Esta mañana, se han marchado con rumbo incierto otros tres jóvenes de la aldea, huyendo a partes iguales de los narcos y de la guerra sucia del glorioso ejército y la simpar policía de nuestro país. Ayer llegó una carta sin remite contando que mi ahijado L. y su amigo R. lograron cruzar la frontera, y trabajan como braceros en una plantación de California. No nos darán su dirección para que no los ultimen los sicarios que ajustan cuentas del otro lado, donde se encuentra el mayor mercado de drogas, aunque, cosa extraña, no se conozca ni un gran narcotraficante gringo. Recién habían acabado el doctorado de Medicina cuando fueron secuestrados por los narcos o los paramilitares, quién sabe, para curar a sus heridos. Pudieron escapar antes de ser asesinados, y no habíamos sabido nada de ellos en seis meses.

Cada día hay tantos torturados, decapitados, asesinados, secuestrados y desaparecidos que no hay familia que no esté de duelo: son centenares de asesinatos semanales. Ya no hay dolor, sino un estado de terror frío y de estupefacción, sabiendo que tenemos todos los números para ser el siguiente en este sorteo macabro.

Lo unico que logra devolvernos la humanidad de la que nos han despojado, la sonrisa y el deseo de saber sobre los demás, son los capítulos de Cranford y Retorno a Cranford que vemos cada noche, con las luces de la casa apagadas, y las persianas cerradas, ganados por la magia de los relatos de la Sra. Gaskell. De fuera, nos llega amortiguado el ruido de lo disparos y los gritos.

En El País, el periódico global de noticias en español, su correponsal, Salvador Camarena, explica por lo menudo el grave trance actual en México:

"México recibe con tristeza la prohición de los toros en Cataluña"

Nada supera la fuerza centrípeta del ombligo de un periódico español.

Como veo que no conoce otra parábola del género Paulo Coelho que la del dedo y la luna, y se suele repetir más que la morcilla de cebolla, le aviso que no me caracterizo por la paciencia, pero por una vez, y sin que sirva de precedente, voy a ser pedagógica, a ver si renueva el repertorio:
"Si un pájaro te dice que estás loco, debes estarlo: los pajaros no hablan."

Y, respecto a los toros, como a cualquiera que no sea un pervertido al que le gustan los manfloritas con traje ceñido, marcando culo y paquete, haciendo monerías en el ruedo, prefiero los toros en el campo, y las corridas en la cama.

Le pido disculpas por mi repetición. Confieso que si alguna virtud o defecto es característica en mí, es lo previsible. Pero no la perversión. Siento decepcionarla.

La misma decepción que ha provocado en mí una respuesta tan vacua. ¿Tiene alguna más elaborada? (Por favor, ahórrese chistes manidos. Aunque haga calor, hemos de superar la pereza)

A mi no me gustan los toros, pero tampoco me gusta que un parlamento legisle en base a los derechos de los animales. Oye, ¿por qué no prohibimos la ganadería, así a lo bestia? Y es que a los animales, desde el neolítico, los criamos o bien para matarlos o bien para putearlos de por vida de la manera más miserable. Claro, ya te entiendo, es que hay cosas que es mejor no hacer en público... Pero en privado, y si es pa comer...

¿Qué han prohibido, el dolor o el espectáculo del dolor? Ninguna de las dos cosas. En Catalunya seguirá habiendo mataderos, y seguirán pasando en sus cines películas Gore, películas de guerra, películas de putas y de mujeres maltratadas. Son unos cínicos.

1º La tortura de cualquier animal- incluidos los hombres-, degrada a los torturadores y a sus cómplices a la condición de subespecie digna de perecer.

2º El derecho -los derechos- no es la rama que explica por qué hay que velar por la integridad biológica de todos los seres vivos -incluído el plancton marino, que sirve para el tratamiento de varios tipos de cáncer-, y eso implica que existan depredadores que, a su vez, sirvan de alimento a otros.

Ojo: de alimento, no para cultivar el sadismo y los malos instintos.

Y si te hubieras alimentado desde enano con pescado en vez de tanta carne, lo comprenderías y no andarías con esa empanada mental.

Me encantan las sardinas, asadas, con cahcelos y pimientitos de padrón. Por aquí se dan a partir de San Juan, durante todo el verano, y son una delicia.

El primer punto lo entiendo bien, también reconozco haber empleado algún razonamiento circular. Tocado.

En el segundo hay algo oscuro, Ali, míratelo bien. Seguro que estamos de acuerdo en que el derecho no es la disciplina, entonces ¿qué pintan aquí los parlamentos? En fin, lo que no entiendo es el énfasis, la ilusión. Si hay que poner una barrera yo no la pondría entre los peces y las vacas, y es que los hombres somos tan diferentes a los animales, Ali...

Y me choca, me cabrea, que una recua parlamentaria hecha de frívolos, irresponsables, sedicentes, hipócritas y barrigudos, se ponga moralista con el tema de los animales.

En fin, los toros, como espectáculo, son una pesadez, un coñazo. Visca Catalunya, pero no por esto. Saludos.

O sea, que los politicastros de la generalitat se han degradado. Vale. Para llegar a esto....
Se ha legislado en contra de unas personas con unos determinados gustos. De ahí al nazismo/fascismo no hay tanto. Se ponga ud. como se ponga.

Cuando vengan los míos, voy a pedir que se legisle lo de retorcerle el gaznate a los que abusan, como usted, de conceptos grandilocuentes sin atenerse a su significado.

Y, especialmente, a los que hablan de nazismo y fascismo para cualquier cosa.

¿Por qué no se va a cascársela en otro sitio?

MEMORIAS APÓCRIFAS DE SICILIA. EL ALMA SICILIANA.

"Quannu unu è nn'abballu a ballari."

El paisaje y el clima acompañan, y son como el alma de los sicilianos, extremos e inescrutables.

Las madres destetan a los nenes con la frase: "Nadie te dará nada"; y para las rabietas con el biberón: "Nadie te va a compadecer: se alegrarán..." Cuando su nene cede un juguete a su amiguito, le advertirá*:"¡Serás tonto! ¿qué ganas con eso? ¡No te lo va a agradecer!"*

El niño que ha obtenido el juguete, si va a ser un siciliano con futuro, sonríe malévolo y corea:

- "¡Serás tonto!"

En Sicilia a veces cambia el gobierno, porque con refinadas concesiones al más tontiastuto de cada partido minoritario, se logra un "pentapartito". Lo importante es birlarle la victoria al que no supo conspirar. Pero una vez en el poder, las zancadillas y la incapacidad de colaborar lealmente, facilitan el triunfo a un candidato que tendrá de contar, ineludiblemente, con los tontiastutos de los partidos minoritarios para gobernar.

Eso del voto es algo misteriosísimo, casi clandestino. Nadie ha querido afrontar la chufla que se organizaría si se confesara ingenuamente convencido de sus ideales sin obtener ventajas, sin que medie ganancia alguna. Sin embargo, el que se enriquece en política demuestra su sensatez y recibe el respeto rencoroso de sus paisanos.

Al nene, desde pequeño se le dice:"Tú no te metas en nada". Y eso abarca cualquier clase de colaboración con sus paisanos y cualquier reacción contra la injusticia que sufran sus amigos.

Sólo se ponen de acuerdo para difamar a quien no esté respaldado por la Mafia y para acudir como un solo hombre en ayuda del vencedor.

Las calles de Sicilia de noche parecen las de un pueblo fantasma, y siempre será más efectivo gritar "¡Fuego!" que pedir socorro. No existe en sus anales nadie que haya intervenido para ayudar a una víctima ni a un policía en su investigación. Sin embargo, les harán llegar cientos de acusaciones anónimas, insidiosas, sin pizca de realidad.

Cuando se le pide a los sicilianos que tomen postura contra el crimen, a favor de los atropellados, se encogen de hombros y dicen: ¡Yo no quiero líos! –ellos, los mismos que los montan continuamente por el placer de fastidiar al prójimo.
Ésta es toda la sabiduría que se necesita aquí para vivir hasta los noventa años sin desentonar.
Florence Nightingale dijo: "Oh, qué país sería éste si uno pudiera olvidar o bien creer que los que viven aquí son nuestros hermanos."
Sicilia es una grotesca parábola de lo infrahumano; y sus gobernantes aúnan la mala intención y la sandez de sus votantes, y la multiplican hasta la náusea.
A veces, sin embargo, surge algún siciliano participativo, generoso, bienintencionado y de delicados sentimientos, que dedica lo mejor de sí a procurar el bien para sus conciudadanos, y destella su bondad como una orquidea en un lodazal. Esos son los peores. Si son sinceros son tontos de guardar; y si son listos, son más falsos que Judas.

EL BARZÓN

Esas tierras del Rincón,
Las sembré con un buey pando,

Se me reventó el barzón,
Y sigue la yunta andando,
Cuando llegué a media tierra,
El arado iba enterrado,
Se enterró hasta la telera,
El timón se deshojó,
El bastón se iba trozando,
El yugo se iba pandeando,
Yo le dije al sembrador,
No me hable cuando ande arando.

Se me reventó el barzón,
Y sigue la yunta andando.
Cuando acabe de pizcar
vino el rico y lo partió, todo mi maiz se llevó,
ni pa´ comer me dejó,
me presenta aquí la cuenta, aquí debes, veinte pesos de la renta de unos bueyes cinco pesos de magüeyes, tres pesos de unas coyundas,
cinco pesos de una azcuna, tres pesos de no sé qué todo esta en la cuenta a mas de los veinte reales que que sacaste de la tienda con todo el maiz que te toca, no le pagas a la hacienda
a hora vete a trabajar...
pa' que sigas abonando

Nomás me quede pensando haciendo un cigarro de hoja qué patron tan sinvergüenza todo mi maiz se lo llevó para su maldita troja...
Se me reventó el barzon
y siempre la yunta andando

Cuando llegué a mi casita, me decía mi prenda amada,
On'tá el maíz que te tocó,
le respondí yo muy triste,
El patrón se lo llevó,
por lo que debía en la hacienda,
Pero me dijo el patrón,
que contara con la tierra,
O'ra voy a trabajar para seguirle abonando, Veinte pesos diez centavos, son los que salgo restando,
Véngase mi prenda amada,
¡no trabajes con ese hombre!

¡Nomás nos está robando!
Déjate ya de ejercicios,
novenas y confesiones, Que no ves a tu familia que ya no tiene calzones, ni yo tengo ya faldillas, ni tú tienes pantalones
Mejor métete a agrarista, Anda con el comité,
que te apunten en la lista,
Que no ves a mi compadre,
a su hermano y a su yerno, T'han sembrando muy a gusto
tierras que les dio el gobierno,
Se me reventó el barzón
y siempre la yunta andando.

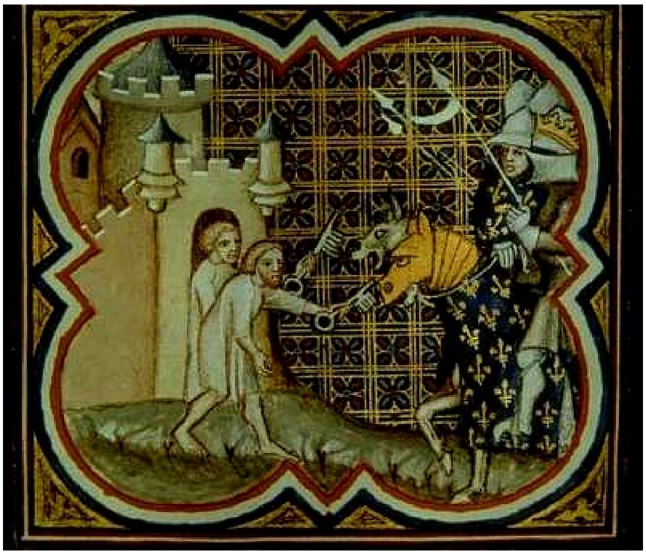
ROMANCE: GAIFEROS LIBERA A MELISENDRA



17 GAIFEROS LIBERA A MELISENDRA

Jugando estaba Gaiferos en su tablero real,
con los dados en la mano,
que los quería tirar.
-¡Para eso sois, Gaiferos, para los dados jugar
y no coger el caballo
e ir Melisendra a buscar!
-Siete años la he buscado,
no la he podido encontrar, cuatro por la morería
y tres por la cristiandad.
-Dicen que estaba en Sansueña,
en Sansueña esa ciudad,
si pronto no la rescatas,
mora te la harán tornar.-
Él se fuera paso a paso
a casa de don Roldán:
-Un favor te pido, tío,
no me lo quieras negar:
tus armas y tu caballo para mi esposa buscar.
-Tengo hecho juramento sobre un libro misal mis armas y mi caballo
a nadie los vaya a dar, los tengo bien avezados
y los vas a avezar mal.- Bajara la vista al suelo
y encomenzara a llorar:
-Quédese con Dios, mi tío, siempre me ha querido mal.
-Vuelve, vuelve, mi sobrino, que a ti te las voy a dar, mi cuerpecito ligero para irte a acompañar.
-Solo me tengo de ir, solo,
a Melisendra buscar.
-Los usos de mi caballo
te los tengo de enseñar:
dándole una sopa en vino
y una corteza de pan
y aflojándole la cincha
y apretándole el petral
siete batallas de moros
bien las sabría saltar.- Maldiciendo iba el vino, maldiciendo iba el pan, el que los moros comían,
que no el de la cristiandad;
él reniega de aquel árbol que solo en el campo nace, todas las aves que pasan

en él suelen aposarse;
él reniega de la madre
que tan sólo un hijo pare, si se lo cautivan moros,
no tiene quien lo rescate,
si se le cae una espuela,
no tiene quien se la calce.
Cuando a Sansueña llegó, moros en mezquita están,
no siendo un moro viejo para las damas guardar.
-Ábreme la puerta, moro,
que vengo de allende el mar, tanto oro y plata traigo cuenta de él no puedo dar.- El moro, con la codicia, las abrió de par en par;
cuando las tenía abiertas,
ya las quería cerrar:
-Fuera, fuera, cristianillo,
aquí no debes de entrar, en las armas y caballo pareces a don Roldán.- Entre vueltas y revueltas, el moro en el suelo cae.
Se fue paso contra paso
donde las damas están:
-¿Sois vos hijas de villanas
o de más bajo lugar, que vos hablo con política
y no queréis contestar?
-Somos hijas de señores,
de buena sangre real.
-¿Con cuáles dormía el perro,
con cuáles solía holgar?
-Con todas, señor, con todas,
con todas, por nuestro mal;
no siendo con Melisendra, que la van a encoronar
reina de los siete reinos por la noche de San Juan, que es una noche muy larga por con ella solazar.-
Con el ruido de las armas, ella se salió a asomar:
-Caballero de armas blancas ¿sois de Francia natural?, ¿conocéis a don Gaiferos, sobrino de don Roldán?
Le daréis mis encomiendas, bien pagadas os serán.
-Las encomiendas, señora, vos se las heis de llevar.-

La cogiera entre los brazos, la pusiera en el ruán.
Con los aullidos del moro
se alborotó la ciudad;
tantos moros van tras ellos que el sol hacen anublar.
Por milagro que Dios hizo,
el caballo empieza a hablar:
-Si me dieras sopa en vino,
como me solían dar,
siete batallas de moros
habría de traspasar.- Si el cristiano mata muchos, el caballo mata más;
tanta es la sangre que corre,
que hacía un río caudal.
-Allí viene un perro moro ¡ay Dios mío!, ¿qué traerá?, ¡trae las herraduras de oro, los clavos de pedernal!-
Se conocen los caballos en el modo de rinchar;
se conocen las espadas
en el modo de cortar;
se conocen tío y sobrino en el modo de pelear.

Este romance tradicional del siglo XX tiene su origen conocido en un romance "juglaresco" de 612 octosílabos (o 306 versos dieciseisílabos con cesura, contados como versos épicos). Repetidamente impreso en el s. XVI, fue, sin duda, compuesto por uno de esos cantores profesionales que, a fines de la Edad Media, se especializaron en los temas "carolingios" (sobre los personajes adscritos a la corte de Carlomagno).

"Sansueña", que Sancho identificaba con la moderna Zaragoza, cuando advertía a don Quijote que su empresa de ir a Berbería, como un nuevo Gaiferos, con solas sus armas y caballo a sacar de cautiverio al joven don Gregorio "a pesar de toda la morisma" tenía el inconveniente de no poderse hacer por "tierra firme", es derivación de "Sansoigne",'Sajonia', pronunciado con el diptongo provenzal "Sansuenha"; en ella, al otro lado del Rin, se situaba obviamente la acción de la chanson de geste de Saisnes, des Saxons o de Guideclin, pero las derivaciones provenzales y españolas de ese poema épico la colocaron en un ignoto lugar de la morería española, pues ya no concebían otros "paganos" que no fueran musulmanes. "Melisendra" es "Belissend", la hija del Emperador, que figura asimismo en un romance tradicional , el del "Despertar de Melisendra", inspirado en una escena de la chanson de geste francesa de Amis et Amil , donde también lleva ese nombre. En cuanto a "Gaiferos", es claro que se trata del héroe pan-germánico "Walther de España " o ¨de Aquitania", cantado por Ekkehard en su Waltharius, en el viejo Waldere anglosajón, en el Biterolf medio-alto-alemán y en la Thidrekssaga noruega, y que de su leyenda procede la trama del rescate desarrollada por nuestro romance juglaresco. No es convincente la hipótesis de que hubiera en España una tradición épica de orígenes remotos referente a "Waltharius"; los elementos que aproximan alternativamente este romance y el de "La escriveta" a las distintas obras europeas referentes al héroe lo que sí demuestran es la existencia de una tradición épico-baladística más compleja que la que manifiestan los textos por nosotros conocidos. Los romances son herederos de ella.

Los cantores tradicionales, al dar acogida al tema, lograron ir reduciendo el romance juglaresco al estilo característico del Romancero oral, conservando lo que de la narración les pareció esencial, sin desechar lo más brillante de su decir formulístico. Me salió por primera vez al paso el romance tradicional cuando, en 1977, el extraordinario depositario de saber romancístico David Ramón, a sus 69 años, nos llamó a Antonio Cid y a mí en Trascastro (La Fornela, León) para comunicarnos su repertorio en el ambiente exclusivamente masculino de la taberna. El texto tradicionalizado del romance se conserva, entre buenos trasmisores, en pueblos de León, Galicia, Portugal, Cataluña y entre los gitanos de Cádiz.

La tradición sefardí heredó, por su parte, dos romances relativos al tema.

Por los palacios de Carlos no hacen más que jugar.
Ganó Carlos a Gaiferos
sus villas y sus ciudades;
ganó Gaiferos a Carlos
a la su esposa real,
con dado de oro en la mano
y tablero de cristal.
Más le valiera perderla,
perderla, que no ganar, que se la robaron moros mañanica de San Juan, cogiendo rosas y flores
en el jardín de su padre.
-Sobrino, el mi sobrino,
el mi sobrino carnal,
yo te crié chiquitico,
Dios te hizo un barragán;
él te dio barbica roja
y en tu cuerpo fuerza grande, yo te di a Julïana
por mujer y por igual;
un día fuiste cobarde,
te la dejaste robar.
Maldición te echo, sobrino,
si no la vas a buscar:
-Desnudo vayas por soles
descalzo por muladares;
no topes árbol ni hoja
para el caballo alazán.
Por los caminos que vayas,
no topes vino ni pan,
no topes aguas de río
para tu alma confortar.
No tengas dinero en bolsa para el camino gastar.
La gente a quien preguntes de ti no tengan piedad:
no den cebada al caballo ni carne a tu gavilán, ni menos halles candela con que te acalentar.- Ya se parte el caballero,

    ya se parte, ya se va.
Por las calles que había gente,
    caminaba de vagar;
por las que no había nadie,
    centellas hace saltar.

c)

Cautiva estaba, cautiva, la esposica de Gaiferos;
pensando está que le envíe
    uno de sus mensajeros.
Asomose a la ventana,
    vio venir un caballero
todo vestido de malla,
    en traje de hombre guerrero.
-Así logréis, caballero,
    ventura en armas tengáis, que si para Francia ibais
    y a Gaiferos encontráis, decidle que la su esposa
    se la quieren desposar con un mal morico, moro que mora allende la mar, que tiene mucha moneda
    y la soberbia muy grande;
más querría ella ser muerta que con moro consagrar.

Del primero, conozco versiones impresas en libritos de cordel en caracteres hebraicos de Salónica y Sofia y versiones oídas directamente a cantores de Istib, Salónica, Constantinopla y Jerusalén. Las maldiciones con que el Emperador conmina a Gaiferos para que emprenda la búsqueda de su hija, substitutas de los juramentos del propio Gaiferos en su camino, son una trasmigración de otro romance carolingio, de raíces épicas, el de "Floresventos" (descendiente de la chanson de geste francesa del siglo XII Floovent), que en el Romancero del siglo XX sólo pervive en Portugal.

El segundo también se cantaba en el Oriente mediterráneo: Salónica, Lárissa y Jerusalén. Esta escena, presente en el romance juglaresco, tuvo vida autónoma desde antiguo, siendo objeto de la atención preferente de los músicos y glosadores de romances. En los comienzos del siglo XVI, fue ya aprovechada musicalmente para ser cantada con un texto muy abreviado, introducido por los octosílabos: "Si d'amor pena sentís / por mesura y por bondat". Pero fue a finales del siglo, cuando comenzaba a abrirse paso el que vendría a ser llamado "Romancero nuevo", cuando la escena adquirió gran resonancia en manos tanto de músicos como de glosadores y romanceristas. Los cartapacios literarios, los cancioneros musicales y los autores de romanceros nos dan a conocer un conjunto de textos, relacionados entre sí, que comparten motivos adicionados, a la vez que recogen o introducen notables variantes, sin perder de vista la herencia del romance juglaresco viejo (al que, según parece, los diversos retocadores vuelven a veces la vista). El punto de partida de las innovaciones fue la presencia, en la queja de la cautiva, del motivo del olvido a causa de unos posibles amores nuevos de Gaiferos:

deve tener otros amores
de mí no lo dexan recordar, los ausentes por los presentes
ligeros son de olvidar, que contrastan con la fidelidad de Melisendra:

mas amores de Gayferos yo no los puedo olvidar.

En las versiones de fines del siglo, se insiste, por un lado, en que Melisendra no está únicamente "presa" por hallarse en cautiverio, sino que se halla muriendo en soledad por haber voluntariamente dejado que Gaiferos se lleve consigo su libertad. De otra parte, se reformula el reproche del posible olvido por tener nuevos amores, diciendo, en formas varias, que los ausentes no se deben olvidar o mudar por los presentes (al menos, "·quando los que están presentes / son de menos calidad"). La génesis y encadenamiento de las novedades es, por el momento, imposible de determinar comparando la docena de textos distintos llegados hasta nosotros.

Cuando, en el Quixote, el galeote Ginesillo de Pasamonte, disfrazado de maese Pedro, va mostrando el famoso retablo, el muchacho que lo explica señala cómo Melisendra "habla con su esposo creyendo que es algún passagero, con quien passó todas aquellas razones y coloquios de aquel romance que dizen 'cavallero, si a Francia ides, por Gayferos preguntad', las quales no digo yo aora porque de la prolixidad se suele engendrar el fastidio". Aunque no cite más texto del romance, sus palabras introductorias nos bastan para saber que el muchacho (y, por tanto, Cervantes) tenía presente el romance tal como aparece glosado en la más divulgada de estas glosas de que vengo hablando, la cual comienza:

Estando en prisión cautiva la esposa de don Gayferos buscando con quien le escriva, vio que, entre los pasajeros,
uno hazia París yva,
y díxole en puridad:
-Cavallero, si a Francia ydes,
por Gayferos preguntad, toda vez que de ella hubo de tomar necesariamente la referencia a los "passageros", sobre los cuales nada decía el romance propiamente dicho. Cervantes, aparte de tener presente este texto glosado de "Cavallero, si a Francia ydes" (que, muy probablemente, leyó en el Romancero historiado de Lucas Rodríguez, Alcalá, 1582), citó en el retablo unas octavas de Melchor de Horta, que comienzan "Jugando está a las tablas don Gayferos / que ya de Melisendra está olvidado", en que se resume el comienzo del viejo romance juglaresco, y también un famosísimo "romance nuevo" de Miguel Sánchez, que comienza "Oyd, señor don Gayferos / lo que como amigo os hablo", del que cita el verso proverbial "harto os he dicho, miradlo", que en él aparecía engastado en su comienzo:

Melisendra está en Sansueña,
vos en París descuidado,
vos ausente, ella muger,
harto os he dicho, miradlo.

Este romance nuevo desarrolla la contrapartida al tema ausencia-infidelidad-celos del episodio posterior, haciendo que ese oficioso "amigo" advierta al confiado Gaiferos el peligro que corre, por muy moros que sean aquellos con que convive su esposa. La popularidad de estos arreglos de la vieja historia romancística es lo que llevó a maese Pedro (o, mejor dicho a Cervantes) a rememorar la liberación de Melisendra, que excitaría la imaginación de don Quijote.

La vida autónoma de "Cavallero, si a Francia ydes" en el siglo XVI nos plantea el dilema de si los judíos expulsados de España y asentados en el Imperio Otomano realizaron por su cuenta la segregación de la escena o si la heredaron de la boga peninsular del "fragmento", antes o después de su forzada emigración. Aunque el texto sefardí nada contiene de las novedades observables en la documentación escrita de la escena en el siglo XVI, el trecho introductorio asonantado en –é.o podría haber sido inspirado por la misma glosa que proporcionó la explicación de lo mostrado en el retablo cuando la cautiva se dirige a su esposo sin conocerle, visto que en ambos relatos se presenta a Melisendra planeando escribir a Gaiferos (y ello se expresa usando dos octosílabos rimando en –eros). Sabemos de algunos casos en que textos españoles de aquel tiempo llegaron a influir en la tradición oral sefardí de Oriente. Pero en éste, la sugerida vinculación no es un hecho indiscutible.

SI ESTO ES UN CARAVAGGIO...

... lo suyo fue un episodio de transmigración de almas: y le tocaron las de Kiko Argüello-pintor y Rappel-diseñador de calzoncillos.

Los especialistas lo están investigando; pero les adelanto que eso no lo ha hecho Caravaggio, ni nadie que sepa pintar, ni poniédose hasta el derrière de enteógenos...

De nada, ya saben que me gusta ser útil.

CULTURA Y PEDAGOGÍA

Como decía San Josemaría, "el matrimonio es para la clase de tropa", y los amantes del buen folgar debemos huir de esa santa institución, como los amantes de la cultura, de la pedagogía.

La posibilidad de que los educandos capten los conceptos, el fondo y la forma, se extasíen con lo que se dice y lo que se elide es una idea de político o de pedagogo.

En la pubertad, cuando las hormonas bailan una danza apache, sólo interesa lo que incita a amancebarse con la mano, y quien pretenda llenar lagunas culturales mediante un programa, debería olvidarse de los autores clásicos y de los modernos, de las materias de estudio de ciencias y de letras, y otras pamemas, y dictar de una vez leyes estrictas que impongan el alejamiento forzoso de los púberes de cualquier comunidad adulta que no esté compuesta por tarados y masoquistas.

Los adolescentes podrían ser el paradigma de lo deseable si no les adornara esa propensión a la risa, a la lágrima, y al berrinche inmotivados, si se ducharan con la frecuencia requerida, si hablaran con el rigor que se espera de quien perturba el silencio, si no tuvieran esa expresión taimada y grotesca que el cerebro reptil imprime en su rostro, si el proceso de humanización no estuviera tan cerca del simio -de donde la mayoría jamás escapará-, si no fueran tan absolutamente antiestéticos e inarmónicos…

Sólo los pedagogos pueden encontrar lógico dedicar gran parte de su tiempo útil al cultivo de la mente de los adolescentes, desdeñando otras profesiones menos viles, menos penosas, menos peligrosas, y más provechosas para la humanidad, como las de barrendero, conductor de autobús, limpiador de fachadas…

El choque a velocidad media entre una mente hirsuta y el programa de estudios da como resultado esos adultos algo propensos a exhibir su incultura, esos que si se roza de cerca o de lejos el siglo de Oro, hablan de Quevedo e ignoran al resto, y se precian de su buen gusto citando, como todos, aquello de "polvo serán, más polvo enamorado", o cualquiera de los que haya musicado en gorigori algún cantautor poco inspirado, y dicen la única frase que conocen de El Gatopardo con que aflore en lontananza la palabra "cambiar"; si se habla de música, se ponen el mundo por montera y reivindican a Mahler; si se habla de pintura, les gusta Velázquez, Da Vinci y los impresionistas… Todo en un paquete, sin que falte ni sobre cierta constricción en el gusto que sirve para vilipendiar cuanto se ignora.

Para disfrutar de las jugosas palabras de los gremios, de la forma de narrar de nuestros mayores, del ripio, del refrán, del romance paladín, de la frase bien hecha, del retruécano, de la paradoja, del enunciado y del concepto, para amar apasionadamente la literatura de cordel, la de kiosco, y la que yace olvidada por culpa de la moda, rehuir de lo rebuscado y lo trillado, y no considerar más meritorio hablar y escribir que escuchar y leer; el amor a todo eso y más, hay que mamarlo desde la cuna, como el odio a muerte a lo pomposo, altisonante, bienintencionado, afectado, grandilocuente, ñoño, profuso, engolado, y enfático. Porque en literatura, como en filosofía, estas lacras impiden que la verdad y la belleza trasparezcan.

Los ideales pedagógicos siguen perpetuando la falacia de que el aprendizaje se transmite con profesores frustrados y educandos sin desbastar, a los que se les presupone una bondad y un criterio innatos, de los que los humanos carecemos, y la prueba es que, en vez de hombres cultos, sólo han sido capaces de fabricar miopes eruditos monotemáticos.

EL PERFUME PARA UNA REINA

Su carta tenía ese estilo conciso, inimitable, de los que saben mandar y ser obedecidos: "Sé todo sobre los vinos, los modistos, las joyas, los complementos; he estudiado Filosofía, Arte, Literatura Comparada, Historia de las Religiones, y Economía. Quiero aprender todo lo que hay que saber sobre el perfume. Y deseo que cree un perfume exclusivo para mí. Me han dicho que es usted el mejor "nez" que existe: ponga usted el precio de su tiempo."

El laboratorio de creación era un espacio desodorizado y aséptico, en el que sólo teníamos acceso los técnicos perfumistas que no hubiéramos fumado, bebido alcohol, ni comido ajo, cebolla, espárragos, huevo, leche, ni nada que impregnase con su olor nuestro sudor, y media hora antes de entrar, nos duchábamos íntegramente con un jabón sin perfume. Allí se analizaban las características y la personalidad del cliente, y yo tomaba nota de las escuetas indicaciones de mi padre, "nariz" capaz de saber la composición exacta de cualquier perfume que hubiera olfateado un minuto.

Ella le dijo:

-Hágame una exposición general y luego le pediré que precise y amplíe lo que me interese profundizar. Hábleme de su profesión y de sus conocimientos. Puede empezar sin más preámbulos.

Aquel día, mi padre, que no habría sabido hablar dos minutos de otro tema, y consciente del privilegio, obedeció:

-No hay diploma para aprender este oficio, es preciso, sobre todo, elegirlo apasionadamente, y tener el don del olfato, pero luego hay que educarlo a lo largo de los años, hasta ser capaz de detectar una gama de miles de aromas en un perfume. Para crearlo es preciso saber, entre cientos de materias primas, cuales combinan para llegar a formular, milagrosamente armónica, una composición diferente de todas.

La yuxtaposición de fragancias dosifica su evaporación, su permanencia y sus variaciones, pero además el perfume tiene diferente comportamiento aromático con cada persona, e incluso con la misma persona en diferentes momentos de su vida, según su estado general.

El perfume es un concepto lleno de sensualidad, que evoca lo primigenio, el lujo, la voluptuosidad y en su universo, existen sutiles huellas que contienen un mundo por descubrir; perfumes especiados, florales, dispersos en nuestra memoria como una trama aromática: digo ylang-ylang, bergamota, heliotropo; digo vetiver, neroli, olíbano; digo azahar, espliego, sándalo...

Guardamos en la memoria el olor básico de cada persona que nos ha importado. Todas están asociadas a un aroma. No hay nada más evocador que un perfume. Una gota, tan sólo una gota en el fondo de un frasco y vuelve nuestra infancia, las tardes eternas del verano, el patio encalado y preñado de flores, la rama rezumante de la sabina con su lágrima ámbar…

El perfume es un privilegio que jamás sabremos merecer.

El perfume es sagrado, y es la consagración de lo suntuario desde la antigüedad. En los aromas de madera y resina, en el mar, en las plantas aromáticas, en el heno recién segado, en las flores, en la tierra mojada, en las almendras verdes, en la fruta madura, existe una implacable ofrenda gratuita, exclusiva… A nuestro alrededor se elaboran deliciosas fragancias sin fórmula, que constituyen el secreto de Dios, el Supremo Perfumista.

Un perfume es una yuxtaposición armoniosa de cientos de aromas. La primera impresión la da la nota alta, con efluvios más volátiles, de cítricos, bergamota, lavanda, enebro, es la nota predominante, y dura aproximadamente una hora hasta que empieza a desvanecerse

La nota media surge cuando empieza a desaparecer la note alta, y es la que le da carácter: requiere fragancias menos volátiles, menos ligeras, compuestas normalmente de aromas florales y madera, que vayan emanando sin desvirtuar la personalidad general del perfume, para desaparecer paulatinamente al cabo de dos o tres horas.

La nota baja está compuesta por fragancias menos volátiles; son la base que fija el perfume y le da cohesión; suele estar compuesta de maderas, Chipre, fougères, ámbar, y puede permanecer más de veinticuatro horas.

El rito de macerar las flores y las plantas en óleo purísimo, el arte de esperar el momento exacto, y guardar ese elixir aromático en un frasco de cristal oscuro para que la luz no lo desvirtúe, del que se recogerá una micra de gramo cada vez… para mezclarse en la probeta con cientos de micras perfumadas de acre, picante, dulce, húmedo, especiado… Una nota de sándalo, una fugacísima sospecha de jazmín, y el musgo de mil jaras destiladas, la suavidad del iris, la inocencia del cítrico… y otra vez esperar.

Hay que desconfiar de quien no sabe esperar, de quien no sabe escuchar sin puntuar con síes, de quien invade nuestro territorio con su perfume, sea el que sea, de quien lleva más de una joya: la elegancia es sutileza; si no, es una elegancia de cortesanas.

A las mujeres de la antigua Grecia que elaboraban los perfumes, se las consideraba intermediarias con el poder divino… Los romanos invocaban a sus dioses "per fumum", quemando materias olorosas; honraron a sus dioses y a sus héroes ungiéndolos con aceites perfumados de sándalo, enebro, canela... Los héroes nórdicos adoraban la naturaleza, el bosque era sagrado y creían que el perfume que exhala iba directamente al Walhala, el paraíso que los acogería.

Para extraer un kilo de su esencia, hace falta destilar diez mil kilos de pétalos de rosas… Pero nada es demasiado para subrayar la belleza, la sensualidad, la sonrisa, el brillo de los ojos, la calidez… Sólo lo suntuario merece todos los sacrificios. La elaboración de un perfume es como la elaboración de un carácter: es un proceso que requiere tiempo y materias primas de calidad.

El aceite esencial de una planta puede encontrarse en la hoja, como en el caso de la menta; en la corteza, como la canela y el cinamomo; en los pétalos de una flor como la violeta, el jazmín; en la misma madera, como el cedro y el sándalo o en las raíces, como en el lirio. También se encuentra en la cáscara de frutas como el limón, o bajo la forma de una goma resinosa, como el alcanfor.

Las flores son las reinas del perfume, entre ellas se encuentran el jazmín, la tuberosa, el clavel, el lirio, el ylang-ylang, el narciso, la violeta, el geranio y la rosa. Sin embargo los olores vegetales no se limitan al aroma de las flores: las frutas permiten perfeccionar una "note de tête" añadiendo sus olores especiales. Es el caso de los cítricos, el limón, la cidra, la naranja, la mandarina. Algunos perfumes más dulces se acompañan a menudo de notas de manzana, de melocotón o de albaricoque, sin olvidar tampoco los acentos de canela, de clavo y de nuez moscada, de bergamota, de musgo de roble, de lavanda, de pachulí…

Hay mil extractos vegetales, mil fragancias peculiares que le dan al perfume su impronta. Se puede creer que el Universo haya sido creado por una explosión azarosa; pero ¿cómo explicar el perfume de una flor sin pensar en Dios?

Se interrumpió, la miró fijamente unos segundos, y dijo:

-¡El olfato es un goce y un sufrimiento que me supera en muchas ocasiones!

Levanté la cabeza de mi cuaderno y lo vi pálido, demudado.

-Alteza, no necesita este curso, ni un perfume especialmente creado para su uso exclusivo. Vaya a un endocrinólogo y póngase en tratamiento para quitarse ese pesado olor glandular y, mientras tanto, no se perfume, dúchese varias veces al día y no escatime el jabón…

Y así fue como mi padre no pudo contar entre sus clientes a una futura reina.

"Soy Field Smith y amo a Mexico. De hecho, ¡soy amo de Mexico!
No sé si siempre lo entiendo, pero sé que siempre lo amo.
Y sé que por alguna razón cada cien años los mexicanos salen de sus casas para tratar de hacerles las cosas imposibles a hombres de negocios como yo. Y lo peor es que se rebelan y lo pueden lograr.
En 1810 parecía imposible que México fuera un pais independiente. Y eso nos ha costado mucho dinero en tropas y préstamos para asegurarnos que aún ahora no lo sea.
En 1910 parecia imposible que México fuera democrático. Y gracias a los grandes fraudes electorales todavía no lo es.
Es 2010. El reloj de la historia está sonando de nuevo.
Y parece imposible que sea el gran país, seguro, próspero y justo que los mexicanos quieren.
Es la hora de preguntarles si quieren seguir siendo un país rentable para el fracaso, o si son capaces de acabar con este control capitalista sobre su país.
Cálmense mexicanos.
Es hora de asumir que el cambio se hace nomás sentado y obedeciendo órdenes, y creer exactamente como nos dicen en la tele.
Porque como mi compadre, Javier Aguirre, dijo, "Mexico está jodido," y con esto claro, ni la selección ni la gente pueden hacer nada, porque México… el lo que es.
Es momento de olvidar el Mexico que luchó por su independencia, dejar atrás el México que busca su propio desarrollo. Y seguir siendo un México en que todos ustedes compran mis productos.
Es hora de cambiar la historia, pasando del México de si se puede al México de ya se chingó.
Pero no sera facil, si la gente recuerda que un país se puede transformar luego de una noche de consciencia masiva.
La semilla que Mexico anhela ya es transgénica. Que florezca depende del consumo de todos.
Crean que lo mas importante ya se hizo antes.
Sigan siendo un pais sometido por no conocer su propia historia.
Bienvenidos al México Jodido del 2010.
Gracias mexicanos por enviar a sus hijos al gabacho para ser mis esclavos ilegales.
Gracias mexicanos por entregar tus ríos, tus playas y montañas a mis compañias.
Gracias mexicanos por prestarse a la guerra contra las drogas y permitirme comprar tus politicos con las ganancias.
¡Gracias mexicanos por quedarse frente a la tele en este año bicentenario!

México ya es nuestro lugar. 2010 es nuestro año. Es hora de vender tu patria al mejor postor."

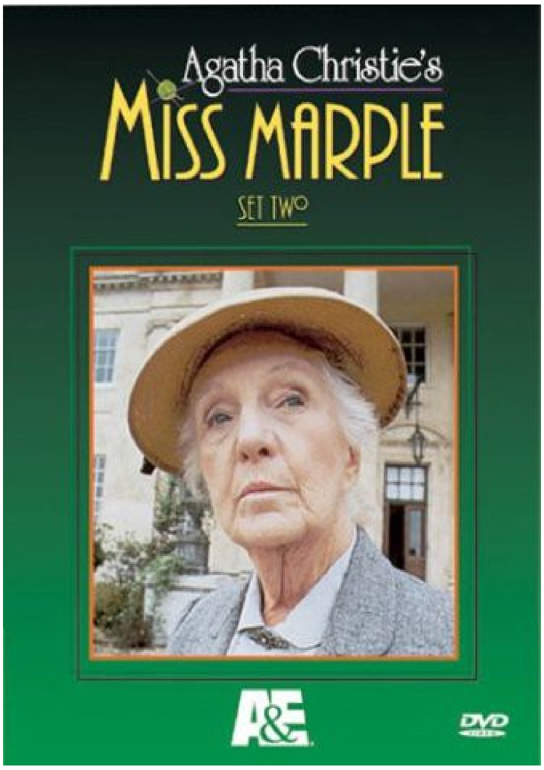
MARIBEL Y MISS MARPLE



Debajo del vestido con falda de vuelo, unas enaguas almidonadas rozaban desagradablemente sus piernas a cada paso, como si fueran de esparto. Las manguitas farol con un elástico, se clavaban en sus brazos, y Maribel, sin darse cuenta, se rascaba como si tuviera sarna, y ésa era una inconveniencia imperdonable en el rígido código de las buenas maneras que trataban de inculcarle. Tenía las piernas demasiado largas para su estatura, y constantemente le recordaban que había de dar los pasos cortos, con lo que conseguía andar rígidamente desacompasada, sin naturalidad. Para sentarse debía hacerlo con una especie de graciosa reverencia que la depositara etéreamente en la silla, en vez de desplomarse.

Las aficiones de una niña habían de ser la costura, las muñecas, las cocinitas y la lectura de su misal, y las vidas de santos; pero Maribel tenía una incapacidad absoluta para sostener la aguja y la tela sin pincharse y sin convertir la costura en un muestrario de su impericia; las muñecas rígidas, con su expresión fija, eran objetos que no lograban extraer su instinto maternal, ni su imaginación era capaz de ver en las cacerolitas otra cosa que una mala copia de aquellas con las que su madre bregaba sin alegría. Respecto a las lecturas, adoraba las peripecias de los vaqueros del oeste, provistos de puños y revólveres capaces de silenciar a sus oponentes, y aquellas lecturas piadosas que hubieran debido entusiasmarle le producían un desprecio sin fisuras hacia los protagonistas, aburridos, cursis, y faltos de heroísmo.

Uno de los pocos juegos permitidos era el corro, con unas cantinelas, acompasadas con palmas, en las que se hablaba de querer ser tan alta como la lunaaa para ver los soldados de Cataluñaaa, cosa que le daba un sentimiento de ridículo que se traducía en escalofríos. Otro era saltar a la comba, pero había que hacerlo con las rodillas juntas, y con cuidado para que la falda no se subiera, y siempre acababa enredada en la cuerda.

Y para colmo, su rostro y su mirada eran tan elocuentes que no lograba ocultar el desprecio que sentía por sus mayores, por lo que no era raro que recibiera algunas bofetadas por "mirar así".

Cuando, años más tarde, oyó hablar a sus semejantes del amor familiar, no logró rememorar ni un solo momento en el que hubiera percibido algo remotamente parecido, y llegó a la conclusión de que la capacidad de olvidar la infancia era un bálsamo que le estaba vedado, y a los demás, no.

Maribel trataba a veces de cumplir con los preceptos familiares, harta de recibir broncas y bofetadas, pero cuando menos lo esperaba, se dejaba llevar por su naturaleza y se rascaba, andaba con pasos largos, se embebía con una novela de aventuras en el lejano oeste, o se sentía Zarra y se lanzaba a jugar al fútbol en la calle. Y aquella familia numerosa parecía multiplicarse para vigilarla y reprimir sus escapadas al universo de lo vivible.

El único escondite que le quedó fue el desván de su tía Aurora, que era viuda y vivía con Roco, un chucho listo que siempre la acompañaba, y con una gata altiva y poco amiga de dejarse acariciar, que solía dormitar en algún sillón al que Maribel no debía acercarse, si no quería recibir sus bufidos y sus arañazos. En el desván había un baúl con novelas de Agatha Christie, y Maribel se pasaba horas allí, leyendo. En su mente Miss Marple tomó el lugar de todos lo héroes anteriores. No pasó mucho tiempo sin que descubrieran su secreto, y le prohibieron ir a casa de su tía, que era la única que no parecía interesada en adiestrarla y reprimirla.

La liberación le llegó, como siempre, cuando asumió sus limitaciones, supo que había de obedecer estrictamente, y se convirtió en la sombra de su madre y de su hermana mayor.

Como sólo tenía diez años, tenía prohibido comer los encurtidos, las comidas picantes, y las aceitunas que tanto le gustaban a los mayores. No le importó, y aprendió a preparar los platitos con aquellos entrantes que no debía probar. A veces, contaban las aceitunas, los chopitos picantes, los pepinillos en agua sal, para comprobar que no hubiera comido, y siempre brilló su honradez. Con un delantal de su madre, anudado con un pliegue para que no se lo pisase, aprendió a pelar patatas, y limpiar las verduras; subida en una silla fregaba la vajilla con cuidado, sujetando bien los platos y los vasos enjabonados para que no se le escurriesen, y pedía permiso para poner la mesa, barrer, limpiar el polvo, hacer compras en las tiendas cercanas...

Cuando aquella gripe complicada con problemas gástricos debilitó tanto a los adultos, mientras ella seguía sin contagiarse, su educación y su comportamiento pasó a ser la última de las preocupaciones en la familia, y la niña les preparó las tisanas, los caldos, los purés, con una sonrisa, andando con pasitos cortos, y con su delantal bien anudado para no pisárselo. El médico, los tenderos y los vecinos, comentaban con admiración aquel comportamiento de la pequeña, tan dispuesta y tan eficiente...

Aquel día, el médico llegó, como de costumbre, a las nueve de la mañana, y dijo lo consabido:

-¿Cómo están nuestros enfermos?

Y Maribel contestó como siempre:

-Duermen.

-Pues ve a prepararles el desayuno, porque voy a despertar a esos perezosos.

El médico salió del primer dormitorio, cerró la puerta, y entró en los otros, pero estuvo poco tiempo.

-No prepares el desayuno, vas a hacerme un recado...

Escribió una nota, la guardó en un sobre, y su rostro, normalmente risueño, era una máscara grave.

-Llévale esta nota a tu tía Aurora, y te esperas allí hasta que la lea.

Maribel se atrevió a decirle que tenía prohibido ir a casa de su tía, pero el doctor le dijo que ya no importaba.

Aurora salió a abrir precedida de Roco, que hizo cabriolas y mostró su alegría al ver a Maribel. Cuando su tía leyó la nota la abrazó, y le pidió que se quedara allí con Roco y la gata, y se marchó sola.

Aquella epidemia de gripe, que tantas muertes produjo en España, acabó con todos los miembros de su familia, y dejó a la niña bajo el cuidado de su tía Aurora, que hizo sitio en su casa y en su vida a Maribel, como lo habría hecho con cualquier animalillo sin familia, más interesada por procurarle comida y cuidados que adiestramiento. Y Maribel volvía del colegio, merendaba, salía a jugar, y acudía de vuelta cuando los otros niños, llamados a voces por sus madres, la dejaban sola. Pasaban el resto de la velada escuchando la radio y leyendo novelas, sentadas al desgaire en los sillones de mimbre que dejara libre la gata.

El droguero, el viejo Artemio, solterón timidísimo, tenía atenciones con la viuda y la niña, y cualquier excusa era buena para entretenerlas un poco más de lo estrictamente necesario. Aurora le sonreía mucho, y Maribel creyó que debía de haber alguna razón para que se acumularan en la despensa tantos productos de limpieza y su tía siguiera comprándolos.

Hasta que un día, Artemio y Aurora le dieron la noticia: se iban a casar y ella iría, interna, a un colegio religioso.

Cuando llegó al colegio, fue vigilada y observada por un ejercito de monjas, y le prohibieron entrar a la zona reservada a las religiosas, donde estaban sus celdas y las cocinas, separada por una puerta impresionante, cerrada indefectiblemente con una de las llaves que guardaban en la faltriquera. Las reverendas cuidaron de que hiciera sus devociones, sus deberes, caminara con pasos cortos, cosiera y bordara lo que llamaban "primores y labores", que respetara rígidamente los horarios, y le impidieron cualquier momento de relajación.

Y Maribel, a sus casi trece años, comprendió que esta vez no habría manera de rebozar con matarratas las comidas reservadas a sus torturadores, y se resignó a ser una educanda ejemplar.

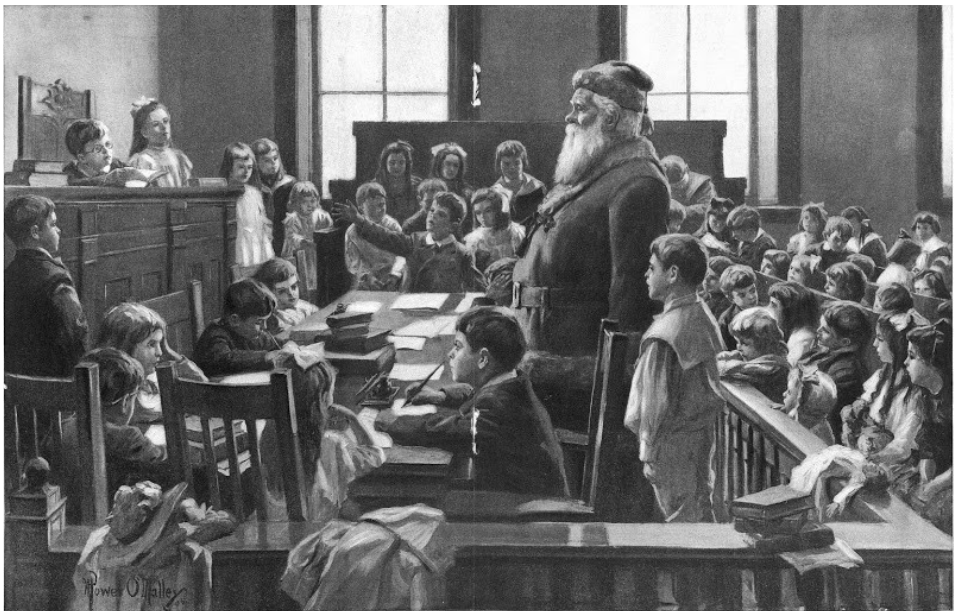
LA BIBLIOTECA VIRTUAL CERVANTES, INAGOTABLE MANANTIAL DE SANDECES LÉXICAS



Este Tribunal de Faltas ordena a la autoridad competente que detenga y ponga bajo arresto a los responsables de la Biblioteca Virtual Cervantes, y del Ministerio de Cultura, cuyo anagrama con el escudo constitucional encabeza el Archivo Carlos Esplá, del que deberán eliminar toda referencia al autor del Quijote, y la palabra "Cultura".

Otrosí, han de ser encausados sus profesores por fraude contractual y mala praxis profesional, al haber causado esta grave incapacidad para redactar con propiedad.

Debemos condenar y condenamos como responsable civil subsidiario al Ministerio de Educación.

A los reos, se les condena a copiar mil veces, despacio y con buena letra, el texto publicado en el Archivo Carlos Esplá de la Biblioteca Virtual Cervantes, con las faltas marcadas en amarillo, y con las correcciones escritas en rojo que se indican:

* Apuntes, recuerdos y notas de Carlos Esplá

Historia de la sección (Mal titulado. No cuenta la historia)

A juicio de quienes le conocieron, Esplá tenía (Uso de genericum verbum por padecía) una auténtica manía grafológica. (Lo que dice es que Esplá padecía la manía de analizar el carácter# a través de la caligrafía; pero lo que quiere decir es que escribía mucho, que padecía grafomanía). Siempre llevaba consigo un bloc de notas, una agenda, incluso papeles sueltos en los que apuntaba todo aquello que le llamaba la atención o le parecía singular.

Ése (pronombre demostrativo, acentuado), es el origen de esta sección.

Alcance y contenido

En esta sección (coma) se podrían (uso incorrecto del condicional) examinar anotaciones de Esplá referidas a la formación del Gobierno Giral, a las reuniones de Izquierda Republicana, a sus conversaciones con distintos dirigentes políticos: Tarradellas, Sánchez Albornoz, Zulueta..., (o puntos suspensivos o coma) pasando por anécdotas de muy distinto signo, hechos costumbristas (idiotismos) y recuerdos de sus años jóvenes en España y Francia.

¿No era a mí a quien le tocaba esta vez el papel de policía malo?

Lo cierto es que escribí "caracter" y hasta que no me corrigió Píramo, no me di cuenta de que les estaba dando trabajo a mis admirados activistas de http://acentosperdidos.blogspot.com

El resto es opinable.

CARTA AL SEÑOR OBISPO

Señor Obispo: Deseo que esté bien, yo bien, gracias a Dios. El motivo de la presente es que tengo cien años recién cumplidos y en cualquier momento puedo morir en pecado mortal, así es que le he dicho a mi nieta que escriba lo que le digo, y luego lo olvide, porque a ella no le importa. Hasta ahora había esperado el Juicio Final con resignación, pero ya no puedo vivir tranquila.

Fui hija única, porque mi madre se desgració con una coz que le dio el mulo cuando estaba a punto de parirme, y ya no pudo tener más hijos. Me contaba que nací pequeña y arrugada, medio muerta, y me hizo revivir teniéndome durante dos meses siempre al calor, entre el estiércol de la cuadra. Me amamantó la cabra y cuando corría por el monte, pastoreando el rebaño, decían que tenía a quien salirle.

Me casé a los dieciocho años con mi Manolo, un hombre bueno y trabajador. No hay día que no me acuerde de él, aunque también me acuerdo perfectamente de cada cabra, de cada oveja, del mulo Perico, que tenía mal perder y, cuando menos te lo esperabas, daba coces y me había dejado sin hermanos. Tuve que trabajar desde pequeña con mi padre en el campo, porque no había varones, y mi madre se ocupaba de la casa, del huerto, y del corral. Así es que decidimos que me tenía que traer un hombre a casa para ayudarnos, en cuanto padre empezó a tener achaques.

Pero costó encontrar quien nos cuadrase bien: un campesino con tierras querría que me fuera a su casa y uno que no fuera campesino de poca ayuda sería, porque el campo necesita que lo engañen, hacer como si no te dieras cuenta de que la cosecha parece mejor hogaño, y cuidarla como si estuviera moribunda, porque en cuanto te confías, en dos días te encuentras con las mieses acostadas y las malas hierbas haciendo de las suyas. Para ser campesino hay que haber visto la tierra desde dos palmos del suelo, y luego, conforme creces irla mirando desde más arriba, hasta que la ves desde un metro y medio, pero ya sabes lo que hay en cada surco y cada caballón. Así es que nos decidimos por Manolo, porque era el segundo de su casa, y se hubiera tenido que ir de indiano porque no había para dos. Así es que mi padre habló con el suyo, quedaron de acuerdo y vino el domingo por la tarde.Yo me escondí en el pajar y por una grieta del muro le vi sentarse con padre, sacar la petaca, liarse un cigarro, beber en la bota que les trajo madre, y con aire de estar solo se puso a trenzar esparto con padre. Dijo "¡Ea!" varias veces para responder a mi madre, que le contaba no sé qué de la vendimia anterior, y a la hora se puso de pie y dijo "¡Con Dios!" y se marchó. Él a mí ya me conocía porque había traído una vez un carro de paja y era yo quien se lo había pagado; pero hasta aquella tarde no supe que ése era Manolo. Así es que bajé y le dije a padre que me parecía un muchacho fuerte y sin dobleces, porque los que hablan mucho todo no pueden decir verdad, y a los dos meses nos vimos otra vez para la boda.

Manolo se murió doce años después, de un tiro, porque don Luis vino con amigos de la capital a cazar, y uno de ellos disparó cuando mi Manolo venía campo a través con la mula del ronzal. Aquello se tapó, nos dieron algunos cuartos y quedó como que había sido él solo, limpiando la escopeta. ¡Válgame Dios si mi Manolo nunca tuvo escopeta! ¿Pero para qué íbamos a protestar si ya no iba a resucitar para la siega? Así es que crié a mis hijos como Dios me dio a entender, trabajé como una negra para sacarlos adelante, y hasta que los coloqué no tuve descanso. La tierra, por muchos que la trabajen, no da para alimentar muchas bocas, eso está claro, y yo no quería que mis hijos se odiaran entre sí, porque cuando no hay, parece que lo que se come otro te ahonda el hambre, y eso con la sangre joven termina en Caín y Abel.

De cinco hijos, me quedan dos, que se han jubilado como señores, y desde que se quedaron viudos viven conmigo, porque los pobres no tienen salud y no se valen. Mi Juanico tiene ahora ochenta años y apenas se puede menear del reuma; pero yo creo que está medio tieso de no trabajar, porque estuvo toda la vida de encargado en una finca; y mi Arseniete, que no es viejo, tiene setenta y seis años, está como una pasa, mal de los bronquios, con unos pitos y unos ahogos de viejo, reviejo, que da lástima, y eso que estuvo toda la vida en el Ejercito y no ha hecho otra cosa que pasearse con el morrión al hombro. Pero las generaciones de ahora yo creo que son más flojas que las de antes… Yo les cuido y entre las pensiones de los dos y lo que yo saco de vender las verduras del huerto en el mercado, vivimos bien y nos pudimos comprar una televisión y todo.

Hasta hace poco yo no había sido rabisca y no había tenido caprichos ni mal carácter; pero desde que hicieron la casa nueva los señores esos que viven en Madrid, no sé qué me ha pasado. Un día me quedé mirando como jugaban media docena de chiquillos en su jardín, como todos los críos, a emporcarse con agua y con tierra, persiguiéndose que daba gloria verlos disfrutar, y de pronto lo vi apartado, en un rincón, con su jersey rojo y su gorrete con borla, tan cursi, desentonando con todo. Y no pude contenerme: me acerqué disimulando, lo metí en la espuerta que llevaba para coger verdura, lo tapé con mi toquilla y como era tan pequeño nadie se dio cuenta. Al amanecer lo enterré al lado de los puerros. Y desde entonces, me paseo con esa monomanía, me dan dentera, los odio, y cuando veo uno, no paro hasta que termina bajo tierra. Hay diecisiete enterrados en mi huerto Todo el mundo los busca, hasta la Guardia Civil; pero ¿quién va a pensar en mí?

Y resulta que dice don Julián, el cura, que no puede darme la absolución si no restituyo el daño, y aunque es de esos modernos, que parecen políticos, que quiere poner el pueblo patas arriba, pide que lo tuteemos y se mete en los corrillos de la plaza, hace todo el gasto de la conversación tan contento, y en los sermones siempre se mete con los ricos, que a ver para qué, si de toda la vida, todos los hombres del pueblo, pobres y ricos, se salen a echar un cigarro mientras dura el sermón... Y las mujeres qué culpa tenemos de cómo nos toque el marido, como la Engracia, que es muy sentida, y como tiene tienda y su marido lleva una cuadrilla de albañiles, coge un berrinche todos los domingos, la pobre… Pero cura es, al fin y al cabo, y si no me absuelve yo voy de cabeza al infierno.

Así es que, por favor, a ver si usted me vende una bula o lo que sea necesario para que no tenga que devolver los enanitos de jardín, porque entonces lo volverán a poner y a mí me va a dar algo…

Le mando el sobre con el sello para que usted no gaste, y me dice la solución cuanto antes, porque estoy que no vivo...

Su segura servidora, que besa a usted la mano.

Por si alguien sabe quién es esta señora y dónde se la puede encontrar: que le diga que esté tranquila, que viva viviendo en sí, que ya todo lo tiene perdonado, y que tanto si llega como si no la bula o absolución del señor obispo, ella ya ha hecho lo que tenía que hacer.

Que ni se la ocurra desenterrar los enanitos, que los vuelven a colocar en el jardín de marras, y eso en un pueblo como dios manda es una afrenta imperdonable; que a quien se les ocurre llenar la eras y los huertos de chalés y parcelas con piscina, más le valiera que les ataran una piedra de molino al cuello y les dejaran así para los restos. Colocados en esos jardines tan relamidos, servirían de escarmiento para los de ciudad que sólo se acercan a los pueblos para meter ruido y hacer que las cosas ya no sean lo que fueron.

Justamente ahora voy a ir a verla y le diré su respuesta, que agradezco en el alma. Pero yo que usted me lo pensaba dos veces antes de hacerse cómplice del secuestro y desaparición forzada de enanitos de jardín con lo que está cayendo en la Iglesia Católica.

Los fotógrafos plantan a Zapatero en protesta por las detenciones de dos compañeros

Un reportero del diario La Razón y Edu León, el autor de estas fotos que demuestran el salvaje e indiscriminado comportamiento de la policía del gobierno socialista obrero español, fueron arrestados en los últimos dos días.

Anteayer, un escolta de Zapatero, advirtió al fotógrafo de La Gaceta: "¡Me he quedado con tu cara!"

En el artículo de El Páis enlazado, cuentan:

"Edu León, el freelance, pasó la mañana de ayer captando imágenes de agentes de paisano que arrestaban a extranjeros en el metro de Sol tras requerirles la documentación. Según el reportero, un total de ochos inmigrantes fueron arrestados ante su objetivo sin que los policías se percatasen de su presencia. La intención de León era demostrar la existencia de las redadas policiales a indocumentados que niega el Ministerio del Interior."

Algunos policías sólo han cambiado el color del uniforme, el azul por el gris. Es intolerable que un polícía patee a un ciudadano indefenso como muestra la fotografía. Queda mucho fascismo en los cuerpos de seguridad?.
Ojalá le expulsen y se vaya a la mierda. El madero,no el ciudadano.

CUMPLEAÑOS

Hoy habrá cumplido ochenta y un años, y voluntariamente me ha dejado para siempre la magia de sus quince años.

Tiene para siempre el rostro sombrío y la belleza tenebrosa de los adolescentes que no se han dejado acariciar sin fruncir el ceño y mostrar su malestar. Tiene la mirada fija y ardiente de un hipertiroideo, pero sus ojos están sombreados por pestañas de ninfa y rabiosos desafíos, gélidos como su ira. La última vez que nos vimos, hace sesenta y seis años, dos meses y nueve días, cuando me crucé con ellos, se dio cuenta de que yo había olvidado ponerme mi abrigo con estrella, e hizo como si no me conociera. "Espera a que te saluden; a ti no te corresponde iniciar la conversación, eres una mujer." -me había enseñado-, y me mantuve callada.

Y supe que pensaba desaparecer de mi vida para siempre. Lo supe. Yo sólo he sido clarividente con quien amo y nunca he querido a nadie como a él, mi pequeño dios personal, distante, orgulloso, intemperante y arbitrario como el diablo.

No se sabe cómo cayó en su poder un libro de buenos modales, y se convirtió en el domador de mi garrulería. Yo hubiera sido una buena alumna si se me hubiera pedido que dejara mi naturaleza desbocada, pero me decía: "Para saludar mira a los ojos directamente y di sin énfasis: ¡Buenos días!, como si estuvieras diciendo "Te doy permiso para quedarte o marcharte."

Yo tenía siete años, tragaba saliva y trataba de comportarme como un veterano soldado en combate.

-"No te dejes caer en el asiento, acércate y aguarda a que la silla quede a la distancia correcta para sentarte."

Yo hubiera querido ser etérea y delicada para él, que odiaba mi fealdad y mi espontaneidad, y sólo conseguía ser envarada y zafia.

Lo amaba hasta la abyección, y hubiera sido feliz si hubiera podido actuar en su defensa, en su honor. Pero no quería nada mío, no quería nada de nadie:

-"No compres el cariño con regalos"

Un día le dije que lo quería más que a nadie en el mundo, y que si me pedía que me matara, lo haría. Parece mentira que haya olvidado tantas cosas y recuerde aquella emoción como si se hubiera conservado milagrosamente actual.

-"La vida no se debe dar por nada ni por nadie."

Me respondió con desprecio, irritado, y rompí a llorar. Le supliqué que no se enfadara conmigo. Desvió los ojos como si le hiriera mirarme y dejó caer su magnífica revelación:

-"Pide perdón con dignidad, no te rebajes aunque seas culpable. Nunca."

Me enseñó a no llorar poniéndome ante el espejo:

-Mira qué feo es el patetismo.

Él tendría doce años, estábamos comiendo y se encontró un garbanzo negro. Lo señaló con su dedo huesudo y frágil, y preguntó:

-¿Es bueno?

Mi padre respondió imperturbable:

-Como tú...

Y recuerdo su mirada hipnotizada, como ida... Después de un rato que se me hizo eterno, lo apartó. Mi padre se rió con un graznido de alegría. Sé que en ese momento empecé a odiarlo, y clavé mis ojos en él, desafiante, cogí el garbanzo negro y, cuando me lo iba a llevar a la boca, mi padre dijo:

-¡Deja eso!

-¡No!

Y una espléndida bofetada no impidió que lo masticara y me lo tragase sin desviar la vista de mi padre, sin bajar la mirada. Yo tendría cinco años y, al cabo de tantos años, con un millar de temeridades en mi haber, sé que nunca he demostrado tanto valor como aquella vez.

Hoy, mi hermano habrá cumplido ochenta y un años, dondequiera que esté, y es como ese miembro fantasma que duele mucho tiempo después de una amputación.

Desde que supe que no lo vería más, huí, cambié de nombre, de idioma, dejé mi religión, mi país, y luché sin piedad y sin dar tregua hasta una victoria que no me devolvió la paz, e incluso yo he creído que me escondía porque estaba en peligro.

Pero sólo he huido de la certeza de que no me ha encontrado porque no me buscó, porque no quiso volver a verme nunca más. Aunque quienes no lo conocen me digan que, seguramente, moriría con mis padres en el campo de exterminio de Mauthausen, adonde los llevaron aquel día.

“Lo que me motiva a escribir es la idea de vencer la primera versión, la que siempre me parece triste. Las siguientes, aunque no me persuaden, se acercan a lo que quería decir, y ya cuando decido entregar, no es que se acerque a lo quería decir, sino que ya se me olvidó lo que quería decir, entonces me enfrento a un texto que por lo menos no me disgusta”.

LA IGLESIA CATÓLICA SE APROPIA DEL PATRIMONIO NAVARRO EN EL FEUDO DEL OPUS DEI

LA IGLESIA CATÓLICA SAQUEA EL PATRIMONIO DE NAVARRA

Con carácter general la legislación hipotecaria establece que la inmatriculación de fincas que no estén inscritas a favor de persona alguna se practicará a través del correspondiente expediente de dominio que se tramitará en el Juzgado de Primera Instancia donde esté ubicada la finca en cuestión, o bien mediante título público de adquisición, complementado por acta de notoriedad cuando no pueda acreditarse de modo fehaciente el título adquisitivo.

Este es el camino que debe seguir el común de los mortales para conseguir la primera inmatriculación de un bien inmueble. Pero sabemos que Dios escribe recto en renglones torcidos y el franquismo, en la etapa más desaforada del nacionalcatolicismo, publicó un Decreto en febrero de 1946, aún en vigor, que se integró en el ordenamiento jurídico con el nombre de Ley Hipotecaria y que, en su artículo 206, concedía y concede a la Iglesia Católica el privilegio de inscribir bienes, aun careciendo de título escrito, mediante la oportuna certificación librada por la persona a cuyo cargo esté la administración de los mismos, en la que expresará el modo en que fueron adquiridos. Este privilegio sólo lo disfrutan el Estado, los Ayuntamientos, Diputaciones y las Corporaciones de Derecho Público. De esta manera la Iglesia Católica continúa disfrutando en un Estado teóricamente aconfesional de un intolerable trato de favor en materia hipotecaria.

Este introito sobre derecho registral viene a cuento para denunciar el expolio que el Arzobispado de Pamplona y el Obispado de Tudela están practicando contra el patrimonio de los pueblos navarros. El 10 de julio de 2001, en pleno fervor sanferminero, el Secretario General del Arzobispo se presentó en el Registro de la Propiedad de Tafalla y registró a nombre de la Diócesis de Pamplona, la iglesia de San Saturnino del Cerco de Artajona, de 742 metros cuadrados de superficie, 6 ermitas de distintos pueblos navarros y una basílica. Para cada una de las inmatriculaciones acompañó una certificación, expedida dos meses antes por la misma Diócesis. Procedimiento de registro provinente de un fascismo agradecido a la Iglesia Católica por sus favores en la Cruzada y el palio protector con el que cubrió a su Caudillo y que como ha denunciado la Plataforma de defensa del Patrimonio Navarro, representa la más acabada plasmación del dicho popular "yo me lo guiso yo me lo como".

YO ME LO QUEDO Y TU ME LO PAGAS

En el año 2006 comenzaron las obras de restauración de la iglesia de San Saturnino con un presupuesto de 3 millones de euros pagados con fondos públicos, en un ejemplo de socialización de gastos que generan sólo beneficios privados. Se trata de una operación redonda: la Diócesis inmatricula el bien inmueble por 30 euros, se lo arreglan los poderes públicos por 3 millones de euros y la Diócesis goza de la propiedad, el pleno dominio y, en su caso, de la explotación turística.

Lo que hemos contado no es un caso aislado, desde 1998 la Iglesia Católica ha repetido esta operación en Navarra sobre 1.087 bienes, al amparo del famoso artículo 206 de la Ley Hipotecaria. Hay de todo: templos parroquiales, ermitas, basílicas, atrios, pero también 42 casas y viviendas, 25 locales comerciales, 102 fincas rústicas y solares, 31 terrenos de pastos, 12 de viñas, pinares, olivares y arbolados, 7 cementerios y 1 frontón.

En el Registro de la Propiedad de Aoiz el 8 de junio de 2004, el Arzobispado de Pamplona inscribió propiedades tan poco espirituales como 119.370 metros cuadrados de pastos y fincas en Eslaba; En el Registro de la Propiedad número uno de Lizarra, desde 1998 han inscrito más de 269 bienes, entre ellos varias fincas procedentes de la concentración parcelaria en Zuñiga, Sesma y Cirauqui, también almacenes, plantas bajas, pinares, viñedos y regadío en Azagra; En el Registro de la Propiedad número 5 de Iruña destaca un solar incluido en la unidad de ejecución 20 del Plan general de Lesaka y una finca de 5.050 metros cuadrados en la calle Legia en Vera de Bidasoa. Todos los registros de Navarra reflejan en sus asientos esta operación sigilosa de inscripción masiva de bienes en los últimos diez años. La Iglesia ha actuado con la máxima cautela conociendo que los bienes inscritos de esta forma sólo surten efectos frente a terceros pasados dos años desde la inscripción, por ello discreción y alevosía han sido las guías eclesiales en su merodear por los reinos de este mundo.

Pedro Leoz Cabodevilla, ex-sacerdote y miembro de la Plataforma de Defensa del Patrimonio Navarro, ha manifestado que con esta campaña "la Diócesis se ha convertido en la mayor inmobiliaria de Navarra a costa del patrimonio histórico de los pueblos". La Iglesia Navarra, continua Pedro Leoz ha repetido "el milagro del pan y los peces, por el precio de una sola campana, ha adquirido la propiedad de más de mil inmuebles, solares y fincas".

La inmoral conducta diocesana ha escandalizado especialmente a los habitantes del pequeño pueblo de Azkona, en el valle de Yerri, donde el pueblo levantó en su día una casa para que residiera el cura; el cura se marchó y el pueblo siguió sufragando los gastos de la casa y costeando las reparaciones, sin saber que la Diócesis la había registrado a su nombre. Ahora, el Arzobispo quiere vender o alquilar la casa y no tiene ningún reparo en echar a los vecinos que ante la ausencia del cura, habían instalado allí el consultorio médico.

Cristo les mando a los curas a predicar la pobreza.
Todavía no han comenzado ¡mira si tienen pereza!

Esto dice una de las jotas heréticas de Navarra, recopiladas por el editor e historiador Esparza Zabalegi, y que expresa la visión popular de la actitud del clero ante los bienes materiales. El mismo Esparza nos cuenta que los pueblos siempre han construido la casa del cura, la famosa apezetexea de tantas localidades navarras y los curas nunca pagaron un ladrillo, "todos nuestros archivos municipales están repletos de acuerdos de obras y de facturas para pagar desde el badajo de la campana al último ladrillo. ¿Puede la Diócesis presentar facturas similares? ¿tienen títulos mejores?". Aún hoy nos refiere Esparza, el Auzolan o trabajo comunitario para arreglar la ermita es obligatorio en muchos pueblos, si quieres acceder al lote de leña comunal. Con esta clase de trabajo colectivo se han construido también escuelas, lavaderos, caminos comunales, frontones, pero éstos "no han pasado a ser propiedad de los maestros, lavanderas o pelotaris", concluye Esparza.

La Iglesia además miente cuando en las pocas explicaciones públicas que ha dado sobre este latrocinio dice que los bienes inscritos serán propiedad de la parroquia y, por tanto, del pueblo. No es así legalmente según ha analizado la abogada Isabel Urzainki, de conformidad con los Acuerdos suscritos por el Estado español con la Santa Sede, la propiedad es de la Iglesia católica a través de las diócesis, que es quien tiene personalidad jurídica. Las parroquias no tienen ningún dominio legal sobre estas propiedades. Al final la propiedad es del Estado Vaticano y "el Papa es el supremo administrador de los bienes de la Iglesia Católica".

Para reaccionar contra este expolio, se constituyó en diciembre del año pasado la Plataforma de Defensa del Patrimonio Navarro, un sábado a las 10 horas de la mañana. Ese mismo día y a la misma hora, convocó una reunión la Federación Navarra de Municipios y Concejos, dominada por Unión del Pueblo Navarro y el Partido Socialista de Navarra. El boicot institucional no tuvo efecto, más de 186 cargos electos, pertenecientes a 116 municipios acordaron trabajar activamente para impedir que los ayuntamientos y concejos sean esquilmados por el cuerpo místico de Cristo. En esta asamblea fue elegido portavoz de los municipios afectados el alcalde de Uharte, Javier Barterra, quien asumió según sus palabras "la obligación ética y legal de defender los bienes públicos, frente a quienes los están privatizando". En esta misma asamblea se oyeron voces resaltando que esta misma actuación de desposesión pública que está llevando a cabo la Iglesia Católica en Navarra, puede estar realizándose en el resto del Estado.

En "El Otro País" les deseamos toda clase de éxitos a estos esforzados defensores del patrimonio de los pueblos, pero les recordamos que corren severo riesgo de excomunión. Leyendo el último libro de Iñaki Egaña, "Mil nuevas noticias insólitas del País de los Vascos", anotamos que en 1636, la Iglesia católica excomulgó a los miembros del Tribunal de Justicia de Navarra por haber impuesto este tribunal una multa de mil ducados al obispo. La razón de esa multa estaba en que en las Vísperas de la fiesta del Santísimo Sacramento fue aromado con el incienso primero el obispo y luego el virrey cuando, protocolo en mano, debiera haber sido al revés. Años más tarde, en 1693, otros miembros del mismo tribunal fueron nuevamente excomulgados, esta vez por arrestar a unos ladrones refugiados en una iglesia.

Dados estos antecedentes vemos difícil que prospere cualquier acción judicial contra el saqueo de bienes, teniendo en cuenta la afición eclesiástica de excomulgar a los jueces y tribunales navarros díscolos con la voluntad de los intérpretes del Omnipotente.

ROBERTO MATURANA: EL EXPOLIO PESQUERO EN ARGENTINA (1)

Investigacion: Toda la prueba: la destrucción pesquera impulsada por la Justicia adicta

PRIMERA PARTE

Esta investigación será publicada en etapas y explicará, desde mi óptica como testigo presencial y denunciante, cómo se inicio la destrucción del mar argentino y cómo creció la corrupción a la par de los millones que maneja una actividad que no es impactada por crisis, pues el mundo come pescado básicamente —sólo se reduce en la compra de mariscos— y aun así, "a pérdida", según los armadores, los buques siguen saliendo a la captura del langostino; aunque las empresas lloren quebrantos, pues pagan salarios en pesos y exportan en euros a sí mismas en Europa en la mayoría de los casos.

Otras firmas nacionales triangulan sus ventas con Uruguay, Panamá u otros sitios que les permiten dejar el valor real de venta en el extranjero y evadir a la AFIP y a su titular, Ricardo Echegaray, quien, si bien sabe todo lo que ocurre, nada hace al respecto protegiendo la caja pesquera millonaria de Néstor.

En la Argentina, los extranjeros descubrieron que podrían ser más impunes aún que en los propios países de África, donde el nivel de corrupción es elevado. Hoy los africanos, luego de la atroz expoliación de sus recursos, retienen a los buques y meten presos a capitanes mientras aquí sólo se les cobran coimas suculentas para que nada cambie en el status quo pesquero nacional y siga la runfla. El pescado no se ve, no muge ni sangra, pero llena de millones los bolsillos, compra votos y voluntades.

Ayer, militares y sindicalistas; hoy políticos y gremialistas (como ayer)

La pesca argentina ha sido la moneda de cambio de los políticos de turno y la felicidad sindical. La propia junta del gobierno militar tenía un pope en cada empresa y a Eduardo Massera al timón de Huemul-Sasetru. De la mano de la junta de comandantes, se impulsó el ingreso de extranjeros con buques de gran porte al caladero argentino.

El proyecto Harengus Escombrus apadrinado por Jorge Videla, del mítico Carlos Bulgueroni, dio luz a buques factorías alemanes que pescaban a bodega llena en caladero argentino, mientras evaluaban la capacidad del mismo en "prospección a bodega llena" evadiendo así ayer el pago de cargas sociales y tripulación argentina. Bulgueroni, desde la patria contratista con el acuerdo militar, supo ingresar muchas empresas extranjeras al caladero argentino, luego siguió la "zaga" con sus amigos sindicales y políticos que jamás lo investigaron de verdad. Nadie cotejó jamás cómo es posible que convocara a su pesquera y por otro lado ganara millones con otras empresas de su grupo; la ley de sociedades no le llegó nunca, lo cual es convergente a su impunidad.

Cabe recordar que durante la época militar, en el periodo que estuvo al frente de la SAGPyA el Teniente Coronel Phillipeaux, hombre del general Perón, no se emitieron permisos de pesca. Phillipeax esto lo contaba en reuniones del Foro Patriótico y Popular Nacional junto al Alejandro Olmos: las presiones de las que fue objeto por parte del gobierno militar para hacer ingresar al grupo Arbumasa. Luego, su sillón mutó de un patriota a varios delincuentes variopintos.

La historia y metodología aplicada hoy, es como ayer: compran sindicalistas para regular sus costos y financiar riquezas de popes sindicales atornillados por décadas a sus sillones, estos hoy poseen buques y riqueza desmesurada propia impulsada por las "negociaciones gremiales" y "los remedios de sus afialidos" que no se enriquecen en los años de trabajo genuino como muchos de sus representantes. Años de trato empresario-sindical los hicieron amigos y hasta socios de los armadores de los cuales replicaron su tren de vida. En algunos casos la falta de instrucción no fue óbice para dejarlos fuera del poder de manejar masas asalariadas, sino una posibilidad simple de aplicar la brutalidad mafiosa para por terror dominar la masa, esto es muy simple de constatar hay gremios marítimos que por años a las elecciones se presentan listas únicas, señal que nadie puede osar querer arrebatarles su sillón, porque con su poder, "refinadamente llaman a empresas y condenan al hambre a los que se opongan a su voluntad".

Es increíble que tengamos semejante "hotel" y no lo podamos usufructuar como afiliados.

La destrucción del caladero permitida por el Estado argentino lleva ya cuatro décadas

Desde el Mundial 78 en adelante, navegando como jefe de maquinas en la actividad pesquera, palpé el desastre que sobrevendría por la forma en que se arrojaba pescado al agua. Toneladas de mero en la zona de Puerto Madryn al igual que salmones de gran tamaño y gatuzos se descartaban por no ser de "interés comercial" pues el objetivo era la merluza hubbsi para esa flota. Cabe señalar que, tanto argentinos como extranjeros al comando de sus buques, arrojaban por igual pescado al mar pues había "más pescado que agua".

En esos años, los buques salían de Mar del Plata y navegaban hacia la zona vedada de la Isla Escondida, donde completaban velozmente sus bodegas arrojando miles de toneladas por día al mar de merluza en esos tiempos de 30 centímetros al mar por pequeñas, algunas con sus panzas llenas de huevas. Todo esto bajo la venia militar.

Pespasa: explotación pesquera de la Patagonia

Massera viabilizó el ingreso de flotas extranjeras al caladero y así ingreso Pespasa con sus poderosos buques Rokko Maru y Kasuga Maru, tripulados con japoneses a explotar el rico caladero argentino. Esta empresa fue beneficiada por Videla, permitiendo que esos poderosos buques pescaran bajo pabellón japonés durante años, haciendo también "prospección a bodega llena" (es decir, supuestamente investigando el caladero) y exportando todo a su país sin costo: más de 1.400 toneladas de pescado eviscerado por viaje, sin llevar un sólo tripulante argentino. Esta réplica metodológica militar corrupta permitió a varios personeros llenar sus bolsillos a costa de recursos de todos los argentinos. En mi paso por la misma, recuerdo el mal trato de los japoneses hacia quienes no pasábamos por los buques prestando el título y callándonos mientras arrojaban miles de toneladas de pescado al mar en cada lance. Recuerdo claramente que tenían una norma empresaria que aplicaban a rajatabla: si estaba el pozo —lugar donde cae el pescado y se destina a elaboración o descarte— lleno de pescado para manufacturar con un tiempo de dos horas, cuando llegaba el otro lance metían mangueras en el pozo vaciando el mismo, con la excusa de tener que elaborar pescado fresco; una barbaridad una monstruosidad de las tantas.

Esta empresa llevaba embarcados a un radio operador argentino y a otro japonés con la "fábula" de enseñar al argentino a operar sus equipos. Los tripulantes que estaban más de 60 días en el agua llamaban a sus familias diariamente por radio costera a sus teléfonos; la empresa en secreto gravaba todas las conversaciones de los tripulantes, para luego escucharlas y despedir a quienes se quejaran o llamaran a sus sindicatos. Esto quedó certificado ante una denuncia que radicó el capitán del Rokko Maru y el radio argentino de apellido Khalil ante Prefectura de puerto Deseado. Esta empresa, tenía muy buenos vínculos con los sindicatos marítimos.

Ya en democracia, Felipe Solá "colaboró" al brindarle permisos de pesca a buques surimeros (elaboran kanikama) prohibidos en el mundo por depredadores a la subsidiaria de Pespsa-Pezantar, empresa que es de conocimiento internacional que caza ballenas. Esta firma es la que se ve en televisión masacrando a cetáceos.

Memoria de por qué colapsa el caladero

En 1994 se promulga la Ley Federal de Pesca, ley 24.922, con normas concretas que custodian la sustentabilidad del recurso pesquero y la regulación de permisos de pesca. Crea el Consejo Federal Pesquero para que cada provincia tutele sus recursos dentro del ámbito de la Administración Nacional. Legislación impecable que no ha sido más que vulnerada, y estas vulneraciones denunciadas incansablemente ante la justicia por quien suscribe entre otros.

A partir de esta ley, es observable como nuestros funcionarios utilizan sus mandatos para tergiversar con resoluciones de la SAGPyA y actas del Consejo Federal Pesquero la letra del a ley desde su primer artículo. Esta ley es un apéndice que se comunica con la ley madre, Convemar, tratado suscripto por nuestro país y también violada junto a innumerables normas internacionales que pretenden la protección de la biomasa.

Recuerdo un ejemplo de la "coima express" de ayer y hoy, pues nada cambió sino que se aggiornó y perfeccionó. La empresa Harengus había traído de Japón el buque Scombrus durante la época Ménen-Sola. Fui convocado para ser jefe de maquinas del mismo; este tenía una capacidad de 100 toneladas de merluza en cajones, zarpábamos de puerto Madryn directo a la veda, hacíamos hasta 15 viajes al mes, cuando lo normal era hacer 5/6 pescando en zonas permitidas, arrojábamos merluza cría por toneladas y la red utilizada era de malla prohibida. A ninguna autoridad del puerto —hoy de Mario Das Neves— se le ocurría pensar cómo puede ser que este buque haga este récord e inspeccionarlo: todo estaba arreglado, jamás nadie midió redes, controló el navegador satelital para ver donde pescó el buque y ninguna autoridad Nacional o Provincial controlaba el uso de dispositivos selectivos de captura de juveniles. El arreglo, ayer como hoy, sigue en pie y se nota más en época de verano, pues la merluza arrima a la costa a desovar en el área de veda. El oír hoy a funcionarios, diputados, senadores, Prefectura, hablar del tema pesca me causa risa: son los mismos de ayer, representantes de sus provincias que hoy se rasgan las vestiduras por la falta de pescado y la crisis social generada por la depredación que impulsaron impunemente.

El Congreso, en sus comisiones de pesca e intereses marítimos, jamás hizo nada por la pesca a pesar de los informes de la UBA ilegalidades en los permisos de pesca, informes científicos de prestigiosos profesionales de INIDEP, auditorias de la AGN, denuncias, investigaciones periodísticas, en consonancia con los representantes provinciales "incentivados" por ciertas empresas para ello. Hoy mediante la SAGPyA lanzan a la opinión pública que los informes de la UBA eran "incorrectos", luego de cansarse de publicar a través de la secretaria que estos informes habían sido robados el mismo día de su entrega y que, a pesar de los supuestos controles, al ingreso y egreso de la misma, la investigación abierta sumariada en la propia SAGPyA se cerró sin ninguna explicación ni responsables.

Aún durante el periodo militar, navegando en buques tangoneros o marisqueros factorías, inicié mi experiencia en la emblemática Conarpesa la cual por ser su objetivo el marisco toda otra captura arrojaba al mar, así todas las especies como lenguado, abadejo, bacalao astral y hasta merluza negra se tiraba para podrirse el fondo marino sin triturar, lo mismo sucede hoy.

Ayer como hoy, cada vez que el avión despegaba de Comodoro le avisaban a sus buques los cuales escapaban de las zonas de veda de langostino. Además, todos los buques utilizaban redes de malla pequeña, casi como una media de red de mujer, cosa de que nada se escapara sin utilizar entonces dispositivo alguno de selectividad de juveniles. Ayer como hoy nada cambió; aumentó la corrupción al crecer el poderío económico de las empresas y su impunidad, cada infracción esta justipreciada y si ella llega a la Dirección de Pesca duerme por años hasta desaparecer en el marasmo de impunidad que el Gobierno brinda para así agrandar su caja (Ver "casos testigo" al pie).

Transcribo unos párrafos del expediente 15.962/2002 por su sarcasmo. Es el caso de uno de los subsecretarios de pesca de la Nación, Daniel García. "El Sr. García a fojas 1478, dice conocer el informe UBA pero sus ocupaciones no le permitieron en tiempo y forma avanzar en el tema"… El Sr. García en funciones como subsecretario vivía en el departamento de la empresa Conarpesa en el pasaje Basavilbaso al cual lo llevaba el propio chofer de la SAGPyA "Blanquito" diariamente... Este tema fue públicamente conocido como así también el poder que desplegaba el Sr. Aspillaga ejecutivo de Conarpesa en la Subsecretaría de Pesca y su relación estrecha con García, que además de subsecretario era un empleado… Su último acto, dictó una "recomendación" al secretario de Agricultura el día 1º de agosto del 2002 día final de sus funciones, que se concretara el informe UBA, atribuyendo públicamente su remoción a su "interés en el informe UBA". García omitió la denuncia penal al respecto y sin haber jamás tomado medida alguna al respecto a las ilegalidades de los buques, públicas y tratadas en actas".

Más memoria

Al ex subsecretario García lo sucedió Rubén Marziale, quien viabilizó el ingreso de la empresa uruguaya Grinfin a San Antonio Este. Vulnerando leyes y normativas, a la fecha, esa firma envía el pescado a Uruguay para manufacturarlo y agregarle valor en su país. La empresa "madre" es Frypur subsidiada por el Estado de Uruguay, a la cual jamás se le controla nada, permitiendo tire todo tipo de especies al mar menos merluza.

Cabe señalar que, durante el periodo que trabajé en la firma de mención, la misma no arrojaba merluza juvenil al mar; lenguados, salmones, meros y, abadejos sí, pues su objetivo es la merluza y la pequeña la envasaban en aceite al vacío para exportarla al norte de Europa.

A esta altura, hay que remarcar que el Sr. Hugo Moyano, líder del sindicato camionero, permite con su omisión cómplice que camiones matriculados en Uruguay lleven el pescado argentino a la vecina orilla sin obligar a la empresa a utilizar camiones nacionales.

Moyano, para más datos, ha iniciado cantidad de medidas de protesta a otras pesqueras por temas menores pero a la uruguaya Grinfin le brinda protección e impunidad en la Argentina ¿Por cuánto o por qué contraprestación de poder lo hace?

La corrupción siempre está documentada

11 de Marzo de 2003 – La Procuración del Tesoro de la Nación emitió el dictamen 163/03, estableciendo la nulidad de las Resoluciones SAGyPA 182 y 45 de 1999 y que debía promoverse la nulidad en sede judicial. Los buques involucrados – en el informe de la UBA – continúan pescando ilegalmente a la fecha de marzo de 2004. A la fecha todo sigue igual lo que cambio es el estado del caladero cada vez hay menos pescado y nadie saca los buques ilegales del mismo, ni toma medidas en resarcimiento del Estado nacional por el usufructo ilegal de recursos naturales

2002-2003. – El sistema de monitoreo satelital Mompesat, reconocido en el mundo como el más seguro, fue deliberadamente dejado caer por el Subsecretario de la SAGyPA, Gerardo Nieto; acto que benefició a los buques que pescaron durante la veda de 2002-2003, produciéndose un desmesurado aumento en la capturas de merluza. Entre otras irregularidades, el Subsecretario Nieto, de procedencia santacruceña, omitió aplicar las sanciones correspondientes a la empresa Conarpesa, cuyos buques fueran detectados dentro de la zona de veda, creada para la protección y cría de langostinos. Estos hechos de la violación de la zona de veda, fueron denunciados por empresas rivales.

Julio 2002– Es emitido el Dictamen N°69/02 de la Auditoría General de la Nación (dependiente del Congreso de la Nación) que analiza el sector desde marzo de 1998 hasta julio de 2001. Comprueba numerosas irregularidades y violaciones a la Ley Federal de Pesca y al Art. 41 de la Constitución Nacional. Emite recomendaciones hasta la fecha incumplidas y denuncia la depredación.

Gerardo Nieto, funcionario y lobbysta impune. Prueba

Acta Nº 7, CFP, 2001- Transferencia del b/p Austral I al b/p Mar Austral I. A requerimiento del representante de la Provincia de Santa Cruz, Sr. Gerardo Nieto, se acuerda por unanimidad solicitar a la Autoridad de Aplicación, para la próxima reunión, que informe sobre el estado de situación de la transferencia del permiso de pesca del b/p Austral I al b/p Navemar Austral I, perteneciente a Pesquera Galfrio SA, y en caso de corresponder, el pronto despacho de la misma, recordando que por nota CFP N°60/2001 se remitió a la DNPyA una nota de la firma mencionada por la que se solicitaba al CFP que intercediera para que el trámite pendiente fuera finalizado.

El propio consejero Nieto, luego devenido en Subsecretario K de Pesca por su gestión cuidadosa de los intereses de las empresas del sector protagónico, pide la transferencia, y hasta la aceleración del trámite. Todos los integrantes del CFP tenían conocimiento que el buque tenia mayor capacidad de bodega, notificados del embargo de la AFIP. Además, sumado al embargo de los tripulantes inscripto en la Dirección de Pesca, por no abonar los créditos adeudados a los mismos en franca violación a la LCT y a la Ley de Procedimientos Administrativos. Así se "motorizo" la transferencia ilegal del permiso de pesca del Australiº al mar Australiº.

El modus operandi de nuestros gobiernos

Cada gobierno aprende del anterior, porque un grupo de funcionarios clave sigue trabajando en la SAGPyA y DNP desde hace más de 30 años. Siempre quedan funcionarios del gobierno anterior para enseñar a los que se suceden en la cúpula cómo cuidar los intereses empresarios y agrandar una caja jugosa.

Cada gobierno también se encarga de tener su propio personero en las empresas, y hoy gracias al CFP, pueden repartirse el caladero y no pisarse unos a otros. Los consejeros más audaces devienen a veces en subsecretarios. Los gobiernos utilizan la pesca como moneda de cambio con gobiernos y empresas extranjeras y la actividad interna como millonaria caja propia.

Seguiré en las próximas entregas contándoles cómo sigue el colapso del caladero, y lo comprenderán con total claridad. Desde mi lugar, escribo sobre la pesca, los recursos marítimos y fluviales, vías navegables y puertos. Muchos escriben sobre otros sectores, y el modus operandi es replicado con las particularidades de cada explotación.

Nuestra realidad de pobreza e indignidad sólo se explica por la corrupción de nuestros funcionarios. Los funcionarios y sus jefes —los Kirchner— muestran el máximo status de impunidad gracias a la falta de Justicia que deja a la Nación a la deriva.

JOSÉ MARÍA PEMÁN: PRESIDENTE DE LA COMISIÓN DE CULTURA Y ENSEÑANZA

¡Pemán! Poeta del engaño y la mentira, que conduces un burro por Pegaso, tus versos atormentan al Parnaso
y destrozan las cuerdas de la lira.

Al pasado tu numen se retira y canta la barbarie y el atraso;
la maldita epopeya del fracaso de una casta traidora que delira.

Latebroso poeta sin entraña, que el obispo acompaña con la vela;
de la tierra sin luz, polichinela que pasas arrojando como araña, como viejo patriota de cazuela, tu veneno mortal a nuestra España.

Roger de Flor*

José María Pemán, juglar de la Dictadura de Primo de Rivera, del franquismo, y responsable de la persecución y depuración de los maestros existentes en la República:

COMISIÓN DE CULTURA Y ENSEÑANZA
Circular de los Vocales de las Comisiones Depuradoras de Instrucción Pública:

Innecesario resulta hacer presente a los señores Vocales de las Comisiones depuradoras del personal docente la transcendencia de la sagrada misión que hoy tienen en sus manos. Con pensar que la perspectiva del resurgir de una España mejor de la que hemos venido contemplando estos años, está en razón directa de la justicia y escrupulosidad que pongan en la depuración del Magisterio en todos sus grados, está dicho todo.

El carácter de la depuración que hoy se persigue no es solo punitivo, sino también preventivo. Es necesario garantizar a los españoles, que con las armas en la mano y sin regateos de sacrificios y sangre salvan la causa d.e la civilización, que no se volverá a tolerar, ni menos a proteger y subvencionar a los envenenadores del alma popular, primeros y mayores responsables de todos los crímenes y destrucciones que sobrecogen al mundo y han sembrado de duelo la mayoría de los hogares honrados de España. No compete a las Comisiones depuradoras el aplicar las penas que los Códigos señalan a los autores por inducción, por estar reservada esta facultad a los Tribunales de justicia, pero si proponer ia separación inexorable de sus funciones magistrales de cuantos directa o indirectamente han contribuido a sostener y propagar a los partidos, ideario e Instituciones del llamado Frente Popular. Los individuos que integran esas hordas revolucionarias, cuyos desmanes tanto espanto causan, son sencillamente los hijos espirituales de catedráticos y profesores que, a través de instituciones como la llamada "Libre de Enseñanza", forjaron generaciones incrédulas y anárquicas. Si se quiere hacer fructífera la sangre de nuestros mártires es preciso combatir resueltamente el sistema seguido desde hace más de un siglo de honrar y enaltecer a los inspiradores del mal, mientras se reservaban los castigos para las masas víctimas de sus engaños.

Tres propuestas pueden formular las Comisiones depuradoras, conforme a la Orden de 10 de noviembre, a saber: 1ª Libre absolución para aquellos que puestos en entredicho hayan desvanecido los cargos de haber cooperado directa o indirectamente a la formación del ambiente revolucionario. 2º Traslado para aquellos que, siendo profesional y moralmente intachables, hayan simpatizado con los titulados partidos nacionalistas vasco, catalán, navarro, gallego, etcétera, sin haber tenido participación directa ni indirecta con la subversión comunista-separatista y 3ª Separación definitiva del servicio para todos los que hayan militado en los partidos del "Frente Popular" o Sociedades secretas, muy especialmente con posterioridad a la revolución de Octubre y de un modo general los que perteneciendo o no a estas agrupaciones hayan simpatrizado con ellas u orientado su enseñanza o actuación profesional en el mismo sentido disolvente que las informa.

Las Comisiones depuradoras, al dirigirse a cualquier autoridad o particular en demanda de informes, deberán hacerles presente la gravísima responsabilidad en que incurren para con Dios y con la Patria ocultando determinados extremos, cuando no, llegando a falsear los hechos, valiéndose de reprobables reservas mentales o sentimentalismos extemporáneos. También se ha de combatir y de hacer público, para perpetua vergüenza del que en tal falta de ciudadanía incurra el nombre de quienes aleguen indebidamente desconocer los hechos o las personas sobre los que se interesen informes. Sería indigno que al heroísmo de nuestros oficiales, soldados y voluntarios que en las líneas de fuego desafían a la muerte soñando con una España mejor, correspondieran con la cobardía y falta de valor cívico las personas que gozan de la paz de las retaguardias.

Si todos cuantos forman parte de las Comisiones depuradoras se compenetran de esta manera de pensar y la transmiten en patriótico contagio a aquellos que han de coadyuvar a su labor con sus informes, es cosa segurísima que antes de mucho tiempo, en esta España que hoy contemplamos destruida, empobrecida y enjuiada, una vez restaurado su genio y tradición nacional, veremos amanecer en alborada jubilosa un nuevo siglo de oro para gloria de la Cristiandad, de la Civilización y de España."

Burgos, 7 de diciembre de 1936.

El Presidente de la Comisión de Cultura y Enseñanza, José María Pemán.

Boletín Oficial del Estado.—Burgos, 10 de diciembre de 1936.—Número 52

"Como ejemplo de los excesos de entusiasmo suscitados por la oratoria se cita el incidente del 12 de octubre de 1936 cuando se conmemoraba en el paraninfo de la Universidad de Salamanca el Día de la Raza. Pemán asistió expresamente invitado por el Rector Miguel de Unamuno. Comenzó a hablar el dominico Vicente Beltrán de Heredia, catedrático de «Ciencia Escolástica», y fue seguido por Pemán, que leyó un texto de exaltación de la juventud española, con pronunciamientos en torno a su tesis favorita de los españoles como pueblo de Dios y la impactante apelación a «España y siempre España y nada más que España». Le siguió el profesor Francisco Maldonado de Guevara en el mismo estilo. Ambos desarrollaron sus vibrantes «oraciones universitarias de Hispanidad» en las que, como reconoció Pemán, existió un exceso de vehemencia.

*Fue a continuación cuando Unamuno se levantó y pronunció sus célebres airadas palabras donde al «Venceréis pero no convenceréis, venceréis porque tenéis la fuerza pero no convenceréis porque os falta la razón» del rector de la Universidad replicó el tuerto y manco general Millán Astray, por entonces en la propaganda de Franco, con un «¡Mueran los intelectuales!».." ***

Durante el franquismo, Pemán fue llamado el "ingenio del régimen" y tuvo a bien llevarse todos los premios convocados en concursos y justas poéticas, como en los Juegos Florales de Sagunto, del año 1956, con su Oda a la paella:

¡Oh insigne sinfonía de todos los colores!
¡Oh ilustre paella
por fuera con su blusa de colores,
quemadita por dentro con ansias de doncella!
¡Oh policromo plato colorista que antes que con el gusto se come con la vista!
Concentración de glorias donde nada se deja.
Compromiso de Caspe entre el pollo y la almeja.
¡Oh plato decisivo:
gremial y colectivo!
¡Oh plato delicioso
donde todo es hermoso
y todo se distingue, pero nada está roto!
¡Oh plato liberal donde un grano es un grano como un hombre es un voto!

José María Pemán

Por no hablar de su brutal antisemitismo en una época de exterminio de los judíos, en obras como su Poema de la Bestia y el Angel, o cómo llamaba "quema de rastrojo" al exterminio planificado pueblo por pueblo de los republicanos, aplaudiendo y siendo soporte intelectual de todas esas masacres. SUBIDA DEL 4% DE LA ELECTRICIDAD: 26% DESDE EL AÑO 2008

"Endesa registró un beneficio neto de 1.535 millones de euros durante el primer trimestre del año, lo que supone triplicar las ganancias obtenidas en el mismo periodo del ejercicio anterior. La mejora en las ganancias se debió principalmente a los 881 millones de euros generados por la operación de integración de Endesa Cogeneración y Renovables (Ecyr) en Enel Green Power, filial de Enel, así como a la venta de un 1% en Red Eléctrica de España (REE) por 51 millones."

La factura eléctrica en España es cinco veces más cara que en la Unión Europea.

AMNISTÍA INTERNACIONAL: ESPAÑA NO CUMPLE LA LEY DE COMERCIO DE ARMAS

El gobierno sigue sin cumplir la Ley de comercio de armas aprobada en 2007

El Ejecutivo continua autorizando ventas a países donde no se respetan los derechos humanos y existen conflictos bélicos, entre ellos Sri Lanka, Colombia y Guinea Conakry

Las organizaciones Amnistía Internacional, Fundació per la Pau, Greenpeace e Intermón Oxfam denuncian que el Gobierno español sigue sin aplicar la Ley 53/2007, que regula el comercio exterior de armamento y material de doble uso. Las ventas del primer semestre de 2009 demuestran que se está vendiendo material de defensa a países donde no se respetan los derechos humanos como Colombia, Marruecos, Sri Lanka, Tailandia y Guinea Conakry.

"Han pasado más de dos años desde que se aprobó la ley, y las ONG reclamamos más claridad y transparencia, y más rigor a la hora de aplicarla", ha declarado Francisco Yermo, de Intermón Oxfam. "Es incomprensible que el Gobierno no explique qué criterios utiliza para autorizar estas ventas, o qué informes maneja para la evaluar la situación de los países de destino".

Los datos del primer semestre de 2009, aportados por el Ministerio de Comercio, muestran que España exportó material de defensa por valor de 411,1 millones de euros, lo que supone un aumento del 64,5% sobre el mismo periodo del año anterior.

Además, se vendieron casi 4,7 millones de euros en material policial y de seguridad (antidisturbios), y casi 19 millones de euros en armas de caza y tiro deportivo y sus municiones (las autorizaciones para armas de caza y tiro deportivo superaron los 41 millones de euros). Respecto al material de doble uso, se vendieron más de 45 millones de euros. En total, las exportaciones realizadas de material de defensa, otro material y doble uso sumaron más de 437 millones de euros, y las autorizadas sumaron más de 1.200 millones.

La Ley 53/2007 regula estas ventas, y establece que no se autorizarán transferencias a lugares donde estas armas puedan ser utilizadas para cometer violaciones de los derechos humanos o del derecho internacional humanitario (DIH), donde haya riesgo de desvío a otros países, etc. También establece que a la hora de autorizar exportaciones, el Gobierno debe tener en cuenta los informes de instituciones internacionales como la ONU y organizaciones de derechos humanos.

Pese a ello, se han seguido produciendo exportaciones a destinos preocupantes. Entre ellos figuran Marruecos, con 29,5 millones de euros; Colombia con 31 millones; Arabia Saudí, con casi 5 millones, y otros como Pakistán, Sri Lanka o Tailandia. En todos ellos, por diferentes razones, la situación de conflicto o las violaciones de los derechos humanos son graves.

Así, en Sri Lanka, mientras se estaban recibiendo informes creíbles de Naciones Unidas y ONG según los cuales ambas partes en conflicto habían cometido crímenes de guerra, España autorizó exportaciones por valor de 1,1 millones de euros en la categoría de "bombas, torpedos, cohetes y misiles".

Por otro lado, España sigue siendo un vendedor significativo de armas de caza y tiro deportivo y sus municiones a países del África Subsahariana. A Ghana se le han vendido desde 2004 más de 15 millones de euros en armas y munición de caza. Según las estadísticas de Comercio Exterior de la Agencia Tributaria, entre junio y diciembre de 2009 se exportaron a este país 3,46 millones de euros en munición de caza. Este país está ubicado en una zona de gran inestabilidad y rodeado de países en conflicto o posconflicto.

Pero quizá en este periodo, la noticia más preocupante son las ventas a Guinea Conakry, con 1,48 millones de euros de exportaciones realizadas de cartuchos de escopeta, con destinatario final 100% privado, y otros 1,9 millones de euros autorizados. En 2008 hubo en este país un golpe de Estado condenado por la comunidad internacional, incluida la Unión Africana, así como una brutal represión. Tanto la Comunidad Económica de África Occidental como la UE han impuesto un embargo de armas a este país. En este contexto, los cartuchos de escopeta pueden contribuir a exacerbar la tensión interna o caer en manos de las fuerzas de seguridad.

"El Gobierno español debe explicar con claridad qué precauciones ha tomado para evitar esto, y qué garantías ha obtenido de que no van a ser usadas para violar los derechos humanos", ha subrayado Sabina Puig, portavoz de Amnistía Internacional.

¿Aviones no tripulados a Israel?

Informaciones publicadas en los últimos días señalan que la empresa española Aries, Ingeniería y Sistemas alcanzó en 2009 un acuerdo con la compañía israelí Goldtech Technologies. Fuentes de la empresa han reconocido que esto podría ser primer paso para la venta de "tecnología e ingeniería de aviones no tripulados", también conocidos como 'drones' o UAV, "y catapultas de lanzamiento". Entre los principales clientes de Goldtech Technologies se encuentran el ejército y el Ministerio de Defensa israelí.

Las ONG expresan su profunda preocupación y señalan que si estas operaciones se concretan se estaría incumpliendo de forma flagrante las disposiciones de la ley. Por ello reclaman al Gobierno que explique si ha autorizado o va a autorizar alguna operación de este tipo, y en ese caso cómo ha evaluado el riesgo de que puedan utilizarse para cometer violaciones de los derechos humanos o del DIH. "Por el tipo de producto de que se trata, y por el país de destino, una exportación de este tipo violaría todas las líneas rojas establecidas en la Ley", ha afirmado Mabel González, de Greenpeace. También vuelven a reclamar al Gobierno español que suspenda todas las transferencias de munición, equipo y ayuda militar a Israel mientras no se pruebe de una manera clara y evidente que no contribuyen a la comisión de violaciones de derechos humanos o del DIH.

Falta voluntad política para aplicar la Ley

Las organizaciones acogieron la entrada en vigor de la Ley 53/2007 como un avance porque abría paso a mejoras en el control y transparencia del comercio exterior de armamento y material de doble uso. En algunos casos esto se ha producido, por ejemplo las armas de caza y tiro deportivo están ahora sujetas a control como el resto del material, y hay más control parlamentario.

Sin embargo, dos años después, muchas preguntas siguen sin responderse y se sigue vendiendo material a destinos muy preocupantes. "Dos años es un plazo más que razonable para lograr una aplicación correcta de la ley, que evite que se siga vendiendo armas a destinos donde su uso puede tener consecuencias muy graves. Exigimos al Gobierno más rigor y una aplicación correcta que hasta ahora no se ha producido", explica Jordi Armadans, de la Fundació per la Pau.

ROMANCE DE LANZAROTE Y EL CIERVO DEL PIE BLANCO

16.- LANZAROTE Y EL CIERVO DEL PIE BLANCO

El rey tenía tres hijos,
todos tres los maldecía:
Uno se le volvió perro,
que en cadenas lo tenía;
otro se le volvió moro,
moro de la morería,
y el otro se volvió ciervo,
ciervo que al monte se iría.
-No me pesaba del perro,
sino el alma que perdía;
ni me pesaba del moro,
sino en la ley que vivía, que come la carne en viernes
y bebe del agua fría.
De quien me pesa es del ciervo, que por los montes corría
comiendo manos de hombre,
que otra cosa no comía.-
A la puerta de la iglesia a pregonar un día que al que le trajese el ciervo mil ducados le daría
y a la infanta coronada, con ella le casaría.
Salen duques, salen condes,
y el ciervo no parecía.
Baltasar se alabó
entre las damas un día que él solo mataba al ciervo, solito, sin compañía.

Baltasar tenía un caballo que al par del viento corría;
cogió la espada en la mano,
   la su espada guarnecida,
se tiró ese lomo abajo,
   se tiró ese lomo arriba
y ha encontrado un ermitaño que hacía la santa vida:
-Por Dios te pido, ermitaño,
   y por la Virgen María,
ese ciervo del pie blanco ¿donde tendría su guarida?
-Por aquí ha pasado un ciervo tres horas antes del día,
comiendo manos de hombre,
   que otra cosa no comía;
no deja duques ni condes,
   ni cosa que sea viva.-
-Arriba, caballo, arriba, con mi espada guarnecida,
tengo de matar al ciervo aunque me cueste la vida.-
Allí lo hallara durmiendo al pie de una fuente fría.
El ciervo, de que lo oyó,
   a Baltasar se vendría:
-Yo bien sabía, Baltasar,
   que en busca mía venías, aquel que te mandó acá
   poco estimaba tu vida.-
Allí formaron la guerra, Baltasar la vencería:
le mató cuatro leones
   y una leona parida;
lo amarra de pies y manos
   y con el ciervo camina.
Desque los vio el rey venir,
   de contento lloraría:
-Vamos a contar monedas,
   que para ti las tenía.
-Yo no quiero las monedas, que yo monedas tenía,
lo que quiero es a la infanta que me tiene prometida;
si palabra de rey vale,
   debiera de ser cumplida.

Se cantaba ya en el siglo XV. Nebrixa cita este "romance antiguo" dos veces en su Gramática sobre la lengua castellana, impresa en Salamanca en 1492, para ejemplificar dos características métricas de los romances viejos: la asonancia (el consonar sólo las vocales) y el verso de "diez e seis sílabas". En el primer caso, los versos citados son:

-Digas tú, el hermitaño, que hazes la vida santa:

Aquel ciervo del pie blanco ¿dónde haze su morada?.
-Por aquí passó esta noche un ora antes del alva.

y en el segundo:

-Digas tú, el ermitaño, que hazes la santa vida,
aquel ciervo del pie blanco ¿dónde haze su manida?

Aunque quepa pensar que Nebrixa conociera el romance en dos versiones de distinto asonante, me inclino a creer que se trataba de un texto en que se daban estrofas paralelas (no necesariamente en "pareados"), tal como aún ocurre con romances de la tradición del siglo XX (sobre todo en el muy conservador romancero sefardí de Marruecos).

Este diálogo, que ha pervivido casi inalterado en la tradición oral durante más de medio millar de años, formaba parte de una narración que, en la única versión completa publicada en el siglo XVI (en el Cancionero de Romances de Amberes, 1550), comenzaba más o menos como nuestro texto:

Tres hijuelos avía el rey, tres hijuelos, que no más,
por enojo que uvo d'ellos,
todos malditos los ha;
El uno se tornó ciervo,
el otro se tornó can,
el otro se tornó moro,
passó las aguas del mar;

aunque, como aquí vemos, en asonante –á, no en –í.a. Tras esta presentación del "ciervo", el cual va a ser el verdadero protagonista del romance, se nos sitúa, bruscamente en un primer escenario, descrito en asonante –á.o:

Andávase Lançarote
entre las damas holgando, grandes bozes dio la una:
Cavallero, estad parado...

Y en él se nos explica la razón de la "quête", 'demanda' o búsqueda del "ciervo del pie blanco": es que la dama (¿la "dueña de Quintañones" a la cuál maldice el ermitaño al fin del romance?) le exige esa búsqueda como prueba de amor, en calidad de "arras" al ofrecérsele en casamiento. Sólo en la escena en que Lanzarote asume la empresa surge el asonante –í.a (sin huellas del otro asonante –á.a que aún pervivía en paralelo a fines del siglo XV). En esta escena, la respuesta del ermitaño ofrece adicionales detalles que enlazan con la tradición oral del siglo XX:

-Por aquí passó esta noche dos horas antes del día, siete leones con él
y una leona parida;
siete condes dexa muertos
y mucha cavallería.
Siempre Dios te guarde, hijo, por doquier que fuer tu yda, que quien acá te embió
no te quería dar la vida.

Sin embargo, esta versión antigua, rematada con la maldición ("¡de mal fuego seas ardida!") dirigida a la "dueña de Quintañones" que ha conducido a la muerte a "tanto buen cavallero", deja intencionadamente la historia envuelta en misterio e incertidumbre. Es posible que este "fragmento" de historia, constituído por la "presentación" del ciervo como un ser humano maldito y las dos escenas reseñadas, fuera, en una novela caballeresca del ciclo arturiano, parte de un amplio episodio; pero para el "buen gusto" poético de los cantores de romances viejos no era ya perentorio conocer ese "todo" de donde este "fragmento" se hubiera desgajado; habían apeado a la "historia" de su papel dominante: en la falta de hilación lógica (que llevó a críticos racionalistas a creerlo compuesto de elementos heterogéneos) estriba la gracia del romance, ya que deja para la imaginación del oyente la tarea de dar sentido a las enigmáticas palabras del ermitaño con que el "fragmento" se remata sin que dé fin la empresa del caballero, en la cual se resolverían, de paso, los misterios. Los medievalistas han podido documentar el tema del "ciervo del pie blanco" en otras obras de la literatura arturiana, el Lai de Tyolet y el Roman van Lancelot holandés; pero el detalle de las conexiones entre ellas no ha llegado a ser esclarecido, con lo cual los lectores del romance enemigos de las narraciones enigmáticas no hallarán consuelo en el conocimiento de la crítica comparatista.

No ocurrió así con los cantores del romance. Para que, en tradiciones muy apartadas entre sí, perviviera viva durante siglos la memoria del misterioso tema del terrible "ciervo del pie blanco", el romance tuvo que ser estructurado como "cuento", dotado de desenlace que le otorgara sentido. No obstante, en una de las versiones modernas (la asturiana, a que enseguida aludiré), las palabras del "ciervo del pie blanco" (trasmutado en "toro del cuello pinto"), malherido en el combate, que cierran la historia resultan casi tan enigmáticas como las de la versión del siglo XVI, al afirmar que, si le mata el caballero, "la hija del aldragón / mañana se casaría".

Este fantástico romance, que aún nos sigue situando en un escenario propio de la novelística artúrica, se ha conservado sobre todo en la tradición canaria (donde pude documentarlo ampliamente en 1986); fuera de ella, ha sido recogido en Almería, en 1914 (por el presbítero Sáez); en Segorbe (Castellón), de una cantora procedente de Beas de Segura (Jaén), en 1974 (por Francisco Romero), y en una braña de Luarca, Argumosín, cantada por una vaqueira de 83 años. en 1992 (por Jesús Suárez). Una supuesta versión cacereña (aunque ha sido objeto de un estudio erudito por un ingenuo comentarista) es uno de los muchos originalísimos productos etnográficos creados en la oficina de atracción turística de Caminomorisco/ Aceitunilla, que con tanto éxito ha convertido a ese perdido rincón de Las Hurdes en centro de ocio suprarregional. Los falsarios merecen un destacado lugar en la Historia, aunque sea responsabilidad de la Ciencia discriminar sus fabricaciones.

BERNARD HENRI-LÉVY DEFIENDE A ISRAEL CONTRA LA DESINFORMACIÓN

Bernard Henri-Levy formó parte de los jóvenes filósofos franceses, lo que es un contrasentido, porque ni era joven, ni filósofo, ni francés. Ahora, en un artículo en Libération defiende a Israel contra la desinformación que supone no incluir a Egipto entre los culpables, y nos pone a caldo a los que opinamos que está feo sitiar una población y cortar el paso a los víveres y productos de primera necesidad. Y que eso de liarla parda en aguas internacionales contra un barco lleno de víveres y de bobos bienintencionados y desarmados, también está muy feo. Más que pegarle a un padre con un calcetín sudado o soltarle un lapo.

Botul*, su maestro, su referente absoluto contra Kant, puede que sea quien le haya informado de que, cada día, entre cien y ciento veinte camiones llevan a Gaza víveres, medicamentos, y todo lo necesario. Sólo impiden el paso a las armas que los terroristas pueden usar contra la población civil israelí.

Entre Rafael Schutz, el embajador de Israel en España, y Henri-Lévy, van a conseguir que me den lástima los sionistas. Por muy criminales que sean, nadie se merece estos aliados.

Y, hablando de otra cosa: no sé si los intelectuales y hombres de letras europeos se parecen cada vez más a los curicas capones y melifluos, que venían a predicarnos resignación y buenas maneras, o es que me lo hace a mí la vista...

¡Qué pedrada tienen!

Gatopardo

NOTA:

* El autor mencionó a un filósofo inventado. Bernard-Henri Lévy reconoce que le han 'pillado'

Jean-Baptiste Botul no existe, pero Bernard-Henri Lévy (BHL) ha demostrado lo contrario citándolo como referencia académica de sus tesis antikantianas. El filósofo 'chic', en efecto, menciona las conferencias de Botul en la Pampa y recurre a unas reflexiones aireadas en Paraguay. Ignorando que Botul es un invento del profesor y sátiro Frédéric Pagès. Suyo es el 'Diario de Carla B' (Carla Bruni) que aparece los miércoles en semanario 'Le Canard Echaîné' y suya fue también la idea de engendrar a un pensador postkantiano y extravagante.

"Resulta que fue una patraña", admitió BHL en la web de su revista 'La Regle du Jeu'. "Fue una patraña realmente brillante y muy creíble. Así que me han pillado, a mí y a los críticos que leyeron el libro cuando se publicó. Así que lo único que puedo decir, sin remordimientos, es: ¡Felicidades al artista!".

Llama la atención que BHL no se percatara de semejante travestismo. Y que concediera valor filosófico a las absurdas obras de Botul. Entre ellas 'La vida sexual de Kant' y 'Landru, precursor del feminismo', ambas escritas con la pluma impostora de Pagès. El desliz de Henri Lévy recorre la web, los mentideros y la prensa seria. De hecho, fue un artículo aparecido en 'Le Nouvel Observateur' el que alertó del traspiés de BHL. Grave e insólito en la medida en que el filósofo francés cita a Botul para demoler a Kant.

"Después de la Segunda Guerra Mundial, y en una serie de conferencias a los neokantianos de Paraguay, Botul les demuestra que su héroe es un falso abstracto, un puro espíritu de pura apariencia", escribe BHL a propósito de la tesis antikantiana.

Semejante conclusión puede leerse en la página 122 de *'De la guerra en filosofía'. Un compendio de reflexiones publicado por la editorial Grasset que el propio autor considera como la quintaesencia de sus valientes posicionamientos filosóficos.

Así se explica el revuelo y hasta el escarnio que han suscitado sus elogios al pensamiento de Botul. La voz aparece en la enciclopedia Wikipedia, aunque los pormenores biográficos, la trayectoria vital (1896-1947) y el catálogo de sus obras no pueden sustraerse a la advertencia preliminar del texto: "personaje ficticio creado por Frédéric Pagès".

Quede claro, además, que el pensamiento de Botul y sus libros se articulan siempre en el sarcasmo y la extravagancia. Empezando por el siniestro Landru, a quien el filósofo inexistente le atribuye un tesoro epistolar y un papel de pionero en el movimiento feminista.

Hablamos de Henri Désiré Landru, cuyo apodo, 'Barba Azul', hizo correr ríos de sangre y de tinta a cuenta de su historial de asesino en serie. Mató y desolló a 11 mujeres, de modo que sus razones protofeministas interesaron a Botul y dieron origen a un libro. No lo ha tenido en cuenta Henri Lévy, pero el filósofo francés sí parece haber otorgado credibilidad a 'La vida sexual de Kant'. Necesitaba leña para quemar al maestro de Königsberg y para demonizarlo entre las páginas de 'De la guerra en filosofía'.

Hasta el extremo de que lo califica como "un loco furioso del pensamiento y un enrabietado del concepto". Tiene sus propias razones BHL, pero apela igualmente a las de Botul como garante de su diatriba al autor de la 'Crítica de la razón pura'.

Queda en entredicho la oleada publicitaria, mercadotécnica y mediática que había preparado Henri Lévy para divulgar sus dos últimas obras. El filósofo se deja fotografiar moreno y altivo en las entrevistas que concede a los semanarios de gran tirada. También se ha multiplicado en los platós televisivos y en los programas radiofónicos, pero el caso Botul amenaza con relativizar la campaña y hasta la credibilidad de sus textos.

Más aún cuando él mismo escribe que "la verdadera cuestión para un filósofo estriba en saber cuáles son sus adversarios y no sus aliados". Puede tener razón, aunque el procedimiento selectivo podría utilizarse para distinguir a los existentes de los inexistentes.

Comenzando por Jean-Baptiste Botul. Sus hitos y su leyenda han dado nombre a un premio literario que se entrega sistemáticamente a un miembro del jurado. Mérito de la ironía de Frédéric Pagès, cuyos deberes de paternidad respecto al filósofo fantasma explican la construcción de una biografía. Se le atribuyen a Botul amores con Marie Bonaparte y con Simone de Beauvoir. También se le relaciona con Zapata y con Pancho Villa. En ambos casos antes de divulgar en la Pampa la palabra de Kant.

Los soldados se comportaron como lo que son, soldados. Pero no por ser israelitas. Claro que desde nuestro sillón, esa naturaleza se nos antoja exótica (y mortal, pero són lo que són) Desde aquí, los mandamos en misiones de paz mientras hacemos todo lo posible para hacernos entre nosotros la puñeta. Somos víctimas de la política, que ha invadido muchos espacios condicionando repuestas individuales y sociales. Un ejemplo es lo del secuestro del pesquero Alakrana por los piratas somalíes. Lo que no era más que un atropello por unos miserables muertos de hambre (¿quién será el primero en quedarse mirando mi dedo?) se vistió de solidaridad y comprensión hacia los verdugos. Yá.

Bernard Henry-Lévy es un gran pensador aunque no os guste. Y tiene derecho a mostrar su opinión. Tanto como tú, o como tú o como aquel. O como Almodovar hablando de..., o como los Bardem de...., y tantos y tantos.

Hasta recuerdo un imbécil elevado a gurú musical, protestando de la visita de Juan Pablo II a Cuba, y le pedía la liberación de presos a Castro, y aquel decía que era una injerencia en los asuntos internos de un país.

MOHATRAS, ADROLLAS, SOCALIÑAS Y ALETAZOS DEL GOBIERNO DE ARAGÓN Y OTROS PECHARDINOS DE MANGA

En las comunidades autónomas españolas no es, como muchos podrían pensar, donde se gestiona el dinero público y se planifica cuidadosamente el presupuesto según las necesidades de la región; sino un paraguas bajo el que guarecer, en un entramado societario de diverso pelaje, cualquier empresa poco realista, sin respaldo de un estudio de viabilidad, y cuya utilidad consista en mantener a un club de zánganos cuyo curriculum profesional suele ser la multipertenencia a las juntas directivas de asociaciones y fundaciones de ignota actividad, que se nutren de subvenciones, cargos y encargos, no todos por el bien público.

En general, en España, ninguna de las empresas públicas valen lo que cuestan. En Aragón, además, no funcionan bajo ningún parámetro empresarial.

Respecto al despilfarro en los entes locales, baste decir que los ayuntamientos de España gastan en sus fiestas patronales el equivalente al presupuesto anual del Ministerio de Educación para bibliotecas y a la totalidad de los fondos destinados por el Estado a la creación de centros tecnológicos de alto nivel.

Este artículo se ha centrado en Aragón por ser una comunidad que pierde alrededor de 2.000 habitantes por año, con un tejido industrial , turístico y comercial en claro declive, y una red de comunicaciones en su territorio deficientes. Es decir, una comunidad sin grandes logros ni proyectos económicamente significativos, que se viene nutriendo de las subvenciones europeas para la agricultura y las infraestructuras, sin haber realizado la requerida modernización para llegar a tener una economía competitiva, y que gasta por encima de sus recursos actuales y sus expectativas futuras.

Zaragoza fue la sede de la Expo 2008, y lo que hubiera sido una buena ocasión de planificar y desarrollar un urbanismo sin manías de grandeza, se ha convertido en un fiasco total: gran parte de los edificios, zonas urbanizadas y paseos ajardinados son invendibles e insostenibles: los cientos de empresas que iban a comprar las oficinas, ni siquiera las quieren alquilar; ese medio millón de personas que iban a venir a vivir a Zaragoza, deslumbrados por la labia de sus ediles, no han aparecido, y los emprendedores cuyas iniciativas ha respaldado Aragón Desarrollo e Inversión, han sido del tipo "Las Vegas en los Monegros", o SAVIA CAPITAL, la apuesta aragonesa por el Capital Riesgo2, rarísimo chiringuito financiero, subvencionad al 100% con dinero público, gestionado por Going Investment Gestión, S.A., SGECR, empresas en las que, en un futuro, no nos extrañaría ver aparecer contratos de 600 € para trabajar en Dubai, facilidades para traspasar las fábricas a Turquía, o cartas con herencias nigerianas...

La Cámara de Cuentas de Aragón, de reciente creación, va a necesitar guías entrenados en Andorra, en los Alpes suizos, y especializados en saltarse los controles aduaneros y desenredar madejas societarias.

BIBLIOTECA VIRTUAL CERVANTES LE HA DEVUELTO SUS HACHES A QUEVEDO

Con la ponderación que me caracteriza, expliqué en Sandios honoris causa en el negociado de cultura(2), que, en la edición de *El Buscón de la Biblioteca Virtual Cervantes, habían "corregido" al autor, y trastocado el significado, cambiando "hética" por "ética," y embozados en el plural mayestático, explicaban: "hemos optado por actualizar ortográficamente los términos cuya comprensión pudiera plantear problemas al lector no especializado.":

El 4 de Julio de 2008, Fiesta Nacional de EE UU, les avisé:

"Hético" y "ético" en El Buscón:

> ¿Quiénes son los hirsutos talentos que han capado la hache cada vez que Quevedo escribe "hético", "hética", etc.?
> Esa impresionante nómina de especialistas que ustedes citan en la Nota preliminar y los que tienen en nómina, ¿no han podido comprobar que "hético" no es lo mismo que "ético"?

Al cabo, compruebo que los responsables de la edición digital me han hecho caso, y han devuelto las haches a su sitio.

Y, con la hética cortesía que caracteriza a los infatuados botarates que medran en el negociado de Cultura español, ni me han dado las gracias.

Comprenderán ustedes que, a partir de ahora, ya no les avise de los otros gazapos perpetrados en sus ediciones, que hacen temblar el Misterio...

En su momento se me olvidó comentarle lo siguiente. Ante el desafuero que usted denunciaba en su certero artículo me tomé la libertad de escribirle al bibliotecario de la web de “Cervantes Virtual”, que lo hay, y le puse el enlace a su bitácora. Sorprendentemente, resulta que me contestó. No recuerdo los términos exactos del mensaje, pero entre otras cosas me dijo: “A pesar de los controles de calidad de la web – que haberlos haylos, esto es mío- a veces se nos cuelan esta pifias”. Yo creo que más que una pifia es que no tenían ni idea del asunto. Pero me alegro que al final lo corrigieran.

Por lo demás decirle que, como usuario de la Enciclopedia Catalana, en tres ocasiones les mandé informes para corregir, no errores gramaticales, sino datos históricos. Y nada, ni me lo agradecieron ni me dieron la Cruz de Sant Jordi, que me hace a mí ilusión tenerla, porque entre otras cosas, supone que cuando se muere uno le ponen una esquela en "La Vanguardia", y mi padre decía que en Cataluña nadie se muere sino tiene una esquela en dicho diario. ¿Se cree usted qué la codiciada medalla se la dieron a Fèlix Millet, principal imputado en el llamado “Saqueo del Palau de la Música”? Besos.

LA JUSTICIA ESPAÑOLA VULNERÓ LOS DERECHOS DE JOSÉ LUIS GUTIÉRREZ, AL CONDENARLO POR UN ARTICULO SOBRE EL NARCOTRÁFICO Y LA FAMILIA REAL DE MARRUECOS

El Tribunal de Estrasburgo concede el amparo al periodista José Luis Gutiérrez, que había sido condenado por publicar una noticia en la que relacionó al rey de Marruecos con el narcotráfico

Fecha: 02/06/2010

"El Tribunal de Estrasburgo ha reconocido que la Justicia española vulneró el derecho a la libertad de expresión del que fuera director del Diario 16 José Luis Gutiérrez Suárez, al condenarle en vía civil por la publicación, en 1995, de un artículo en este periódico en el que se relacionaba a la familia real de Marruecos con el tráfico de droga. La resolución cuenta con el voto discrepante del magistrado esloveno Bostjan M. Zupancic.

El artículo, publicado el 18 de diciembre de 1995 en Diario 16, informaba de la interceptación en Algeciras (Cádiz) de 4,638 toneladas de hachís en el falso fondo de un camión que transportaba fruta de 'Domaines Royaux', la empresa de la familia real de Marruecos bajo el titular: "Cinco toneladas de hachís encontradas en un envío que pertenece a la compañía de Hassan II" y el segundo titular: "La compañía de la familia de Hassan II, implicada en tráfico de droga".

El rey Hassan II interpuso una demanda por vulneración del derecho al honor en un juzgado de Primera Instancia de Madrid el 25 de noviembre de 1997, que avaló el derecho del rey al respeto a su propia imagen.

Esta resolución consideraba que el título del artículo era tendencioso porque no podía demostrarse que los traficantes en cuestión estuviesen relacionados con la empresa de la familia real marroquí. Se condenó a Diario 16 a publicar esta sentencia.

EL TS: TÍTULO DIFAMATORIO

Gutiérrez recurrió ante la Audiencia Provincial de Madrid, que confirmó la condena, y lo mismo hizo el Tribunal Supremo, que manifestó además que tanto el título como el subtítulo del artículo eran difamatorios porque daban a entender a sus lectores que la familia real de Marruecos era cómplice del tráfico ilegal de hachís.

El periodista solicitó el amparo del Tribunal Constitucional que resolvió que el encabezamiento del texto había sembrado dudas en la mente del público sobre la reputación de la familia real de Marruecos.

En última instancia, el director del periódico recurrió ante el Tribunal Europeo de Derechos Humano alegando la vulneración de su derecho a la libertad de expresión, a un juicio imparcial y a no ser discriminado, ya que fue condenado a pesar de no ser ni autor del artículo, ni propietario del periódico.

DERECHO A CONOCER LA INFORMACIÓN

El Tribunal de Estrasburgo recuerda que aquí se contraponen el derecho a la libertad de expresión con el derecho al honor y a la propia imagen, pero, en este caso, avala el derecho de la sociedad española a conocer una información que es de interés general, como puede ser el tráfico de drogas en su territorio y la posible relación del rey Hassan II en ese delito, más cuando los propios tribunales españoles habían abierto una investigación sobre ese tema.
Así, recordó que los tribunales españoles no habían negado la veracidad de la información del cuerpo del artículo. El Tribunal Supremo había declarado que los titulares y no la información en sí misma habían sido difamatorios.
En este sentido, considera el Tribunal de Derechos Humanos que el titular y el contenido del artículo deberían ser vistos en su conjunto ya que, aunque el título va dirigido a atraer la atención del lector, la información que le seguía gozaba de veracidad.
En consecuencia en Tribunal sostiene que la condena fue desproporcionada, pues no se sopesó el daño a la reputación del periodista. Por todo ello, y por seis votos a uno, el tribunal europeo concluye que existió una violación de la libertad de expresión del recurrente."

El representante de Papa en México, Christopher Pierre, consideró necesaria la refundación en la Iglesia católica, a consecuencia de los escándalos protagonizados por sacerdotes que han incurrido en actos malos.

Evitó dar detalles sobre el futuro de la congregación de los Legionarios del Cristo por el comportamiento pederasta

LLAMAMIENTO A LA RAZÓN DE LOS JUDÍOS EUROPEOS A ISRAEL

Judíos europeos: llamamiento a la razon

Ciudadanos de países europeos, judíos, estamos implicados en la vida política y social de nuestros respectivos países. Cualesquiera que sean nuestros itinerarios personales, el vínculo al Estado de Israel forma parte de nuestra identidad. El futuro y la seguridad de este Estado al que estamos indefectiblemente ligados nos preocupan.

Sin embargo, vemos que la existencia de Israel está de nuevo en peligro. Lejos de subestimar la amenaza de sus enemigos exteriores, sabemos que este peligro se encuentra también en la ocupación y la implantación ininterrumpida de los asentamientos en Cisjordania y en los barrios árabes de Jerusalén Este, lo que constituye un error político y una falta moral. Y esto alimenta, además un proceso de deslegitimación inaceptable de Israel como Estado.

Por estos motivos hemos decidido movilizarnos en torno a los siguientes principios :

1. El futuro de Israel pasa necesariamente por el establecimiento de una paz con el pueblo palestino según el principio de “dos Pueblos, dos Estados”. Lo sabemos todos, es urgente. Pronto Israel deberá enfrentarse a una alternativa desastrosa: o convertirse en un Estado donde los Judíos serían minoritarios en su propio país o establecer un régimen que deshonre Israel y lo transforme en un campo de guerra civil.
2. Importa pues que la Unión Europea, al igual que Estados Unidos, ejerza presión sobre las dos partes y les ayude a llegar a una solución razonable y rápida del conflicto israelo-palestino. Europa, por su historia, tiene responsabilidades en esta región del mundo.
3. Si bien la última palabra pertenece al pueblo soberano de Israel, la solidaridad de los Judíos de la Diáspora les obliga a actuar para que esta decisión sea la correcta. La alineación sistemática sobre la política del Gobierno israelí es peligrosa ya que va en contra de los intereses verdaderos del Estado de Israel.
4. Queremos crear un movimiento europeo capaz de hacer oír la voz de la razón a todos. Este movimiento se sitúa más allá de desacuerdos partidistas. Ambiciona trabajar por la supervivencia de Israel como Estado judío y democrático y dicha supervivencia se ve condicionada por la creación de un Estado palestino soberano y viable.

Con esta perspectiva y espíritu invitamos a todos a firmar y hacer firmar este llamamiento

EN ARAGÓN Y EN ESPAÑA, PUFOS CIENTO, Y EN AUMENTO ...

En España, para recortar gastos y establecer controles rigurosos en los presupuestos, el Gobierno socialista ha decidido recortar pensiones a los jubilados y salarios a los funcionarios, en vez de empezar por eliminar cargos de designación directa, consejeros, asesores, entes y entidades inútiles, creados para colocar amigos y distribuirse prebendas en cada Autonomía:

- En Corporaciones locales (Asociación Española de Entidades Locales, Federación Española de Municipios, Empresas Municipales, etc)
- En Consejos Comarcales, y cabildos, con sus correspondientes consejeros, delegados, cargos de libre designación, sociedades comarcales de gestión, sociedades autonómicas. sedes, prebendas, dietas, gastos de representación, etc.
- En Diputaciones Provinciales, con sus correspondientes sueldos y gastos de representación, etc.

Nada más que en el Ayuntamiento de Zaragoza, que no es precisamente New York, se crearon seis Sociedades Mercantiles , varios Institutos municipales, etc. con cargo a los presupuestos del Ayuntamiento de Zaragoza. (1)

En España, hay más de 13.100 corporaciones locales para gestionar los 8.100 municipios (7.500 con menos de 10.000 habitantes), que en sueldos, paniaguados, sinecuras, y dietas, quintuplican ampliamente el presupuesto de los funcionarios españoles. Como ejemplo, vean el presupuesto de sueldos, locales, gastos de representación y nula utilidad de las Comarcas, como la del Bajo Aragón-Caspe / Baix Aragó-Casp, que representa a media docena de pueblos -poco más de 13.000 habitantes-, la del Maestrazgo (2) -con apenas 3.800 habitantes-, en la Comunidad Autónoma de Aragón, que destaca como productora de emigrantes, proyectos tronados, fastos, descontrol presupuestrario, y contratos basura.

Como muestra del desparpajo con el dinero público, en Aragón, vean Informes del Tribunal Cuentas de España  (La Cámara de Cuentas de Aragón se ha creado en 2010, después de mucho marear la perdiz*) que reflejan el sonrojante expolio de los presupuestos, y los modos y maneras de saquear lo ajeno, hasta en el pueblico más pequeño:

Jesús Solá pagaba a su chófer con fondos de una sociedad para mujeres maltratadas

__Jesús Solá__, alcalde de __Herrera de los Navarros__ (605 habitantes) por el __PAR__ y presidente de la __Asociación Aragonesa de Entidades Locales (Asael)__, ha pagado durante casi dos años el sueldo de su chófer a través de una entidad sin ánimo de lucro destinada a luchar contra la violencia de género, la __Red Liedra__. Esta asociación, que se financia con fondos europeos, está también dirigida por el ex asesor de Medio Ambiente y tiene la misma sede que __Asael,__ en la plaza del Pilar.
(...)
En concreto, el conductor, Juan Carlos B. S., fue dado de alta en la __Red Liedra__ en septiembre de 2007 y causó baja a comienzos de junio. Días atrás, este periódico había hecho público que el alcalde de Herrera tenía chófer y un coche similar al que utilizan la mayoría de los __consejeros del Gobierno de Aragón__, un __Peugeot 607 negro de lunas tintadas__. Desde el primer momento, __Jesús Solá__ negó que __Asael__ sufragara ambos conceptos, pero se negó a señalar de dónde provenía el dinero. El alcalde de Herrera fue destituido fulminantemente de su cargo de asesor de Medio Ambiente, departamento que dirige el aragonesista __Alfredo Boné__, al saltar la polémica. __Hasta entonces, su sueldo oficial era de algo menos de 40.000 euros al año, cuando solo la nómina del chófer y el alquiler del coche ya acapara bastante más de la mitad.__ Ayer, Solá no quiso responder a las preguntas de este periódico.
__Junto al asunto del vehículo oficial, HERALDO sacó a la luz el controvertido uso de sociedades, fundaciones e instalaciones__. Solá ha colocado de gerente de la entidad urbanística municipal, denominada __Soldeherrera, SL__, a __Ana Serrano__, esposa de un concejal del __PAR__. En los últimos tiempos, __el Ayuntamiento ha autorizado una amplia lista de encomiendas de gestión a esta sociedad, desde los cotos de caza o el parque eólico hasta el urbanismo del municipio__.
*La propia cónyuge del primer edil, __Adela Prat*__, dirige la __Fundación Aragonesa Los Castellares(FAC)__ __*,__ que aspira a gestionar actividades culturales del municipio. A la vez, su mujer aparece como directora del departamento de difusión de la __Asociación Liedra__ en al menos un documento de instituciones europeas.*
*Y una antigua empleada de __Asael__, __María Teresa Cristóbal*__, ha sido nombrada __gerente de esta fundación__ y __directora de la residencia de la tercera edad, pese a su falta de experiencia en instalaciones geriátricas y a que las obras están todavía en marcha__. Bien está tu enfoque porque va mas allá de la sugerencia genérica de recorte de gastos y se fija en datos concretos. ¿Por qué nos resulta evidente a nosotros y a la mayor parte de la ciudadanía dónde recortar, y no lo ven los políticos?¿ acaso padecen una especie de "daltonismo gestor" que les impide ver los "sonrojantes" despilfarros en picos, palas,administraciones y asesores?. Saludos afectuosos.

Mi admirado Sevach:

Me temo que saben la hemorragia que representa para un país el boquete abierto con cargos de libre designación, consejeros, asesores, , y los tropecientos entes inútiles donde están colocados, y les importa un bledo.

Hasta que no repartamos billetes de 500€, en negro, ya podemos ser las más finas cabezas pensantes de Europa soltando a caño libre cosas de sentido común...

MAURICE DRUON, JOSEPH KESSEL, ANNA MARLY: LE CHANT DES PARTISANS

Ami, entends-tu
le vol noir des corbeaux
sur nos plaines?
Ami, entends-tu
les cris sourds du pays qu'on enchaîne?
Ohé! partisans,
ouvriers et paysans,
c'est l'alarme!
Ce soir l'ennemi
connaîtra le prix du sang et des larmes!

Montez de la mine,

descendez des collines,
camarades!
Sortez de la paille
les fusils, la mitraille,
les grenades...
Ohé! les tueurs,
à la balle et au couteau,
Tuez vite!
Ohé! saboteur,
attention à ton fardeau:
dynamite!

C'est nous qui brisons
les barreaux des prisons
pour nos frères,
La haine à nos trousses
et la faim qui nous pousse, la misère...
Il y a des pays où les gens au creux de lits font des rêves;
Ici, nous, vois-tu,
nous on marche et nous on tue,
Nous on crève.

Ici chacun sait
ce qu'il veut, ce qui'il fait quand il passe...
Ami, si tu tombes
un ami sort de l'ombre
à ta place.
Demain du sang noir
séchera au grand soleil
sur les routes.
Sifflez, compagnons,
dans la nuit la Liberté
nous écoute...

FIASCO DEL II CONGRESO INTERNACIONAL DEL SÍNDROME DE ALIENACIÓN PARENTAL, AUSPICIADO POR PSEUDOPSIQUIATRAS AFINES AL OPUS DEI

Enrique Rojas Montes, ponente en el II Congreso Internacional del SAP: no es psiquiatra; no es ni ha sido catedrático de la Universidad Complutense de Madrid: lo único cierto es que es del Opus Dei ¡Enhorabuena! Fracaso absoluto del II Congreso "Internacional" del SAP (Síndrome de alienación parental) y Custodia Compartida.

Gracias a todos, el II "Congreso" "Internacional" de SAP y Custodia Compartida está siendo un auténtico fracaso. El número de ponentes es más alto que el número de alumnos.

Así lo describe una profesional que ayer acudió a las puertas de este Congreso, junto con otras mujeres, a repartir hojas informativas donde se explicaba la falacia del SAP desde un punto de vista científico.

"No debe bastarnos con que dejen de difundir esta pseudociencia perversa, pues ya han conseguido demasiadas víctimas directas a las que debemos apoyar hasta que la "verdadera justicia" los reconozca como tales. Todas las personas que luchan por una sociedad más justa tenemos que considerarnos también víctimas de esta nueva forma de maltrato institucional. Sólo así podremos unirnos y reaccionar."

Hemos conseguido que la verdad sobre el pretendido Síndrome de Alienación Parental y sobre quién se esconde detrás de este Congreso, llegue como un reguero de pólvora a muchos lugares importantes de España: a profesionales, a instituciones públicas, a Universidades.

Hemos conseguido con nuestros e.mails que el nuevo Rector de la Universidad de Alcalá, que se encontró con este evento, ante nuestra presión internauta y telefónica, retirara su apoyo institucional al Congreso y que se retirara el logo de la Universidad de la web del Congreso y estuviera realmente asustado por que este evento tuviera lugar en su Universidad, ya que sabía a quién estaba acogiendo.

Hemos conseguido que el Ayuntamiento de Alcalá de Henares se pronunciara públicamente rechazando cualquier apoyo o relación con este Congreso.

Hemos conseguido que cada vez más mujeres y hombres implicadas/os en la atención a mujeres e hijos/as víctimas de violencia de género en el ámbito familiar y profesionales que atienden a madres e hijos/as en general conozcan la realidad de esta nueva forma de violencia y machismo que es la ideología del SAP y su Custodia

Compartida y el Contramovimiento que lo difunde.

¡GRACIAS A TODOS!
Hoy es un buen día.
Sigamos en la lucha, os esperamos el lunes, en la Concentración a las 19:00 h., en los Juzgados de Plaza de Castilla.

La sociedad civil defensora de los derechos humanos, os convocamos a todas las personas que quieran contribuir a salvaguardar los derechos de los niños y evitar la difusión de la "falacia" del SAP (Síndrome de Alienación Parental) en el próximo congreso, que se va a celebrar en Alcalá de Henares (Universidad de Alcalá), contra el que debemos manifestarnos a la entrada del Salón de Actos de la Universidad de Alcalá el día 27 de mayo a las 15 horas. Nuestra pretensión es boicotear el acto mostrando nuestra oposición a los participantes del mismo, algunos ponentes son maltratadores con sentencia firme.

Información sobre el denominado síndrome de alienación parental (SAP).

Tras el estudio realizado por un grupo de expertos en psiquiatría, psicología y medicina, a nivel nacional e internacional, de la información científica y jurídica más relevante, relativa al "Síndrome de Alienación Parental (SAP)" de Richard A. Gardner, se ha llegado a la conclusión de que:

EL SAP NO ES CIENCIA SINO LA DESCRIPCIÓN SESGADA Y TENDENCIOSA DE UN FENÓMENO REAL QUE SE DA EN ÁMBITO LEGAL, INTERPRETADA BAJO LOS PARÁMETROS DE UNA IDEOLOGÍA PATRIARCAL

En casos de litigio por la custodia, se observa a veces un rechazo del menor al progenitor no custodio (generalmente el padre). La investigación sugiere que dicha reacción suele venir originada en primer lugar por la misma conducta (violenta, abusadora o negligente) del progenitor rechazado, en segundo lugar por una reacción adaptativa al divorcio, y en tercer lugar por una rebeldía o rabieta propia del desarrollo.

LOS PRETENDIDOS CRITERIOS DIAGNÓSTICOS SON NULOS LÓGICA Y CIENTÍFICAMENTE PORQUE NO SE CORRELACIONAN CON NINGUNA PATOLOGÍA

IDENTIFICABLE

SAP no tiene base experimental. Por diseño, los criterios diagnósticos no se correlacionan con ninguna patología lo que dificulta la aplicación de las pruebas de fiabilidad. Se diagnostican como patológicas e injustificadas, conductas adaptativas en el niño y el ejercicio de los derechos legales en la madre.

Los investigadores niegan su existencia como síndrome médico. No está reconocido por los expertos pertinentes, ni incluido en el DSM. El SAP no tiene soporte en la comunidad científica.

LA INTERVENCIÓN TERAPÉUTICA QUE RECOMIENDA EL SAP ES COACCIÓN LEGAL QUE DEJA A LOS MENORES EN UNA SITUACIÓN DE RIESGO EXTREMO

El pretendido tratamiento (multas, pérdidas permanentes de custodia, prisión, centros de detención juvenil), es exclusivamente coacción legal inútil y contraproducente, que empeora la situación, deja secuelas en los niños y, en algunos casos documentados, ha tenido graves consecuencias. La intervención legal recomendada por el SAP lleva, en la práctica, a una eliminación de los derechos de los niños en nombre de la salud psicológica. La salida de los niños del hogar materno, en el que se han criado satisfactoriamente, para ir a vivir con un padre al que temen, deja una huella traumática que dura muchos años. Se deja al menor, en muchos casos, en una situación de riesgo extremo, promovida por la justicia. Dadas estas violaciones de la ética médica y las obligaciones legales, el tratamiento del SAP constituye en sí mismo una mala praxis médica.

Para ampliar dicha información, se recomienda leer el reciente Pronunciamiento sobre el pretendido "Síndrome de alienación parental"(PDF) que ha publicado la Junta Directiva de la Asociación Española de Neuropsiquiatría

Alcalá, 14-mayo-2010.- El Ayuntamiento de Alcalá de Henares desea hacer público que no tiene relación con la convocatoria y organización del denominado “II Congreso de Alienación Parental y Custodia Compartida”, anunciado para los días 27 a 29 de mayo en el Salón de Actos de la Universidad de Alcalá.

Asimismo, desde el Ayuntamiento se desea dejar constancia de que, si bien se mantuvieron contactos protocolarios habituales en una ciudad de acogida como es Alcalá, no se ha concretado, ni se va a concretar, colaboración institucional alguna con la organización del citado evento.

Gatopardo,

1) El comunicado del Ayuntamiento de Alcalá, para mí, es un comunicado forzado por las circunstacias.
El Ayuntamiento de Alcalá, ha cedido terrenos para que el Opus Dei construya un colegio. Un colegio de esos de los que separan a niños y niñas.

Viendo la lista de los ponentes del Congreso, me creo un comino lo que diga el Ayuntamiento de Alcalá.

2) Lo alucinante de Enrique Rojas con el SAP, es que es Rojas personalmente quien hace llevar a menores a su consulta para malmeterlos y calumniar a sus madres, sobre las cuales además, emite informe clínico falso en el caso de Menchaca, recomendando al juez que no le dé la guardia y custodia a la madre, o cetificados médicos prescribiendo internamiento psiquiátrico, en mi caso.

El tío éste, Enrique Rojas, se apunta al SAP, pq es una forma más de hacer negocio.

Con el chiringuito de chanchullos que tiene montado Rojas y el peso que tienen los documentos con fines judiciales que emite el "falso catedrático UCM"... venga! a ver si eres capaz de adivinar ¿cuántos informes diagnósticando SAP, sería capaz de emitir este tío?.

Quizás ya haya emitido. Todo depende del juzgado al que hayan ido a parar.

LA CONSEJERÍA DE EMPLEO Y MUJER DE MADRID PLAGIA DOS ARTÍCULOS SOBRE MARÍA GOYRI (2)

Contestación en comentario al artículo LA CONSEJERÍA DE EMPLEO Y MUJER DE MADRID PLAGIA DOS ARTÍCULOS SOBRE MARÍA GOYRI:

"A quien corresponda:

La revista Empleo, Mujer e Inmigración es una publicación mensual que recoge actos, noticias, actividades y ayudas de la Consejería de Empleo, Mujer e Inmigración.

En octubre de 2007, el Consejo Editorial de dicha revista acordó incluir en la última página, la historia de mujeres nacidas en Madrid, o que al menos hubiesen vivido en la Comunidad de Madrid, preferiblemente durante el siglo XX, que se hubiesen significado por su aportación en favor de los derechos de la mujer. El objetivo era dar a conocer de manera sencilla y divulgativa esta semblanza, sin ninguna pretensión científica.

En la edición de noviembre de 2009, se eligió a María Goyri, madre de Jimena Menéndez-Pidal, por haber sido la primera mujer en obtener un título universitario. Para su redacción, se consultaron diferentes fuentes, entre ellas, un artículo de Federico Jiménez Losantos, así como los fondos ubicados en el Instituto Internacional para la foto, si bien es cierto que no se hace mención a las mismas.

En este sentido, rogamos disculpen la no inclusión de dichas fuentes que, a partir de ahora, y en posteriores artículos, sí haremos.

Atentamente,

Coordinadora de la Revista Empleo, Mujer e Inmigración

RESPUESTA

Señora Coordinadora de la revista Empleo, Mujer e Inmigración, talento sin par:

El ubi, el unde y el quo modo de un delito ilustran la fechoría, pero no la justifican. Dicho "de manera sencilla y divulgativa" (1) y "sin ninguna pretensión científica" (2): no nos interesan las deliberaciones previas, ni el petit point burocrático, ni las florecillas humanitarias que ustedes creen necesarios para justificar facturas y salarios.

Efectivamente, parece que ha intuido, con suma astucia, que la diferencia entre citar y plagiar estriba en mentar la fuente. Y es comprensible que, preocupada por poner los nombres de los burócratas de turno al pie del escrito, que usted alegremente llama "semblanza", haya olvidado a los autores expoliados. Son muchos afanes los que ocupan la vida de aquellos servidores públicos dedicados a parados, mujeres, inmigrantes y otros pobres de solemnidad y de sopa boba. (Y que no falten).

Ya que ha mostrado arrepentimiento y propósito de enmienda, podría explicarnos etiam:

- Productividad de gastar dinero público en copiar a unas fuentes que redactan mejor que usted.

- Justificación de la hagiografía de santas varonas para buscar un empleo en el mercado actual.

-Explicación del potaje onomasiológico, terminológico y económico: "Empleo, mujer e Inmigración" ¿Es una querencia por la hendíadis al buen tuntún o bien una forma políticamente correcta de denominar a los necesitados de exempla edificantes?

- Aclaración de por qué la Comunidad de Madrid, en lugar de despilfarrar fondos públicos, fusilando reseñas de María Goyri, no menea el culo para hacerse cargo de los archivos reunidos Menéndez Pidal/María Goyri (3), que su propietario Diego Catalán, donó en su testamento "a la Consejería de Cultura de la Comunidad de Madrid para que formen parte de la Casa Menéndez Pidal y del Olivar de Chamartín como un conjunto cultural. Su acceso y difusión será universal libre y gratuito.", cosa que le fue notificada a la Consejería de Cultura de la Comunidad de Madrid, en entrevista con la viceconsejera, Dª Concepción Guerra, el 7 de julio de 2008, y a fecha de hoy aún no ha encontrado el momento de tomar las medidas cautelares oportunas.

Pero si ustedes para copiar, pegar e hilvanar un texto como el que nos ocupa tardan más de dos años, aquilatar la importancia de los Archivos reunidos Menéndez Pidal/María Goyri, ni con dos reencarnaciones...

1. Archivo del Romancero Hispánico Menéndez Pidal/Goyri (AMP) Es una colección de decenas de miles de documentos escritos que abarca tanto el Romancero Antiguo (medieval y Siglo de Oro) como el Romancero de Tradición Oral Moderna (siglo XVIII-XXI).

Reúne textos, partituras, citas, referencias, análisis de su influencia en otros géneros literarios, estudios monográficos, etc., cuya recopilación comenzó el matrimonio Menéndez Pidal/Goyri y fue continuada por Diego Catalán. A esta labor contribuyeron, en muy diversos tiempos, instituciones privadas y públicas, nacionales y extranjeras: Junta para Ampliación de Estudios, Hispanic Society of America, Fundación Patxot, Universidad Columbia , Institución Cultural Española de Buenos Aires : Drs. Avelino y Ángel Gurtiérrez, Instituto de Cultura Hispánica, Seminario Menéndez Pidal de la Universidad Complutense (1954-1998), American Council of Leearned Society, University of California. San Diego, National Endowment for the Humanities, Comité Conjunto Hispano-Norteamericano, Ministerio de Cultura, Testamentaría de Juan López

Suárez, Fundaçao Calouste Gulbenkian, Comisión Asesora Científica y Técnica, Acçao Integrada luso-Espanhola, Dirección General de Investigación Científica y Técnica, Diputación Provincial de León e Instituto Leonés de Cultura, Gobierno Vasco, Memorial Foundation for Jewish Culture, The Canadian Federation for the Humanities, Instituto de Cooperación Iberoamericana, Conservatorio Musical de Segovia, Diputación Provincial de Ciudad Real, Caja Rural de Cuenca y Caja Rural de Ciudad Real, Instituto Nacional de Ciencias Educativas, Consejo Nacional para la Investigación Científica y Técnica (de Argentina), Cámara Municipal de Funchal, Madeira, College of the Holy Cross, Cabildo Insular de El Hierro, Universidad de León, Fundación Ramón Areces, Generalidad de Cataluña, Dirección General de Archivos, Bibliotecas y Museos, Universidad de Coímbra, Junta de Galicia, Asamblea de Extremadura, Diputación de Segovia, Universidad de Cantabria, Dirección General de Relaciones Culturales y Científicas, Fundación Rich.

En la compilación de los materiales orales colaboraron investigadores y encuestadores de todo el mundo. Su nómina es muy extensa e incluye a personalidades ilustres como autores literarios, músicos y políticos , junto a investigadores renombrados de la filología, la lingüística y el folclore. Aunque el matrimonio Ramón Menéndez Pidal / María Goyri inició la exploración del, hasta entonces desconocido, romancero castellano el año 1900, su Archivo heredó materiales anteriores, de Bartolomé José Gallardo (1825) de Mariano Aguiló y Fuster (desde antes de 1855 a después de 1893), de José Amador de los Ríos (entre 1860 y 1865) de Juan Menéndez Pidal (1881-1884), e incluso alguna versión chilena del s.XIX, además de versiones manuscritas judeo-españolas de los siglos XVIII y XIX. Ya desde las primeras décadas del s. XX, Menéndez Pidal contó con la colaboración de múltiples corresponsales de España, América y las comunidades sefardíes de Oriente y Occidente, empezando por Miguel de Unamuno y sus colegas salmantinos. Después, entre los pensionados de la Junta, destacan los filólogos Américo Castro, Tomás Navarro Tomás y Federico de Onís y sobresale la figura del músico y diplomático Manuel Manrique de Lara, futuro presidente de la Comisión de la Sociedad de Naciones para el intercambio de poblaciones tras la última Guerra Balcánica. Entre los recolectores ocasionales se halla Federico García Lorca quien, junto a Jimena Menéndez Pidal, anotaron de su mano versiones de los gitanos del Sacromonte. De los colaboradores extranjeros baste recordar a Max Leopold Wagner, a Fritz Krüger, al gran rabino Mauricio Levy, a K. Schindler, a Julio Vicuña Cifuentes, a Pedro Henríquez Ureña, a José María Chacón y Calvo, a Aurelio M. Espinosa, a Joseph H. Silverman, a Samuel G. Armistead, entre muchos otros. Posteriormente, Diego Catalán organizó, desde el Seminario Menéndez Pidal, la formación de varias generaciones de nuevos encuestadores e investigadores del romancero pan-hispánico, tanto españoles como extranjeros y coordinó las relaciones con una amplia gama de especialistas pertenecientes a diversas instituciones dispersas por el mundo. Como archivo baladístico no hay otro de tal riqueza en el mundo (no ya de las lenguas hispánicas, sino de cualquier otro ámbito lingüístico), ya que las miles de versiones de tradición oral, recogidas durante más de un siglo, las más de ellas inéditas, pertenecen a todas las lenguas y a todos los ámbitos del mundo hispánico: las hay en castellano de todas las comarcas de la Península, de las Islas Canarias y de toda la América de habla española (desde Chile y Argentina, hasta California, Nuevo México, Luisiana, Cuba y Puerto Rico); en judeo-español (de Marruecos, Orán, Bosnia, Macedonia, Serbia, Rumanía, Bulgaria, Grecia, Turquía, Chipre, Líbano, Siria, Egipto, Buenos Aires, Nueva York, California, Canadá); en gallego (de Galicia, de la franja de habla gallega en Asturias, León y Zamora y de la emigración), en portugués (de Portugal continental, de Cedillo y Herrera de Alcántara, de las islas atlánticas, de Brasil, de Goa, de California), en catalán (del Principado, del reino de Valencia, del Rosellón, de las Baleares, de Alguer en Cerdeña).

Entre los textos impresos son de máximo interés las fotografías de originales perdidos (como los pliegos sueltos del Duque de T'Serclaes) o los libritos de cordel judeo-españoles en caracteres hebraicos de varias comunidades del Mediterráneo oriental (algunos de ellos, ejemplar único en el mundo)

2. Archivo Sonoro del Romancero Débora Catalán (ASOR): Contiene todas las cintas magnéticas grabadas en encuestas e investigaciones de campo. El fondo más importante es el procedente de los proyectos "Edición y análisis de estructuras abiertas: el modelo Romancero" y "Description, Editing and Analysis of the Pan-Hispanic Romancero" de Diego Catalán, patrocinados por el Tratado de Amistad y Cooperación entre España y Estados Unidos y por el National Endowment for the Humanities de Estados Unidos y otras instituciones (1978-1988). A ese fondo se añaden donaciones de diversos colectores: entre ellas destacan las colecciones Purcell (de Açores y Madeira), Felipe (Canarias) y Pedrosa (España peninsular).

3. Archivo de la Lengua Española y Lenguas Circunvecinas: Alberga todos los ficheros y el material científico utilizado por Ramón Menéndez Pidal para la elaboración de su obra magna Historia de la Lengua

Española, cuya edición póstuma (prontamente agotada) vio la luz en 2005 y la 2ª en 2007, y asimismo de sus demás publicaciones lingüístico-literarias . Constituyen este fondo , además de documentos lingüísticos medievales, y los borradores y originales de las obras pidalinas, miles de fichas, artículos, notas e investigaciones que abarcan los campos de la etimología, geografía lingüística, dialectología, paleografía y diplomática e historia de la literatura.

Los principales ficheros, estructurados por Menéndez Pidal, son el de Historia de la lengua común y literaria, el de Gramática, el de Léxico, el de Toponimia y Antroponimia, el de Sufijos prelatinos y el del dominio románico astur-leonés (que incluye materiales de las encuestas de campo inéditas de Menéndez Pidal y sus discípulos). Los hay también de Temas de la poesía lírica, de Motivos narrativos, de Retórica y Métrica. Otro grupo de fondos importantes son las colecciones antológicas de Documentos lingüísticos (de diversas regiones) y de textos manuscritos de carácter literario para la Crestomatía del español antiguo y los de Dialectología y Geografía lingüística reunidos por Menéndez Pidal y colaboradores.

A los ficheros pidalinos hay que añadir los ficheros estructurados por Rafael Lapesa para la elaboración del Glosario del primitivo léxico iberorrománico.

4. Archivo de Historiografía Peninsular y Épica: Reúne una ingente cantidad de textos en fotografía, microfilm y copias manuscritas de obras medievales cuyos diversos manuscritos se hallan dispersos en múltiples bibliotecas del mundo, junto con anotaciones y estudios manuscritos de Menéndez Pidal, Antonio Solalinde y Diego Catalán. Ha servido como base de las publicaciones sobre Historiografía medieval castellana, portuguesa, aragonesa, navarra, catalana e hispano-árabe, sobre Historia medieval hispana, y sobre Épica española de Ramón Menéndez Pidal, Luis Felipe Lindley Cintra, Diego Catalán, y otros investigadores, y de los diez volúmenes de la serie "Fuentes cronísticas de la Historia de España".

5. Archivo cultural de fines del siglo XIX y primera mitad del siglo XX: Correspondencia de carácter científico e institucional que Ramón Menéndez PidalGaston Paris, Américo Castro, Antonio Solalinde, Amado Alonso, Joan Corominas, Alfred Morel-Fatio o Martín de Riquer, etc. mantuvo con investigadores y personalidades de la cultura española e internacional durante este período:

6. Archivo de los Laboratorios Humanísticos: Incluye la documentación y correspondencia reunida por Diego Catalán y depositada en la Fundación referente a los años en que fue Director de Investigaciones, primero, y, después, Director del "Seminario Menéndez Pidal".

Este fondo revela la "intrahistoria" administrativa, institucional y académica que hizo posible la existencia y continuidad de la Casa Menéndez Pidal como centro de investigación y formación de reconocido prestigio.

7. Archivo de Materiales y Obras para el conocimiento de la Historia de la Cultura Hispánica: Conjunto documental de investigaciones anejas que acompañaba la obra pidalina: caben destacar, por su categoría científica,los ficheros de María Goyri y los ficheros de Juan Menéndez Pidal sobre literatura, historia, personajes históricos y literarios y lingüística.

8. Archivo Miguel A. Catalán: La documentación referente a Miguel Catalán Sañudo, objeto de consulta para los estudiosos del despertar científico de España en las primeras décadas del siglo XX."

Si hablamos del plagiador como persona figurada, habría que agarrarlo entre dos forzudos (semidesnudos y sudorosos, para que le de más asco) con las manos extendidas sobre una tabla de carnicero. Y que un duende inspirador salvaje le aporree a martillazo limpio la mano derecha hasta fracturarle todos los metacarpianos, mientras juguetea a saltar la izquierda sin tocarla. Y mientras, yo, que deseo fervientemente participar en el castigo, hundiría mi dedo índice en su ojo, ahora el derecho, ahora el izquierdo, para que llorase con razón y aprendiera a respetar el talento y esfuerzo de otros, y a venerarlo como debe.

En cuanto al nombrecito de la dichosa revista que, como bien has apuntado, es infame en su concordancia, alguien debería poner a su inventor mirando para Cuenca, con palillos clavados en las encías para que no cierre la boca y la cabeza metida en un cubo de excrementos. Y entonces, explicárselo… dos veces.

Todo esto de forma pedagógica quería decir, sin agresividad ni nada de eso…

Y que le den a la Convención de Derechos Humanos y a la Pedagogía.

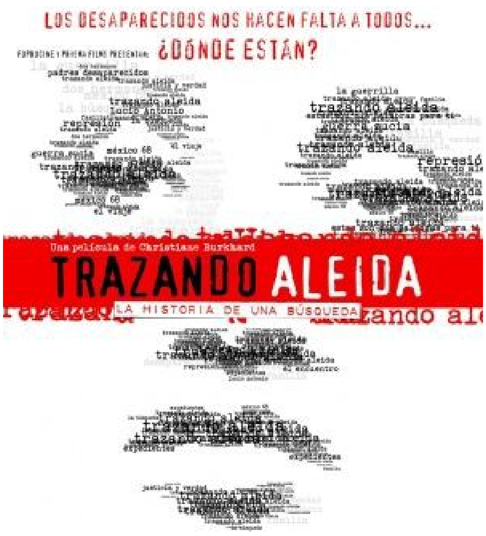
ROBERTO ANTONIO GALLANGOS CRUZ: ARCHIVOS DE CRÍMENES DE DERECHOS HUMANOS EN MÉXICO



Evidencias en los Archivos de crímenes de Derechos Humanos en México: El Caso de Aleida Gallangos

Washington, DC, 9 de marzo de 2010 - Una activista mexicana de Derechos Humanos, que quedó huérfana a temprana edad cuando sus padres desaparecieron a manos del las fuerzas del gobierno, presentó una petición ante la Comisión Interamericana de Derechos Humanos (CIDH) ayer, aportando como evidencia docenas de documentos desclasificados de Estados Unidos y México.

Aleida Gallangos Vargas -cuyo caso fue ampliamente conocido en el 2004, cuando logró localizar a su hermano desaparecido a través de registros de inteligencia encontrados en el Archivo General de la Nación de México- se unió a su abuela paterna para acusar al Estado por su responsabilidad en la detención clandestina y la desaparición en 1975 de sus padres, Roberto Antonio Gallangos Cruz y Carmen Vargas Pérez, entre otros miembros de su familia. Hoy, el Archivo de Seguridad Nacional (NSA) está publicando una selección de los documentos usados en el caso, obtenidos por el NSA a través de las leyes de acceso a la información de Estados Unidos y México.

Aleida tenía dos años cuando sus padres fueron secuestrados; fue rescatada por un amigo de ellos y adoptada por su familia bajo el nombre de Luz Elba Gorostiola Herrera. El amigo fue asesinado por las fuerzas de seguridad en 1976. El hermano de Aleida, Lucio Antonio, de tres años de edad cuando Roberto Antonio y Carmen desaparecieron, fue tomado por miembros del escuadrón de la muerte del gobierno que allanó su domicilio en junio de 1975; poco después fue entregado a un orfanato, y en febrero de 1976 fue adoptado por una pareja y bautizado como Juan Carlos Hernández Valadez. Los dos niños crecieron separados, en total desconocimiento de sus verdaderas identidades y de su parentesco.

La historia de la familia Gallangos-Vargas salió a la luz en 2001, cuando una revista publicó una entrevista a la madre de Roberto Antonio, Quirina Cruz Calvo, junto con fotografías de la pareja desaparecida y sus dos pequeños hijos. La familia adoptiva de Aleida reconoció el rostro de Luz Elba en las fotos, y Aleida pudo reencontrarse con su abuela. Pasó los siguientes años armando las piezas de las circunstancias y el rol del gobierno mexicano en el secuestro y detención clandestina de sus padres. Usando los documentos gubernamentales localizados por la Oficina del Fiscal Especial asignada a investigar crímenes políticos del pasado, Aleida consiguió localizar a su hermano en Estados Unidos en el 2004, 29 años después de su separación.

Los documentos que Aleida usó para encontrar a Lucio Antonio--junto con docenas más, obtenidos por el Archivo Nacional de Seguridad a través de solicitudes a los gobiernos de México y de Estados Unidos--son ahora evidencia crucial en la causa que presentara el 8 de marzo ante la Comisión Interamericana de Derechos Humanos.

El sistema Inter-Americano ha sido un importante espacio para las víctimas y activistas que buscan información por parte del Gobierno Mexicano sobre crímenes de lesa humanidad cometidos durante las décadas del ’60 a la del ’80. El 23 de noviembre del 2009, La Corte Interamericana de Derechos Humanos marcó un hito al responsabilizar a México por la detención ilegal y desaparición de Rosendo Padilla, maestro de escuela y activista social secuestrado en un puesto de control militar en Atoyac, Guerrero, el 25 de agosto de 1974. Radilla--conocido por sus canciones de protesta social y su admiración por Lucio Cabañas, el popular líder guerrillero de Guerrero--desapareció durante el punto álgido de la campaña estatal ilegal de contrainsurgencia desplegada contra rebeldes y sus simpatizantes en el sur de México, en los primeros años de la década del ’70 (ver la publicación de NSA sobre Lucio Cabañas, y Los Inicios de la Guerra Sucia). El fallo del 2009 marcó la primera resolución Inter-Americana contra México por abusos cometidos durante la "guerra sucia". La Corte ordenó reparación económica para los miembros de la familia por los años de sufrimiento infligido como resultantes del crimen.

El Fallo Radilla estableció un importante precedente para futuras acciones legales que apuntan a los crímenes de Derechos Humanos sin resolver del pasado mexicano. Al día de la fecha, los sistemas político y judicial Mexicanos han probado ser ineficaces en tratar siquiera las más notorias atrocidades cometidas en la "guerra sucia", tales como las masacres de estudiantes de 1968 y 1971 y los cientos de casos de detenciones ilegales, torturas y desapariciones forzadas ocurridas por todo el país en los ’70 y principios de los ’80. Además de la violencia contrainsurgente rural, los servicios de inteligencia mexicanos llevaron a cabo un cuidadoso programa orquestado de secuestros y desapariciones en los centros urbanos del país, en un esfuerzo por desmantelar las redes de la guerrilla y eliminar opositores sociales y políticos.

Una de las víctimas de la contrainsurgencia gubernamental urbana fue Roberto Antonio Gallangos Cruz, un activista involucrado en el movimiento estudiantil de 1968 y, posteriormente, militante radical de la Liga Comunista 23 de Septiembre. En el verano del ’68, Roberto Antonio se unió a las protestas anti-bélicas en la ciudad de México, y se manifestó por una mayor apertura democrática del cerrado sistema político mexicano. Se convirtió, entonces, en uno de los cientos de manifestantes monitoreados por los espías del gobierno que recaudaban información sobre activistas estudiantiles. Los registros internos de la Inteligencia Mexicana dan cuenta que Roberto Antonio participó en mítines recitando poemas anti-bélicos tales como "los tres pueblos", que pronuncio durante una demostración el 23 de abril de 1968 (ver Documento 5: DFS informe sobre Roberto Antonio).

Las Fuerzas de Seguridad detuvieron a Roberto Antonio el 26 de Julio durante una redada de agitadores estudiantiles que culminó en la Masacre de Tlatelolco, el 2 de octubre (Nota 1). Fue encarcelado en la infame prisión de Lecumberri, en la ciudad de México, por más de dos meses, en donde los agentes de Inteligencia mantenían una estrecha vigilancia sobre sus visitantes. Al resultar los cargos en su contra insuficientes para mantenerlo en prisión, la Dirección Federal de Seguridad (DFS) continuó monitoreando sus actividades luego de su liberación. Por los siguientes siete años, los servicios de seguridad del Estado compilaron un grueso archivo documentando la asociación de Roberto Antonio con grupos guerrilleros mexicanos.

La violencia empleada por el gobernante Partido Revolucionario Institucional (PRI) para aplastar el pacífico movimiento estudiantil de 1968, radicalizaron dramáticamente a la oposición social y política, incrementando el apoyo popular a los grupos insurgentes mexicanos. La Liga Comunista de 23 de Septiembre fue uno de los grupos de guerrilla urbana que crecieron en fuerza como resultado de esto, y con el tiempo se volvió un blanco central de la violencia organizada que caracterizaba los esfuerzos de la contrainsurgencia estatal durante este período. Tras el secuestro por elementos de izquierda del Cónsul General de Estados Unidos Terrance Leonhardy, en mayo de 1973, y al Vice-Cónsul John L. Patterson, en marzo de 1974, se les dio a las Fuerzas de Seguridad Mexicanas todavía mayor libertad para atacar a grupos insurgentes y a sus simpatizantes. La DFS, en particular, se transformó en la fuerza impulsora detrás del terrorismo de estado, actuando como la policía política interna de México. (ver Documento 1: sobre el crecimiento de la DFS).

Organismos de Estados Unidos también expandieron su coordinación con sus contrapartes de Inteligencia mexicanos, incrementando su recopilación de datos sobre grupos izquierdistas locales. Los agentes del DFS regularmente compartían información de inteligencia con los agregados del FBI en la embajada estadounidense y en los consulados de las ciudades del norte (ver FBI memorandum: Documento 2 sobre el grupo 23 de Septiembre). La larga conexión entre la DFS y la CIA también proveyó una fuente central de información para el aparato de seguridad interno Mexicano, en su intención de confrontar con los grupos armados (Nota 2). Fue durante este período de contrainsurgencia urbana que crecieron las redes de los servicios de inteligencia de México, mientras la información fluía para y desde la ciudad de México hacia las instalaciones de la policía y el ejército a lo largo de todo el país. La DFS institucionalizó el poder del Estado para reunir información, detener sospechosos, torturarlos y desaparecer sus víctimas con denegabilidad.

Siete años después de la ola represiva de 1968, Roberto Antonio Gallangos se convirtió en una víctima más de la campaña de desapariciones llevada a cabo por la DFS. De acuerdo con los documentos de la Inteligencia Mexicana obtenidos a través del Archivo de Seguridad Nacional, Roberto Antonio -clandestino por ese entonces, como miembro de la Liga Comunista 23 de Septiembre- fue visto caminando en una calle de la ciudad de México por un sargento de la policía. Luego de un breve tiroteo, fue apresado y derivado a la DFS (Documento 4). Los agentes de la DFS lo interrogaron y torturaron, extrayéndole información sobre su familia y sus afiliaciones sociales y de organización.

Los documentos desclasificados mexicanos describen a Roberto Antonio Gallangos como un criminal radical, con conexiones a una red de organizaciones subversivas, y con antecedentes de robos de bancos, secuestros y asesinatos. Es difícil evaluar la veracidad de muchas de estas denuncias contra él, su familia, amigos y compañeros, existentes en estos documentos. Los agentes de Seguridad Federal a menudo exageraban la amenaza de los grupos de izquierda a fin de justificar las agresivas medidas contrainsurgentes (Nota 3). La tortura y las confesiones forzadas eran prácticas comunes sobre los sospechosos de ser subversivos, y las fotos tomadas a Gallangos durante su detención parecen evidenciar signos de tortura (Documento 6).

Pero mientras que los expedientes de la DFS reportaban sus presuntos crímenes, nunca se tuvo la intención de utilizar la información como evidencia legal en una Corte de Justicia. En su lugar, la información sustraída a través de seguimiento, secuestro y tortura, fue utilizada para localizar compañeros de militancia, desmantelar redes sociales y aterrorizar a su base de apoyo.

En el caso de Gallangos, agentes de la DFS solicitaron información referente a su esposa, miembros de la familia y otros compañeros militantes, pero no hay certeza si la información que Gallangos dio en sus interrogatorios sea cierta. Las fuerzas de seguridad no captaron a su esposa Carmen Vargas Pérez durante más de un mes después de su secuestro (detenida 26 de julio 1975); y su hermano Francisco fue detenido posteriormente (22 de agosto 1975). Ambos permanecen desaparecidos (Nota 4). Lo que queda claro es que la detención de Gallangos por parte del gobierno Mexicano el 19 de junio de 1975, tuvo repercusiones trágicas y duraderas para la familia de Roberto, incluyendo la "desaparición" de sus hijos hasta que años mas tarde descubrieron sus propias identidades. El caso es un ejemplo de cómo funcionaba el terror del gobierno no sólo para combatir a la guerrilla, sino que también para destruir el tejido social de los grupos que se oponían a la autoridad gubernamental.

Los documentos secretos de la DFS obtenidos por el Archivo exponen el trabajo interno de la campaña de contrainsurgencia urbana de México durante los ’70 y revela la participación de los más altos niveles del gobierno en crímenes políticos de estado. Los abusos incluían espionaje ilegal, infiltración en grupos de izquierda, redadas policiales injustificadas, detenciones secretas y traslados de prisioneros, secuestros, torturas y asesinatos. Los archivos de Inteligencia eran firmados por el entonces jefe del organismo, Capitán Luís de la Barreda Moreno (a cargo desde 1970-75). Agentes de la DFS de alto rango, como Miguel Nazar Haro, tuvieron directa participación en las operaciones, interrogatorios y torturas a los prisioneros (Nota 5). La información recogida se transmitía a la Secretaría de Gobernación, en ese tiempo a cargo de Mario Moya Palencia. El segundo a cargo en la Gobernación era el espía de carrera, jefe Fernando Gutiérrez Barrios, quien prestó servicios en la DFS por más de 20 años y dirigió la organización desde 1964, hasta que su viejo amigo de la Barreda quedó al frente de la misma. Gutiérrez Barrios ocupó el puesto más alto en Inteligencia como Subsecretario de Gobernación, recibiendo regularmente los partes de la DFS sobre sospechosos subversivos, y jugando un rol central en la campaña de exterminio contra la izquierda mexicana. A la cabeza de la cadena de mandos estaba Luis Echeverría, Ministro del Interior del período 1964-70, y Jefe de Estado en 1970-76.

A pesar de la evidencia que demostraba la participación directa del gobierno en las desapariciones urbanas, el fiscal especial designado en el 2002 por el presidente Vicente Fox para investigar crímenes contra DDHH, no pudo llevar ante la Justicia a Luís Echeverría, como tampoco a ninguno de sus comandantes de algo rango militar, policial o de inteligencia. En 2003, el fiscal, Dr. Ignacio Carillo Prieto, solicitó a la Embajada de Estados Unidos de la ciudad de México, los cables desclasificados referentes a de la Barreda y Nazar Haro (Documento 13), y presentó cargos contra los funcionarios por la desaparición forzada de Jesús Piedra Ibarra, otro miembro del grupo 23 de Septiembre, detenido en abril de 1975. Pero el fiscal no pudo conseguir que se los condenara, y los cargos fueron levantados.

Los funcionarios de la DFS que han sido encarcelados desde la “guerra sucia”, lo han sido por su participación en tráfico de drogas y no por sus crímenes de lesa humanidad. Hay una fuerte conexión entre el antiguo Servicio de Inteligencia mexicano y las mafias de drogas del país. Al haber tomado los agentes de la

DFS el comando de los allanamientos de la contrainsurgencia, a menudo se encontraban con refugios de traficantes de narcóticos, y rápidamente se pusieron en el trabajo de proteger a los carteles mexicanos de droga.

La DFS fue disuelta en 1985, luego de que se revelara su participación en los asesinatos del agente de la DEA, Enrique "Kiki" Camarena, y el periodista mexicano Manuel Buendía (Nota 6). Unos 1.500 agentes, de pronto desempleados por la disolución de la DFS, encontraron que su entrenamiento en actividades encubiertas y en brutales operaciones de contrainsurgencia, era fácilmente adaptable a las necesidades del mundo criminal. Muchos se unieron a las filas de los poderosos carteles de la droga, o sirvieron a los traficantes desde sus puestos en las fuerzas policiales locales o federales (ver Documento 11 y Documento 12 sobre agentes de DFS y drogas). Al no poder elevar ni un solo caso contra los antiguos agentes, el Fiscal Especial desperdició una oportunidad crucial de llevar ante la Justicia a algunos de los más corruptos funcionarios de México, permitiendo que la impunidad permanezca arraigada en la sociedad mexicana.

El Fiscal Especial fallo no solo en el esclarecimiento pleno de los crímenes del pasado pero también en la localización de los desaparecidos en México. Carrillo Prieto afirmo como su propio éxito la localización e identificación de Lucio Antonio Gallangos Vargas, hijo desaparecido de Roberto Antonio Gallangos y Carmen Vargas (Nota 7). En realidad, se debió a los esfuerzos de Aleida Gallangos por lo que su hermano fue localizado. Aunque ella inicio su búsqueda como parte del "Comité Ciudadano" creado por la oficina del Fiscal Especial, renuncio a su participación en el comité inconforme por la averiguaciones infructuosas de la Fiscalia. Después de viajar a Washington, donde ella dice que fue amenazada por el cónsul Mexicano, finalmente localizo a su hermano en el invierno del 2004. El Fiscal Especial después organizo una conferencia de prensa en un intento de tomar el crédito por la localización de Lucio Antonio. Un comunicado de funcionarios de la embajada Estadounidense, devaluó los reclamos del Carrillo Prieto y citó a una evaluación independiente de su trabajo que dijo que su oficina "no responde a las necesidades de las victimas" (Ver Documento 14).

Ayer con la presentación del caso "Luz Elba Gorostiola Herrera y Quirina Cruz Calvo contra el Estado Mexicano" ante la Comisión Interamericana de Derechos Humanos, Aleida, su familia biológica y su familia adoptiva han resaltado el fracaso del gobierno Mexicano para llevar a la justicia a los perpetradores de atrocidades en el pasado contra los derechos humanos. La incapacidad de México para resolver estos casos, ha dejado a los sobrevivientes de la guerra sucia y las familias de los desaparecidos, sin recursos legales a nivel nacional. Con la decisión de suma importancia de Rosendo Radilla en 2009, el sistema interamericano ofrece nuevas expectativas a las victimas de la guerra sucia en México para encontrar al fin una medida de justicia. Es un momento crítico para los ciudadanos Mexicanos en busca de la verdad acerca de período oscuro del país de la violencia de Estado que sigue siendo un obstáculo a la justicia en el México de hoy.

La Situación de la seguridad actual en México: Una Evaluación
Embajada de los Estados Unidos en México, Telegrama Secreto
13 Páginas

La embajada de los Estados Unidos en México reporta sobre una creciente ola de crímenes que comenzó a mediados de septiembre de 1973, creando un clima de ansiedad en México. Este reporte provee antecedentes de la creciente oposición armada contra el gobierno mexicano y traza la rebelión contra el gobierno a la contra-ofensiva brutal aplicada contra las manifestaciones estudiantiles del 1968. El reporte también provee una lista de "actos de violencia motivados políticamente" durante los primeros tres años de la administración de Echeverría que incluyen los asesinatos de estudiantes en 1971 a manos de las fuerzas armadas, así como el secuestro por parte de disidentes izquierdistas del cónsul general de los Estados Unidos Terrance G. Leonhardy. Los incidentes demuestran las deficiencias del ejército y cuerpos policíacos y enfatizan la importancia de las operaciones encubiertas desempeñadas por la Dirección Federal de Seguridad (DFS).

La embajada considera que la DFS –"cuyas responsabilidades también incluyen la protección del presidente, recaudación y coordinación de inteligencia, espionaje de embajadas extranjeras, etc."– fue la única entidad "que después de este período tenía razón para enorgullecerse de sus logros". Aunque Luís Echeverría incrementó el personal y poder de la DFS, la embajada pronostica que los actos de violencia política continuarían hasta que las "agencias de seguridad hayan mejorado su capacidad hasta el punto en que puedan aprehender a los perpetradores en un alto porcentaje de casos y puedan infiltrarse a los grupos terroristas para desarmarlos completamente."

Caracterización de los Grupos Revolucionarios, Terroristas y Guerrillas en México FBI, agregado legal de la ciudad de México, Memorando secreto
12 Páginas

Agentes diplomáticos de la FBI en México presentaban regularmente informes sobre los grupos de guerrilla durante esta época, enviando a Washington la información que han recibido de sus semejantes en la inteligencia Mexicana. Este memorandum provee un perfil de diez grupos revolucionarios de guerrilleros activos en esta época, incluyendo a la Liga Comunista 23 de Septiembre. Se refiere al grupo 23 de Septiembre como una de las organizaciones guerrilleras más organizadas, y se comenta que muchos de los miembros habían formado parte de otros grupos revolucionarios en México.

Se prende a un terrorista Mexicano al abortar su intento a negociar salida de México
Embajada de los Estados Unidos en México, Cable
1 Página

Agentes de la DFS no solo coordinaron las operaciones de contrainsurgencia durante este tiempo, sino que participaron directamente en los operativos, incluyendo detenciones, redadas ilegales, y desaparición forzada. Este cable comunica información sobre el arresto de Miguel Ángel Torres Enríquez, un presunto miembro de la Liga Comunista 23 de Septiembre, el 5 de diciembre de 1974, después de haber tomado a dos funcionarios consulares Franceses como rehenes en la embajada como un intento de asegurar el paso seguro a Francia. Trabajando en forma encubierta, el entonces agente de DFS, Miguel Nazar Haro participó directamente en la operación, haciéndose pasar por un funcionario de la secretaria de Relaciones Exteriores. Después de cambiar a sí mismo por los rehenes, se llevó Torres al aeropuerto donde se detuvieron. Según el informe de la Fiscalía Especial dio a conocer años más tarde, durante la búsqueda de Torres Enríquez los agentes de DFS participaban en incursiones en su casa y ataques violentos contra su familia y amigos.

"23 de Septiembre" Liga Comunista; "Brigada Roja" Dirección Federal de Seguridad (DFS)
1 Página

Este documento, firmado por el Director de la DFS Luís de la Barrera Moreno, describe la versión de la agencia de los acontecimientos que condujeron a la detención de Roberto Antonio Gallangos Cruz, alias "Simón." Según el informe, a las 3:00 p.m., el día 19 de Julio del 1975, el sargento policial Lázaro Juárez Almaguer observo a un individuo con una pistola oculta en la cintura, y cuando le pidió que se identificara, este disparo el arma hiriendo el brazo de un policía. Otros oficiales llegaron al sitio rápidamente y detuvieron al individuo. Agentes de la DFS interrogaron al detenido identificando que se trataba de Roberto Antonio Gallangos Cruz, identificado como parte de una célula clandestina de la guerrilla urbana Liga Comunista 23 de Septiembre.

Antecedentes de Roberto Antonio Gallangos Cruz (a) "Simón"
Dirección Federal de Seguridad (DFS)
7 Páginas

El informe de inteligencia revela que, antes de la detención de Roberto Antonio Gallangos el 19 de junio 1975, los servicios de la inteligencia habían monitoreado sus movimientos por años. El tipo de información, acumulado desde por lo menos los años sesentas, incluye detalles personal así como su lugar de nacimiento, educación, características físicas, afiliación organizacional y detenciones anteriores. El informe también contiene información extensiva sobre sus actividades políticas, comenzando con su participación en las protestas del movimiento estudiantil en junio de 1968. En la manifestación del 23 de abril de 1968, por ejemplo, Roberto Antonio recitó el poema pacifista, Los Tres Pueblos, esto "se refiere a los horrores de la guerra, y exigencias de paz." El informe relata su detención el 26 de julio de 1968 en medio de las redadas a estudiante, y los intentos del gobierno de acusar a Roberto Antonio de varios delitos como el daño a propiedad pública, robo, resistencia a ser detenido y causar perjuicios a las autoridades estatales. También describe a sus visitantes durante su encarcelamiento.

La vigilancia del Estado siguió después de su liberación. Según la inteligencia DFS, Roberto Antonio continuó participar en varias reuniones políticas con organizaciones izquierdistas en México e involucrándose con una amplia variedad de grupos insurgentes.

El 7 de marzo de 1991, Javier García Paniagua, ex Director de la Dirección Federal de Seguridad (DFS), renunció como Jefe de Policía de la Ciudad de México para asumir el papel de Director General de la Lotería Nacional. García Paniagua había sido el Jefe de la Policía desde 1988, y su nombramiento causó controversia debido a las acusaciones de haber aprobado y utilizado la tortura durante sus años en la DFS. En el cable, funcionarios de la Embajada describen a la DFS como "una agencia con una reputación de corrupción y crueldad." El cable también señala que Miguel Nazar Haro, Diputado y jefe de inteligencia a bajo de García Paniagua, fue acusado de realizar asesinatos políticos y abusos de derechos humanos cuando fue jefe del DFS (1978-82). En 1989, él fue obligado a renunciar de la policía en la Ciudad de México en medio de acusaciones que fue protegiendo a traficantes de drogas.

La suprema corte de Justicia en México Toma la Decisión Sobre Extradición de Ricardo Miguel Cavallo por Crímenes Contra la Humanidad

Embajada de los Estados Unidos en México, Cable Clasificado

El 12 de septiembre de 2000, la Suprema Corte de Justicia dictó la decisión de la defensa y base jurídica para la extradición de Ricardo Miguel Cavallo de nacionalidad Argentina a España. Cavallo fue detenido por la Interpol de México el 24 de agosto y fue extraditado a España por los delitos de genocidio y terrorismo cometidos entre 1976 y 1983. En este cable la Embajada comenta sobre la posibilidad que la decisión podría afectar los casos de derechos humanos domésticos en México, como el caso contra Miguel Nazar Haro y Luís de la Barreda, quiénes fueron "ambos acusados de tortura y desaparición de izquierdistas durante la llamada 'Guerra Sucia' en México durante los años 60, 70, y 80." El documento también informa que el Fiscal Especial encargado de investigar casos de violaciones a los derechos humanos del pasado, Dr. Ignacio Carrillo Prieto, solicitó a la Embajada proporcionar copias de los documentos desclasificados con información sobre los dos ex jefes de inteligencia y su participación en violaciones de derechos humanos.

Embajada de los Estados Unidos en México, Cable confidencial

La Embajada de los EE.UU. informa que la Fiscalía Especial está respondiendo lentamente a su tarea de procesar los crímenes políticos de México en el pasado. Esto declara que aunque la oficina hiciera algunos logros, era lento el proceso localizar a las víctimas y llevar a juicio los autores de los crímenes. Se cita el caso de Aleida Gallangos y sus esfuerzos para localizar a su hermano Lucio, casi 30 años después de que fueron separados de sus padres a manos de las fuerzas del gobierno. Aleida había criticado duramente a la oficina del Fiscal Especial, que, según el cable, ofreció su pequeño apoyo en la búsqueda de su hermano, pero sin embargo trató de tomar el crédito "con una rueda de prensa haciendo un llamado a toda prisa," después de que Aleida encontró a Lucio en diciembre de 2004 viviendo en los Estados Unidos.

manifestaciones estudiantiles en 1968.

4. El Capítulo 8 del informe del Fiscal Especial nombra a Avelino Gallangos y Carmen Vargas entre los 69 desaparecidos en el Distrito Federal durante la Guerra sucia.

5. El Capítulo 10 del informe del Fiscal Especial describe los operativos contrainsurgentes llevados a cabo por agentes de la DFS a principios de los años 70, y declara que Nazar Haro participaba personalmente en detenciones extrajudiciales y en los interrogatorios de presuntos guerrilleros.

6. Zorrilla, el jefe de la DFS, fue acusado y sentenciado en 1989 a 35 años de cárcel por el asesinato en 1984 de Manuel Buendía, un periodista quien expuso los vínculos de los oficiales de la DFS con el narcotráfico. CREYENTES, ELEGIDOS, ILUMINADOS, Y NACIONALISTAS

Según los especialistas en control mental, algo más de tercio de la población está formada por creyentes, personas que mantienen convicciones férreas al margen de la razón, los argumentos, o los hechos.

Cuando los creyentes abandonan un grupo de correligionarios, inmediatamente buscan otro grupo, que puede ser el de los antagonistas o el de otro grupo alternativo; pero lo que no pueden es quedarse al margen, solos, porque sus convicciones siguen siendo irracionales, y necesitan un gueto ideológico o religioso.

El creyente necesita formar parte de un grupo selecto, al margen de la mayoría, a la que desprecian, y mantiene un alto grado de suspicacia y agresividad contra quien muestre su desacuerdo o su desinterés.

Sus ideales y su proyecto requieren demonizar a los oponentes tanto como a los escépticos, y arrogarse una lucidez especial y una interpretación coherente, exclusiva y totalizadora, que incluye todos los saltos lógicos y racionales que impidan a los críticos comprender y compartir sus puntos de vista, de forma que jamás se puedan diluir los requisitos para formar parte de los creyentes.

Da igual que la explicación irracional e ilógica incluya un Dios encarnado en una galleta insípida, que exige comportamientos dignos de un frenopático, como en las sectas de la Iglesia Católica; o que la historia de tantos siglos se ignore, se pode y se mutile para justificar que los nativos de una zona geográfica y su lengua vernácula sean un pueblo escogido, al que se han de reconocer todas las prerrogativas de su superioridad racial e histórica, como ocurre con los judíos sionistas, los islamistas talibanes, los independentistas magiares, catalanes, vascos, o kosovares...

Y también les da igual que, en un examen de cultura general, en un test de inteligencia, de idoneidad para desempeñar cualquier trabajo que requiera raciocinio, o en un estudio genético, la proporción de borderline sea bastante superior a la media de los no creyentes, los que no tienen una explicación de asombrosa simplicidad que los haga creerse superiores ni especiales, y que carecen la receta salvífica que justifique sus instintos asesinos.
Los creyentes forman parte de ese 90% de la humanidad que es un error de cálculo de la naturaleza.

¿Recuerda ese dicho de que hay alguien que señala a la Luna y otro se le queda mirando al dedo?
Claro que leyendo su último párrafo del post, también entraría aquello de "La paja en el ojo ajeno..."

Bueno, al grano. Vd. dice;

"El creyente necesita formar parte de un grupo selecto, al margen de la mayoría, a la que desprecian, y mantiene un alto grado de suspicacia y agresividad contra quien muestre su desacuerdo o su desinterés"

¡Joder que mal lo tuvieron que pasar en aquella España Nacional y Católica! (¿Lo coge?)

"Sus ideales y su proyecto requieren demonizar a los oponentes tanto como a los escépticos, y arrogarse una lucidez....."

Así, de esa manera, todos. Todos, todos.

Pregunto ¿No se puede ser creyente y racional (a ratos, claro)?. La parte no racional del ser humano, tambien forma parte de nosotros. Y es capaz de "producir" poesía, música, pintura....

Por mi parte, intento diferenciar Fe, Rito y Clero. La parte personal frente a la muerte, la parte social (¿Erich Fromm le suena de algo? y la parte organizativa, que como cualquier cosa humana, está llena de imperfecciones e incoherencias. ¿Se puede estigmatizar?

Cuchuchú es vocablo de posible origen lemosín, originado por el cruce sintagmático de mon cucú y ton chou-chou(cum variatio ton cucú/mon chou-chou). Éstos a su vez de clara etimología, siendo el primero de derivación onomatopéyica y el segundo del latín caulis.
Cuchuchú se halla en los textos de María de Bretaña, de Barnat de Ventadorn y otros poetas del trobar leu. Vid. etiam. Dictionnaire etymologique des cochonneries provenceaux., Bailly Bailliere, 1892.

Mi respetado redactor Jefe: difieren mis notas respecto a la etimología de la palabra "cuchuchú", cuya grafía original, según don Joxemiel Barandiarán era coutxutxhu, y tan es así, que en San Sebastián existe el tren txu txu.

Del vasco pasó al hebreo, que como se sabe es un dialecto del euskera y en los manuscritos de don Yoçé Ginella, en el s/XV, se menciona el ticun, oración mística para el mes decimotercero hebreo, cuyo contrapunto lúdico y gozoso era el kutxutxu, que aún cantan los judíos de Tesalónica.

Gatopardo,
dado que el gascón es primo hermano del lemosín, no parece improbable que los gascones o vascones, en su participación en las cruzadas, importasen en tierras santas tal palabra. Sería interesante buscar dicho vocablo en otras comunidades judías, como la de Alejandría. Y dado que los vascones fueron balleneros en Canadá no puede descartarse su existencia en aquellas tierras. Espero que el gobierno vasco se dé por enterado y subvencione un estudio al respecto.

Mi admirada Carmen:

Me temo que el nacionalismo centralista ha eliminado de la historia y la paleontología el hecho de que los primeros pobladores de la tierra fueron los vascos, que llevaron su civilización y su idioma a las tribus que más tarde formaron Israel; de la misma manera que se ignora que junto a estos primeros pobladores, los catalanes del Reagrupament, después de crear la civilización griega, fundaron Roma y transmitieron allí el catalán, que dio lugar al dialecto romano, denominado latín.

Hay que leer más.

Sabia Gatopardo,
en efecto, todo eso se ignora y así nos va, oprimidos por quien no merecemos y no por los genuinos fundadores de la Civilización. Pero dejo esta amena conversación porque noto a don Alimaña News, llamémoslo nervioso. ¿Acaso no es de los Nuestros?
¡Qué ceguera!

Muy buen texto, digno de la lectura de cualquiera y a pesar de que soy creyente (aunque no fanática) me fascinó.

Es la primera vez en mucho tiempo que algo me resulta tan interesante y por eso no pude evitar:

*estar de acuerdo.
*expresarle mi satisfacción.

Sigan así y espero no sea la última vez que visite este blog pero soy un alma viajera.

Saludos.

Gracias por los ánimos que nos da.
Por ser la primera vez, no se lo tomaremos en cuenta; pero en lo sucesivo, no venga a decir amén aquí.

Shalom!

Muy bien, lo tomaré en cuenta, no se preocupe por mí pues no profano tierra santa. Y sí, quería saber lo que me iba a responder, por eso vine.

Saludos.

LA VERDAD SOBRE EL JOBBIK: LA AMENAZA NAZI EN HUNGRÍA

Object 29

Object 30

Object 31

Estas imágenes son la realidad que padece hoy todo ciudadano húngaro que no sea un mal nacido.

Una vez más en la historia, Europa calla y consiente. Pero esta vez, no podemos argüir que no lo sabíamos:
 EL HIMNO DE BEETHOVEN Y EL FASCISMO RENACIENTE EN EUROPA de Félix Población, * HUNGRIA: EL RESURGIMIENTO DEL NAZISMO FINANCIADO POR LA UNIÓN EUROPEA: Tema Eliah Meyer,
* NO NOS PODEMOS PERMITIR EL LUJO DE OLVIDAR: Balf, Csepel, Hajduhadhaz, Koeszeg, Pestfuerdoe, Puspoek Ladany, Szentkirlyszabadja, Szolnok...

Cito a mi filósofa de Cabecera, Ayn Rand:

"Como cualquier otra forma de colectivismo, el racismo es la búsqueda por lo inmerecido. Es la búsqueda del conocimiento automático, por la evaluación automática del carácter de una persona que no pasa por la responsabilidad de realizar un juicio racional o moral. Es sobre todo la búsqueda de la autoestima automática (o de una pseudo-autoestima".

Sr Mier: Sin duda se refiere usted a un racista estudiante de epistemología, con 7 años de terapia y no admitido en el equipo de baloncesto por corto de talla.
A los racistas supra vistos se les puede acusar de cualquier tropelía, pero no de ir a la búsqueda del conocimiento, ni automático ni manual ni con turbodiesel. Seamos justos

JESÚS LÓPEZ SÁEZ: EL DÍA DE LA CUENTA. JUAN PABLO II A EXÁMEN. CAP. 13: EL GRAN ASALTO: EL OPUS DEI

13. EL GRAN ASALTO

No es posible entender el pontificado de Wojtyla sin tener en cuenta el papel que tiene el Opus Dei dentro del mismo. Frente a la oposición de muchos obispos y de muchos creyentes, Juan Pablo II convierte en prelatura al Opus y, con rapidez inusual, beatifica y canoniza a su fundador. Es preciso preguntarse: ¿a cambio de qué? Además ¿se está haciendo el Opus con el control de la Iglesia?

El Opus Dei

El Opus Dei, conocido también como la Obra, fue fundado por el sacerdote aragonés José María Escriba Albás (1902-1975), nacido en Barbastro (Huesca). Uno de sus biógrafos afirma que su origen es de "antigua y limpia estirpe por ambas ramas del árbol genealógico" [1] . En realidad, su padre poseía un pequeño comercio, que en 1915 tuvo que cerrar. Arruinado, se trasladó a Logroño, donde trabajó como dependiente de una tienda de ultramarinos.

El Opus, fundado (según fecha oficial) en 1928, es un movimiento preconciliar, que se inspira en diversos modelos. Uno es la Liga de San Pío V (en latín, Sodalitium pianum) , "una especie de policía secreta eclesiástica", de carácter integrista, fundada en 1909 por monseñor Umberto Benigni con el fin de denunciar a católicos progresistas: "Benigni y sus colaboradores acechaban y calumniaban a sus adversarios dentro de la Iglesia" [2] . Escrivá quería constituir un movimiento de jóvenes intelectuales católicos que pudiera oponerse a la enseñanza laica de la Institución Libre de Enseñanza [3] .

Como observa en su momento el teólogo suizo Von Balthasar, el Opus se inspira también en la masonería: "Tomando ejemplo de la eficaz labor secreta de la masonería quiso organizar también en secreto su obra para combatir a los enemigos con sus propias armas" [4] . En efecto, se dice en Camino, el manual de la Obra: "¿No ves cómo proceden las malditas sociedades secretas?" (n. 833).

Influye también el modelo ignaciano: la Compañía de Jesús como milicia disciplinada y a las órdenes de un general. Se dice en el manual: "¿Que otros han levantado y levantan ahora maravillas de organización, de prensa, de propaganda? ¿Que tienen todos los medios, mientras tú no tienes ninguno?... Bien: acuérdate de Ignacio" (n. 474). El Opus pretende buscar a Dios en el trabajo cotidiano. El problema está en si los medios se corresponden con ese fin.

- Con fecha 6 de octubre de 2002 se celebra la canonización. Uno de los supuestos milagros es el caso de un niño de seis años, que padecía una alta tensión arterial debido a un estrechamiento de la arteria renal derecha. El jefe de nefrología infantil del hospital donde fue tratado atribuye la curación a los efectos de un acertado tratamiento farmacológico. Otro pretendido milagro es el caso de un cirujano de Extremadura, Manuel Nevado Rey, afectado de "radiodermitis crónica grave", ya jubilado, no ha vuelto a tener problemas de piel "desde que dejó de operar y de usar sin guantes los rayos X".

  Hay otros datos preocupantes. Un estudiante de la residencia de Escrivá participó en el intento de asesinato de Jiménez de Asúa, abogado socialista, vicepresidente del parlamento de la República y uno de los autores de la Constitución. Posteriormente, en las semanas anteriores al 18 de julio de 1936 cayó asesinado el juez que había condenado a 25 años de cárcel a uno de los autores del atentado, mientras que uno de sus cómplices, el estudiante de la residencia de Escrivá, logró esconderse de la policía. Por lo demás, Escrivá entró en el recién conquistado Madrid el 28 de marzo de 1939, a bordo de un camión militar con la primera columna de avituallamiento de las tropas de Franco [5] .

El fundador del Opus cambió el apellido paterno Escriba por Escrivá, al que añadió el gentilicio de Balaguer [6] . Con el reconocimiento del Opus como primer Instituto secular, en febrero de 1947, tras dar una fuerte suma de dinero como limosna para obras pontificias, fue nombrado prelado doméstico de su Santidad, cargo honorífico que le daba derecho al título de monseñor.

En 1968 solicitó la rehabilitación del título de marqués de Peralta. El título se hallaba abandonado y el solicitante no tenía que ser descendiente directo del noble que lo tuvo. Eso sí, debía "hallarse adornado de méritos". Escrivá obtuvo el título y, al parecer, años después lo cedió a su hermano Santiago [7] .

En España, todo esto dio mucho que hablar. Contrastaba claramente con lo que Escrivá decía en su libro Camino: "Honores, distinciones, títulos... hinchazones de soberbia, mentiras, nada" [8] .

Beneficiario de la guerra civil En los años 30 el grupo no llegaba a 20 miembros. Escrivá pasó en Burgos los últimos meses de la guerra civil española, de la que se siente beneficiario. Dice en su libro Camino, que terminó de escribir en Burgos, en el Hotel Sabadell, donde se había instalado el estado mayor de las tropas franquistas : "La guerra tiene una finalidad sobrenatural ... Es el obstáculo máximo del camino fácil. Pero tendremos, al final, que amarla, como el religioso debe amar sus disciplinas" [9] .

Sin embargo, dice el historiador Tuñón de Lara: "Comenzó la sublevación por el procedimiento de liquidar físicamente a los enemigos. Y la respuesta fue del mismo género" [10] . Se habló de un millón de muertos [11] .

Entre otros indicadores, la guerra manifiesta el déficit de evangelización de nuestro país, que -aun siendo de vieja tradición católica– es, sin embargo, país de misión. El déficit se manifiesta también en la actitud que, contra la paz y la justicia, se adopta ante semejante locura. Se dice en el salmo 85: Dios anuncia la paz, con tal de que a su locura no retornen.

Durante la posguerra (también actualmente) los obispos españoles recuerdan a las víctimas propias asesinadas en la España republicana (6.832) [12] , pero (al parecer) olvidan a los quince sacerdotes vascos y a los dos franciscanos asesinados en la España franquista, y a más de 50.000 españoles fusilados después de la guerra [13] .

El 1 de julio de 1937 los obispos españoles tomaron posición en su pastoral colectiva: justificaron el alzamiento pues se preparaba una "revolución comunista" y calificaron el conflicto de "plebiscito armado". El cardenal Vidal y Barraquer se negó a firmar la pastoral, salió de Cataluña bajo la protección de la Generalidad y se instaló en Suiza, donde guardó la más estricta neutralidad [14] .

Es la época del nacional-catolicismo, que fue confirmado en el Concordato de España con la Santa Sede (1953). En este contexto religioso y político, se desarrolla la Obra [15] .

El fundador del Opus no esconde su opción. Adjudica a la derecha la presunción de hacer el bien y a la izquierda la de hacer el mal: "No tengas enemigos. Ten solamente amigos: amigos... de la derecha, si te hicieron o quisieron hacerte bien, y... de la izquierda, si te han perjudicado o intentaron perjudicarte" [16] . Los primeros extranjeros que formaron parte del Opus fueron croatas refugiados en España, perseguidos en su país por colaborar con los nazis [17] .

El asalto a las cátedras

En 1940 Escrivá forma parte del Consejo Nacional de Educación y utiliza el Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas (CSIC), donde trabajan miembros de la Obra, como plataforma de lanzamiento. Pero no sólo esto. La Obra penetró en la enseñanza superior principalmente a través de lo que se ha llamado "el asalto a las cátedras universitarias".

El ministro de Educación, Ibáñez Martín , lo vio como un "abrir de par en par las puertas a una generación no contaminada de pasados errores":

"Los fusilamientos, la cárcel, la depuración, fue el precio que pagaron en España quienes habían luchado contra todo lo que Franco representaba. El panorama de las cátedras era desolador, principalmente en Madrid y Barcelona, donde enseñaban los hombres más valiosos, y sus cátedras eran las más preciadas" [18] .

Sostén de la dictadura franquista

A finales de los años 50, Franco nombra ministros a dos miembros del Opus: Mariano Navarro en Hacienda y Alberto Ullastres en Comercio. Entonces Escrivá estudia en Roma la manera de conseguir beneficios para la Obra. En la llamada Instrucción de San Gabriel diseña una gran movilización de personas que se dedican a la industria y al comercio y que, mediante empresas familiares o de pura asociación civil, consiguen dinero para la Obra.

A finales de los años 60, casi todas las carteras ministeriales del Gobierno están en manos del Opus: "Fue el almirante Carrero, hombre fuerte del régimen, quien les permitió buscar la santidad desde sus gobiernos, en los que no sólo podían firmar penas de muerte y dar sustento espiritual al régimen: también contribuyeron a su modernización" [19] .

A partir de 1962, con la ascensión al poder de Laureano López Rodó y de sus colaboradores en el Plan de desarrollo, se insiste en la libertad profesional de los miembros de la Obra y se niegan las acusaciones de auto-ayuda, de asalto al poder, de capitalismo despiadado, de usar el poder y el dinero para conseguir adeptos.

Lo que en principio parecía una obra cristiana se convirtió en "una estructura de poder contraria al espíritu evangélico", dice Miguel Fisac , uno de los primeros socios de la obra en la que permaneció durante veinte años. En vano Fisac intentó testificar en el proceso: "Creí que podría aportar bastantes datos de primerísima mano, pero no lo conseguí".

Los que a sí mismos se denominan "nuevos intelectuales católicos" quieren "fundamentar la España de Franco en los mismos ideales colectivos que tuvo en su Siglo de Oro". Pretenden hacerlo con una antigualla: el viejo sistema aristotélico-tomista.

Sin embargo, el nacional-catolicismo será desbancado por el Concilio Vaticano II. Lo definió certeramente el jesuita Alfonso Alvarez Bolado: "Frente al culto cuasi religioso a la patria católica y tradicional, se insiste en el concepto de pueblo de Dios en marcha y en diáspora. Ese pueblo ha de encontrar la voluntad de Dios en un discernimiento ininterrumpido, y frecuentemente discontinuo, de los signos de los tiempos" [20] .

Contra la renovación del Concilio

Apenas elegido Juan XXIII , se vislumbró que el nuevo papa tenía en su mente reformas importantes. Iniciaba una apertura que finalmente se tradujo en la convocatoria del Concilio: "Aquello puso nervioso a Escrivá , quien no se recataba de decir en privado y de insinuar en público que la Iglesia estaba entrando en una peligrosa vía, llegando a confiar a alguno de sus hijos que él pensaba que el mismo diablo se había instalado en la cabeza de la Iglesia", dice Alberto Moncada, conocido sociólogo y escritor que durante cierto tiempo estuvo afiliado al Opus Dei [21] .

La confrontación entre los nuevos vientos eclesiales y la fundación de Escrivá se puso de manifiesto durante todo el Concilio, también después. "La principal consecuencia, dice Moncada, fue la paulatina insistencia de Escrivá en negar vigencia a la doctrina del Concilio dentro de la Obra. No sólo se prohibía internamente la lectura y el comentario de los documentos conciliares, sino que se tomaron disposiciones en su contra" [22] .

El teólogo suizo Von Balthasar, que al final de su vida fue nombrado cardenal, publicó en 1963 dos artículos sobre el integrismo, en los que dijo: "La más fuerte manifestación integrista de poder en la Iglesia es, sin duda, el Opus Dei", "tiene gran número de cátedras universitarias en España y recientemente ha abierto una universidad propia en Pamplona; está íntimamente ligado con el régimen de Franco, posee altos puestos en el gobierno, bancos, editoriales, revistas, periódicos" [23] .

Rosario Bardules , que perteneció al Opus durante muchos años, atestigua que Escrivá estaba (escandalosamente) en contra del Concilio . Al terminar el mismo, dijo en una reunión de la sección femenina de la Obra: "Hijas mías, vengo a deciros que la Iglesia va muy mal, va al desastre, lo que os digo es que pidáis por la Iglesia, porque está muy mal, este concilio es el concilio del diablo". La elección de Pablo VI "fue algo que le sacó de quicio" [24] .

Antonio Pérez , que fue secretario general del Opus, amplía lo anterior: "Recuerdo lo que pasó el día de la elección del que luego sería Pablo VI . Yo estaba en Roma porque me había invitado Antoniutti a acompañarle. Incluso me había invitado a entrar con él en el cónclave, lo que no le gustó demasiado al padre Escrivá . Se hablaba de Antoniutti como uno de los papables y eso nos confortaba porque él era cardenal protector de la Obra y uno de los eclesiásticos más cercanos a nosotros. Yo, que por fin no entré en el cónclave, volvi a casa después de ver la fumata en San Pedro y al entrar, el Padre, en presencia de chicos jóvenes de la Obra, me echó una gran bronca, como si yo hubiera sido el culpable de que fuera elegido Montini . En el fondo se desahogó conmigo de su frustración y puso verde a Montini, acusándole de masón y otras lindezas. Estaba muy excitado y previno que todos los que habían cooperado en esa elección se iban a condenar al infierno". [25]

Delante de Carmen Tapia , que fue su secretaria personal durante cinco años en Roma, Escrivá dijo de Pablo VI . "Dios en su infinita sabiduría debía haberse llevado a este hombre". Carmen, que estuvo 18 años en el Opus, fue expulsada "después de ocho meses de virtual arresto en la casa central de Roma y de total incomunicación con el exterior" [26] . La propia afectada lo narra detenidamente en su libro titulado Tras el umbral. Según Carmen, Escrivá había hecho que se instalaran micrófonos en varios lugares de la casa: "Uno de ellos en el cuarto de estar, otro en el oratorio, otro en el planchero y otro en las camarillas de las sirvientas" [27] .

Antonio Pérez también lo pasó muy mal: "Nunca me encontré a gusto en el Opus Dei... Siempre me quise marchar; lo saben ellos. Me opuse a la ordenación hasta donde pude (le consta a Pedro Casciaro , que era entonces secretario general), pero todo fue inútil. Salirse de la Obra era poco menos que imposible y no me parecía correcto hacerlo, mientras ocupaba puestos de dirección. Cuando ya no los tuve, me fui, de mala manera, huyendo como un malhechor, con lo que llevaba puesto. Pero no había otra salida. Yo sabía la triste suerte que me esperaba en Roma si me hubiera retrasado 24 horas en escapar. Cuando me vi libre, respiré, empecé a sentirme persona, di gracias a Dios y se las sigo dando" [28] .

María Angustias Moreno, que fue numeraria del Opus, habla del culto que ya en vida se le tributaba al fundador y que fue promovido por él mismo: "Él y sólo él decidió que le deberíamos llamar Padre, escribiéndolo siempre con mayúsculas. El fue quien promovió que para saludarle lo hiciéramos arrodillándonos con la rodilla izquierda" [29] . Todo esto a despecho de lo que dice el Evangelio: No llaméis a nadie padre en la tierra [30] .

Si algo había que sacase de quicio a los de la Obra era nombrar la Conferencia de Medellín (1968), donde los obispos latinoamericanos habían cuestionado la posición de la Iglesia ante la opresión y la injusticia social. En 1974 Escrivá visitó Chile. La represión de Pinochet estaba en su apogeo. En una conferencia donde se habló de la sangre esparcida por el país, Escrivá afirmó: "Yo os digo que aquella sangre es necesaria". [31]

Juan de Dios Martín Velasco, que fue rector del Seminario de Madrid, denuncia otros aspectos del Opus que no tienen nada que ver con la renovación de la Iglesia: "Es una obra que ha recurrido a medios verdaderamente ilegítimos para su causa, hasta la delación, la denuncia de personas", "en el tiempo en que era rector del seminario de Madrid sé que daban informaciones distorsionadas y falsas a mi arzobispo Suquía sobre lo que se hacía y se decía" [32] .

Prelatura personal

Con Wojtyla como papa, el Opus empezó pronto a preparar documentos con el fin de convertirse en prelatura personal. El diario El País publicó, el 11 de noviembre de 1979, el informe calificado como secreto papal que el entonces presidente general del Opus Dei, Alvaro del Portillo, había enviado al cardenal Baggio , prefecto de la congregación de obispos y gran simpatizante del Opus Dei, para que se lo entregara a Juan Pablo II [33] .

El 14 de noviembre del 81, Baggio envió a los obispos una nota en la que se les informaba de la transformación del Opus Dei en prelatura personal.

Las negativas de Pablo VI habían sido frecuentes. Con Wojtyla todo había cambiado. El nuevo papa había conocido el Opus cuando era arzobispo de Cracovia. En Roma había sido huésped del Centro Romano de Encuentros Sacerdotales, una institución cultural del Opus, donde había dado en ocasiones distintas dos conferencias. No habían pasado muchos meses desde la elección de Wojtyla y ya se habían acelerado con sorprendente rapidez los trámites canónicos para la beatificación de Escrivá y se había desbloqueado el proyecto de transformación del Opus en "prelatura personal con propio pueblo", dotada de amplia autonomía con relación a los obispos.

El cardenal Pironio, prefecto de la congregación para los religiosos y los institutos seculares, que debía ocuparse de esta cuestión, no vio claro el asunto. Se dio cuenta de que la nota informativa, en papel timbrado de la congregación de los obispos, no tenía el número de protocolo ni la firma de un responsable, ambos requisitos de rigor en todo documento curial, sobre todo si va destinado a los nuncios y a los obispos. Por tanto, Pironio se negó a autorizar que se archivara el documento, respondiendo a los obispos que le preguntaban: "No hay hasta el momento ningún decreto" [34] .

La reacción fue clamorosa. Un alto número de obispos españoles, en su visita al papa entre enero y febrero de 1982, le manifiestan su desacuerdo. Algunos, ante la proximidad de su viaje a España, le dicen que su imagen quedaría empañada . Le recuerdan la época en que numerosos miembros del Opus han ocupado puestos de primera línea en el régimen de Franco, y la sombra que envuelve a miembros del Opus a causa de antiguos y recientes escándalos financieros estallados en España. El proyecto del Opus tampoco es apoyado por el cardenal Felici : "La institución de una prelatura personal es considerada por él, canonista conservador, peligrosa para el ordenamiento jerárquico y para la unidad misma de la Iglesia católica" [35] .

El 2 de diciembre de 1981, el cardenal Basil Hume, arzobispo de Westminster, hace públicas las cuatro recomendaciones hechas por él a los responsables del Opus Dei en Gran Bretaña: responsabilidad del obispo sobre la iglesia local, obediencia a sus directrices, respeto a la libertad del individuo para ingresar en la organización o para dejarla, así como para elegir a su director espiritual, sea o no miembro del Opus.

El papa suspende por el momento la decisión, pero nadie duda que volverá sobre el asunto.

La quiebra del Ambrosiano, ocasión para el Opus

Al revuelo por el nuevo estatuto del Opus, se añade otro. El presidente del Ambrosiano, Roberto Calvi , busca ayuda para salvar la quiebra del Banco Ambrosiano: "El presidente del Banco Vaticano, el arzobispo americano Paul Marcinkus, se niega desde hace meses a recibir al banquero milanés, aunque haya sido su socio de negocios y haya recibido su ayuda para organizar la financiación, según se dice, del orden de 50.000 millones de pesetas a favor del sindicato Solidaridad, a través de bancos panameños".

Al cerrársele las puertas del IOR, Calvi decide rodear el obstáculo y se dirige al Opus Dei. Según declaraciones de Carlo Calvi, el plan de su padre era "vender a los del Opus Dei el 16 por 100 del Ambrosiano, en manos del IOR". Esto habría supuesto "un cambio de guardia en el sistema financiero vaticano, con la pérdida de poder total por parte de Marcinkus , pero también un giro en la misma política vaticana".

Los canales útiles en el Vaticano para pasar por encima del IOR son dos personas: el cardenal Pietro Palazzini, punta de diamante del Opus en el Vaticano, y Hilary Franco , funcionario de la congregación para el clero, muy ligado a Palazzini.

Con toda la prudencia que se quiera, dice el vaticanista Giancarlo Zizola, no se puede olvidar un dato: "Hay una coincidencia objetiva de tiempos entre la agitación de Calvi para conseguir apoyos en el Vaticano y la tentativa de Baggio de arrancar lo antes posible el consenso de los obispos del mundo sobre la elevación del perfil jurídico del Opus Dei. Y es también este el tiempo en que los cardenales del Opus presionan a Wojtyla para que aleje a Marcinkus ".

Los que se movilizan son tres poderosos cardenales de la curia: Baggio , Palazzini y Rossi . Quieren que el papa confíe al Opus el control de la radio, el periódico diario y, sobre todo, el IOR: "el realismo aconseja utilizar la crisis de Calvi para el interés supremo de la Iglesia", "su opinión es que lo antes posible, y sin vacilación, se llame al Opus para que acabe con el enredo entre el IOR y el Ambrosiano, deponiendo a Marcinkus del vértice del banco a cambio del saneamiento del grupo financiero", el estatuto autónomo e internacional del Opus es "el instrumento jurídico indispensable para las operaciones urgentes que es preciso llevar a cabo en el frente del Ambrosiano".

Los cardenales tropiezan con la barrera levantada por el mismo papa, que protege a Marcinkus. Desafiando a los críticos, Wojtyla exige pruebas ciertas de la responsabilidad del arzobispo en la quiebra de Calvi . Por su parte, sólo tiene argumentos a favor de él: "hay que creer a Marcinkus cuando dice que ha sido engañado por Calvi".

Pero en Italia la tensión sigue creciendo, la figura de Marcinkus está siendo acosada y la imagen del papa queda afectada. El secretario de Estado, Casaroli , opina que hay que ser prudentes en la defensa de Marcinkus. Hay que actuar de manera que se eviten a la Santa Sede daños materiales, pero también daños de imagen mayores que los que ya está sufriendo. La Santa Sede tiene interés en reducir al mínimo, e incluso evitar completamente si es posible, cualquier motivo de conflicto con Italia. Hay que buscar un acuerdo que satisfaga a las dos partes.

Los amigos del Opus no abandonan su tentativa. Según Carboni , protector de Calvi , Hilary Franco les convocó a ambos en el Vaticano el 21 de mayo de 1982 por la mañana y les dijo que por la tarde, a las 15'30, "una comisión de cardenales estaba dispuesta a escuchar las razones de Calvi". Cuando salió de hablar con Hilary, Calvi se sentía feliz. Sin embargo, volvió a entrar en el Vaticano, fue a hablar con Mennini y éste le echó del despacho. Todo se vino abajo y el banquero ya no acudió a la cita cardenalicia.

A finales de mayo llegó al IOR, procedente de la Banca del Gotardo, la petición de 300 millones de dólares por una operación hecha por Calvi : "Mennini convocó a Calvi y lo intimó a responder inmediatamente al compromiso", dijo Carboni . El banquero decidió marchar al extranjero: "Quería buscar el dinero para contentar a Mennini y compañía" [36] .

El 18 de junio de 1982 el banquero milanés aparece muerto, colgado del puente de los Hermanos Negros de Londres. La tempestad por el asesinato de Calvi descarga con violencia sobre el Vaticano, azotando la figura de Marcinkus y también la del papa.

El 19 de octubre el papa Wojtyla se encuentra con el presidente italiano, Sandro Pertini, en Castelporziano. El 23 de noviembre, ante el pleno de los cardenales, da carta blanca a Casaroli para negociar con Italia el fin del litigio sobre el IOR-Ambrosiano. Asimismo el papa encarga organizar sus viajes a un jesuita de prestigio, Roberto Tucci, director de Radio Vaticana, desbancando a Marcinkus de dicha función.

El 28 de noviembre de 1982, Juan Pablo II concede al Opus el estatuto de prelatura personal. Pasan dos años y el poder del Opus se extiende a otras palancas vaticanas. El 9 de abril de 1984 el papa quita a Casaroli la presidencia del gobierno vaticano y la pasa al cardenal Baggio, hombre del Opus. El puesto no es meramente decorativo: permite controlar comercios, correos, museos, radio, diario del pequeño Estado y los balances correspondientes. Marcinkus queda como pro-presidente del gobierno vaticano, por debajo de Baggio. Casaroli cede también otro cargo estratégico, la presidencia de la Administración del patrimonio de la Sede Apostólica (APSA), que pasa al cardenal Rossi, otro hombre del Opus. A finales de 1984, Joaquín Navarro Valls , numerario del Opus Dei, es nombrado portavoz del Vaticano.

El 25 de mayo de 1984, en Ginebra, el IOR firma un cheque de 240 millones de dólares a favor de los acreedores del Ambrosiano. Un comunicado vaticano asegura que "la contribución es voluntaria", porque el IOR "confirma no tener responsabilidad respecto a la quiebra del Banco Ambrosiano", pero ha decidido pagar "con el fin de facilitar una solución global para la consolidación incluso de las relaciones de orden internacional, con espíritu de recíproca conciliación y colaboración" [37] .

Según afirma Ernesto Ekaizer en su libro sobre José María Ruiz Mateos , el Instituto de Educación e Investigación, entidad vinculada al Opus Dei, "aparecía en la contabilidad de Rumasa como beneficiario de un donativo de 1.500 millones de pesetas, concedidos a través de un paquete de letras aplazadas", "en 1981, la mencionada cuenta registraba una cifra de 661'6 millones y en 1982 otra de 1.586'5 millones de pesetas. Y en uno y otro año, el Instituto recibía dos donaciones de 300 millones de pesetas en cada ejercicio". Por primera vez se podía ver el apoyo financiero que Ruiz Mateos daba a una institución vinculada a la Obra. En el Instituto, Ruiz Mateos tenía un amigo de confianza: Gregorio López Bravo [38] .

El 20 de junio de 1986 Ruiz Mateos exhibió 15 fotocopias de transferencias efectuadas a dos bancos suizos, en los años 1979, 1980, 1981 y 1982 a dos sociedades supuestamente vinculadas al Opus Dei, por un total de 6.411.157 dólares, unos 910 millones de pesetas. El empresario había denunciado dos días antes haber efectuado donaciones a la Obra, vía Suiza, por importe de 1.000 millones de pesetas [39] .

ayuda de los superiores internos, a los que llegó a entregar, en el pináculo de su carrera, más de cuatro mil millones de pesetas” [40] .

Quizá ahora se entienda mejor qué motivos tenía el fundador del Opus para cambiar su apellido: Escriba. Le venía de nacimiento, pero deslucía su imagen. Además, dejaba fatalmente al descubierto la gran operación, el gran asalto del Opus: hacerse por todos los medios (jurídicos, económicos, políticos...) con el control de la Iglesia. No se trata ya de las cátedras universitarias españolas, ahora es la cátedra de Pedro, vieja operación conocida y denunciada en el Evangelio: En la cátedra de Moisés se han sentado los escribas y fariseos [41] .

En el siglo XIV, Santa Catalina de Siena denuncia a quienes prestan “con usura, aunque no tengan tienda como los públicos usureros”. Denuncia también: “De mi Iglesia, que es lugar de oración, se ha hecho cueva de ladrones. Venden y compran, y han hecho mercadería de la gracia del Espíritu Santo”. Y finalmente: “Los que quieren prelacías y beneficios de la Santa Iglesia las compran con muchos regalos a los que son ricos en dinero y posesiones” [42] .

Beatificación y canonización

En el otoño de 1972, siendo secretario de la congregación del clero, Pietro Palazzini preparó con Alvaro del Portillo (entonces secretario general del Opus Dei) un documento sobre el antifranquismo de algunos obispos españoles. Pablo VI rechazó el documento y Palazzini, aunque hecho cardenal, quedó sin cargo alguno, hasta que Juan Pablo II le encomendó la congregación para las causas de los santos. El secretario de la congregación fue sustituido por el polaco Edward Nowak . El abogado opositor de la causa de Escrivá también fue sustituido por Antonio Petti . Con estos cambios, la beatificación de Escrivá ha salido adelante [43] .

La congregación dio como bueno el siguiente “milagro” que se le atribuye. La monja carmelita Concepción Boullón Rubio , prima de Mariano Navarro Rubio (ex ministro de Franco y socio del Opus), acudió en 1976 a la consulta del doctor Wan Güemert , médico traumatólogo del Insalud. Un familiar muy próximo de la monja comenta: “El doctor Wan Güemert, que ahora se ha vuelto mudo sobre el caso, miró unos bultos que habían salido en la espalda de Concha, y lo vio tan claro que lo consideró cáncer. ¿Dónde estaban las biopsias pertinentes? Brillaron por su ausencia. Los bultos desaparecieron y Concha murió años después de otra cosa” [44] . Al parecer, el análisis con microscopio mostró que no era un tumor sino una calcificación consistente en la infiltración o depósito de sales cálcicas en zonas del tejido conjuntivo subcutáneo. Además, resulta que Rafael Cortesini , el médico encargado de certificar el milagro, es numerario del Opus [45] .

El cardenal Tarancón , arzobispo de Madrid, reconoce a María Angustias Moreno en carta de 1 de noviembre de 1981: “Efectivamente, yo he abierto ese proceso por mandato de la Santa Sede”, “se explica que se haya hecho, con una rapidez realmente inusitada, por razones que no son del caso” [46] .

En su momento, con Diaz Merchán como presidente, la Conferencia Episcopal Española dio su voto negativo a la beatificación, pero “no fue tenido en cuenta por Roma”. Después, muchos obispos, “visitados por miembros importantes del Opus”, la terminaron pidiendo. En total 59, de 64 diócesis [47] .

Kenneth L. Woodward , autor del libro La fabricación de santos, preguntó al padre Eszer, relator de la causa, si había habido adversarios, visto el carácter sumamente controvertido del hombre y de su movimiento. La respuesta fue: "Las únicas críticas al Opus Dei que he leído venían de antiguos miembros, de gente que lo dejó". Con eso daba a entender que esas personas no le parecían unos testigos dignos de crédito [48] .

"La beatificación de Escrivá de Balaguer, comentó el teólogo suizo Hans Küng , me parece simplemente un acto político, que además hace un daño especial puesto que desprestigia a todos los procesos de beatificación" [49] .

¿Es la figura de Escrivá modelo para los creyentes de hoy? Responde el teólogo Olegario González de Cardedal: "Muchos creen que no. Porque es el exponente máximo de una fase del catolicismo español, gracias a Dios, superado por impulso del Concilio, porque él siguió pensando la afirmación del evangelio mediante el poder y la extensión de la Iglesia por los caminos del Estado" [50] .

El teólogo español explica la distinción entre beatificación y canonización: "La beatificación originariamente confirmaba el culto local otorgado a un cristiano muerto en olor de santidad y dependía del obispo del lugar. Ni la santidad del santo ni la autoridad implicada se extendían más allá de la región o del grupo al que el santo pertenecía. Si bien hoy día la beatificación es también llevada a cabo por el papa, el compromiso de autoridad no es mayor... La canonización significa, en cambio, la declaración de una figura como santa y salvada, e implica la autoridad suprema del papa. Aquí es donde debe verificarse si una persona posee la universalidad cristiana objetiva. El paso de la beatificación a la canonización no es un mero trámite. Ante ella, el pueblo de Dios deberá manifestar su aceptación o rechazo de una figura como exponente universal de la vida cristiana".

De todos modos, "en la Iglesia un santo no lo es todo, ni está nadie obligado a venerarlo" [51] . Ahí está el refrán que dice: Ese santo no es de mi devoción.

Con fecha 6 de octubre de 2002 se celebra la canonización. Uno de los supuestos milagros es el caso de un niño de seis años, que padecía una alta tensión arterial debido a un estrechamiento de la arteria renal derecha. El jefe de nefrología infantil del hospital donde fue tratado atribuye la curación a los efectos de un acertado tratamiento farmacológico. Otro pretendido milagro es el caso de un cirujano de Extremadura, Manuel Nevado Rey, afectado de "radiodermitis crónica grave", ya jubilado, no ha vuelto a tener problemas de piel "desde que dejó de operar y de usar sin guantes los rayos X".

Flavio Capucci, uno de los postuladores de la causa, dice que ahora no se puede hablar de "precipitación", puesto que el milagro sometido al análisis de la Congregación se produjo en 1992 y, desde entonces, disponen de, al menos, dos docenas de "prodigios" [52] .

Hay otros datos preocupantes. Un estudiante de la residencia de Escrivá participó en el intento de asesinato de Jiménez de Asúa, abogado socialista, vicepresidente del parlamento de la República y uno de los autores de la Constitución. Posteriormente, en las semanas anteriores al 18 de julio de 1936 cayó asesinado el juez que había condenado a 25 años de cárcel a uno de los autores del atentado, mientras que uno de sus cómplices, el estudiante de la residencia de Escrivá, logró esconderse de la policía. Por lo demás, Escrivá entró en el recién conquistado Madrid el 28 de marzo de 1939, a bordo de un camión militar con la primera columna de avituallamiento de las tropas de Franco [53] .

Buscar a Dios en el trabajo cotidiano

Se ha comentado mucho. El cardenal Luciani publicó un artículo en Il Gazzettino de Venecia el 25 de julio de 1978, en el que alababa la espiritualidad laical del Opus Dei. Este artículo (4 páginas) constituye una excepción en el conjunto de su obra (9 volúmenes), se publicó diez días antes de la muerte de Pablo VI , en inminente contexto electoral, a un mes del cónclave en el que sería elegido papa: ¿se lo pidieron? ¿se lo aconsejaron? Es posible que Luciani no tuviera al respecto el conocimiento ni la posición crítica que tenían muchos obispos españoles y que conociera sólo el lado positivo de la Obra: Buscar a Dios en el trabajo cotidiano [54] . El problema surge cuando uno se pregunta si los medios y métodos del Opus se corresponden con ese fin [55] .

En mi opinión, el artículo en cuestión no permite suponer que el papa Luciani hubiera reconocido igualmente la Prelatura del Opus ni que hubiera beatificado al fundador. Tenía muy cerca la posición crítica de Juan XXIII y de Pablo VI, así como la oposición clara de dos cardenales de su confianza, Benelli y Felici [56] . Por cierto, ambos murieron en 1982, el año de la quiebra del Ambrosiano.

El cardenal Benelli destacó por su intensa actividad en la fase preparatoria del primer cónclave de 1978: "consiguió asegurar a Luciani el apoyo tercermundista de latinoamericanos, africanos y asiáticos". Además, "bajo la probable influencia de Baggio y del poderoso cardenal Felici una veintena de sufragios confluyeron hacia el patriarca de Venecia" [57] . Los votos de Baggio podrían ser necesarios en una elección donde se necesita la mayoría de dos tercios.

Camilo Bassotto , amigo personal y principal responsable de la fuente veneciana del papa Luciani, me escribe lo siguiente: "El papa Luciani no habría jamás instituido la Prelatura, y mucho menos habría beatificado a Escrivá de Balaguer. No amaba al Opus Dei". Decir lo contrario (como se está diciendo) "es una mentira" [58] . Muchas gracias, Camilo, por tu testimonio. Yo nunca he creído otra cosa.

Suele plantearse también esta cuestión: ¿Era Luciani un hombre político? En cierto sentido, sí, aunque se advierte una evolución. Luciani cambia su posición con el concilio Vaticano II. No es lo mismo hablar de 1948 que de 1975. Así, por ejemplo, en las elecciones del 18 de abril del 48 concluye en Italia la posguerra. Sobre 574 escaños en la cámara de los diputados la Democracia Cristiana consigue 306, mientras el frente popular (comunista-socialista) se queda con 183. Cuando en Belluno se hicieron públicos los resultados del distrito electoral del noreste de Italia, dice don Auxilio Da Rif que ha sido vicario general de la diócesis, don Albino abrió de par en par la puerta de su habitación y gritó: "¡Venecia y Padua, democristianas!" [59] .

Antonia, la hermana de Albino y Eduardo, revela algunos secretos familiares: "Nuestra familia estaba muy metida en la resistencia. Nosotros nunca fuimos fascistas. Mi hermano Eduardo había creado una brigada de partisanos católicos después del 8 de septiembre de 1943. Se movían en la clandestinidad, y yo era el correo entre ellos y Belluno. Albino les daba consejos sobre cómo tenían que actuar, qué tenían que hacer. En fin, informaciones valiosas. Estaba tan metido en ello que era él quien movía los hilos de la resistencia católica en nuestra zona" [60] .

¿Simpatizaba Albino Luciani con la Democracia Cristiana? "Sí, responde Antonia, sobre todo en los primeros tiempos, hacia 1948. Nuestro otro hermano, Eduardo, que era militante de la DC, se quedó un año en casa sin recibir ningún sueldo para hacer propaganda. Todos los católicos tenían muy claro que la batalla por la DC era importante. En aquellos años todos estaban dispuestos a fugarse si ganaban las izquierdas".

En aquellos años, Albino salvó la vida a un maestro, a quien los partisanos rojos iban a ajusticiar como fascista. "Era precisamente el maestro que le había preparado para el instituto, explica Antonia. No era realmente fascista, lo que pasaba es que por evitarse problemas se había comprometido con el fascismo. Los partisanos comunistas llegaron por la noche y se lo llevaron. Al día siguiente, muy de mañana, llamaron a nuestra puerta. Nuestra madre abrió y se encontró delante a una mujer arrodillada. Era la mujer del maestro, que le imploraba: Decidle a Albino que venga al pueblo, por favor; sólo él puede salvar a mi marido. Mi madre se lo comunicó enseguida a mi hermano, que no dudó en venir desde Belluno. Tenía un primo comunista que estaba en la organización partisana. Fue a verlo, pero el primo le dijo que no sabía nada de aquella historia", "Albino insistió y le metió miedo: Mira, yo sé muy bien que tú eres el responsable; no me vuelvo a Belluno hasta que dejéis libre al maestro. Luego volvió a casa. La tensión crecía conforme pasaban las horas. Por la tarde nuestra madre le dijo a Albino que volviera a casa del primo para ver si había alguna novedad, y Albino así lo hizo. Acababa de salir del pueblo un correo para los partisanos comunistas. La madrugada del día siguiente el maestro pudo abrazar a su mujer".

Antonia comenta el rasgo peculiar de la personalidad de Albino: "La humildad. Sabía aceptar todo lo que venía de Dios. Y luego la alegría, sin olvidar el sentido de la responsabilidad. Se sentía responsable de todos aquellos que dependían de él, y era consciente de que todas sus decisiones no podían contentar a todos. Pero, decía, si uno tiene la conciencia tranquila no tiene por qué preocuparse: lo importante es que esté contento el de arriba" [61] .

Con el concilio Vaticano II, como hicieron muchos obispos, moderó y renovó su posición. Cuando política y religión se comprometen a seguir los mismos principios (salvaguarda de la dignidad de la persona humana, respeto de los derechos humanos, etc.), entonces se da una mutua colaboración, cada cual en su campo. Es la posición del Vaticano II: autonomía legítima y sana colaboración entre Iglesia y comunidad política [62] .

Veamos este texto del cardenal Luciani de finales del 75: "El concilio y Pablo VI [63] han dicho: 'Una misma fe puede llevar a compromisos diversos'. Por tanto, oigo decir, si un católico puede lícitamente ser democristiano, otro puede lícitamente ser comunista. Mi respuesta es: Sí, dos católicos pueden tomar compromisos diversos, pero a condición de que en cada uno la fe sea la misma" [64] . Así pues, la evolución es clara. Juan Pablo I sigue el concilio de los papas Juan y Pablo, tan denostados en el Opus Dei.

Albino Luciani cambió con el concilio y cambió, más aún, con su elección como papa: "Cuando llegas al puesto de responsabilidad al que he sido destinado, se te abre el corazón, la mente y el espíritu a una mayor prudencia, a una caridad más vasta, a una humildad más profunda, pero también a un valor y a una libertad más fuerte" [65] . Como dice don Germano, su consejero teológico, Juan Pablo I "estaba en el camino de la profecía". Don Germano le escuchó palabras fuertes sobre el sistema económico internacional que fabrica pobres: "Los pueblos ricos, y entre ellos se va colocando también Italia, son responsables de este juego infernal" [66] . Son palabras que hacen honor a un aspecto olvidado de la personalidad del papa Luciani, al fin y al cabo, "hijo de un hogar marcado por el socialismo de su padre y por la impronta de la emigración" [67] .

DOCUMENTAL SOBRE LA RED DE COMPLICIDADES ENTRE EL VATICANO Y MARCIAL MACIEL: VOTO DE SILENCIO/ VOWS OF SILENCE, DE JASON BERRY

Documental: Voto de silencio/ Vows of silence.

Basado en el libro del mismo nombre que Jason Berry coescribió en 2004 junto con Gerald Renner, desaparecido reportero del Hartford Courant, el documental se ha proyectado ya en varias instituciones educativas de Estados Unidos.

A diferencia del libro, que documenta casos de abuso sexual clerical en Estados Unidos y en México, la cinta se enfoca en retratar la historia de Marcial Maciel Degollado, y fundador de la controvertida orden de los Legionarios de Cristo.

En una reseña del documental escrita por Tom Roberts, director de noticias de National Catholic Reporter (NCR), que ha cubierto ampliamente los escándalos sexuales del clero en Estados Unidos, Roberts comenta que Votos de silencio "es una anatomía del sistema de justicia vaticano, siguiendo la obsesionante saga del padre Marcial Macial, quien se ganó el favor del papa Juan Pablo II a pesar de años de acusaciones de pederastia".

Según el texto, el desaparecido fundador de la Legión de Cristo aprovechó su carisma y sus conexiones en el Vaticano para convertirse en el principal recolector de fondos de la Iglesia católica (varias fuentes indican que la Legión de Cristo tiene un presupuesto de 650 millones de dólares) y para atraer a jóvenes seminaristas a su causa.

El documental", escribió Roberts, "expone a un papado que prestó escasa atención a los signos de alerta sobre el alcance del escándalo, y a un sistema de justicia eclesiástico a veces más interesado en oscurecer o ignorar la verdad que en buscarla".

Según la reseña, la cinta recurre al testimonio de varios ex sacerdotes y ex seminaristas para contar con maestría cómo Maciel tejió una orden más parecida a un culto, en la que se le mencionaba como "Nuestro padre" y se prohibía cualquier crítica al fundador o a la Legión.

El título "Voto de silencio" alude al sistema con el que "Maciel ocultó sus abusos sexuales y su tiranía psicológica , haciendo que los legionarios juraran votos secretos de jamás criticarlo a él o a su movimiento-culto".

Berry es probablemente el más experimentado investigador de la crisis de abuso sexual clerical en Estados Unidos. Aunque es también historiador del jazz, novelista y dramaturgo, el escritor católico lleva casi un cuarto de siglo tocando el tema en sus reportajes para NCR.

En 1992 escribió No nos dejes caer en tentación, libro descrito por Bruce Nolan en The Times-Picayune como "la primera exploración profunda de esa bomba de relojería del abuso sexual sacerdotal que hacía tic-tac rumbo a su detonación hace 12 años".

En 2004, Berry se unió a Renner para documentar, en Votos de silencio, detalles de dos largos casos de abusos sexuales: los centrados en la persona del dominico estadunidense Thomas Doyle y la turbulenta historia de la Legión de Cristo.

Además de la información ya conocida sobre la Legión, el documental lleva la historia más allá de donde se quedó en el libro de 2004: culmina con la decisión del papa Benedicto XVI de pedir a Maciel un discreto retiro de la vida pública.

La cinta agrega información nueva. Por ejemplo, presenta el testimonio de Christopher Kuzne, un ex legionario que relata cómo se acercó a la Legión de Cristo atraído por su serio tono religioso. Pero en 1992 se enteró de que Maciel tenía problemas de drogadicción, y su mundo se derrumbó al percatarse de que su reverenciado líder se acercaba a solicitarle favores sexuales.

Según un artículo en The Marquette University Tribune, órgano de la institución donde Kuzne estudió, mientras trabajaba en el Vaticano desobedeció las órdenes de la orden y leyó un artículo de Berry que relataba numerosos casos.

Kuzne "dejó la orden y el sacerdocio en 2001, después de 17 años como legionario", dice el recuento.

El documental agrega otro detalle antes desconocido: ex legionarios basados en Roma testimonian que la orden les envió a Estados Unidos para que hicieran amistad con jóvenes prometedores que estudiaban en el North American College, un semillero de futuros obispos estadunidenses. Se esperaba que enviaran informes escritos de su progreso.

El relato de Bruce Nolan dice que "estos esfuerzos supuestamente incluyen un intento de ganarse la amistad del hijo del juez Antonin Scalia, de la Suprema Corte, todo en nombre de asegurar el futuro de la Legión con la siguiente generación de líderes de la Iglesia".

Del dicho al hecho

Ante alumnos de la Universidad de Rhode Island, Jason Berry comentó favorablemente los comentarios que hizo el papa Benedicto XVI en su reciente visita a Estados Unidos.

Me sentí alentado y contento por sus comentarios porque es importante para él traer un vocabulario de contrición y expiación", dijo el escritor.

Pero agregó que las palabras no bastan. Es importante para el Vaticano “remover a obispos que han abusado o transferido a abusadores... ¿Por qué no han sido exclaustrados los 15 obispos que abusaron de niños?”."

El documental Voto de silencio, doblado en español, fue emitido a las doce de la noche, el 15 de mayo de 2010, en "Documentos TV", en la 2 de TVE.

Sobre la pederastia en las órdenes religiosas, puedo decir que tuve la suerte de no ser víctima de deseos por parte de mis profesores. De aquella época no tengo recuerdos personales ni de acoso ni de tocamientos sobre mí, sí que tengo imágenes de amiguitos sentados en las piernas de algún profe y recuerdos de manos sobre los muslitos de algunos. De adulto, en conversaciones con antiguos compañeros alumnos de los salesianos, entre nosotros sí que algunos habían sentido un ligero acoso con intenciones anormalmente cariñosas.
Quizás es que la orden salesiana ha sido bastante ejemplar en la enseñanza, aunque es casi seguro que ha tenido y tiene miembros inmorales en su seno en menor medidas que otras órdenes.
Otra cosa que quizás haya influido en mi pasado es que mis padres NUNCA entraron en el Colegio ni tuvieron el más mínimo sentimiento religioso. La primera comunión ni fueron a la Iglesia ni me disfrazaron de nada. Camisa blanca y pantalón corto. No recuerdo que llevara ni el librito que la mayoría llevaba a la ceremonia.

Con los iconos y mitos que reivindicamos, la mayor parte de las veces tratamos de identificarnos como casta aparte y superior y alejarnos del común, no vaya a ser que se vean los hilvanes y los alfileres de una cultura hecha a retales, y deshilachada.

No es casualidad si nadie que quiera aparentar cierto refinamiento, ve otra cosa, en televisión, que no sean los documentales y algunas películas de exquisita factura, y destacadas por los críticos e intelectuales ad hoc.

Entre esos hitos del buen gusto, para mi desgracia, está "El Gatopardo" de Visconti, que logré soportar en su día a duras penas, arrebatada por una invencible irritación: Alain Delon consiguió parecerme tan mal actor como Helmut Berger —que ya es difícil—; Claudia Cardinale tomó las hechuras de un suflé interpretativo; y ni siquiera mi amado Burt Lancaster logra justificar que Visconti no eliminara más de un tercio del metraje. Si a eso se añade que la novela homónima excluye, con muy buen criterio, los detalles que la película magnifica con premiosa complacencia, el resultado no puede parecerme menos acertado.

Y como esta bitácora se llama gatopardo —en honor al tiburón y no al Príncipe di Salina—, no hay manera de evitar las alusiones a la película de Visconti que, por si no queda claro, me produce tanta dentera como su "Muerte en Venecia". que extasió a todos los ex-alumnos de colegios religiosos criados con la mugre retestinada del morbo

y del estilo churrigueresco, y que acabaron, como era de esperar, posando de intelectuales, estetas y exquisitos, cinéfilos, pseudo venecianos y pseudo decadentes, con el humor cenizo de un desbaratabailes, tan propensos a la murga, a la neurastenia, y al adjetivo incongruente como a los excesos en la mesa. Son las consecuencias de acostumbrar a los niños al estilo pompier de la recua católica.

Y como ya me rechinan los dientes cada vez que alguien alude a la frase "Es preciso que todo cambie para que todo siga igual", ruego humildemente que tengan la decencia intelectual de acudir a la frase original de Antonio Machado —el filósofo creador de Abel Martín y Juan de Mairena—, al que Lampedusa leyó cabalmente y homenajeó así, y ya puestos, lean también los ensayos de crítica literaria de Giuseppe Tomasi di Lampedusa con el respeto que merece quien, en vida, no fue reconocido como autor por los editores ni por sus coetános y pudo ser un espíritu libre y desapegado, sin servidumbres. Y quizás, entonces, comprendan hasta qué punto Visconti lo traicionó, lo ninguneó y lo estropeó con su amanerado sentido de la belleza, sólo apto para modistos y peluqueros.

¡Abajo Sainte-Beuve y sus epígonos!

Nada más que por haber dirigido la película "SENSO" debería ser Patrimonio de la Humanidad. En ella se hace una de las más tremendas puesta en escena de una HOMÍNIDA en celo, capaz de llevar a la muerte al macho.
Obra maestra de la cinematografía.

HAY TONTOS QUE TONTOS SON...

Tonto inane, tonto el haba.
tonto, memo y jactancioso.
tonto que así se ufanaba
de ser listo y ser gracioso.

Tonto que preside Europa, tonto que preside España,
y una se tienta la ropa
y otra se hunde con saña.

Tonto fruto del país

LA EX-MINISTRA DE CULTURA CARMEN CALVO POYATO DIXIT

INTERPELACIÓN DE DON JUAN VAN-HALEN ACEDO, DEL GRUPO PARLAMENTARIO POPULAR EN EL SENADO, SOBRE LAS MEDIDAS PREVISTAS POR EL GOBIERNO PARA FRENAR LA CRISIS DEL CINE ESPAÑOL QUE SE HA PRODUCIDO EN EL AÑO 2004 (670/000033).

(...) En el año 1996, primer año de gobierno del Partido Popular, las producciones fueron 91; en el año anterior, 1995, con un gobierno socialista, las producciones fueron 59, y, señora ministra, precisamente en ese período que usted considera negro para el cine español, por la supuesta hostilidad del PP hacia la gente del cine, Calvo *«dixit», las producciones fueron: año 2000, 98; año 2001, 106; año 2002 —ya con la nueva Ley de Fomento y Promoción de la Cinematografía—, 137, y en el año 2003, 110. No debe ser ajeno a esta curva el cambio de criterio en las ayudas a la cinematografía.

Los datos oficiales del ministerio recogen que los filmes que superaron el millón de espectadores fueron más numerosos en la etapa de gobierno del Partido Popular y escasísimos en la etapa de gobierno del Partido Socialista. Centrándonos en el período negro, Calvo *«dixit», en el año 2000 dos filmes, «La comunidad» y «Año mariano», superaron cada uno de ellos el millón trescientos mil espectadores. En 2001, año negro también, Calvo *«dixit», las cifras fueron de asombro —el mejor año, con mucha diferencia, del cine español—: «Los otros» consiguió 6.242.330 espectadores; «Torrente 2», 5.297.953; «Juana la loca», 1.630.645; «Lucía y el sexo», 1.258.919. El año siguiente, año negro, Calvo *«dixit»: «El otro lado de la cama» consiguió 2.726.871; «Los lunes al sol», 1.602.946; «Hable con ella», 1.152.329; «El hijo de la novia», 1.255.150. El último año de gobierno del Partido Popular la cota fue también buenísima: «La gran aventura de Mortadelo y Filemón», 4.979.991; «Días de fútbol», 2.424.949; «Carmen», 1.353.848; «El oro de Moscú», 1.259.269. Voy a sumar para que no se molesten en hacerlo sus señorías. En la última legislatura del PP, los años negros de hostilidad hacia el mundo del cine, Calvo «dixit», los espectadores totales de cine español, en los cuatro años negros, repito, son los siguientes: 2001, 26.205.964; 2002, 19.018.156; 2003, 21.731.317. Me guardo algunas perlas del año 2004 para mi segunda intervención, después de oír a su señoría, porque hay cosas que a usted no le sorprenderán, pero que tienen cierta gracia.

El señor PRESIDENTE: Gracias, señoría.

Tiene la palabra la señora ministra de Cultura.

La señora MINISTRA DE CULTURA (Calvo Poyato): Gracias, señor presidente.
Señoría, usted para mí nunca será Van-Halen «Dixi» ni «Pixi»; será su señoría, el senador Van-Halen, precisamente porque estamos en una Cámara de representación democrática en nuestro país, precisamente porque estamos en el Senado.
Y desde ahora le adelanto que ese modelo de intervención, con alusiones pretendidamente ingeniosas acerca de las personas, en este caso de mi persona, si quiere, se las puede ahorrar, porque no voy a contestarlas.
(...) **

FÉLIX MARÍA SAMANIEGO: LAS GOLLERÍAS

Oye, Apolo, mi acento, ven a inspirarme un cuento,
pues hace muchos días que, temeroso de las penas mías, quieres que yo te aguarde,
y tu fuego me infundes mal o tarde.
Parece que se apiada
con esta invocación, pues exaltada por su influencia mi memoria siento y empiezo a contar. En un convento de padres capuchinos halló un día el guardián un billete que decía:
«Hermana Mariquita:
espérame esta tarde peinadita,

lavadita y compuesta,
que iré y tendremos en la cama fiesta».
Con este escandaloso contenido, de rabia el reverendo poseído, ordenó que a capítulo tocasen,
y que en el refectorio se juntasen sin tardar un momento
todos los gordos frailes del convento.
Ellos obedecieron cabizbajos, diciendo: -¿Qué apostólicos trabajos nuestro padre guardián hoy nos previene, pues tanta prisa en convocarnos tiene?
La comunidad, pues, estando junta, en medio se presenta y les pregunta:
-¿Quién es el fraile impío que ha escrito este billete?
Miren su lujurioso desvarío
y, pues que castigarlo me compete, digan (lo mando así bajo obediencia)
quién es para imponerle penitencia.
En seguida leyó encolerizado en voz alta el billete mencionado, y oyendo su impiedad los frailes todos mostraron su rubor de varios modos.
Cual, con gestos horrendos,
la cita detestaba;
cual, con gritos tremendos, «¿es joven la hermanita?», preguntaba;
pero ninguno, en tanto, del delito confesó ser autor, ni del escrito;
bien que al fin a las plantas se arrojaron del grave superior y le rogaron que no se publicara
tan infame papel, y deshonrara a la comunidad, con desatinos indecentes en frailes capuchinos.
-¡Ah!, no es el crimen, exclamó furioso el padre guardián, lo que me irrita, sino las circunstancias de la cita;
pues en un religioso
es la mayor de las bellaquerías pedir de esa manera gollerías.
«Hermana Mariquita:
espérame peinada y compuestita,
lavadita y... » ¡ Jesús! , yo me sofoco;
todo a los frailes les parece poco, pues yo soy el guardián y la tomara sin que se compusiera ni lavara.

EL TRABAJO EN DUBAI, COBRANDO 600 € DIARIOS, ES UNA ESTAFA

Lo aviso porque en radio, prensa y televisión españolas, lo están dando como noticia cierta y contrastada. Y me juego mi prótesis de cadera a que es un pufo.

El truco es el siguiente: un estafador bien trajeado, que pasa por hombre de negocios y contratista internacional, alquila una suite de hotel o una oficina ya equipada, o una página web clonada de alguna oficial: pone un puñado de fotos suyas saludando a los presidentes y monarcas de varios paises (yo me hice unas dándole achares a Marlon Brando). Y enseñan y presentan un puñado de contratos y papeles oficiales (más falsos que mi diploma de Miss Camiseta Mojada).

Cuando ya tiene al candidato convencido de que ha sido seleccionado y contratado, le dicen que tiene que dar X cantidad para un trámite. La mayoría da el dinero que le piden, porque echando cuentas con lo que van a ganar...

Al cabo de unos días, desaparece el contratista con el dinero, y los parados descubren que han sido estafados.

Normalmente, si el trabajo es una bicoca, suele ser una estafa.

Si te piden que pagues para hacerte el contrato, además de ilegal, es una estafa.

Avisa inemdiatamente a la Policía o la Guardia Civil.

Y si además, los periodistas lo comentan como algo cierto, es una trola. A los periodistas nada más les falta callar y no escribir, para parecer más listos que las personas.

Como vacuna contra timadores, recuerden: no hay estafador que no sea simpático, y que no te prometa algo que no puedes obtener.

Y recordad que, en España, el salario mínimo interprofesional para cualquier actividad queda determinado en 20,80 euros/día o 624 euros/mes.

Todo lo que exceda de eso, son gollerías.

De nada. Ya saben que me gusta ser útil.

Hacer referencia a nuestra inteligencia, sería redundancia, pues queda patente el seguimiento que hacemos de este blog.

Decir esto, no es por otro motivo que hacerle notar de que somos lo necesariamente aptos para diferenciar lo que es información de lo que es mera propaganda. Creo necesario, e incluso imprescindible, que sin falta, y en apoyo de su argumentación, sea tan amable de insertar en este post, dos fotografías, una reciente, y otra con la camiseta mojada, para de esta forma hacernos una idea de su veracidad.

Confiado en su pronta respuesta, le doy las gracias de antemano.

HUNGRIA: EL RESURGIMIENTO DEL NAZISMO FINANCIADO POR LA UNIÓN EUROPEA

"Según los expertos nazis, matar judíos era más fácil. Se quedaban quietos. En cambio los gitanos lloraban, gritaban y se movían constantemente"* (Raul Hilberg, The Destruction of the European Jews, *p.439)

"Teniendo en cuenta la situación actual, el antisemitismo no es sólo un derecho, sino el deber de todo húngaro que ame su patria, y debemos prepararnos para una guerra contra los judíos"

Esta frase no fue pronunciada en los años treinta o cuarenta. Es la declaración del Sindicato de Policia Húngara (Tettrekész Magyar Rendőrség Szakszervezete (TMRSZ), y fue editada, publicada, y suscrita, en mayo de 2009, por Judit Szima, teniente coronel de la policia hungara, secretaria del TMRSZ, y miembro del partido nazi (Jobbik) de Hungría.

El 18 de mayo de 2009, en un acuerdo que viola leyes europeas y las más elementales reglas de cualquier sistema democrático, Judit Szima y Both Laszlo, por el Sindicato de Policia TMRSZ, y Gábor Vona, lider del Jobbik, firman un acuerdo de cooperación según el cual la policía se compromete a brindar todo tipo de cooperación, protección e información al Jobbik. A cambio, éste sufraga todas las necesidades económicas que el sindicato considere necesarias para los policias. En sintesis: el 20% de la policía hungara pasa a ser ejército privado del partido nazi más poderoso de la Unión Europea. Como objetivos comunes que ambas organizaciones firman están, entre otros: la reimplantación de la pena de muerte (prohibida en la unión europea), endurecimiento del sistema penitenciario y tratamiento punitivo de "minorias criminales": judíos y gitanos (delito de racismo y xenofobia prohibido por las leyes en la Unión Europea).

El acuerdo es el resultado de la popularidad y simpatía que los húngaros, haciendo honor a su historia, han dispensado a todo tipo de asesinatos y tropelías cometidos contra minorías: judíos, gitanos y homosexuales. La ola de crímenes de los últimos años es estremecedora. La policía tiene extrañas dificultades en encontrar a los culpables y , si encuentra a alguno, los jueces tienden a la benevolencia:

Escuadrones de la muerten asesinan a una familia gitana en Tatarszengyorgy (febrero, 2009)

Robert Csorba, de 27 años, y su hijo de 5, murieron acribillados cuando intentaban huir del incendio provocado de su casa. Sus otros dos hijos, de tres y seis años, fueron ingresados con quemaduras de carácter muy grave en el hospital.

Los investigadores de la policía encontraron en la nieve restos de bombas incendiarias. Las conclusiones del Director de la Oficina Nacional de Investigación, Peter Papp, revelan el interés de la policía en resolver estos asesinatos: "Parece que nos hallamos ante una serie de delitos", "Al parecer, los delincuentes pertenecen al mismo círculo".

El jefe de policía del condado de Pest, Sandor Armos, admitió que sus colegas eran reacios a investigar este tipo de crímenes. Efectivamente, pisotearon pero "no vieron" casquillos de bala, huellas, etc. En su desganada inspección destruyeron la escena del crimen. Tampoco consideraron relevante los testimonios ni el video aportado por ciudadanos de Tatarszengyorgy, en el cual aparecen el grupo paramilitar Magyar Garda (creado por Gabor Vona) desfilando una semana antes por la población, con uniformes y banderas nazis y anunciando el próximo asesinato de "criminales gitanos"

Un joven judío apaleado en Budapest (junio, 2009)

Un trabajador de un restaurante judío del antiguo ghetto de Budapest fue apaleado por tres encapuchados que profirieron gritos de "muerte al judío". La policía llegó tarde. A pesar de los insultos antisemitas, y de que los asaltantes preguntaron al joven que si era judío, la policía consideró qie era un caso de gamberrismo sin connotaciones racistas.

Según la policía, tampoco ha sido un atentado racista el último ataque perpetrado contra una familia, en su casa, y jaleado por el vecindario, que gritaba: "Hay que matar a palos a los judíos".

Uno de los judíos ha cometido el gran crimen de no dejarse matar y ahora mismo hay cargos contra él y amenazas contra su familia. Por razones de seguridad ni siquiera podemos decir su nombre.

Los apaleamientos de judíos es el deporte nacional de los cachorros nazis.

Siguen las mismas tácticas que las Sturmabteilung y las juventudes del Partido de la Cruz Flechada: sembrar el terror con atentados a reuniones, destrucción de monumentos, profanación de cementerios, tienen como objetivo ganarse la simpatia de la población magyar, tantear la respuesta oficial ante la violencia y acorralar a las víctimas en un ghetto físico y psicológico. Si esta fase tiene éxito, comenzarán la segunda:linchamiento, y la tercera: exterminio.

El apaleamiento del judío tiene un valor ritual. Es el bautismo de sangre de los militantes de la Magyar Gard y una señal para otros partidos nazis de que se ha levantado la veda.

Del atentado contra la Sinagoga en Debrechen, el 10 de Noviembre de 2008, aniversario de la Kristallnacht, el Jobbik obtuvo enormes beneficios: fue la demostración de que Europa miraría a otro lado, las autoridades húngaras se limitarían a una condena formal y el pueblo húngaro los premiaría en las urnas.

Paramilitares asesinan a una mujer gitana y hieren gravemente a su hija de 13 años (agosto 2009). María Balogh, trabajadora agrícola, y su hija Ketrin de 13 años fueron asaltadas, mientras dormían, por un grupo de hombres armados, que las ametrallaron.

María murió y Ketrin fue hospitalizada en estado crítico. Los vecinos consideran justificada esta violencia contra los gitanos, porque son vagos, tienen muchos hijos y viven del estado. Gábor Vona explica: "Nos estamos protegiendo de la delincuencia gitana"

Ese mismo mes de agosto Gábor Vona había exigido la vuelta de la infame Gendarmería Húngara, ejecutora del plan Eichmann, de la muerte de 600.000 judíos húngaros y de una cifra sin determinar de gitanos europeos

De facto, en Hungría, los judíos tienen cada día más difícil cualquier reunión de carácter cultural o religioso. Siguiendo el macabro chiste de Goering: "No me gustaría ser judío en Alemania" los grupos de extrema derecha, con la permisividad y apoyo de policia, autoridades y población, se dedican a jalonar con atentados cada celebración o muestra de simple existencia de esta comunidad. Hace un mes, la casa del rabino Harav Shmuel Riskin fue apedreada mientras se celebraba el Sabbatt.

La policía se limitó a acudir a la llamada y advertir que sería imposible encontrar a los culpables. Los ataques al Teatro Judío con ácido, los carteles señalando que no hay que lamentar 6 millones de cerdos muertos, las lápidas machacadas, sólo son noticias que recoge prensa minoritaria. El fantasma de las leyes de Nuremberg ha llegado a Hungría. El clima y las condiciones políticas ya están.

En efecto, en abril se celebraron las elecciones en Hungría. El parlamento queda configurado de la siguiente manera: el Fidesz, partido de derecha del que se separó el Jobbik, 263 de 386 escaños, el partido socialista retrocede hasta 59 escaños, y el Jobbik se convierte en la tercera fuerza con 47 escaños.

Esto no significa que haya triunfado una derecha inocua (por más que la prensa de Berlusconi la llame centro-derecha o conservadores). Victor Orban es un Jean-Marie Le Pen con mayoría absoluta, y dependiente, en lo que a fuerzas de seguridad y servicios de inteligencia se refiere, del poder del Jobbik.

Las primeras medidas ya avisan del peligro que supone esta vanguardia nazi para la Unión Europea: la ley que permite al gobierno de Orban legislar y alterar la constitución sin necesidad de debate parlamentario ya está aprobada, y sus consecuencias para la democracia pueden ser las mismas que cuando, en Alemania, el Reichstadt otorgó a Hitler plenos poderes en 1933.

La ley de doble ciudadanía que permite a ciudadanos de naciones vecinas, que acrediten origen húngaro, acceder a la nacionalidad húngara ha creado una tensión sin precedentes con Eslovaquia y con las leyes de la Unión Europea. La ley, que ha ignorado las preceptivas negociaciones diplomáticas con los países afectados, supone un desafío a la Unión Europea y un primer paso en los delirios expansionistas de Orban y Gábor Bona en busca del perdido Magyar Királyság (Reino de Hungría.). Por otra parte, el gobierno húngaro pretende negociar con estadísticas fraudulentas sobre su población para obtener ayudas de fondos europeos y cuota de poder en el Parlamento Europeo.

El Fidesz y el Jobbik son un ejemplo de los nuevos partidos nazis.

Están bien organizados, tienen una base ideológica sin fisuras, tienen buenas redes de apoyo internacional, su terrorismo es controlado y siguen paso a paso la estrategia política del pasado. La táctica de desinformación del Jobbik acusando a los judíos de estar adquiriendo tierras en Hungría esta basada en la propaganda del partdo nazi, previa a los Decretos de 1933, prohibiendo a los judíos alemanes poseer tierras. Decreto al que siguió la confiscación y el robo de propiedades. Ahora estamos ya en la fase de acusar al "poder judío" de dominar la prensa.

Los partidos nazis saben que el racismo es un buen negocio: matar gitanos es más barato que crear polideportivos o mejorar centros sociales para sus votantes. Mientras haya un niño gitano al que quemar vivo nadie va a hacerse preguntas sobre la corrupción hungara o las mafias que han asolado la economía del país.

El antisemitismo nazi va más allá de la discriminación o de la crueldad de carácter histórico. Es un negocio y una parte organizada de la guerra. Apalear, matar judíos tiene como objetivo inmediato hacerles saber que no están en su país, que Hungría pertenece a los magyares.

Y es fácil que un judío húngaro se convenza, si hay una policía corrupta, unos jueces marionetas, y unos conciudadanos con instintos criminales mal encauzados. Cualquier defensa o argumentación que pueda esgrimir va a fracasar: su patriotismo, su contribución a la cultura húngara o al progreso van a ser tergiversados por los nazis como infiltraciones de esta perversa raza en el estado y en todas los estratos del poder.

Además el Jobbik y el Fidesz saben que este terror es un arma geopolítica que ya usaron Goëring y Heydrich al tratar de la "cuestión judía": obligar a una emigración masiva, incontrolada de judíos a Israel y a otros países crea una desestabilización económica y de seguridad que debilita al oponente. Durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial, El Reino Unido tuvo un flanco de enorme debilidad en el protectorado de Palestina por las tensiones constantes que crearon estas oledas de refugiados que huían del exterminio. Al leer los Diarios de Liddell, se ve que más de la mitad del presupuesto y esfuerzo de los Servicios de Inteligencia se dedicó no a la guerra, sino a controlar y vigilar a los refugiados.

Israel no tiene capacidad ni económica ni política para acoger hoy a decenas de miles de estos posibles refugiados europeos. Añadir este conflicto a la actual situación de Israel y Palestina es condenar a estos pueblos a una escalada de violencia inimaginable.

Esta estrategia ha sido reforzada por grupos neo-conservadores de los Estados Unidos que se denominan "cristianos sionistas". Los "cristianos sionistas" tienen por misión principal radicalizar jovenes judíos y animarles a la violencia. Los mensajes son simples: el árabe es un asesino, el palestino un terrorista. Israel es fuerte: Ármate y vete a Israel a matar. La ideología nazi que subyace es tan burda que no requiere comentario. La Asociación del rifle americana, lo peorcito de la America profunda, respalda y financia a estos provocadores. Es la manera perfecta de librarse del judío europeo y americano convirtiéndolo en un desesperado al margen de la ley europea, un elemento antisocial, incapaz de formar parte del capital humano, científico, económico o militar, ni de Israel ni de Europa.

No olvidemos los millones de muertos que ha costado a Europa cada vez que ha estallado un conflicto de nacionalismo o ha surgido un movimiento armado nazi. Hungría nos ha traido los dos problemas, pero hay una gran diferencia respecto al pasado: sus ciudadanos son nuestros ciudadanos, sus gitanos, nuestros gitanos, y sus judíos, nuestros judíos. Son europeos con todos los derechos y tienen que recurrir, denunciar y protestar en todas las instancias que las leyes europeas han creado para su protección y la nuestra.

Por cada gitano o judío asesinado han de surgir mil denuncias en juzgados de toda Europa, mil denuncias ante el Tribunal de Derechos Humanos y mil europeos que cancelemos compras, negocios, inversiones o viajes en ese infierno nazi que es hoy Hungría. Las personas perseguidas por policías corruptos o atacadas deben dar los nombres de esos criminales de forma segura y anónima. Otros conciudadanos europeos los denunciaremos.

En 2008, la Union Europea y el FMI salvaron la bancarrota del estado húngaro con 20.000 millones de euros. Que sus nuevos líderes sean unos fantoches nazis no mejora su situación. Hungría asume la presidencia de Europa en 2011. Para entonces, su gobierno tiene que estar denunciado por racista y genocida, el Sobbik en la lista de organizaciones terroristas, y sus dirigentes buscados por Interpol.

ENRIQUE SIERRA VALENZUELA: A UN VATE HUERO

(Variaciones)

Conozco yo un ratón de biblioteca, presunto monaguillo del Parnaso, émulo del Petrarca y Garcilaso, que es digno del estro de una rueca.

Y que teniendo la mollera seca,
el seso huero y el sentido raso,
creyendo cuando menos ser un Tasso, poeta se apellida con voz huera.

Mirado como hombre es, en resumen,
un ridículo tipo de sainete, chisgarabís sin seso ni cacumen.

Y visto como vate es tan zoquete que una vez ensayó su huero numen e hizo, en lugar de un soneto, un sonsonete.

AISLING WALSH: SONG FOR A RAGGY BOY (PADRE NUESTRO, LOS NIÑOS DE SAN JUDAS)

La película Song For A Raggy Boy, titulada en español Los niños de San Judas, y Padre nuestro, de la directora irlandesa Aisling Walsh, desgraciadamente basada en hechos reales y novelados por Patrick Galvin, narra la historia de un estricto internado católico irlandés de 1939, refleja el horror de los reformatorios/prisiones, los religiosos que abusan de menores, los métodos violentos y el maltrato a los niños.

Aunque pudiera parecer una historia "local" de las que ha sacado a la luz el Informe Ryan sobre el maltrato y los abusos sexuales en Irlanda, ese régimen de terror y crueldad se ha dado, y aún se da en muchos países, en los internados, orfanatos, y reformatorios para niños problemáticos, huérfanos, o que han sido abandonados por sus padres.

En la actualidad, en muchos países de latinoamérica y en España, en los centros especializados en la atención a menores que presentan trastornos de la conducta, en régimen de internamiento, semiabierto o totalmente cerrado, se habla de un equipo multiprofesional que vela por el bienestar del menor, por su educación y por su futuro, pero, según las denuncias presentadas por las organizaciones de derechos humanos, en muchos de estos centros, los menores están sufriendo una reglamentación netamente carcelaria, no existe el derecho a la intimidad, controlan su correspondencia, restringen sus visitas y supervisan sus llamadas, utilizan celdas de castigo, se les administra tranquilizantes y neurolépticos como camisa de fuerza química, utilizan contra ellos el rigor físico y el aislamiento, sufren abusos sexuales, registros vejatorios en los que están integramente desnudos, y se les castiga con ejercicios y flexiones hasta la extenuación.

Su indefensión, alejados de su entorno familiar y comunitario, otorga carta blanca a supuestas fundaciones benéficas, lideradas por sectas del género Opus Dei y Legionarios de Cristo, no siempre ajenas a la pederastia, que, además, con la inspirada ayuda de algunos autoproclamados psiquiatras y terapéutas -descendientes y continuadores de los nazis Vallejo Nájera, Rojas Ballesteros, y López Ibor, discípulos eméritos del Doktor Mengele-. y la prescripción de tranquilizantes y neurolépticos sin tasa ni control, que anularían la personalidad de cualquiera.

Pero no se asusten que eso de drogarlos hasta convertirlos en un despojo humano sin voluntad es lo mismo que se hace habitualmente con los ancianos, en las residencias regidas por monjitas y asociaciones benéficas.

Eliminar los residuos humanos con cargo a los presupuestos generales del Estado, bajo el epígrafe "Asistencia Social", es de los negocios más rentables. Y, encima, la mayoría de los viejecitos acaba por firmar lo que les pongan delante.

Yo estuve en una escuela hogar con un régimen parecido. No nos enseñaban nada y nos trataban conforme al humor de los preceptores (no había curas). No había violaciones pero si sexo entre algunos chicos. Escribo esto porque no se que es peor, por un lado estos reformatorios no eran lo mejor pero ahora que los han cerrado los chicos deambulan en la calle, drogados, alcoholizados y sin ninguna educación. La sociedad debería plantearse tratar este tema seriamente y cuidar a los chicos. Creo que no debería importa el presupuesto para brindar educación, hogar y contención considerando que ésto implica pocos años comparado con los impuestos que deberá pagar siendo un adulto de bien incorporado a la sociedad. Allí aprendí que todos nacemos buenos pero muchos se encargan de convertirnos en malos: Esos muchos pueden ser no tener una familia contenedora o nacer en un país que no brinda las garantías.

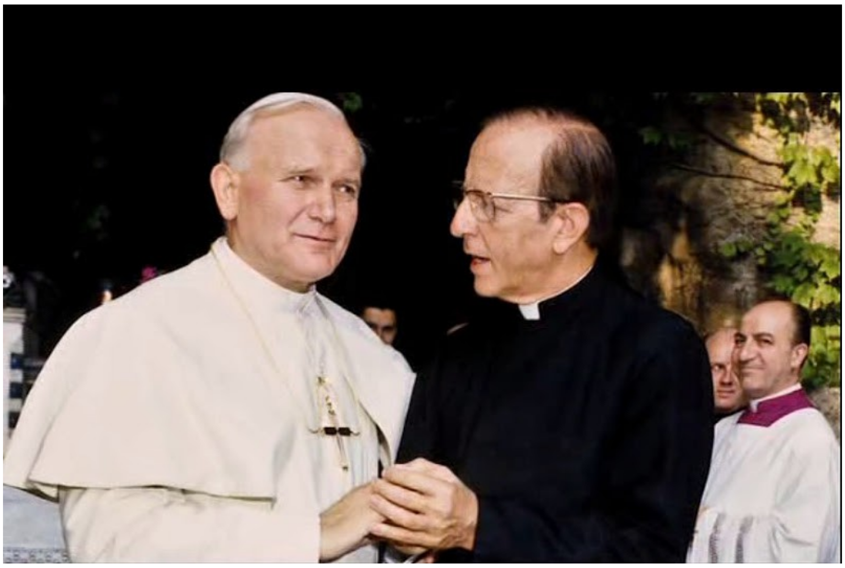
LA NORMATIVA DE LOS LEGIONARIOS DE CRISTO Y EL REGNUM CHRISTIE, CALCADA DEL OPUS DEI, INCUMPLE EL DERECHO CANÓNICO



Los obispos visitadores se sorprendieron al conocer la existencia de consagradas en el Regnum Christi y de la rigurosa normatividad en la que viven, la cual no aceptaría la Iglesia católica en la actualidad.
Para el fundador de Legionarios de Cristo era importante la participación femenina, pero sólo para conseguir donativos.

Mujeres sonrientes, con buenos modales, de buena presencia y escasa formación cultural y religiosa, que decidieron consagrar su vida al Regnum Christi de los Legionarios de Cristo, viven sometidas en los centros de la congregación en una esclavitud voluntaria que les impide opinar, tener amistades y cercanía con su familia. Bajo un régimen de control total se les ha utilizado por décadas para obtener recursos y vocaciones. Y todo en nombre de Dios.

A cuarenta años de haberse integrado el primer grupo de consagradas, creado por Marcial Maciel, se descubrió que no están reconocidas por la Santa Sede, incluso los visitadores apostólicos se sorprendieron al conocer de su existencia y de la rigurosa normatividad en la que viven, la cual no aceptaría la Iglesia católica en la actualidad.

Actualmente son cerca de 900, provenientes de España, México, Estados Unidos, Francia, Italia, Alemania y Nueva Zelanda, principalmente. En el país son aproximadamente 300 en sus centros instalados en Monterrey (hay dos casas, una con 50 y otra con 150 jóvenes recién consagradas), Distrito Federal (cinco casas), Puebla, León, Saltillo, Mérida, Guadalajara y Cotija.

Perdidas en el laberinto de esa normatividad, han creado una figura "híbrida" que fue aprovechada por su fundador, que las convirtió en su ejército femenil. Tan sólo para el cumpleaños de éste, cada 10 de marzo se les solicitaba un "regalo económico", un cheque aproximado de 250 mil dólares, cantidad que cada año se intentaba superar.

Según los Estatutos del Regnum Christi (RC), en el capítulo dedicado al tercer grado, de los que tiene copia MILENIO Diario, se establece un total sometimiento de juicio y se les exige que a los 15 años de haber sido consagradas entreguen la mitad de sus bienes patrimoniales presentes y futuros a la Legión y a los 25 años el total de éste, de los cuales no se dispondrá en vida de la donante, sólo de su usufructo.

Además, se indica que si cuentan con bienes al integrarse al RC los podrán conservar, y adquirir más, pero no administrar. Y podrán disponer del usufructo de éstos, pero sólo para obras de caridad y de ayuda al movimiento legionario.

A estas jóvenes diseñadas para ser sometidas se les recluta en sus colegios, entre los grupos de colaboradores y las secciones de jóvenes, las consagran desde los 17 años de edad y se les solicita a sus padres, si pueden pagar, 7 mil dólares anuales para su mantenimiento; en México durante varios años se les pedía una mensualidad aproximada de dos mil a tres mil pesos, para cubrir los gastos de la casa en donde vivían.

Son aisladas desde el primer momento en que ingresan, las normas son claras: con sus familiares pueden estar 15 días cada 7 años y una vez al año las pueden ver sus padres, en las ciudades en donde éstas se encuentren. También, tienen derecho a una llamada mensual que realiza la familia. Pero esta regla se puede romper si requieren conseguir recursos para los centros.

Para estas mujeres laicas, que no están consagradas como las religiosas de otras congregaciones, hay permisos especiales para salir del centro e ir con sus familias, los cuales se otorgan en caso de que su padre o madre se encuentren enfermos de muerte, sólo son ocho días, si en ese lapso no fallece, se regresan y es algo extraordinario conseguir otro pase.

Al interior del centro tienen prohibido hablar de lo personal entre ellas. Ahí debe reinar siempre el silencio, excepto en la media hora destinada para la comida y los 10 minutos que se les concede al final del día para charlar. No pueden ayudarse unas a otras en nada sin el permiso de su directora. Todo es controlado, incluso el ir al baño, lo cual tiene que autorizarlo su directora si están en tiempos de convivencia comunitaria.

La inflexible normatividad en la que viven las consagradas les obliga a hablar con su directora cada 15 días de manera confidencial; sin embargo, este diálogo es revelado a sus superiores. Situación que va en contra del derecho canónico (CIC 240,2), la Iglesia no permite que ni siquiera para la ordenación sacerdotal se revelen los contenidos de la dirección espiritual.

También se les asigna uno o dos confesores sacerdotes legionarios, únicos permitidos para confesarse cada semana. Y se les somete a una aplicación de un cuestionario semanal de 45 minutos que las hace sentir culpables y pecadoras, con preguntas como: "¿Soy irresponsable en el empleo del tiempo. Considero la pérdida del tiempo como una falta formal a la pobreza?

Para Marcial Maciel era importante la participación de las mujeres, pero sólo para conseguir donativos y captar vocaciones, porque siempre se opuso a que las consagradas estudiaran. A diferencia de los hombres que ingresan y se integran a las filas de las universidades.

Algunas ex consagradas confiaron a MILENIO Diario que a ellas, desde su adhesión, se les dijo que no era necesario que concluyeran carreras universitarias, algunas por seguir a Cristo abandonaron sus estudios; otras los continúan, pero asesoradas de manera individual por profesoras y aisladas de los centros universitarios.

La mayoría de las profesoras que les imparten los cursos pertenecen a la Legión, tienen poca capacitación y no se han titulado. Estas mujeres pueden estudiar publicidad, técnicas de comunicación humana y pedagogía, entre otras, pero "no la medicina".

Pese a que el derecho canónico en el número 822 recomienda que se usen los medios de comunicación, pero con prudencia para cuidar la castidad, ellas no tienen acceso a prensa, televisión, radio e internet libre.

Bajo este régimen, un número importante de ellas se enferma y de acuerdo a testimonios de médicos y siquiatras que las atienden, acreditan que son mujeres sanas, pero antes de cumplir 30 años de edad tienen síntomas serios de "fibromialgia, neurosis, colitis, gastritis, transtornos del sueño y depresión".

Las normas estrictas y los horarios a los que están sometidas les generan ansiedad, obsesión y perfeccionismo, así como despersonalización, con actitudes regresivas.

En su vida cotidiana no hay libertad por la opción personal, básica para una vida adulta plena y feliz, por lo que caen fácilmente en desesperación, desánimo y crisis emocionales.

Por eso muchas de ellas no rebasan los 40 años en ese estilo de vida, algunas se van enfermas y afectadas. Pero en una indefensión total, porque de acuerdo con su normativa, si se enferma síquicamente se le envía de regreso a su casa.

Reclutadas

• En sus promesas, además de castidad, pobreza y obediencia, tienen que cumplir otras tres: nunca desear… ni intrigar para alcanzar o conservar cargos o dignidades en el movimiento.

• No criticar jamás externamente, con palabras, escritos o de cualquier otro modo, ningún acto de gobierno, ni la persona de ningún director del movimiento y avisar de inmediato al director quién es el que critica. Evitar la crítica, la murmuración, los particularismos y la intriga, creando un ambiente de estima.

• De las consagradas el 8 de diciembre de 1969 sólo quedan 4, dos hermanas de apellido Magaña; Patricia Bannon (hermana de quien fue director territorial de la Legión en Estados Unidos) y Margarita Estrada.

Eugenia Jiménez, publicado en Milenio, el 3 de mayo 2910. México.

NOTA:

El día que el Vaticano revise el estatuto jurídico del Opus Dei, y mande visitadores a inspeccionar, e informen verzmente, como han hecho con los Legionarios, vamos a empezar a creer que no todo en la Jerarquía de la Iglesia Católica es un nido de conveniencias y de corrupción, donde manda el dinero y el poder.

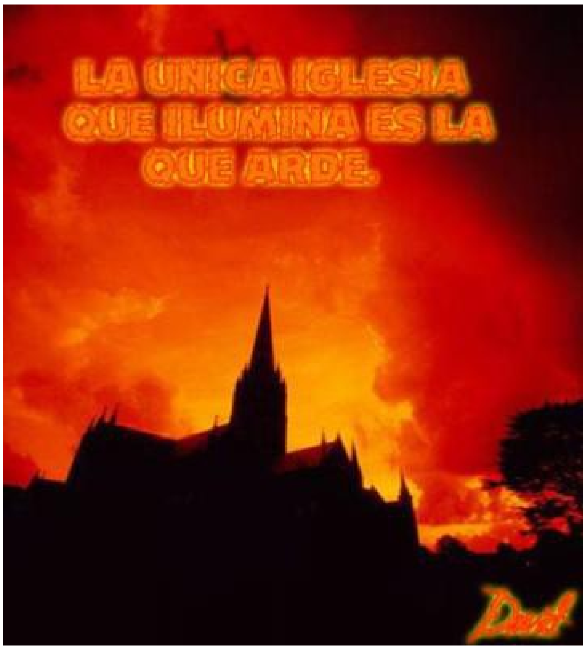
PUTA LA MADRE, PUTA LA HIJA, PUTA LA MANTA QUE LAS COBIJA...



A moro muerto, gran lanzada...

El Vaticano ha emitido una nota en la que denunció la doble vida "inmoral" que llevaba el fundador de los Legionarios de Cristo. El Papa nombrará un enviado papal y una comisión especial para reformar la Legión de Cristo.

La declaración vaticana fue inusual por su enérgica denuncia de los delitos y engaños de Maciel:

"La visita apostólica ha podido comprobar que la conducta del padre Marcial Maciel Degollado ha causado consecuencias serias en la vida y en la estructura de la Legión, hasta el punto de que requiere un camino de profunda revisión.
Los gravísimos y objetivamente inmorales comportamientos del padre Maciel, confirmados por testimonios incontrovertibles, representan, en algunos casos, auténticos delitos y manifiestan una vida sin escrúpulos ni auténtico sentimiento religioso. Esta vida era desconocida para gran parte de los Legionarios, sobre todo por el sistema de relaciones entretejido por el padre Maciel, quien hábilmente había sabido crearse pretextos, ganarse la confianza, amistad y silencio de los que le rodeaban y reforzar su propio papel de fundador carismático.

En ocasiones, un lamentable descrédito y alejamiento de cuantos dudaban de su recto comportamiento, así como la errada convicción de no querer dañar el bien que la Legión estaba realizando, habían creado a su alrededor un mecanismo de defensa que le permitió ser inatacable durante mucho tiempo, haciendo que, por consiguiente, fuera muy difícil conocer su verdadera vida.

¿Alusión directa a la cúpula actual de los Legionarios de Cristo? Todo indica que hayan sabido las andanzas de Maciel y hayan sido cómplices, aunque la mayor responsabilidad recae en la Jerarquía de la Iglesia Católica, que ha apoyado a los Legionarios y a Marcial Maciel contra todas las denuncias y contra todas las evidencias.

Un grupo de sobrevivientes de sus abusos ha mostrado su decepción porque "el Vaticano se negara a admitir su propia complicidad en ocultar los delitos de Maciel, que han sido bien documentados durante más de 12 años''.

Es todavía más grave: las primeras denuncias ante el Vaticano se remontan a 1956, y la jerarquía hizo el paripé de investigar, y no encontrar nada.

"El prolongado encubrimiento del Vaticano y su renuencia, y ahora su burda denuncia de Maciel, es tan 'immoral' como los horrorosos delitos sexuales contra niños del propio Maciel'', ha dicho David Clohessy, director ejecutivo de la Red de Sobrevivientes Abusados por Sacerdotes.

Y además —añado yo— no hay nada peor que te dé la razón quien no la tiene.

* Mensaje del Papa Juan Pablo II al padre Marcial Maciel, fundador de los Legionarios de Cristo, fechada el 24 de noviembre de 2004, en el sexagésimo aniversario de su ordenación sacerdotal:

Al reverendo padre Marcial Maciel Degollado, superior general de la congregación de los

Legionarios de Cristo

1. Estoy feliz de unirme espiritualmente al gozo y a la acción de gracias que, desde usted, reverendo padre, y desde el corazón de todos los miembros de esta familia religiosa se eleva a Dios, fuente de todo bien, con ocasión del sexagésimo aniversario de la ordenación sacerdotal, que el 26 de noviembre de 1944 le fue conferida en la Basílica de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe, en la Ciudad de México. En aquel día llegaba a cumplimiento el camino de formación para el sacerdocio, iniciado por usted a los dieciséis años con el sueño de suscitar sacerdotes dedicados totalmente al anuncio del Evangelio y a la elevación moral y social de los hermanos más pobres y marginados. Este proyecto de amor a Cristo, fidelidad a la Iglesia y servicio al hombre pudo realizarse con el nacimiento en la Ciudad de México el 3 de enero de 1941 de la Congregación de los Legionarios de Cristo, cuyas Constituciones han sido después aprobadas definitivamente por mí en el año 1983.

2. Sus sesenta años de vida sacerdotal, Reverendo Padre, han estado señalados por una significativa fecundidad espiritual y misionera con diversas obras y actividades apostólicas como el Movimiento Regnum Christi, la red de escuelas denominada Mano Amiga, las numerosas instituciones educativas y caritativas --presentes hoy en 16 países de los 5 continentes-- que tienen el objetivo de promover los valores de la familia y de la persona humana, los centros universitarios de estudio y de formación. Y ¿qué decir, además, del apostolado de los sacerdotes Legionarios de Cristo así como del compromiso de toda la congregación a favor de la formación integral de los futuros sacerdotes diocesanos, particularmente a través del Pontificio Ateneo «Regina Apostolorum», y los dos seminarios internacionales «Mater Ecclesiae» de Roma y de São Paulo en Brasil?

Asimismo, no puedo olvidar el servicio de usted ha prestado en estos años a la Santa Sede, que se ha valido -en varias ocasiones y de diversos modos- de su generosa y competente colaboración, sea con ocasión de algunos de mis viajes apostólicos, sea en la actividad de organismos de la Curia Romana.

3. La aspiración profunda que ha guiado su acción educativa, cultural y pastoral, inspiración que usted ha transmitido como tesoro precioso a la familia religiosa fundada por usted, ha sido la constante premura por una promoción integral de la persona, y esto especialmente en relación con la formación humana que, como escribí en la exhortación apostólica post-sinodal «Pastores dabo vobis», «si se desarrolla en el contexto de una antropología que abarca toda la verdad sobre el hombre, se abre y se completa en la formación espiritual» (n. 45)

Reverendo padre, el recuerdo gozoso del sexagésimo aniversario de su ordenación sacerdotal se cumple durante el año de la Eucaristía. Esta coincidencia providencial constituye una invitación a meditar en la centralidad de la Eucaristía en la vida de la comunidad cristiana y especialmente en la formación de los futuros sacerdotes y en su dedicación posterior al ministerio ordenado. Es lo que subrayaba en el documento ya citado señalando «la importancia esencial de la Eucaristía para la vida y el ministerio sacerdotal y, por tanto, para la formación espiritual de los candidatos al sacerdocio» (n. 48).

4. Por todas estas razones estoy feliz de unirme al cántico de alabanza y de agradecimiento al Señor, que se eleva desde muchos corazones por las «cosas grandes» (cf. Lc 1, 49) que la gracia de Dios ha realizado en estos 60 años de su intenso, generoso y proficuo ministerio sacerdotal.

Mientras invoco una efusión renovada de los dones del Espíritu Santo para que su sacerdocio continúe dando frutos copiosos de bien, le confío, querido Padre Maciel, a la protección celeste de la Virgen María, Madre de los sacerdotes, y con afecto le envío una especial bendición apostólica, que con gusto extiendo a todos los Legionarios de Cristo, a los miembros del Movimiento Regnum Christi y a cuantos participan en la celebración jubilar.

Desde el Vaticano, 24 de noviembre de 2004

Joannes Paulus II

INFORME SOBRE LA TORTURA 2009: DENUNCIAS POR TORTURAS EN EL AÑO 2008, EN ESPAÑA

Ya nos gustaría creer que nuestras fuerzas del orden se corresponden, siquiera remotamente, con esos esforzados y dignos defensores de la ley que muestran las series de televisión nacionales. Lo que parece deducirse de los informes es que su preparación cultural, legal, científica y psicológica está al alcance de un borderline poco cultivado con una inteligencia digna del mico y del loro, que les permite memorizar el temario de la oposición, obedecer ciegamente a los mandos y fastidiar a quienes puedan. Y pare usted de contar.

Y debe de haber policías, guardias civiles, y funcionarios de prisiones que sean honrosas excepciones, cómo no, pero es de temer que, si son inteligentes y honrados, no puedan acatar la ley de la omertà y ser cómplices de los autores de torturas, vejaciones, y chantajes.

De uvas a peras, alguien cesa temporalmente a un grupito de corruptos funcionarios de prisiones que tienen venia para surtir de drogas a los presos, obtener sexo a cambio de permitir una llamada de teléfono, o una aspirina, y que se han ensañado torturando a los que no optaron por pagar y someterse. Y de vez en cuando, se admite a trámite la denuncia por maltrato o uso desproporcionando de la fuerza contra los detenidos. Al cabo de unos años, que la justicia tiene a bien no apresurarse, las autoridades resuelven con la amorosa solicitud de una madre que vela por los suyos. Y a las víctimas de torturas bajo custodia del Estado que les den...

Hay demasiadas muertes bajo custodia del Estado que los forenses resuelven con el socorrido "paro cardíaco", que es lo mismo que no decir nada, porque a quien lo revientan a patadas, también muere con una parada cardiorrespiratoria. Me malicio que hay una asignatura secreta de Lógica Difusa en la especialidad de Anatomía patológica que permite redactar esos certificados.

Las autoridades que no garantizan escrupulosamente los derechos básicos de los ciudadanos, sino la impunidad de los torturadores, están sentando las premisas de un Estado fallido y un gobierno sin legitimidad.

Mi admirada Simone Signoret, en su autobiografía "La nostalgie n'est plus ce qu'elle était", justificaba su lucha solidaria, junto a otros muchos intelectuales franceses, en defensa de los derechos de los presos y detenidos, porque creía que todos podemos en cualquier momento ser reos de la justicia o la injusticia.

En España, sin embargo, nuestros artistas e intelectuales hace mucho que no suelen preocuparse lo más mínimo por las torturas y la alta tasa de mortalidad entre los reclusos y los detenidos. Me imagino que, como tantos imbéciles, creerán que la arbitrariedad sólo puede atropellar a los demás.

Y con esa ética y esa lógica digna del hombre de Neandertal, no es de extrañar que los intelectuales españoles se hayan hecho acreedores del descrédito que gozan.

Gatopardo

Recopilación de las denuncias por tortura y tratos inhumanos, crueles o degradantes.
Informe sobre la tortura en el Estado español

1. 1 de enero de 2008: Nafarroa – Arbizu

El 1 de enero de 2008, quince personas fueron agredidas por agentes de la Policía Foral navarra. Las agresiones comenzaron cuando el teniente-alcalde de la localidad, M.J.G.R. se dirigió a los agentes para que dejaran de arrancar unos carteles. Como respuesta tres agentes le tiraron al suelo y golpearon repetidamente. Posteriormente, los agentes cargaron contra los vecinos que habían observado la agresión y protestaban por la actuación policial. Como consecuencia de esta 'carga', otras 14 personas resultaron con heridas de diversa consideración.

SOBRE LA SECTA DESTRUCTIVA LEGIONARIOS DE CRISTO Y MARCIAL MACIEL HACE CINCO AÑOS

Comentarios al artículo "POBRE MÉXICO, TAN CERCA DE LOS LEGIONARIOS DE CRISTO Y..." , publicado el 26 de abril de 2005 22:46, archivado en el tema: MÉXICO.

Mucho parece haber cambiado desde entonces: Marcial Maciel y Carlos Abascal , que parecían invencibles, murieron; Fox ya no es Presidente de México junto a su consorte, la "querida Martita" de Maciel, y madre de los Bribiesca Sahagún, pero los dos siguen con la misma inteligencia clara y escasísima que tan buenos ratos nos proporcionó...

Como verán, no hemos borrado los comentarios que tienen faltas de ortografía, como es nuestra costumbre, porque entonces los defensores de los Legionarios de Cristo y de Marcial Maciel, que parecen tener algún problema neurológico grave que les impide escribir correctamente, no habrían tenido cabida. Y sería una pena...

Que digo yo, Gatopardo, que cuando puedas, escribas algo sobre un ser humano bondadoso, caritativo y solidario.

Para escribir melosidades, ciránobix, hay millares que no parecen oir los gritos en su conciencia de los que sufren, de los humillados ni de los torturados.
¿Y eso me lo dices como cristiano?

Conocía lo de las mujeres de Juárez: Roberto Bolaño lo cuenta de forma desgarradora en 2666. Así como tú, más o menos. Lo de las esterilizaciones , no. Lo de los Legionarios de Cristo, tampoco.

joéeee... es cierto que dan ganas de vomitar de todo lo que sucede, pues esto creo que sólamente es la parte más ligera de una cantidad de acontecimientos que han afectado a mucha gente que por defecto, tiene que aguantarse a los poderosos. No sé si habéis leido algo sobre la época de la conquista. No sólo en México sino en muchos otros paises de sur y centro America. En esas épocas sin ONUS ni derechos humanos , ni nada medio parecido no había quien defendiera derechos humanos de todas clases. Aunque esto se queda en un decir, porque las cosas que han salido publicadas en la revista de EP del domingo sobre los infiernos que han encendido los fantásticos cascos azúles en países africanos, aprovechándose también de su situación de "liberadores" para llegar a chicas jóvenes que por la situación de sus países han accedido a tener sexo a cambio de comida y unos cuantos dolares... Por eso creo que tanto mal se ha heredado, y siempre por el exceso de poder... los unos por exceso, y los otros por defecto. A ver en cual sitio estamos nosotros????

Si, pero hoy, nosotros podemos hacer algo para que estas atrocidades cesen.
Los criminales necesitan nuestro miedo, nuestro silencio para asegurarse su impunidad.
El pasado no lo puedo cambiar erix70: sólo puedo conocerlo. Por favor, firmad en la página de las mujeres de Juárez, haced que se sepa a través del mundo los crímenes rituales con los que se sella la permanencia en un grupo de hombres poderosos, mediante la complicidad en crímenes atroces que impidan que haya vuelta atrás en la lealtad al "grupo".
Aquí en España está quienes llevan años diciéndolo: son los que se negaron a cerrar los ojos en la investigación del triple crímen de Alcásser...y otros muchos. Están en mis enlaces.

En el breve período que Ulises Ruiz lleva en el gobierno del estado, el deterioro de la situación social y política se ha recrudecido. Hemos tenido noticias de crímenes políticos, enfrentamientos comunitarios, decenas de detenciones injustas y criminalización de la lucha social hacia todos los sectores que no apoyan al gobierno.
DESDE LA TOMA DE POSESION DEL GOBIERNO PRIISTA DE ULISES RUIZ ORTIZ EN EL ESTADO DE OAXACA (del primero de diciembre del 2004 hasta el día de 4 de febrero del 2005) se han ejecutado numerosas órdenes de detención y asesinatos en el estado de Oaxaca.
Por enumerar algunos de los casos citamos los de:

14 integrantes del CONSEJO INDIGENA POPULAR DE OAXACA RICARDO FLORES MAGON, CIPO-RFM, detenidos el 14 de septiembre y el 2 de febrero.
11 integrantes de SAN JUAN LALANA CHOAPAM detenidos el 3 de febrero.
6 integrantes de la COORDINADORA OAXAQUEÑA MAGONISTA POPULAR ANTIIMPERIALISTA, COMPA, detenidos el 3 de febrero.
6 MUERTOS POR GRUPOS PARAMILITARES.

Nadie dice que sea una coincidencia con la denuncia por "obstrucción a la Justicia" que les cae de EEUU: esta semana ha llegado desde el Vaticano, Charles J. Scicluna, para interrogar a más de treinta personas que acusan a Maciel de abusos sexuales, reabriendo así "formalmente" el expediente cerrado en falso anteriormente.

Ofrecer impunidad si no cuesta nada es una cosa; otra muy distinta cuando pesa una acusación por encubrimiento y obstrucción a la Justicia en EEUU, desde donde se puede propagar al resto de los países donde hay asuntos pendientes y "clausurados" por la Iglesia sin atender a los Tribunales.

Me parece increíble por decir lo menos todas las cosas que se dicen para hacer ver que los Legionarios son malos, para empezar va en contra de toda lógica pensar que algo que está fundado para seguir el ejemplo de Jesús sea malo, da lo mismo de la religión que seas, estás en toda tu libertad de creer o no en la Iglesia, pero lo que no se debe y no se puede poner en duda es que Jesús, lo mires sólo como un profeta o como el hijo de Dios haya venido a hacer el mal o haya dejado un mal ejemplo.
Los Legionarios transmiten la Palabra de Dios y sor fervientes veneradores y adoradores de Jesús, ¿es esto malo? o criticable? NO, lo que les molesta a todos los que hacen mención negativa de La Legión es lo rápido que ha crecido la congregación y el movimiento laico Regnum Christi, les molesta que sus seguidores sean personas inteligentes y con poder y sepan exactamente a donde llegar y a dónde influir para lograr hacer el bien, si quizás esto no tuviera aires religiosos y fueran personas X las que hicieran lo mismo que Los Legionarios nadie lo criticaría, pero les molesta tremendamente que todo esté amparado por la Iglesia y que mejor que acusar a alguien con una rica vida espiritual y profesar la palabra de Dios que es pedófilo o drogadicto.
En vez de criticar podrían hacer una cuarta parte de lo que hizo el Padre Maciel y sus seguidores a ver si podrían solos, es mejor ponerse en acción que criticar tanto, hagan algo, muévanse de donde están y hablen menos, esa sería la única forma en que estarían en derecho de calumniar a alguien, son unos vegetales espirituales e inanimados sus palabras tarde o temprano se las llevará el viento y lo que quedará será toda la obra que han hecho LOS LEGIONARIOS y el MOVIMIENTO RC, movimiento, palabra clave, esto indica acción, no sólo contemplación.

Maravillosa Claudia, del movimiento Regnum Christie: si cualquiera hubiéramos hecho la cuarta parte que Maciel, nos habríamos tirado veinte años en la carcel.
Y de la ejemplaridad de la conducta cristiana de los Legionarios de Cristo y de Regnum Christie no hay constancia; sólo de su espíritu de secta, sus tácticas destructivas de la personalidad, su ambición social y económica, que les hace aupar y amparar a narcos y desaprensivos negociantes; y que yo sepa, Cristo no tiene nada que ver con ustedes ni con la Iglesia de la Cienciología ni otras sectas destructivas, en los que el abuso sexual contra los niños a su cargo quedan impunes durante sesenta años.
Ya sé que su palabra clave es acción, y la mía también, y no estoy de acuerdo con que Maciel y los demás pederastas que ampara el Vaticano reciban el consejo de no dejarse ver demasiado cuando ya no pueden hacer vida social.

No he leido nada de esta página. La he encontrado de rebote al oir en la TV lo del padre MM. Y escribo sin pensar. Tan solo os digo que hace 30 años o más en Ontaneda, Santander, el rector era el Padre Morelos. Que pregunten/investiguen que pasó allí. Yo tenía tan solo 10 años… La gran mayoría nunca terminó el curso… los abusos eran reales, psicológicos y físicos… los "padres" eran unos enfermos. No me ha sorprendido escuchar la noticia hoy en TVE. Los niños iban al dormitorio del padre Morelos despues del "toque de silencio"… Todo era sucio. Yo era muy joven para entenderlo entonces. Me faltaban referencias. Pensé que éso es lo que hacían los adultos.

Allí aprendí lo que era una "corrida", el padre Morelos me lo describió en su despacho. Yo tenía 10 años. No sabía que de los penes salía leche. El me lo explicó detalladamente. Lujuriosamente.

Que no os engañen. Habrá seminaristas que no tienen ni idea de lo que pasa y están ahí por la fe… Pero hace 30 años en Ontaneda yo perdí mi inocencia para siempre… No les guardo rencor, tan solo espero que no suceda lo mismo a ningún niño más. Es triste que estos hombres se hagan sacerdotes para impunemente satisfacer sus deseos pedófilos. Al menos la iglesia se ha hecho eco de los datos que le llegaron.

Voz del pasado: el texto completo de la Iglesia habla de acusaciones sin especificar cuales, y dicen que no lo juzgarán debido a su edad y salud; le recomiendan orar y hacer penitencia, y no hay ni una palabra hacia las víctimas; y Marcial Maciel ha declarado que tiene la conciencia tranquila y esto es otra cruz que Dios quiere que sufra. Ni una palabra de arrepentimiento.
La Iglesia ha zanjado en falso para no tener que responder ante las víctimas.

gatopardo la verdad creo que tus comentarios sobre los legionarios de cristo, no tienen nigun fundamento claro sobre lo que tu aseguras, creo que es muy facil para ti hablar como todos hablan de esta legion sin nisiquiera saber lo que estas diciendo, no se si sabias que algunas de las "victimas " de Maciel se han retractado y han dicho que sus acusaciones eran falasas y una organizacion les pago por hacerlas... y que me dices de todas las escuelas y fundaciones que ayuda esta legion...
creo que para ti es mas facil ver las cosas negativas simplemente porque son "mas interesantes". y perdonamee una cosa son las personas que trabajan para algo y otras son lo que en verdad es ese algo, y si por algo fueran ciertas las acusaciones de Maciel,el es una persona no toda la legion que no ha hecho nada de daño, alrevez.

verdad paso y no podemos culpar a toda una obra que ha hecho mucho bien en la sociedad, ve nada mas sus escuelas y fundaciones alrededor del mundo... se te hace poco, se te hace poco que unas cuantas personas se dediquen a salvar un poco d la moral de esta sociedad degenerada?... y si esta obra esta llena de gente "forrada de dinero", es porque a esta legion se encarga de gente que esta bien economicamente como hay otras que se encragan de gente que tiene escacez economica, que los ricos no merecen que alguien les enseñe las cosas? cuando ellos son los que tienen mayor influencia por sus oportunidades?, imaginate si todas las obras se enfocaran en gente necesitadaaa? habria un estancamiento y no ayudaria en nada.
yo no defiendo al padre Maciel porque ni vivi con el ni lo conosco pero yo soy parte de esta legion y mucho de lo que soy ahora es porque la educacion que tuve en sus colegios que me hicieron tener valores que me diferecian de otras mujeres, y creelo o no estos valores se necesitan mucho en esta sociedad hedonista y consumista, creo que no esta bien que generalizen lo que pudo o no haber echo un hombre con lo que es esta legiòn.

Sé que usted forma parte de la Legión de Cristo por las faltas de ortografía y sintácticas que suelen tener los miembros de esta secta.
En cualquier escuela primaria, a los once años, un niño que no esté tarado sería capaz de redactar mejor que ustedes.
Y ahora, le recomiendo que no crea todo lo que dijo el cardenal Norberto Rivera Carrera sobre los testigos a sueldo que se han retractado, porque también dijo lo mismo en defensa de su protegido Nicolás Aguilar Rivera, sacerdote pederasta al que ha ocultado y amparado, sustrayéndolo a la acción de la justicia.
Los testigos que yo conozco y que mantienen las acusaciones contra Marcial Maciel, como morfinómano y pederasta, que abusó de ellos, tienen nombre y apellidos, y credibilidad.
Respecto a su especial educación e idiosincrasia que le hace diferenciarse de las otras mujeres, lleva usted razón: las mujeres que no hemos sido taradas por la Legión de Cristo ni otras sectas somos humanas, y ustedes son lastimosas caricaturas.

Hay mucha gente buena y bien intencionada en la legión de Cristo, no tienen la culpa de lo que haya hecho el fundador, y es obvio que van a batallar para aceptar lo malo de él. Una cosa es el Reignum Christi y otra es la Iglesia. La congregación de los legionarios de Cristo puede desintegrarse, y los buenos miembros de ella integrarse a otras áreas de la Iglesia. Conozco varias personas consagradas en esta congregación y son buenas personas en general. Sí creo que se debe seguir investigando y que las autoridades competentes den un veredicto y de ahí se tomen las siguientes decisiones. Pero hay que tener cuidado de no canalizar todo el odio que hay en nosotros contra ellos ni contra la Iglesia. Hay que tener Amor y comprensión, y gratitud por las cosas buenas que hace la Iglesia y el Reignum Christi y no solo tratar de destruir. En fin es solo una humilde opinión.

PUESTO YA EL PIE EN EL ESTRIBO...

A veces no soy quien soy y me desdigo,
y tomo un atajo para llegar,
campo a través,
al cementerio.
Pero después, o al mismo tiempo, agonizo, sonrío, me contradigo,
y vivo impunemente
esta eterna sensación de despedida, de un revisor de trenes infinitos, que vienen de la nada sin ir a ningún sitio.

AGORAFOBIA

Mi experiencia bíblica de los hombres es casi evangélica.

Mi interés por el género masculino es muy parecido al amateurismo que profeso por el ajedrez. Me explico: no sé jugar al ajedrez, salvo las reglas elementales que rigen los movimientos de las piezas. Soy incapaz de prever las consecuencias de una jugada en el curso de una partida, ni siquiera cuando una y otra vez intentan repetir los movimientos para explicarme la causa por la que una torre decidió el jaque. Pero quedo hechizada viendo a los jugadores adelantar un alfil, sudar, tamborilear los dedos, enrocarse, mirar con puñales emboscados en los ojos, doblar peones en la línea de rey. Y, no obstante, soy incapaz de saber quien gana y quien pierde ni por qué y tengo verdaderas dificultades para colegir si un jaque es mate o no lo es. Sin embargo me fascina: no es raro vérseme atónita siguiendo una partida durante horas.

Algo así me ocurre con las historias de amor: los duelos eróticos tienen asegurado mi interés con poco que el narrador sea elocuente, soy una experta confidente de dichas y desdichas ajenas, pero no llego a entender qué ganan o pierden ni por qué; y las pocas veces que me he lanzado a un idilio me ha interesado sobremanera el comportamiento de mi amado, sin llegar a saber jamás quién ni cómo era el campeón de la lid.

No soy frígida, pero crecí con una madre que derrochaba benevolencia con los hombres de mi familia, mediante una única fórmula:

- No hay que tomárselo en cuenta: está en una edad crítica.

Tendría yo trece años cuando le pregunté qué misterioso periodo era ése de la edad crítica en los hombres, que englobaba desde la edad del pavo de mi hermano hasta la senectud de mi tío.

-Es el ínterin- dijo con su natural tácito.

-¿Qué ínterin?

-El ínterin entre que nacen y se mueren…

Subliminalmente mi madre me transmitió esa benevolente deferencia hacia el sexo opuesto, donde no cabe dramatizar ni pasmarse: una está dispuesta y predispuesta a tomarlos como graciosas excentricidades no muy respetables de la madre naturaleza.

Mi primera experiencia cumbre, cuando ya arrastraba años de malísima reputación, no estuvo a la altura de mi mala fama. Lo conocí en una casa alquilada entre varios estudiantes e intimamos frecuentando los conciertos de música clásica, que escuchábamos religiosamente mudos, con los ojos entrecerrados por la unción. Él era abstemio, no escribía, no leía, no fumaba y por mor de nuestras respectivas manías, dormíamos separados. Callado, poco expresivo, muy cortés, nunca demostró tener calor ni frío ni hambre. Se le podía catalogar como hombre poco dado a los extremos, y en lo único que cometía excesos era en su ponderación.

La pasión por Mozart y las desapasionadas disquisiciones sobre lo contingente y lo permanente sartriano nos soldó más que unirnos, y tuvimos a gala respetar nuestra independencia, porque en aquellos tiempos Simone de Beauvoir y Jean Paul Sastre eran nuestro modelo de pareja, salvo en su incontinencia narrativa, que era inigualable.

Él dormía desde el anochecer hasta el primer alba; yo me acostaba de madrugada hasta el mediodía. Solíamos pasarnos las invitaciones para los conciertos por debajo de la puerta de nuestros respectivos dormitorios.

Un día no vi en el baño común su cepillo de dientes y le compré otro, de color amarillo porque se acercaba la primavera. Sería ya verano cuando me di cuenta de que no lo había estrenado y seguía sin aparecer el otro, y, antes de dudar de su pulcritud, indagué en su dormitorio. En el umbral estaban acumuladas las entradas sin utilizar de los últimos meses.

Periódicamente lo escucho en la radio como experto en budismo y, efectivamente, su voz monocorde como un mantra me produce algo muy parecido al vacío de pensamiento, indicio de la perfección. No me acuerdo mucho de como era y no sé si lo reconocería. Por si acaso, escucho música en el tocadiscos.

A mi segundo Romeo lo conocí en el entierro de mi maestro de yoga, asesinado de dos tiros en la barriga. Mi amor tenía el pelo rizoso, los ojos bovinos, una boca pequeñísima, que parecía hecha para hacer pucheros, y una expresión de pasmo casi constante. Era periodista free-lance, ex-presidiario y llevaba siempre seis o siete jerséis y una zamarra de contrabandista. No sé qué ropa usaría en verano, era octubre y tiritaba en el cementerio. Quizá el dolor que sentí por la muerte del único hombre que creyó ver en mí cualidades de discípula del Gautama-Buda se convirtió en compasión hacia aquel grandullón muerto de frío, y, sin mediar otros trámites, lo invité a café con leche y croissants en el bar más cercano. Su voz era bien timbrada, cuando susurraba parecía el ronroneo de un gato y cuando conversaba su tono era el de una copa de cristal de Bohemia, golpeada con un pincel de madera; pero, sobre todo, me sentí conmovida por su hambre y su frío. Luego supe que estaba en peligro, sus largos años en prisión y todo lo demás; pero digamos que eso lo supe cuando ya tenía su pijama de franela debajo de mi almohada.

Nunca hubo ser más deseable y con menos motivos para serlo: parecía uno de esos animalitos de Walt Disney que van a dar un paso y se caen, quieren morder una hoja y les cae encima un chaparrón de gotas suspendidas en el árbol, van a dar un beso retozón a su madre y se estampan contra ella. La inteligencia espacial y la anatomía femenina eran sus asignaturas negras. Pero qué rotundo era en sus certezas mi dulce Romeo, y con qué facilidad las dejaba en suspenso en una controversia para ponerse a dudar. Con qué entusiasmo se sumaba a la opinión que yo expresase y que estrenaba en ese mismo momento, por el gusto de polemizar con él.

Mi amor era anarquista, feminista, odiaba a quien tuviera un presupuesto de mil pesetas semanales más que él, adoraba hasta la abyección a los pobres, a las víctimas y a los obreros. Yo, por pura misantropía diletante disparataba contra los pobres, los ricos, las mujeres, los niños, las víctimas, los intelectuales, los patanes y los soldados sin graduación, sin mucho distinguir. A mí sólo un tenaz instinto de controversia me sostiene el armazón lógico.

Yo sigo tal cual. Mi amado cambió al ritmo de los cambios de opinión y terciado diciembre se hizo millonario. Cada vez que lo he visto después, siempre en invierno, fue para encontrarme con un hombre diferente, pero siempre rezumando coherencia con sus últimas convicciones. Fue empresario de prensa, explorador en el Amazonas, se arruinó traficando con diamantes, se hizo labriego tolstoiano, escritor de best-sellers. Ahora, desde que se casó con una mujer religiosísima, habla de Dios con escandalosa familiaridad.

Yo no he vuelto a ir a un funeral.

La siguiente trapisonda amorosa comenzó en un mitin de la CNT. Fui a tirarles bolas de nieve a los oradores. El servicio de orden tardó en echarme la zarpa y para entonces había agotado mis provisiones de proyectiles contra todos. Uno de mis boleados quedó impresionadísimo y trató de saber mi identidad. Logró dar con mi paradero al cabo de un mes y me escribió pidiéndome en matrimonio chino. Esto es, primero decidíamos vivir juntos y, luego, con el tiempo, llegaríamos a amarnos con enjundia.

Yo había llegado a la conclusión de que el hambre y el frío debilitan la psique, por lo que decidí informarme primero sobre sus hábitos. Desde niño tenía un buen saque degustando viandas y me pareció que no habría de temer delicuescencias, a pesar de su renombre como poeta y sus gafas de culo de vaso, porque he observado que los poetas son poco de fiar y los varones miopes suelen ser un tanto retorcidos. Inicié un diplomático sondeo mientras lo vi engullir el tercer plato, y lo hallé de una sencillez prístina por no decir de una prístina simpleza. Era sanguíneo y nada friolento. En las discusiones no solía variar ni un ápice su argumentación. Sus versos eran abstrusos, biensonantes y faltos de ilación, como su discurrir, por lo que había conseguido reputación de exquisito. Nunca nadie supo muy bien si decía una cosa o la contraria porque era muy amigo de las oraciones subordinadas adverbiales con adversativas, así, pues, siempre se le interrumpía en las tertulias. Quizás por eso era invitado reiteradamente a "La clave" y tenía amigos de diferente pelaje ideológico.

Al poco de conocernos, empezamos con nuestro matrimonio chino. La semana transcurrió con una metódica y puntual reiteración de actos cotidianos, y nos aburrimos cortésmente. Era un honesto funcionario con los servomecanismos bien engrasados, de horarios y costumbres fijos, poco imaginativo hasta para con sus manías. Su vida estaba reglamentada las veinticuatro horas del día.

El viernes por la tarde, con una cogorza mediana, empezó a desbarrar con énfasis creciente, absoluta desmesura y total dramatismo. Amenazó con fusilarme por mis ideas cuando llegaran los suyos al poder (ésa ha resultado ser una monomanía en mis adoradores). Anunció que se suicidaría si le faltaba yo. Con grandes aspavientos decidió que sería mi esclavo y me traería la cena. Se negó categóricamente a dejarme ir a la cama aunque yo me caía de sueño. Cuando le pedí que bajase la voz, ya de madrugada, abrió el balcón y grito como un poseso que no le dejaba hablar: se abronco con un vecino y le argumentó que me amaba y nadie lo iba a callar. Decidió que me llevaría al lecho en brazos y sería mi doncella para desvestirme. Se llamó a sí mismo rufián indigno de descalzarme. Pidió que le escupiera a la cara. Sin quitarme los zapatos se lanzó a besarme los pies y se dio una costalada. Lo alcé con gran trabajo. Luego, cuando decidió velar mi sueño de rodillas, en el cenit de su intoxicación etílica, se cayó encima de mí y se quedo dormido. Tardé un buen rato en quitarme los ciento y pico quilos de peso ebrio que me aprisionaban de través. Roncaba como una locomotora de vapor.

El sábado lo pasamos en aclaraciones, reconvenciones, propósitos de enmienda, disculpas e intrincadas explicaciones, para desembocar en el domingo, exhaustos, con dolor de cabeza y muy avergonzados, con gran ceremonial de "por favor", "tú, primero","gracias", " como tú quieras", "si no te importa", etc.

Durante el tiempo que vivimos juntos, las semanas se sucedieron con escrupulosa exactitud; pero cada viernes por la tarde se desataba el poeta para emular a Verlaine, Rimbaud, Villaespesa, Lautreamont, Campoamor, Shelley, Baudelaire y todos sus secuaces, dignos de un frenopático de alta seguridad.

Los amigos de mi doncel-poeta detectaron mi espíritu prosaico, poco dado a vuelos líricos y pasionales, y creyeron que mis emanaciones serían nefastas para el vate. Los amigos de mi doncel-funcionario vieron en mí cualidades desestabilizadoras para el cabal cumplimiento de su tarea en el Ministerio: todos sin excepción me hallaron inicua; pero era sólo reciprocidad, porque a mí me parecían una parva de botarates.

Salí de aquel idilio imitando las artes mágicas de mi primer amor: desaparecí. Harta de recibir mensajes y reprimendas de los conocidos, entusiastas mediadores en el conflicto, harta de encontrarme con aquel montón en carne viva los fines de semana y completamente cruda el resto, dejé que me acogiera el inefable paradero desconocido hasta que me buscara repuesto.

No tardó en emparejarse con una psicoanalista argentina y periódicamente deja de fumar, se hace vegetariano, monárquico o se suma a las campañas de conservación del acebo. Ya no escribe poesía, se ha pasado al ensayo en prosa. Sus amigos le animan a participar en las tertulias de Garci en la televisión, adonde calla estruendosamente; y, por el contrario, sus adversarios reivindican su poesía, quizás porque la piedad es un bien escaso.

Yo no he ido a un mitin nunca más.

Me he convertido en una solterona con gatos y en la próxima reencarnación voy a ser casta y analfabeta.

Carmen:

No te apene la brevedad: la vida amorosa de la protagonista -y la de la mayoría- da para un epigrama, y estirando mucho, para un relato corto.

Gracias por vuestra inmerecida benevolencia. (¡Toma frase del libro de La buena Juanita!)

DON PEDRO OROMENDIA HIERRO, ESCULTOR

INCENDIA LA EXPOSICIÓN DE SUS OBRAS
(ABC, 3 de mayo de 1972, página 38,pdf)

Mora de Toledo.

Sin que se sepan los motivos, el escultor madrileño Pedro Oromendia Hierro, que reproduce monumentos arquitectónicos con huesos de aceituna, prendió fuego a las obras que presentaba en una sala de exposiciones de la Fiesta del Olivo.

En efecto, las autoridades locales han puesto, en la puerta del local donde se produjo el incendio, el siguiente cartel: «El incendio de esta Exposición ha sido provocado Intencionadamente por el propietario y expositor.»

Entre las diversas obras de reducido tamaño, tales como un busto de Minerva, el de un emperador romano y otras. Oromendia había expuesto, en una sala contigua a la Casa Consistorial, las reproducciones del Acueducto de Segovia, con medidas de 2,90 por 0.45 metros de base y altura; la Cruz del Valle de los Caídos, de 1,80 por 2 metros; la Torre Eiffel. de 1,50 por 1,50; el Partenón, de 2,50 por 0,05, y la Torre de Pisa, de 3,30 por 0.93 metros.

Sobre las once y media de la noche, los agentes de la Guardia Municipal advirtieron el fuego en un aula de la escuela de párvulos, donde está Instalada la Exposición. Ha quedado totalmente destruida la reproducción del acueducto de Segovia: la de la cruz del Valle de los Caídos, que había participado en el concurso desfile de carrozas celebrado por la mañana, sufrió escasos desperfectos, ya que no llegó a arder una botella de gasolina colocada en su interior. Las demás obras no llegaron a quemarse.

ROMANCE: EL REY RODRIGO PIERDE EL REINO

15
EL REY RODRIGO PIERDE EL REINO

Caminaba don Rodrigo a solas, sin compañía;
el caballo, de cansado,
  con el peso no podía.
Camina descaminado,
  que el camino no sabía.
Subiose a una alta torre,
  donde sol ni luna veía;
vio pasar moros armados,
  con tamaña gritería;
vio pasar sus caballeros,
  con tamaña cobardía.
-Pobre de mí, desgraciado,
  que reinos ya no tenía;
si ayer tenía vasallos,
  hoy ninguno poseía;
si ayer tenía corona,
  hoy sin ella me veía.-
Se metiera en una cueva,
  donde una culebra había;
se metiera en una cueva,
  mil penitencias hacía.
Campanas de sí tocaban,
  velas de sí se encendían;

es el alma del buen rey que para el cielo camina.

Sólo ha sido hallada una versión de este romance en la tradición del siglo XX. La recogió Victor Sáid Armesto en 1903 de labios de Josefa Abad Paz, de 72 años, natural de Loira, en Pontevedra, que la oyó, cuando joven, a una campesina, llamada Remedios, natural de otro lugar de Pontevedra, Tuiriz. Es una acertada síntesis de dos romances, que nos son conocidos en versiones del siglo XVI, inspirados, como todos los más viejos referentes al rey Rodrigo, en la lectura de una historia anovelada escrita en 1443 por Pedro de Corral, cuyo éxito indignó a Fernan Pérez de Guzmán: la Crónica sarracina (de que hubo una temprana impresión en Sevilla, 1499). Corral fue hermano del famoso condotiero de compañías de "roteros" en Francia Rodrigo de Villandrando, a quien Juan II hizo Conde de Ribadeo por sus trascendentales servicios a la Corona en tiempos difíciles. El primer romance viejo del cual es éste heredero es el que comienza "Las huestes de don Rodrigo / desmayaban y huían", sobre el lamento del rey derrotado, del cual no conocemos más versiones orales del siglo XX. En cambio, sobre la penitencia con la culebra hay una amplia descendencia de versiones modernas del romance que en el siglo XVI se publicó en un texto, aún en "estilo juglaresco", que comienza "Después que el rey don Rodrigo / a España perdido avía"; me referiré a ellas al comentar la que publico con el título "Penitencia del rey Rodrigo".

3.2.2. QUE NO VUELVA A SUCEDER. INFORME FEMOSPP

Transcripción literal de las páginas 31 al 38 del informe de la Fiscalía Especial para Movimientos Sociales y Políticos del Pasado, FEMOSPP, silenciado por el Gobierno Fox, que había encargado la investigación, y publicado en EE UU, en The National Security Archive, archivo PDF

3.2.2. El movimiento estudiantil de 1968 ha empezado

"El movimiento estudiantil se inició como una querella callejera entre bandas rivales de adolescentes. La brutalidad policíaca unió a los muchachos. Después, a medida que aumentaban los rigores de la represión y crecía la hostilidad de la prensa, la radio y la televisión, en su casi totalidad entregadas al gobierno, el movimiento se robusteció, se extendió y adquirió conciencia de sí… Los estudiantes eran los voceros del pueblo… de la conciencia general 121."

La defensa a la autonomía universitaria retomó gran impulso en las marchas convocadas el 1º y 5 de agosto, la primera convocada por el Rector de la UNAM, Javier Barros Sierra, y la segunda que terminaría con el control que hasta entonces ejercía la FNET en el movimiento. El salto cualitativo, lo logró dar el movimiento al constituir el Consejo Nacional de Huelga (CNH), como dirección nacional amplia que garantizó la incorporación y la participación democrática de todas aquellas escuelas que apoyasen el pliego petitorio de 6 puntos.

A. Defensa de la Autonomía Universitaria

La marcha que partió de la UNAM con el rector a la cabeza

El 1 de agosto de 1968 se congregaron 25,000 personas en la explanada de CU, en torno al Rector Javier Barros Sierra. Tenían el propósito de realizar una marcha y llegar al zócalo desde CU. Barros Sierra en su discurso mencionó que dicha marcha no sólo era por la defensa de la autonomía Universitaria, sino por la liberación de todos los presos y el cese a la represión: "Sin ánimo de exagerar, podemos decir que se juega en esta jornada no sólo los destinos de la Universidad y el Politécnico, sino las causas más importantes, más entrañables para el pueblo de México 122." Al finalizar el acto se entonó el himno nacional 123. Por primera vez universitarios y politécnicos, hermanados, defendían la vigencia de las libertades democráticas en México. El rector se comprometió a gestionar la liberación de los estudiantes detenidos. Desconocía que las intenciones del presidente de la república y del secretario de gobernación iban en otro sentido. La marcha avanzó en orden; sin embargo, un fuerte operativo policíaco y militar se interpuso a su paso en las colonias Nápoles, y del Valle, por la avenida de los Insurgentes. El Rector decidió cambiar el recorrido para evitar provocaciones.

El pliego petitorio de los seis puntos

El 4 de agosto de 1968 representantes del IPN, de la UNAM y de Chapingo dan a conocer el documento de la unidad estudiantil en donde queda plasmado el pliego petitorio de 6 puntos.

1. Los estudiantes exigimos a las autoridades correspondientes la solución Libertad de los presos políticos.
2. Destitución de los generales Luis Cueto Ramírez y Raúl Mendiolea, así como también del teniente coronel Armando Frías.
3. Extinción del Cuerpo de Granaderos, instrumento directo en la represión y no creación de cuerpos semejantes.
4. Derogación de los artículos 145 y 145 bis del Código Penal Federal (delito de disolución social), instrumentos jurídicos de la agresión.
5. Indemnización a las familias de los muertos y a los heridos que fueron víctimas de la agresión desde el viernes 26 de julio en adelante.
6. Deslindamiento de responsabilidades de los actos de represión y vandalismo por parte de las autoridades a través de policía, granaderos y ejército.

Según Octavio Paz, "las peticiones de los estudiantes, por lo demás, fueron realmente moderadas… se resumían en una palabra:… Democratización… Esta demanda recogía la que habíamos hecho un grupo de escritores en 1958 ante disturbios semejantes 124.”

El Comité de lucha del IPN se legitima, y la FNET se desacredita

El 5 de agosto de 1968 se convocaron dos marchas en torno a Zacatenco, una convocada por el Comité de lucha del Instituto Politécnico Nacional, (IPN) a las 16:00 y otra por la FNET a las 14:00. Esta última no fue atendida y Cebreros, presidente de la FNET, decide sumarse a la convocada a las 16:00, pero intenta apoderarse del acto. Fracasa y tiene que retirarse junto al puñado de seguidores que le acompañaban 125. Poco pudo hacer ante más de 25.000 estudiantes reunidos Esto inicia la rápida caída del control que ejercía la FNET como estructura de mediación.

La conformación del Comité Nacional de Huelga (CNH)

El 8 de agosto se conforma el CNH como organismo aglutinador y democrático del movimiento, al que podrían integrarse todas las escuelas a nivel nacional que estuvieran de acuerdo con el pliego petitorio de 6 puntos.

En un desplegado hacían saber públicamente que el movimiento estudiantil quedaba integrado, a partir de ese momento, por:

a) Asamblea Plenaria con soberanía y poder político de decisión.

b) Consejo Nacional de Huelga integrado con las siguientes comisiones: relaciones con provincia, brigadas, propaganda, finanzas, información, asuntos jurídicos. Estas comisiones quedaron integradas por dos representantes de la UNAM, dos del IPN, uno de Chapingo y uno de la Normal.

Esto fue un acierto que sucedió en el momento preciso ya que posibilitó la adhesión de amplios sectores estudiantiles, del profesorado y de sociedades de padres de familia, que percibieron al CNH como el único interlocutor legítimo ante el Estado, cerrando el paso definitivamente a los intentos del Estado de realizar una negociación controlada por el mismo.

La Coalición de Profesores de Enseñanza Media y Superior pro Libertades Democráticas

A su vez la organización permanente del estudiantado del IPN y la Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México (UNAM), se reforzó significativamente con la participación del profesorado. Durante los primeros días de agosto el profesorado del IPN y de la UNAM se aglutinó en organizaciones de apoyo al pliego estudiantil.

También el 8 de agosto de 1968se constituye la Coalición de Profesores de Enseñanza Media y Superior Pro Libertades Democráticas, con la representación de los profesores de todas las escuelas del IPN y de la mayoría de las escuelas y facultades de la UNAM.

La coalición hace suyos los 6 puntos del pliego petitorio del Comité Nacional de Huelga –CNH– y acuerda sumarse a la huelga general decretada por el movimiento estudiantil. A partir de este momento se incrementó el apoyo al movimiento estudiantil por diferentes sectores fuera del ámbito universitario.

Padres y madres de familia organizados dieron cobertura moral al movimiento de los jóvenes y estudiantes. Las sociedades de padres de familia de diversos planteles resuelven apoyar el movimiento estudiantil.

Un grupo de intelectuales, el 11 de agosto de 1968, publican un documento en el que manifiestan que las dos extraordinarias manifestaciones públicas (1 y 5 de agosto)

*"dejaron viva constancia del repudio prácticamente unánime de estudiantes y profesores a la represión militar y policíaca, a la violación a la autonomía universitaria, al anticomunismo del gobierno y de la iniciativa privada, al imperialismo y sus agentes, y a las fórmulas gastadas de un régimen antidemocrático, cuya incapacidad para dialogar con el pueblo y resolver sus problemas con métodos políticos, no policíacos, se vuelven cada vez más evidentes... Los estudiantes luchan por reivindicar las libertades democráticas; por que el ejército y los cuerpos policíacos no se usen para intimidar al pueblo e impedirle el ejercicio de sus derechos; por que el gobierno desenvuelva su acción en el marco de la ley y no al margen de ella; porque se liquiden los mecanismos represivos y anticonstitucionales; por que se derogue el artículo 145 del Código Penal, que a manera de espada de Damocles pende sobre quienes luchan por el progreso y la transformación social de México desde posiciones avanzadas; porque sean liberados los presos políticos; porque se lleve a cabo una genuina reforma universitaria y por una política realmente progresista, capaz de librar a México de la dependencia del imperialismo y al pueblo de su miseria secular126."

Otro apoyo significativo de ese período fue el de sacerdotes jesuitas que se solidarizaron con las exigencias de maestros y estudiantes.

Por último, organizaciones representativas de otros sectores disidentes al gobierno saludaron al movimiento estudiantil. Con fecha 1 de agosto de 1968, la Asociación Cívica Guerrerense, en carta de su dirigente Genaro Vázquez Rojas, envió un mensaje al pleno del CNH, que fue difundido como volante en las asambleas del movimiento127.

El CNH inicia la huelga a la que se adhieren centros de educación superior de todo el país

Al no obtener respuesta del Estado en el plazo fijado, el CNH inicia la huelga el 8 de agosto de 1968. Las universidades de Sinaloa, Baja California y Tabasco, el Instituto Tecnológico de Veracruz y las escuelas normales rurales se suman a la huelga permanente. El Colegio de Profesores de la Escuela de Ciencias de la Universidad Veracruzana manifiesta que sus miembros "quieren dejar constancia de su preocupación por los graves acontecimientos que han ocurrido en la Ciudad de México."

El Gobierno intenta establecer un diálogo ficticio con interlocutores que no representan al movimiento estudiantil

Durante todo este período, el gobierno se negó a reconocer al CNH como interlocutor válido para resolver, mediante el diálogo, las demandas exigidas. Intentará, más bien, establecer un diálogo ficticio con interlocutores que no representaban al movimiento, como la FNET y, más tarde, con las autoridades politécnicas, y aparentar de esta forma, su disposición a resolver los problemas creados.

Desde la mañana del 30 de julio de 1968, después de la toma violenta del ejército a planteles educativos de la UNAM e IPN, el Regente del DDF, Gral. Corona del Rosal, recibió en sus oficinas a representantes de la FNET que entregaron un pliego de demandas de 7 puntos, distinto al del CNH. Al día siguiente, con rapidez inusitada, el regente del DDF responde afirmativamente a tres puntos del pliego petitorio entregado: *"El regente de la ciudad dio solución inmediata a los puntos 5, 6, y 7. Sobre los estudiantes heridos dijo estaban siendo atendidos con cariño en las instituciones médicas del Departamento del DF […] Para el resto de las peticiones prometió una respuesta concreta cinco días más tarde, después de consultar al Presidente de la República."128

Después de ese encuentro la FNET recrudeció sus declaraciones en contra del movimiento del CNH, intentando su desprestigio. Señalaba como instigadores de los acontecimientos del 26 de julio, por un lado a fuerzas derechistas de exiliados cubanos en EU y, por otro, a "los provocadores tradicionales organizados en las corrientes del maoísmo y el trotskismo" quienes desde hace tiempo estaban ya preparados para el estallido de violencia, "si no en estos días, sí en las épocas en las que México ofrecerá su corazón a la juventud del mundo en la XIX Olimpiada[129]". Terminaban solicitando que el Presidente les concediera audiencia.[130] El 8 de agosto de 1968, Cebreros "tuvo una prolongada entrevista con el Gral. Luis Cueto Ramírez [131]".

Estas conspicuas y cercanas relaciones del presidente de la FNET tanto con el Regente, como con el Gral Cueto Ramírez lo desacreditaron en amplios sectores estudiantiles. Por su parte, el Gral. Cueto declaraba un día que el 26 de julio había intervenido en contra de los manifestantes a petición de la FNET y a los pocos días se desdecía, afirmando lo contrario en atención a solicitud hecha por Cebreros.[132]

Cuando el Estado percibe que el descrédito de la FNET, busca crearse otros interlocutores. El 7 de agosto de 1968, mientras que la FNET se ratifica a sí misma y declara que "seguirá encabezando las pláticas con las autoridades"[133] el Director General del IPN hace, en este sentido, un llamado a maestros y estudiantes a reanudar las clases, a raíz de que el Regente le envía una carta con las bases para iniciar el arreglo de la situación, en la que le informa que por instrucciones del secretario de Educación Pública se ha formado una comisión integrada por cuatro directores de escuelas con el fin de hacer enlace con los grupos estudiantiles e iniciar el diálogo. Este mecanismo de enlace le permitían el Estado no entrar en contacto directo con los estudiantes movilizados y organizados de manera democrática e independiente.

B. El CNH emerge como el único y legítimo interlocutor ante el Estado

El CNH desconoce y desaprueba arreglos entre el Estado y otras instancias

Ante estos intentos, el CNH se establece como único y legítimo interlocutor ante el Estado y desacredita la carta del regente y los posibles interlocutores. "Al dirigir la carta exclusivamente al doctor Massieu*, pretende ignorar la existencia de un problema nacional que afecta a universitarios, politécnicos, normalistas y pueblo en general, y el hecho de que la huelga nacional de estudiantes se extiende rápidamente.*" Y concluye "que cualquier solución que se intente deberá ser aprobada por este Consejo Nacional de Huelga y desconocemos y desaprobamos cualquier arreglo en el que participen personas u organizaciones ajenas a este consejo."[134]

La fortaleza del movimiento. Brigadas políticas y mítines relámpago

Una de las características esenciales del movimiento estudiantil de 1968, fue la enorme voluntad de los estudiantes por hacerse entender y apoyar de amplios sectores de la población. Para garantizar una comunicación con la sociedad el CNH integró brigadas políticas de información que mantuvieron un espacio permanente de polémica con el estado y sus respuestas destacando el carácter anticonstitucional de las mismas.

De 18:40 a 19:15 hrs., se celebró asamblea en el auditorio de Ciencias, a la que asistieron 150 estudiantes presidida por Miguel Yacaman y Renán Cárdenas, se tomaron los acuerdos:

1.- Que las brigadas políticas realicen mítines relámpago en el DF., con objeto de dar a conocer al pueblo, la verdad del problema.

2.- Que las brigadas políticas repartan la propaganda en tal forma que ésta llegue a todo el pueblo.

3.- Que en caso de que se tengan noticias de que son detenidos los dirigentes estudiantiles, se permanezca en huelga indefinida.

4.- Seguir pugnando porque sean destituidos los Jefes de Policía y la desaparición de Granaderos.

5.- Exigir la libertad de todos los estudiantes detenidos. 135

"Se realizan brigadas de enlace a los estados de Veracruz, Guanajuato, Michoacán, Querétaro, Hidalgo, Chiapas, Durango, Tamaulipas, Zacatecas, San Luis Potosí, Aguascalientes, Baja California, Nayarit, Morelos, Tabasco, Oaxaca, Sinaloa y Puebla y que, según informes de dichas brigadas, más de setenta planteles de estudios superiores se han declarado en huelga de apoyo al Movimiento Estudiantil Pro Libertades Democráticas. Además se han celebrado 10 manifestaciones de solidaridad en distintas ciudades de la República". 136

La primera marcha que llega al Zócalo sin incidentes el 13 de agosto de 1968.

Desde esta posición conquistada, el CNH y el Profesorado organizado en la Coalición de Profesores de la UNAM y el IPN, convocaron al Pueblo de México, a la manifestación del 13 de agosto del Casco de Sto. Tomás al Zócalo.

Esta movilización iniciaría un largo período de marchas que estarían caracterizadas por el acercamiento del movimiento estudiantil y distintos sectores de la sociedad.

Es la primera marcha que llega al zócalo de la Cd. de México, sin incidentes durante su recorrido. En ella, además de los contingentes originarios, se incorporaron obreros, campesinos y muchos espectadores.

Durante el mitin hicieron uso de la palabra representantes del CNH: IPN, UNAM, Chapingo, Nacional de Maestros y de la Coalición de Profesores. Las intervenciones de todos ellos giran en torno a los objetivos de la lucha estudiantil: contra la represión y los organismos estudiantiles y sindicales 'charros'; por la democratización de las instituciones; por el respeto a la Constitución y las libertades democráticas del pueblo.

Cientos de miles se congregaron en el zócalo. Sectores fundamentales de la sociedad, como organizaciones obreras, casi todas las universidades de país, congregados en torno a un pliego petitorio que encerraba preceptos fundamentales.

Las adhesiones al movimiento posteriores a la marcha del 13 de agosto no se hicieron esperar, las Universidades de Puebla, Veracruz, Sinaloa y Oaxaca, así como algunos sectores de los Sindicatos de Petroleros, Electricistas y todos los obreros de Ciudad Sahagún, se comprometieron a dar un peso semanal cada uno, para ayudar al movimiento.

La exigencia de un diálogo público

Los estudiantes buscaban formas para resolver el conflicto de una manera democrática, por lo que el CNH, atendiendo sugerencias de sus aliados, plantearon la posibilidad de entablar un diálogo con el Estado que, para darle legitimidad ante la sociedad, demandó que fuera público: "después de la manifestación del 13 de agosto, numerosas publicaciones sugieren que los estudiantes deben iniciar el diálogo con las autoridades […] "remarcamos que la forma pública de establecer el diálogo tiene ventajas como es la participación masiva y democrática de todos los interesados en la solución del conflicto y el evitar presiones y coacciones políticas sobre los dirigentes estudiantiles".

También la máxima autoridad universitaria el Consejo Universitario, en sesión extraordinaria del Consejo Universitario, se prepara para este diálogo con el estado y nombra una comisión formada por 21 personas, con el encargo de formalizar las demandas de la UNAM, las cuales serían presentadas a las autoridades federales para su atención y resolución.

El rechazo del Estado al diálogo público

Planteamientos de debates diversos empezaron a teñir el entorno del movimiento y situaron a los poderes de la unión ante la urgencia de tomar partido, por ejemplo la Comisión Permanente rechazó con contundencia la invitación que le hiciera la Coalición de Profesores para debatir en la explanada de CU.137

Excélsior publica: "En círculos parlamentarios y políticos se dijo que ningún diputado de ningún partido aceptará la invitación al diálogo que, a través de la prensa, les han hecho los estudiantes y maestros de las diversas escuelas en huelga. Se agregó que cualquier senador o diputado que asistiera a dialogar expondría no sólo el respeto que debe todo ciudadano al Congreso de la Unión, sino su propia investidura de legislador y que se convertiría en protagonista y víctima de un espectáculo inquisitorial". 138

Pese a la negativa unánime del estado de reconocer al CNH como interlocutor y de abrir espacios para que lo que ocurría en las calles llegara al ámbito institucional, la posibilidad de debatir y reflexionar en torno a las legítimas demandas planteadas por el movimiento logró permear diversos sectores de la sociedad. Incluso los medios masivos abrieron un pequeño espacio, pese al control extremo de los contenidos transmitidos, para hablar de las causas del Movimiento Estudiantil de 1968. El 21 de agosto, se transmite por televisión, Tele Sistema Mexicano, un debate sobre las causas del movimiento estudiantil, con la participación de Íñigo Laviada, Ifigenia M. de Navarrete, Heberto Castillo, Víctor Flores Olea y Francisco López Cámara. Todos ellos coinciden y declaran que el conflicto estudiantil a nivel nacional debía resolverse mediante el diálogo entre estudiantes y autoridades.

El mismo 13 de agosto el Comité de Lucha Estudiantil da a conocer una lista de estudiantes y personas muertos, heridos y desaparecidos, a partir de los acontecimientos del 26 de julio. Las listas eran revisadas por las estudiantes de Trabajo Social. En la lista de 26 nombres aparecen 3 muertos, uno de ellos por infarto, 12 desaparecidos y 8 heridos 139; aunque estaba incompleta ya que, en la lista difundida, no aparece Federico de la O García, al parecer muerto el 29 de julio, durante la Toma del Casco de Santo Tomás, según ficha de la DFS.140

EL ARTE DE POLEMIZAR

Tomarse en serio es de mala educación

El arte del buen polemista no está en la defensa de sus ideas y en atacar las ideas del adversario. Eso lo sabe hacer cualquiera que tenga verborrea y creencias pétreas. Cualquier idiota convicto y confeso puede hacer la apología de sus creencias con pasión y con sinceridad, y atacar como un bulldozer las ideas ajenas. Pero eso es como dar jaque mate comiéndose literalmente las piezas del adversario, a pique de romperse las muelas.

La discusión requiere tanto oído musical y sentido del ritmo como para jugar al ajedrez o para bailar: hay que seguir las reglas del juego escrupulosamente, hay que repartirse el territorio para no pisarse el empeine, hay que avanzar y retroceder, ir a derecha y a izquierda, y no perder la tonada ni salirse de las casillas. No hay que repetir gestos ni palabras ni argumentos, ni dejarse absorber por la tentación de marcar al otro su jugada, la pieza que vaya a mover, ni avisarle si suena un tango, una danza guerrera, un chotis o un minué. Con la práctica se adquiere el conocimiento espacial del tablero, la visión estratégica de cada jugada, el ritmo, el tempo, y la gracia para bailar, de la misma manera que se adquiere la soltura para polemizar.

Quien pretenda que las polémicas en este antro llamado Gatopardo hayan de ser calcadas de la untuosa flaccidez argumental de las ultreyás, equivoca sus pasos. Aquí se estila la lucha libre, el kárate, la esgrima, y la pedrada dialéctica, y es posible que tengamos que ir a darnos unos puntos al Hospital antes de celebrar el resultado deportivamente, pero jamás pasaremos por el Juzgado. Tengo el espíritu combativo de una barriobajera, y no los dengues que se adquieren en colegios de pago. Afortunadamente para mí.

Por todo lo que antecede, aconsejo a quien quiera meterse en polémicas aquí que no venga provisto de pasión y convicción, porque no vienen a cuento. La única condición para disfrutar con el ajedrez, con el baile, con las polémicas -y con la pareja-, estriba en descartar lo emocional, que interfiere y estropea todo lo lúdico, que es lo único que hay que tomarse en serio.

La consistencia del ego y la de las deposiciones es asunto privado, que no conviene airear.

Tendré muchos alifafes, pero ni las pasiones ni las convicciones ni las venéreas son la causa de mi arbitrariedad.

Respecto a la belleza de mi prosa, no es nada comparada con mi bondad, buen carácter, y hacendosa disposición. Y no tengo novio.

Hacendosa Gatopardo, lejos de mí indagar en las causas, sólo digo lo que yo leo en tus escritos. No me negarás, por ejemplo, la convicción de la ligereza o la pasión del humor, aunque yo veo otras que me seguirás negando. No creo que tengas novio sino novios. Señor Alimaña News, por azar (en el que no creen los psicoanalistas) uno de mis muchos apellidos es Villa. Y, mire Usted por donde, desde mi infancia, por otros motivos, oí hablar siempre de Bracamonte. Sólo le pido que cuide de la abuela, que la veo un tanto despendolada, y sin compasión. Yo creo que todavía no ha bebido bastante pulque. Cambio de opinión: déjela y, quizás, al llegar al fondo del fondo, sea un poco más tolerante con los demás y, como cantaba Goyeneche, se dé cuenta de que está piantada, como otros muchos, en lugar de impartir doctrina.

SEVACH: EL JUEZ GARZÓN Y DOÑA PREVARICACIÓN: CLAVES PARA COMPRENDER LA EXTRAÑA PAREJA

Reproduzco aquí el artículo "El Juez Garzón y Doña Prevaricación: claves para comprender la extraña pareja" de El Blog de Derecho Público de Sevach que está caído en estos momentos (Error establishing a database connection). Quizás, siguiendo la estela del bloqueo que ya se hizo anteriormente para que no se pudiera acceder a su blog desde ningún organismo oficial. Y decimos "quizás" porque no tenemos por costumbre pensar mal:

"Pocas actuaciones judiciales han dividido tanto a la población civil como a la comunidad jurídica, como el juicio penal abierto al magistrado Baltasar Garzón por presunta prevaricación cometida al embarcarse en la instrucción de los crímenes del franquismo pese a la existencia de la Ley de Amnistía de 1977 que cerraba toda responsabilidad derivada de la guerra civil.

1. Sevach tiene su particular opinión – quizás distorsionada- sobre el Señor Garzón (no sobre el juez), en cuanto persona inteligente, disciplinada, ambiciosa, amante del brillo mediático, seducido por las candilejas del poder político, y dando "puntadas con hilo" en su camino hacia los altares de un premio Nobel o equivalente, sueño que admite fuertes órdagos cuando el pan y la sal está sólidamente garantizado. Al fin y al cabo, no resulta incómoda una prejubilación forzosa si aguardan jugosos honorarios de conferencias, publicaciones, cargos rimbombantes y presencias mediáticas.

2. Cosa diferente es la opinión sobre el Juez Garzón (no como persona, sino como titular de órgano jurisdiccional). Y en este campo, la valoración de su actuación al acometer la investigación de los crímenes franquistas ha de verse analizada estrictamente bajo parámetros estrictamente jurídicos. Deben soslayarse las opiniones, los prejuicios y la valoración global que merezca la persona, ya que el Derecho penal es muy serio en sus consecuencias, y pasa por una exquisita ponderación del Derecho, sin contaminaciones políticas ni mediáticas. Su trayectoria como juez singular, que ha cosechado tan indiscutibles éxitos como clamorosos errores, no debe ser factor de valoración para indultarle o condenarle, sino que debe sopesarse con serenidad si su concretísima decisión de investigar los crímenes del franquismo, incurre o no en el delito de prevaricación judicial. Fuera de este análisis deben quedar otras querellas que penden sobre Garzón ya que en el mundo penal, la suma de varias acusaciones no se convierte en prueba suficiente de delito alguno, sino que cada imputación cuenta con su propia dinámica probatoria y debe canalizarse por su propio proceso hacia el auto o sentencia final absolutorio o condenatorio.

3. En síntesis, el magistrado es imputado del delito de prevaricación. El auto del magistrado del Tribunal Supremo, Luciano Varela lo hallaréis aquí.

Veamos los términos en que se define tal delito por la recientísima Sentencia de la Sala Penal del Tribunal Supremo de 4 de Febrero de 2010 (rec. 2528/2008), que aunque referida a la "prevaricación administrativa" encierra doctrina plenamente aplicable a la "prevaricación judicial":

> "No basta, pues, con la contradicción con el derecho. Para que una acción sea calificada como delictiva será preciso algo más (…) Puede decirse, como se hace en otras sentencias, que tal condición aparece cuando la resolución, en el aspecto en que se manifiesta su contradicción con el derecho, no es sostenible mediante ningún método aceptable de interpretación de la Ley (STS núm. 1497/2002, de 23 septiembre), o cuando falta una fundamentación jurídica razonable distinta de la voluntad de su autor (STS núm. 878/2002, de 17 de mayo) o cuando la resolución adoptada -desde el punto de vista objetivo-no resulta cubierta por ninguna interpretación de la Ley basada en cánones interpretativos admitidos (STS núm. 76/2002, de 25 de enero). Cuando así ocurre, se pone de manifiesto que la autoridad o funcionario, a través de la resolución que dicta, no actúa el derecho, orientado al funcionamiento de la Administración Pública conforme a las previsiones constitucionales, sino que hace efectiva su voluntad, sin fundamento técnico-jurídico aceptable. (…)
> Puede decirse, como se hace en otras sentencias, que tal condición aparece cuando la resolución, en el aspecto en que se manifiesta su contradicción con el derecho,no es sostenible mediante ningún método aceptable de interpretación de la Ley (STS núm. 1497/2002, de 23 septiembre), o cuando falta una fundamentación jurídica razonable distinta de la voluntad de su autor (STS núm. 878/2002, de 17 de mayo) o cuando la resolución adoptada -desde el punto de vista objetivo-no resulta cubierta por ninguna interpretación de la Ley basada en cánones interpretativos admitidos (STS núm. 76/2002, de 25 de enero)

Además, es necesario que el autor actúe a sabiendas de la injusticia de la resolución. Los términos injusticia y arbitrariedad, como antes dijimos, deben entenderse aquí utilizados con sentido equivalente, pues si se exige como elemento subjetivo del tipo que el autor actúe a sabiendas de la injusticia, su conocimiento debe abarcar, al menos, el carácter arbitrario de la resolución. De conformidad con lo expresado en la citada STS núm. 766/1999, de 18 mayo, como el elemento subjetivo viene legalmente expresado con la locución «a sabiendas», se puede decir, en resumen, que se comete el delito de prevaricación previsto en el artículo 404 del Código Penal vigente cuando la autoridad o funcionario, teniendo plena conciencia de que resuelve al margen del ordenamiento jurídico y de que ocasiona un resultado materialmente injusto, actúa de tal modo porque quiere este resultado y antepone el contenido de su voluntad a cualquier otro razonamiento o consideración".

4. Pues bien, así las cosas, si ahora examinamos el recurso de reforma formulado por Garzón frente al Auto del Juez Varela, en el mismo se dice:

"como pone de manifiesto el informe del Ministerio Fiscal de 1 de Febrero de 2008, pero no puede ser incluida, en modo alguno, en la categoría de las 'indefendibles' u 'objetivamente insostenibles'como parece exigir con insistencia la más reciente jurisprudencia del Tribunal Supremo, por cuanto que, como ya se apuntaba en anteriores escritos del Ministerio Fiscal, la 'competencia' o 'incompetencia' de la Audiencia Nacional, y en concreto del Juzgado Central de Instrucción nº 5, que constituyó la cuestión esencial del Auto de 2 de Diciembre de 2008, del Pleno de la Sala de lo Penal de la Audiencia Nacional, que acabó negando tal competencia del querellado, a favor de distintos Juzgados de Instrucción del territorio nacional, contó con el Voto particular de 3 magistrados que se manifestaron en dirección opuesta a la mayoría de la Sala, e incluso alguno de los Juzgados de Instrucción receptores de las respectivas diligencias, desgajadas de la investigación que llevaba a cabo el Magistrado querellado, aún hoy en día se manifiestan en esa misma dirección>> (folio 781). Esta es la cuestión principal: valorar la interpretación como no insostenible. Pero aparte de ello, podríamos añadir 'ad maiorem' los argumentos por los cuales D. Baltasar Garzón, y otros muchos magistrados, entienden que la Ley de Amnistía no impide la investigación de los crímenes ocurridos durante la Guerra Civil. Podríamos mencionar una norma, el art. 7.2 del Convenio Europeo de Derechos Humanos, vigente y aplicable en España, que establece que la vigencia del principio de legalidad no podrá oponerse para impedir el juicio "de una persona culpable de una acción o de una omisión que, en el momento de su comisión, constituya delito según los principios generales del derecho reconocidos por las naciones civilizadas". Y este precepto es aplicable directamente por los tribunales, como lo es todo el corpus normativo del derecho internacional penal, que no se limita a establecer unos meros ideales de justicia, sino que es norma vigente, derecho positivo, que aplica, por ejemplo, el Tribunal Europeo de Derechos Humanos cuando impone la interpretación restrictiva de las leyes de amnistía [Caso Ould Dah v. Francia, 17 de Marzo de 2009]. Y podríamos añadir el propio tenor del Código Penal, y la jurisprudencia que lo desarrolla, que nos señalan que el delito de desaparición es un delito permanente, como lo es la sustracción de niños, que no comienza a prescribir mientras que no se pone fin a la situación ilícita generada."

5. En consecuencia, queda centrado el problema en decidir si puede apreciarse prevaricación judicial cuando el Juez Garzón ha aplicado un criterio de asunción competencial que por un lado, parecen compartirlo varios Juzgados de Instrucción y que la propia decisión de la Audiencia Nacional renegando de tal competencia, contó con el Voto particular nada menos que de tres magistrados. La línea entre el error involuntario (responsabilidad disciplinaria, en el peor de los casos) y la barbaridad fruto de la necedad (responsabilidad penal) se traspasa cuando la decisión no tiene pies ni cabeza según la percepción unánime de los expertos.

Pues bien, parece claro que el asunto era al menos defendible y contaba con una apoyatura jurídica razonada, endeble a juicio de la tesis dominante, pero suficiente para que otros jueces la asumieran como propia. No olvidemos el dicho clásico de que "los votos particulares de hoy son la sentencia de mañana". Tampoco puede ignorarse que el Derecho no es una ciencia exacta, que la revocación de sentencias por Tribunales superiores es normal aunque no habitual y que el Juez es llamado por la Constitución para aplicar la Ley y solventar conflictos precisamente porque caben varias interpretaciones.

Y por eso, la clave radicaría en dar respuesta a la siguiente pregunta: ¿el juez Garzón actuó de buena fe, en la sana convicción de que podía y debía bajo tales interpretaciones jurídicas, declararse competente e investigarlo, o en cambio, tales argumentaciones las utilizó como pretexto para utilizar su juzgado de caja de resonancia mediática, convencido en su fuero interno de que jurídicamente tal instrucción tenía los días contados?. Difícil decantarse por una u otra respuesta sin apoyarse en la intuición o en la prueba de presunciones lógicas, ámbitos donde la fuerza de la presunción de inocencia tendrá mucho que decir.

No obstante, mientras la Sala de lo Penal del Tribunal Supremo da la respuesta, cada uno de nosotros puede forjarse su propio criterio. O sencillamente consolarnos con la sugerencia de Bob Dylan: "La respuesta está en el viento".

6. Lo que puede afirmar Sevach es que le produce tristeza todo este circo judicial, con el juez Varela imputando a Garzón, una asociación querellándose contra el juez Varela, la justicia argentina abriendo actuaciones sobre el franquismo…Y el ciudadano de a pie, pensando aquello de Romanones: ¡Vaya Tropa!. Y quien sale malparado, querámoslo o no, es el Poder Judicial, y como no, la Justicia, cuya alegoría actual debería ser la Dama que se quita la venda de los ojos y la utiliza de pañuelo para enjugarse las lágrimas…

MÉTODOS EXPEDITIVOS

Soy lo que popularmente se conoce como un agente secreto. Los novelistas suelen describirnos con el ojo puesto en una película de gangsters de los años treinta, y extraen nuestros comportamientos de un grupo de teatro de aficionados queriendo parecer terroríficos. La triste realidad es que para pertenecer al Centro de Intervención e Inteligencia, que es el organismo para el que trabajo, pasamos pruebas psicológicas y de personalidad para descartar a quienes no sean ponderados, ecuánimes y pacíficos, y el perfil de matón de discoteca, de asesino despiadado es parte del atrezzo que los malos guionistas nos han encasquetado.

Los fondos de reptiles con los que compramos a nuestros informadores, y los métodos de aniquilación de intelectuales insobornables, también forma parte de las leyendas, porque no son necesarios; hay demasiada gente que cuenta lo que nos interesa gratuitamente como para gastar dinero de los fondos reservados en balde.

Pero a los intelectuales que atacan las bases de nuestra sociedad, no hay más remedio que aniquilarlos, y para eso hay que recurrir a métodos expeditivos.

Ese es nuestro trabajo en el "Club Amén" del Centro de Intervención e Inteligencia: utilizamos un programa informático que maneja un centenar de frases y otros tantos remites de e.mail, y un algoritmo para variar y no poner siempre lo mismo en todos los comentarios, que suelen ser del género: "Me ha encantado", "Eres genial", "Llevas razón, y no me había dado cuenta hasta que lo has dicho", con profusión de besitos, abrazos, mucha melaza afectuosa, y emoticones.

No hay quien aguante una buena dosis de admiración, aplausos, adhesiones entusiastas y falta de crítica sin acabar por tratar de convencer sólo a los ya convencidos.

El que ingiere nuestro tratamiento expeditivo de halagos y admiración inquebrantable deja de argumentar, de pensar y de comprender, y termina por ser una mala copia de si mismo, que se plagia y se repite, y acaba por alejar a quienes pudieran aportarle otras opiniones.

Y si no lo creéis, mirad a los jueces y los políticos: a base de rodearse con quienes cultivan su vanidad quedan completamente sonados, confundiendo a quien le da la razón con quien la tiene, y viendo enemigos donde no los hay.

Siempre se le ha dado la razón a los locos y a los necios.

CONSTANTINO KAVAFIS: QUIEN VINO A MENOS

Qué difícil para quien vino a menos, para quien vio declinar su fortuna, aprender el nuevo lenguaje de la pobreza, otros caminos.

Cómo sentir suya esa otra casa, extraña, miserable.
Qué dolor en su corazón cuando avance por las calles hacia esa puerta que lo socorrerá, y contemple la campanilla, y toque.
Cómo repetirá «gracias» mientras coge el pedazo de pan, la ropa usada.
Cómo hará frente a esas frías miradas en las que sólo encuentra el espejo de su miseria.

Cómo enseñará a sus labios
a hablar ahora humildemente;
¡y cómo bajará la cabeza este espíritu antes orgulloso!

Cómo escuchar ahora ese idioma
Del que cada palabra sólo puede herirle - Y al mismo tiempo hacer como si todo eso fuera extraño, como si él solamente fuera un incomprendido.

NOTITIA CRIMINIS: EL SORPRENDENTE PATRIMONIO DE JOSÉ BONO

Entre otras cosas, en el artículo de Notitia Criminis, "Se desvela el insólito patrimonio de José Bono y su familia" explican:

"En 1998, José Bono, entonces presidente de Castilla-La Mancha, y su señora esposa —la misma que últimamente recibía clases de golf en Estepona por gentileza, según presunción de la UDYCO, de Valle Romano, una de las empresas de la trama vasco-malaya— admitían los siguientes ingresos:

Bono declaró —la documentación citada se puede descargar desde aquí— 7.588.150 Pts anuales y netos como remuneración por su cargo de Presidente de la Junta de Comunidades más 1.800.000 Pts en dietas. 15.088 Pts. anuales pagados como intereses por el saldo mantenido en cuenta corriente, y 4.252.280 Pts. como rentas recibidas por alquileres y derechos de autor.

Para esas fechas su patrimonio inmobiliario, al jurar de D. José Bono, se reduce a la «casa de Salobre», la «casa de Olías», un piso en Madrid y un piso en Toledo. Hay dos fincas rústicas en Salobre que declara vendidas en el 95 para pagar la casa de más de 400 m2 de Olías y también declara vendidos en el 85 y el 94 otros dos pisos adquiridos, respectivamente en el 75 y el 79 —uno de los cuales, por cierto, se olvida de incluir en la relación de patrimonio previo a la toma de posesión de su cargo público—. Por otra parte, el salo medio de su cuenta corriente en el Banco Popular, como todo el mundo sabe, también del Opus Dei, fue de 612.974 Pts.

Con esos ingresos y esos inmuebles, admitió ser deudor de 10 Millones de Pts. «al constructor de la casa de Olías», constructor que atiende al nombre de Rafael Santamaría Trigo y que, como buen amigo que es de Bono, se ve que le trabajó al fiado. Además debía al Banco Popular un crédito personal de 2.400.000 Pts.

Por su parte, Ana Rodríguez Mosquera, a más del 50% de los bienes y deudas declarados por su señor marido, como consecuencia de la participación de ésta en la sociedad conyugal de gananciales, admite unos ingresos de 2.347.306 Pts. anuales y netos pagados por el PSOE.

Ninguno de los dos cónyuges declara ningún otro ingreso, ningún otro inmueble y ni ninguna participación en sociedades. No existen, por tanto, las empresas en las que posteriormente aparecen como titulares él, su esposa y sus hijos. Hípica Almenara SL, se constituyó en el 2001, Atalaya 52 SL en 2007, Attack 84 SL —por cierto, domiciliada en la C/ Concepción Arenal, 1 de Bargas, Toledo— fue creada en el 2008, Opalo 81, en febrero del 2007 y Ahorros Familiares SAJA SL, está constituida en 2004.

Resumiendo, la familia, a esas fechas, dispone de unos ingresos anuales de, más o menos, 16 millones de Pts que aún no siendo poco, si nos creemos las informaciones aportadas en la declaración de bienes, rentas y actividades, no permiten a los Bono-

Rodriguez ahorrar un ardite. Recordemos que el saldo medio de la cuenta corriente es de poco más de medio millón de Pts.

Demos ahora un corto salto en el tiempo, hasta el año 2004, último del que se conocen datos patrimoniales de José Bono. Seis años después de que la familia declarara un patrimonio relativamente magro, las cosas han cambiado un poco.

Ya no aparecen las deudas contraídas con el amigo Rafael Santamaría, ni con el Banco Popular. Bono declara como ingresos —seguimos en pesetas para que la comparación sea más fácil— 8.063.898 Pts más 1.830.246 Pts en concepto de remuneraciones y dietas por su cargo de Presidente de Castilla-La Mancha; 64.225 Pts como beneficios en su faceta de productor de aceite; 1.064.870 Pts de dividendos provenientes de Hípica Almenara SL; 13.144 Pts de intereses por los saldos en cuenta corriente; y 4.271.960 Pts por colaboraciones periodísticas y arrendamiento de dos viviendas.

Como al parecer, por entonces, el Sr Bono había disuelto la sociedad de gananciales con su esposa, según declara, «con el fin de no tener participación patrimonial ni intereses económicos en la tienda de su esposa denominada Tous Toledo», el patrimonio inmobiliario que reconoce se limita a la casa de Salobre y a una finca rústica de 2 hectáreas en esa misma localidad.

Estas dos hectáreas de suelo rústico en Salobre presentan graves dificultades de comprensión. Si nos volvemos a la declaración de 1998 veremos que Bono asegura haber vendido «varias fincas heredadas de su madre para financiar la casa de Olías» y como las únicas fincas que declara heredadas ese año y los demás son los dos terrenos rústicos de caber 1,97 Has. en Salobre adquiridas en 1981 por «herencia de padres» —dice— habrá que concluir que esas casi dos hectáreas fueron las vendidas.

Sin embargo, en 2004 hacen su repentina aparición otras 2 hectáreas que también se declaran adquiridas a título de herencia, pero esta vez en 1967, de forma que o bien se trata de las mismas 1,97 Has. que dice vendidas para pagar la casa de Olías, o bien, lo que es más probable, se trata de otra finca, también rústica, heredada a la muerte de su madre, en cuyo caso, Bono tuvo el descuido de no incluirla nunca en sus declaraciones hasta el año 2004

El resto de los inmuebles, siempre según Bono, pasó a formar parte del capital de Ahorros Familiares SAJA SL, el cual, a fecha de constitución era de 658.000 € (109.481.988 Pts)

Esta es una sociedad muy curiosa y rentabilísima. Curiosa porque si bien se constituye como sociedad patrimonial para absorber los inmuebles del matrimonio después de la separación de bienes, su objeto social es el inmobiliario; y extraordinariamente rentable porque según sus cuentas los beneficios obtenidos en 2007 alcanzaron la cifra de 462.830 € (77.008.432) es decir, casi el 100% de su capital social, cosa que asombra más si recordamos que se trata, supuestamente, de una sociedad patrimonial sin más actividad que la tenencia de los inmuebles familiares. De esta sociedad Bono tiene un total de 6.328 participaciones que representan un valor de 632.800 € (105.289.061 Pts).

Pero si Ahorros Familiares Saja SL, llama la atención, el caso de Hípica Almenara hunde en la perplejidad. La parte de esa entidad que Bono declara poseer es de 40 participaciones por un valor de 6.000 tristes euros. Puesto que Bono es un hombre «familiar» pero no tonto, según los datos que obran en el Registro Mercantil, la cuota parte que éste se ha reservado para sí en la empresa es del 80% y como el capital suscrito, según las cuentas de la sociedad correspondientes al ejercicio 2004, es de 15.000 €, el dato confesado por Bono es incierto.

Ello no tiene mucha importancia porque, en cualquier caso, estos números se refieren al «capital social» es decir a una suma para la que la legislación mercantil fija un mínimo en razón de la forma social y que actúa como garantía de acreedores, pero que no tiene nada que ver con el valor total de la entidad."

 Para leer el artículo completo en Notitia Criminis"

Y, por cierto, Pepe Bono, que nosotros no recomendamos que se investigue su patrimonio porque sea usted socialista, que no lo es, ni por ser nosotros de extrema derecha, que no lo somos. Es para que aprendamos todos cómo se hace uno multimillonario sirviendo al bien público.

POR LA ALIANZA DE LAS CIVILIZACIONES: MÉXICO Y ESPAÑA CONTRA LAS PROCESIONES DE SEMANA SANTA

Reactualizado

En San Juan Itxacala (México) impidieron a pedradas la crucifixión del Cristo. (Véase noticia)

A ver cuándo los españoles nos liamos a cantazos con todos esos monigotes grotescos, sanguinolentos y emperifollados, y corremos a boinazos a los de los capirotes, a los porteadores, a los organizadores, a los asistentes y a los parroquianos, y echamos a los de los bombos y tambores y cornetines a la acequia...

Y a ver si cumplís más en la cama y menos en la cofradía, prendas, que se os va a oxidar...

De nada, ya saben que me gusta ser útil.

DIEGO CATALÁN: LA ÉPICA ESPAÑOLA. NUEVA DOCUMENTACIÓN Y NUEVA EVALUACIÓN

En la bitácora amiga "Obras de Diego Catalán":

"Esta edición se lleva a cabo por un grupo de ciudadanos partidarios de la cultura libre, sin canon, ni canonjías, ni derechos de autor, que trabajan sin ánimo de lucro, secundando este proyecto iniciado por Diego Catalán.

Los libros son publicados bajo licencia creative commons (permiso de copia y reproducción libre y gratuita, siempre y cuando se reconozca la autoría, y no se haga con fines comerciales)"

Sobre "La épica española. Nueva documentación y nueva evaluación", del año 2001, Diego Catalán explicaba en el Post scriptum:

"En este libro he pretendido poner en manos del curioso lector, al que supongo cierta cultura y una imprescindible agudeza natural y no que sea especialista en la materia (lo cual no garantiza que posea esas tres cualidades exigidas), los datos positivos con que hoy contamos para formarnos idea de lo que fue, durante la Edad Media, el género literario más influyente y más gustado por un amplio público: los cantares de gesta que los juglares presentaban a sus oyentes tanto en las plazas públicas como en ambientes regios o nobiliarios.

Al adoptar unos principios expositivos positivistas, propios de la Filología más rigurosamente anti-ensayística, y, por lo tanto, despreciativa de manidos -ismos, tanto de ayer como de hoy, me he propuesto que el lector se adentre conmigo en el proceso de ir descubriendo un panorama que los propios testimonios allegados van abriendo a nuestros ojos.

Cuando los testimonios faltan y el proceso de inducción nos puede alejar por sendas inciertas hacia territorios nebulosos, he preferido dar fin a mi jornada, aunque se me ofreciera, para penetrar en esas tierras incógnitas, la compañía de supuestamente autorizados guías.

No habrá hallado, pues, el lector aquí nuevas (ni viejas) respuestas al problema de los "orígenes más remotos" del género, ni argumentos para acreditar o desacreditar a los viejos luchadores de las tradicionales batallas dialécticas entre partidarios de estas o aquellas doctrinas que han hecho intransitable el campo.

El "conservadurismo" que preside la investigación hecha por mí no excluye, sino que incentiva, la radical novedad de buena parte de lo expuesto.

Ante esa novedad, espero que cada lector reaccione críticamente, pero teniendo al menos presente el conjunto de la información hoy asequible, no meramente prejuicios adquiridos en donde quiera que sea.

Gatopardo, he seguido la obra desde que la descubrí en la página a la que usted alude y, como usted recordará, le dediqué un artículo en mi bitácora. También dispongo de la edición impresa. El libro es una verdadera maravilla, digna del nieto de Menéndez Pidal.

Querido mío: su recomendación del libro de Diego Catalán es bastante contraproducente después de haber alabado usted en su blog ditirámbicamente al mediocre juntaletras Muñoz Molina.

Y no hay nada peor que un juntaletras, salvo un lector con la capacidad crítica embotada.

Saludos cordiales

¿En serio le parece Muñoz Molina un juntaletras? El corte lírico de su prosa le puede parecer a usted inútil, pero es lo que tiene la lírica. Venga, Gatopardo, para alguien que escribe medianamente bien en nuestros días...

Oh, sí, el gran don Pedro que inspiró aquello de:

"Eres más puta que la gallinas, y más pesada que la prosa de don Pedro Corominas"

Que se podría sustituir por:

"Eres más puta que las gallinas, y más pesada que una novela de Antonio Muñoz Molina"

Vale, Gatopardo. Recomiéndeme entonces algún novelista de su agrado, de los que escriben hoy. Le prometo leerlo

Fecha: 05/04/2010 17:29.

Autor: Gatopardo

Vamos a hacer algo mejor: relea atentamente el primer capítulo de esa novela de Muñoz Molina, cuya lírica tanto le ha gustado, y dígame si es usted capaz de ponerse "tumbado sobre la espalda, rígido, las rodillas dobladas en ángulo recto, los ojos al frente, hacia arriba, en dirección al cielo" o hacer lo de "el muslo doblado en ángulo recto", etc.

Y luego, ya le recomendaré algo para la convalecencia.

Fecha: 05/04/2010 17:43.

Autor: Píramo

Quizás no he releído con la atención que usted me pide, pero lo cierto es que no encuentro ninguna de las expresiones que dice usted que aparecen en el primer capítulo.

Fecha: 05/04/2010 18:22.

Autor: Píramo

Se refiere usted a otra obra de Muñoz Molina: EL VIENTO DE LA LUNA. Se refiere al astronauta antes de iniciar el despegue. Pero, obviamente, no es afortunada la expresión: ni nos tumbamos sobre la espalda (sino de espaldas), ni las rodillas se doblan en ángulo recto, sino las piernas; y el astronauta tiene riesgo de volverse bizco. Respecto a los primeros ejemplos y, ya que hablamos de expresión literaria, no podríamos concederle a Muñoz Molina el beneficio de una metonimia? ¿Qué le parece? Por cierto, la convalecencia que me pronosticaba se va a producir, efectivamente, por el esfuerzo de buscar una expresión que no correspondía a la obra de la que hablábamos; así pues, como lo prometido es deuda, indíqueme algún título recomendable.

Fecha: 05/04/2010 18:38.

Autor: Gatopardo

Para empezar a educar el gusto en el pulso narrativo y la buena prosa , le recomiendo leer a mi admirado Íñigo Domínguez, corresponsal en Roma:
http://www.elmundodecerca.com/dominguez/posts

Y espero que con él comprenda que la falta de idoneidad en las metáforas y las descripciones no se salva por llamarse metonimia ni otras pamemas, y que el nobilísimo arte de narrar y novelar, no consiste en contar cosas, una tras otra, que es la idea fija de los novelistas que publican en España.
Para no repetirme, me remito a "La voluntad de estilo" http://gatopardo.blogia.com/2009/031001-la-voluntad-de-estilo.php

Si quiere leer novela digna de ese nombre, escrita ahora, me temo que tendré que recomendarle la novela negra inglesa actual.

LYDIE AUBERNON DE NERVILLE

Mme. Lydie Aubernon se separó felizmente de su marido en 1867, y acostumbraba a decir que esperaba poder celebrar, en su día, «separaciones de oro». M. Georges Aubernon vivía en Antibes con su hijo Raoul, por lo que su esposa era conocida como «la viuda». Hasta fines de los años ochenta hizo los honores de su salón ayudada por su madre quien, a su vez, fue una destacada dama de sociedad en los años cuarenta, bajo Luis Felipe. Estas dos señoras eran llamadas, en una alusión a sus tendencias republicanas, y, también, a la conocida comedia de Moliere, «Les Précieuses Radicales». Pese a ello, madame Aubernon no tenía en realidad interés alguno en las cuestiones políticas y solía afirmar: «Sí, soy republicana, pero lo soy por desesperación». Tras morir la vieja Mme. de Nerville, Mme. Aubernon dijo a Edmond de Goncourt: «La echo de menos con frecuencia, pero por poco rato». Esta observación la hace también el padre de Swann, después de la muerte de su esposa.

Mme. Aubernon recibía a sus invitados en su casa de la Avenue Messine, después en la de la Rué d'Astorg, en la que también tenía su mansión (incongruente coincidencia) la Condesa Greffulhe, y por último en la Rué Montchanin, número 11. A la par que a brillantes invitados, también recibía a cierto número de misteriosas damas de avanzada edad, que seguramente eran viudas de escritores o de amigos de la madre de Mme. Aubernon, que se sentaban discretamente en segundo plano, como la tía del pianista o la Princesa Sherbatoff en casa de Mme. Verdurin, y que se las conocía como «los monstruos sagrados». En cierta ocasión, el hijo de uno de estos monstruos, quien consideraba que su madre aparecía con excesiva frecuencia en las columnas dedicadas a «sociedad» en los periódicos, reprochó a su madre la frivola vida que llevaba, a lo que ésta contestó: «Tienes razón, hijo, a partir de ahora dejaré de asistir a tantos funerales».

Mme. Aubernon era una mujer regordeta, menuda y vivaz, con hoyuelos en los brazos, que se ataviaba con llamativos vestidos recargados de adornos, y calzaba zapatos con pompones. De ella dijo Montesquiou: «Parecía la Reina Pomaré sentada en un sanitario». En 1892 contaba sesenta y siete años y no ignoraba que su belleza se había marchitado; a este respecto, decía: «Me di cuenta cuando los hombres dejaron de elogiar mi rostro y se limitaron a alabar mi inteligencia».

Sus recepciones en las noches de los miércoles (el día de Mme. Verdurin) y los sábados eran precedidas por una cena para doce personas, ni una más ni una menos, en la que el tema de la conversación había sido fijado de antemano. Sus invitados no siempre se ceñían al tema elegido con el rigor que ella hubiese deseado. «¿Cuál es su opinión sobre el adulterio?», preguntó Mme. de Aubernon a Mme. Straus una semana en que éste era el tema, a lo que la interrogada contestó: «Lo siento, pero me he confundido y he preparado el tema del incesto». Labiche, al serle pedida su opinión sobre Shakespeare, dijo: «¿Es que se va a casar con alguna de nuestras amistades?» Y al pedir a D'Annunzio que hablara sobre el amor, la contestación del poeta fue todavía más seca, ya que se limitó a aconsejarle: «Lea mis libros, señora, y permítame seguir comiendo». Mme. Aubernon creyó que quizá sería conveniente cambiar de tema a fin de suavizar un poco el comportamiento de su invitado, y comenzó a hacerle preguntas sobre los más distinguidos contemporáneos de d'Annunzio. A este efecto, la dama le suplicó: «Hábleme de Fogazzaro». D'Anuncio repitió: «¿Fogazzaro?» Y acto seguido añadió: «Está en Vicenza». La cena terminó en un silencio glacial. Cuando Mme. Laure Baignéres tuvo que contestar la pregunta «¿Qué opina del amor?», dijo: «Lo practico con frecuencia, pero nunca, nunca, hablo de ello».

Si en el otro extremo de la mesa se suscitaba una conversación general, Mme. Aubernon tocaba su famosa campanilla para que todos prestaran atención a quien hablaba en aquel momento. La primera vez que Labiche asistió a una de estas cenas, se le oyó murmurar: «Yo... yo...»; entonces, la «viuda» agitó la campanilla y gritó: «Monsieur Labiche, aguarde su turno». Cuando el que hablaba terminó su exposición, la dama se dirigió amablemente a Labiche diciéndole: «Ahora puede hablar», a lo que el pobre dramaturgo contestó en un murmullo: «Yo sólo quería pedir más guisantes».

[PARA ESTOS MENESTERES, TIENEN APRENDIZ LOS OFICIALES...]

En setiembre de 2009, la Unión Europea anuncia sanciones contra España por no aplicar la normativa comunitaria contra el blanqueo de dinero, cuyo plazo venció en mayo de 2007, y como ya existe una sentencia previa del Tribunal de la Unión Europea, España tendrá las sanciones económicas correspondientes.

A fecha de hoy, el Gobierno de España aún no ha presentado las reformas legislativas para adaptarse a la normativa Europea sobre blanqueo de dinero procedente del narcotráfico, las actividades fraudulentas y delictivas, el tráfico drogas y de armas, la trata de personas con fines de explotación sexual, y otras actividades ilegales.

En mayo de 2007, el Tribunal de la UE sancionó a España no haber incluido en la legislación nacional la norma comunitaria que facilita la concesión de permisos de residencia y asilo a inmigrantes víctimas de la trata de seres humanos.

En enero de 2008 se dictó la segunda sentencia por no trasponer la directiva 2003/109/CE, sobre el estatuto de los nacionales de terceros países residentes de larga duración, que otorga un trato equitativo en todo el territorio europeo, independientemente del Estado de residencia.

El 14 de mayo de 2009, el tribunal rechazó todas las alegaciones españolas e instó de nuevo al Gobierno a cumplir con la normativa europea.

El mes de julio de 2009, el Tribunal de Justicia de la UE condenó a España por no asumir, en los plazos fijados, la directiva que establece los requisitos para el reconocimiento y el estatuto de refugiados o personas que necesitan asilo.

El estado español acató la decisión con la tramitación de la Ley 12/2009, de 30 de octubre, reguladora del derecho de asilo, que aplica arbitrariamente, como, por ejemplo, el caso de la ciudadana nigeriana, y tantas otras, prostituida por una red de traficantes de personas, embarazada de resultas de ello, que se pudo escapar de sus secuestradores, a los que denunció , y ha sido expulsada de nuestro país incumpliendo la normativa europea comunitaria que garantiza la seguridad y la protección de las víctimas y testigos contra los criminales.

El Tribunal de Justicia de la Unión Europea ha condenado a España, en plena presidencia de la UE, por incumplir la Directiva 2005/71/CE sobre la admisión de investigadores de terceros países (nacidos fuera de la UE).

El Estado debía haber adaptado sus disposiciones legales para ajustarse a esta Directiva y no lo ha hecho.

En marzo de 2010, Bruselas mandó un ultimátum a España por sus niveles de contaminación, por incumplir las normas de la UE sobre el nivel de partículas en suspensión peligrosas en el aire (PM10). Entre otras cosas, ha exigido que se reduzcan los residuos industriales en el estuario de Huelva, etc-.

Mientras el país se desmorona, el Gobierno de España ha considerado prioritario y de máxima urgencia legislar para defender la propiedad intelectual de autores y compositores españoles, y otorgarles la consideración de especies protegidas, subvencionadas, y promocionadas, de modo que no tengan que competir y gestionar su producción como el resto de los trabajadores.

Y de paso, como los españoles tenemos el cerebro como un colador, y no nos da la memoria para acordarnos de tanta mangancia y tanto bandarra, me malicio que están maquinando extender la jugada Intelhorce a las empresas estatales...

Para estos menesteres, tienen aprendiz los oficiales...

QUE LOS COJAN LOS MENGUES Y SE LES CAIGA LA CHORRA A CACHOS A QUIENES VOTEN EL CIERRE DE WEBS...

...Y OJALÁ LES DIERA UN DOLOR QUE CUANTO MÁS CORRIERAN MÁS LES DOLIERA, Y SI PARARAN, REVENTARAN.

"En las últimas semanas, como muchos sabréis, el gobierno está intentando meternos por detrás (de una forma bastante criticable desde el punto moral y legal, además de hipócrita) una ley para no sólo criminalizar las descargas, sino, en definitiva, tener un arma de censura en toda regla con la excusa de la piratería. Por eso, como usuarios, internautas y ciudadanos, debemos luchar todos juntos para evitar que nos recorten nuestros derechos, pues, en caso contrario, muchas páginas como ésta (o tal y como está la ley, cualquiera que ellos deseen) correrán el riesgo de ser cerradas.

En el foro ya habéis hablado sobre ello y hemos escrito un post bastante amplio con mucha información al respecto que iremos actualizando (añadimos parte de esta información al final de esta noticia) donde podréis opinar y discutir sobre el tema, sin embargo, nos gustaría resaltar la plataforma No Al Cierre de Webs que se ha creado recientemente.

Noalcierredewebs.com es una plataforma web sin ánimo de lucro desarrollada por un colectivo de usuarios y profesionales de Internet, con el objeto de apoyar las iniciativas tendentes a garantizar el derecho a la libertad de expresión en la Internet española, y evitar el secuestro administrativo de webs previsto en la Disposición Final del Anteproyecto de Ley de Economía sostenible.

Noalcierredewebs.com no contendrá ningún tipo de publicidad, y mantendrá una línea informativa transparente, sin inclinaciones políticas predeterminadas, limitándose a otorgar visibilidad a las iniciativas que surjan en la Red en defensa de la libertad de expresión y contra el cierre de páginas de enlaces a ficheros P2P, de streaming o de descarga directa.

Colaborar con la iniciativa es muy sencillo: basta con insertar este banner en todas y cada una de las páginas de vuestro respectivo web, apuntando al sitio http://www.noalcierredewebs.com/."

(...)"Internet se ha convertido en una plataforma de comunicación, de expresión, de información y de innovación sin precedentes en la historia de la humanidad. Es, sin duda, un elemento clave para el progreso de las sociedades modernas. Es a la sociedad del siglo XXI lo que la electricidad fue a la sociedad de finales del XIX. La base sobre la que se construye la sociedad del futuro, sobre la que se cimientan todas las demás innovaciones. Pretender impulsar la economía sostenible y la innovación de espaldas a internet es no haber entendido nada. Es condenar a España a perderse la revolución digital, de la misma forma que nos perdimos la revolución industrial.

La clase política, con la complicidad de buena parte de los medios tradicionales, ha calculado que la protesta de internet no iría a más. Que estaba hecha de gaseosa. Que con manejar bien los mensajes, como han hecho siempre, bastará para que el asunto se olvide, para que no haya movilización ni contestación, para que se quede en unos pocos protestando en el vacío, sin ninguna repercusión en el mundo físico. Ellos están organizados. Saben cómo moverse, como influir. Saben cómo hacer para que un asunto pase inadvertido, para que no se pregunte por él. Y piensan que, esta vez también, van a salirse con la suya.

Yo creo que no. Que hemos traspasado ya un umbral invisible pero importante. Que el número de personas que están en internet, que la usan todos los días y que la valoran como algo realmente imprescindible en sus vidas es mucho más alto de lo que los políticos se imaginan. Somos muchos los que consideramos que el tratamiento que se haga en política de internet es un asunto clave. Capaz de cambiar nuestro voto. Capaz de hacer que nos movilicemos y nos organicemos. Si nos atacan, nos defenderemos. En nuestro terreno encontraremos medios tecnológicos para esquivar sus intentos de control y de censura. En el suyo poco a poco iremos ganando espacios. Iremos organizándonos, iremos actuando.."

Celdrán anima a los escolares ha hacer un consumo responsable

Una carpa instalada en la Plaza de Conquistadores es el lugar donde desde ayer y hasta mañana se celebran charlas informativas dirigidas a escolares de secundaria, en las que se les informa sobre una alimentación equilibrada y sana, y sobre la necesidad de ser coherentes en el consumo .

Además, los escolares reciben información sobre cuáles son las funciones de la Oficina Municipal de Atención al Consumidor (OMIC) y cómo hacer una reclamación cuando tengan algún problema en la compra de un artículo en un establecimiento.

En el desarrollo de las actividades colaboran las empresas Rendelsur, Merca Badajoz, y El Corte Inglés. EFE 1010447

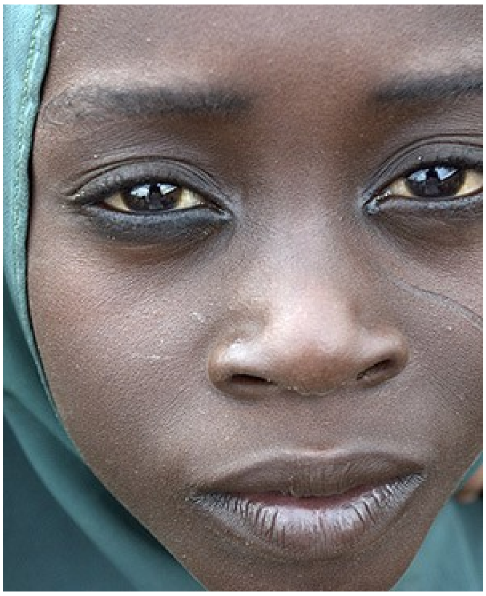
¿LOS INTELECTUALES ESPAÑOLES NO TIENEN NADA QUE OBJETAR CUANDO VA A SER ENVIADA PARA SER ASESINADA POR LA MAFIA QUE LA PROSTITUYÓ O LAPIDADA, SEGÚN LA LEY DE SU PAÍS?

VÍCTIMA DE ESCLAVITUD SEXUAL, EMBARAZADA Y DESPROTEGIDA



Las autoridades españolas no cumplen el Convenio contra la trata de seres humanos y la esclavitud

Las mujeres en Nigeria están expuestas a las redes de tráfico.

Si nadie hace nada, mañana una mujer inmigrante, embarazada y presunta víctima de la trata de personas será expulsada de España. Volverá a su país, Nigeria, donde asegura que su tratante, que dirige una red que trae mujeres para convertirlas en prostitutas, la matará. Ella no le devolvió todo el dinero, 20.000 euros, que él le exigía como deuda. Antes de hacerlo, consiguió escapar. En su vientre, sin embargo, llevaba el recuerdo de alguno de sus clientes, con los que la obligaban a mantener relaciones sexuales sin preservativo. Un bebé que quizá no nazca porque a ella la maten antes.

Esta mujer, cuyo nombre no podemos revelar, tiene 25 años y está ingresada en el Centro de Internamiento para extranjeros de Madrid. Según Viviana Waisman, directora ejecutiva de Women’s Link, la ONG que junto a Proyecto Esperanza está llevando este caso, la joven sufre continuas crisis de ansiedad y no para de llorar. "Tememos por ella y por su salud. No se encuentra bien, está aterrorizada". Women’s Link, organización que brinda apoyo jurídico a mujeres, ha solicitado un período de reflexión, el establecido en la nueva Ley de Extranjería, y también en el Convenio contra la trata de seres humanos que firmó España y, según los cuales, casos como el de está mujer no deberían ocurrir.

Pero nadie ha contestado, nadie ha asumido responsabilidad alguna, aun cuando tanto la nueva ley como el convenio prohíben la expulsión de mujeres embarazadas cuando esto suponga un riesgo para la gestación o la salud de la madre y reconocen un período de restablecimiento y reflexión cuando existen indicios suficientes para creer que una persona extranjera en situación irregular es víctima de trata de seres humanos. Y por el incumplimiento de ambas, la vida de esta mujer, a partir de mañana, valdrá bien poco. Las redes de tráfico de seres humanos no perdonan. Y las autoridades españolas, mientras, cierran los ojos.

Me gustaría saber qué opinan los que hablan de Dios, de la caridad, y del amor a sus criaturas; los que opinan que no existe Dios ni se le espera, y basta con la piedad y la fraternidad; los partidarios de aplicar la pena de muerte a los que hayan comentido delitos graves; los que no creen legítimo asesinar en nombre de la ley; los que consideran que la vida es sagrada desde el momento de la concepción; los que legislaron que un nasciturus no es persona hasta que no vive 24 horas fuera del útero materno, y, también, los ciudadanos que forman parte de la sociedad civil sin cargo subvencionado mediante los presupuestos generales del Estado.

¿Van a mover el culo en este caso concreto o van a confesar de una puta vez que lo suyo es un discurso hueco, sin consecuencias, porque poco importa un asesinato más o menos?

La ciudadana nigeriana embarazada y presunta víctima de trata que se encontraba recluida en el Centro de Internamiento de Extranjeros (CIE) de Madrid ha sido finalmente expulsada en la mañana de este miércoles, sin que sus abogados fueran notificados "ni pudieran recurrir" la decisión administrativa que le denegó el plazo de reflexión de 30 días a que tienen derecho las mujeres en su situación conforme dicta la nueva Ley de Extranjería.

Así lo denunció la presidenta de la ONG Women's Link Worldwide, Viviana Waisman, quien explicó que cuando las abogadas de la nigeriana se dirigieron por la mañana al CIE para visitar a su cliente, descubrieron que "se la habían llevado sobre las siete" para ejecutar la orden de expulsión dictada por la Delegación del Gobierno en Madrid que pesaba sobre ella.

La ONG tuvo conocimiento de este caso la semana pasada, cuando la ciudadana nigeriana llevaba ya más de 20 días en el CIE. Las abogadas asumieron su representación y tramitaron las instancias correspondientes para paralizar la expulsión y conseguir el reconocimiento del periodo de reflexión.

La petición de asilo fue denegada pese a los informes favorables de ACNUR"Nosotras teníamos su representación y no nos avisaron de nada. El daño ya está hecho", explicó Waisman, quien incidió en que esta mujer, además de encontrarse en estado de gestación, "está amenazada de muerte en Nigeria por el tratante", el hombre que la vendió a la red de comercio de mujeres que la acabó trayendo a España, por lo que necesitaba protección internacional.

En este sentido, el Alto Comisionado de la ONU para los refugiados (ACNUR) difundió un comunicado este miércoles en el que aseguraba que recomendó al Ministerio del Interior que concediese asilo a la nigeriana y su petición fue denegada "pese a los informes favorables a la admisión al procedimiento emitidos" por este organismo internacional especializado en asilo.

No obstante, la presidenta de Women's Link señaló su intención de seguir luchando. Según dijo, van a denunciar la decisión de la Administración española ante la relatora especial de Naciones Unidas sobre la Trata de Mujeres con fines de Explotación Sexual, así como van a acudir al Grupo de expertos sobre la lucha contra la trata de seres humanos (GRETA) para ponerles en conocimiento del caso.

La Delegación del Gobierno en Madrid aclaró por su parte que la expulsión de la nigeriana embarazada se ejecutó dando cumplimiento a una resolución judicial. Así lo explicaron fuentes oficiales, quienes aclararon que fue el Juzgado de lo Contencioso Administrativo de Madrid quien dictó una resolución ordenando la expulsión de esta mujer del territorio nacional.

SEGÚN EL TRIBUNAL SUPERIOR DE JUSTICIA, EL GRUPO MUNICIPAL DEL PARTIDO POPULAR DE BOADILLA DEL MONTE ES TAN ILEGAL COMO ILEGÍTIMO

No tendríamos ningún inconveniente si nos engañaran esos timadores de magnética personalidad capaces de impersonar a un medio lelo en el "Timo de la estampita"; al banquero que custodia una caja de seguridad llena de millones de dólares, en la "estafa nigeriana"; al viajero presuroso capaz de hacerse con nuestra confianza y nuestro dinero, en el timo del tío; o vendernos un billete premiado más falso que la virtud de un cura, en el tocomocho.
No tendríamos más remedio que carcajearnos, y quitarnos el sombrero, vencidos por una inteligencia superior a la nuestra. Pero estos políticos nuestros son tan zafios, tan memos, tan sandios, tan zopencos, tan ceporros, tan trapisondistas, tan impresentables, tan horteras, tan cutres, que lo único que nos dejan es la certeza de que no les vamos a la zaga si hemos consentido que nos gobiernen, y no los hemos rebozado de brea y plumas, antes de llevarlos a patadas fuera de las lindes del pueblo.

El TSJM anula la constitución del Grupo Popular en Boadilla del Monte

ABC. Madrid.

La Sección Segunda de la Sala de lo Contencioso del TSJM ha declarado ilegal la formación del Grupo Municipal del PP en la etapa del ex alcalde Arturo González Panero. La sentencia reconoce que al PP se le olvidó presentar el escrito de constitución necesario, que consta de la lista de concejales y la firma de cada uno de ellos, nombrando portavoz del PP, dentro de los cinco días de plazo. El error cometido por el Grupo Popular vulnera el artículo 24 del Reglamento de Funcionamiento de las Entidades Locales, teniendo como consecuencia la disolución de dicho Grupo Municipal, y la pérdida de todos los derechos que tenían como grupo, contemplados en los Presupuestos municipales. Desde hoy los 16 ediles elegidos por el PP pasan a ser concejales no adscritos.

EL EX ALCALDE DE BOADILLA DEL MONTE, ARTURO GONZÁLEZ PANERO, OLVIDÓ PRESENTAR EL ESCRITO DE CONSTITUCIÓN DEL PP, TAL Y COMO EXIGE LA LEY.
LA SENTENCIA FIRME DICE QUE EL INCUMPLIMIENTO LEGAL ES INSUBSANABLE POR LO QUE EL PP NO PUEDE CONSTITUIRSE.

"La Sección Segunda de la Sala de lo Contencioso del TSJM, dictada por los cinco magistrados, y por unanimidad, ha declarado ilegal la formación del Grupo Municipal PP en la etapa del ex Alcalde González Panero.

La sentencia que es firme, reconoce que al PP se le olvidó presentar el escrito de constitución necesario, que consta de la lista de Concejales y la firma de cada uno de ellos, nombrando Portavoz del PP, dentro de los cinco días de plazo. El error fatal cometido por el Grupo Popular vulnera el artículo 24 del Reglamento de Funcionamiento de las Entidades Locales, teniendo como consecuencia la disolución de dicho Grupo Municipal, y la pérdida de todos los derechos que tenían como Grupo Municipal del PP, que fueron aprobados por el Pleno y contemplados en los Presupuestos Municipales.

La nulidad del acuerdo de constitución del Grupo Popular supone la pérdida de los derechos económicos y materiales que el Pleno del Ayuntamiento reconoció a los Grupos Políticos Municipales una vez constituidos. El Grupo Popular percibía 1500 € por Grupo Político y 2000 € por cada Concejal del PP, cantidades que deberán ser reintegradas como consecuencia de la sentencia firme." (...)

LAURE HAYMAN

"Laure Hayman era descendiente del pintor inglés Francis Hayman (1708-76), que fue maestro de Gainsborough, y uno de los fundadores de la Royal Academy. Laure nació en 1851, en un rancho de los Andes; su padre, ingeniero, murió cuando ella era todavía una niña; y su madre, tras intentar en vano ganarse la vida dando lecciones de piano, educó a su hija para que siguiera la carrera de cortesana. Sus amantes fueron personas de gran distinción, tales como el Gran Duque, que proveía de cigarrillos a la dama vestida de rosa de tío Adolphe. Entre ellos se hallaban el Duque de Orleans, el Rey de Grecia, el pretendiente al trono de Servia, Karageorgevitch —de quien se decía que era el único hombre a quien ella verdaderamente amaba—, el Príncipe Karl Egon von Fürstenberg, el financiero Raphael Bischoffsheim y Michael Herbet, secretario de la embajada inglesa en París 4. Albert Flament 5 la llamaba «educadora de duques», y Laure daba no sólo lecciones en el arte de amar, sino también en el uso correcto del idioma. El Vizconde Charles de la Rochefoucauld le escribió desde Biarritz, con inconsciente falta de justeza: «Aquí hace un calor torrencial». A lo que Laure contestó a vuelta de correo: «Aquí las lluvias han sido verdaderamente tórridas». Después, la dama comentó, refiriéndose al Vizconde: «No cabe duda de que tiene sangre azul, ni siquiera he sido capaz de enseñarle ortografía; y en cuanto a su francés, más vale

dejarlo...»

NOTAS

4 Michael Herbert, hermano de Lord Pembroke y de Lady Lonsdale, quedó atónito al advertir que Laure no le pedía que la ayudase a sufragar sus gastos, de lo cual ya se cuidaba Bischoffsheim. Admirado, dijo: «Una muchacha inglesa no quedaría satisfecho con sólo un banquero».
5 Flament la vio montando a caballo, en el Bosque de Bolonia, en la mañana del 3 de abril de 1899, y así lo hizo constar en su diario, añadiendo: «Una mujer hermosa, adquiere todavía más gracia cuando monta a caballo».

BIENVENIDO MR. CHANCE

Para ver en Megavídeo:
1/2: Primera parte

2/2: Segunda parte

En todos los casos de imposturas flagrantes, suele haber un público que necesita líderes y gurúes a los que magnificar y seguir como ejemplo y guía, porque tener la capacidad de discernimiento y el espíritu crítico de la ameba es absurdamente reposante.
Y lo mejor de todo es que esa pereza mental no tiene, a efectos jurídicos, responsabilidad penal por muchos que sean los crímenes que le sean imputables.
La película "Bienvenido Mr Chance" (1979) se basa en la novela corta de Jerzy Kosinski "Desde el Jardín", y fue dirigida por Hal Ashby, con guión de Jerzy Kosinski, por el que recibió un Oscar, y protagonizada por Peter Sellers, que hace una de las mejores interpretaciones de su carrera, secundado por mi adorada Shirley McLaine, que no le va a la zaga, Melvyn Douglas, Jack Warden, Richard Basehart, y Richard Dysart.

De nada. Ya sabéis que me gusta ser útil.

DIARIOS DE GUY LIDDELL, DIRECTOR DE CONTRAINTELIGENCIA DEL MI5 DURANTE LA 2ª GUERRA MUNDIAL

"La situación es desesperada, pero en absoluto seria."

Los diarios secretos de Guy Liddell son una de las fuentes más valiosas que hoy tenemos accesibles para conocer el funcionamiento de los servicios secretos británicos durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial. Liddell dictó a su secretaria, Margot Huggins, todos los planes estratégicos, operaciones secretas, entrevistas, impresiones y pensamientos que vivió en esos años. Gracias a su estilo, preciso y conciso, desprovisto de cualquier pretensión novelesca o épica, podemos adentrarnos en la realidad de unos mecanismos del estado secularmente desvirtuados por la desinformación o por la intoxicación moralista. La imagen que emerge de Gran Bretaña es la de un país desbordado por las oleadas de inmigración, por su obsesion anticomunista y por la neurosis de la 5ª columna nazi.

Cuando Chamberlain declaró la guerra a Alemania, Gran Bretaña tenía unos servicios de inteligencia mal dotados, inoperativos e incapaces de olvidar por un momento sus rivalidades intestinas. Churchill creó una nueva estructura de los servicios secretos y a Guy Liddell se le asignó la dirección de la que llegaría a ser la legendaria B Section. Liddell pretendió que el contraespionaje se transformara en contrainteligencia y, para ello, se deshizo de individuos que suponían una rémora por su incapacidad de adaptarse al nuevo escenario, que ya no era el Imperio, sino Europa en guerra.

Se comenzó el reclutamiento apresurado de agentes y personal sin cualificar: de treinta oficiales se pasó a casi mil; los archivos del MI5 estaban atrasados y repletos de errores, los informes sobre los países en conflicto que proporcionaba el MI6 eran desatinados, los funcionarios carecían de la más mínima discreción o noción de lo que debía constituir una materia secreta. Cuando parte del MI5 se trasladó a Wormwood Prison, el conductor de la línea regular de autobuses anunciaba: "Parada para el MI5" y los encargados de la seguridad nacional bajaban obedientes. Había que advertir a algunas autoridades que no invitaran a lady Posh a tomar el té y a disfrutar de una visita por el recinto para ver qué cosas tan curiosas hacían los espías de su majestad.

A los minuciosos informes de Liddell sobre las operaciones de contrainteligencia les caen, con la malévola precisión de una gota china, los fallos y desastres producto de la incompetencia de burócratas vagos y novatos entusiastas. Liddell aguanta con estoicismo la situación pero no se resiste a reseñar los desastres con un humor seco y destilado.

La vida de Guy Liddell estuvo regida por la misma maldición que alcanzó al solar de su estirpe. Como el castillo y la mansión de Ravenswoth, que sucumbieron porque el suelo que los sustentaba se hundió por las minas de carbón que habían enriquecido a la familia, el entramado inteligente y profesional de espionaje que creó se asentó sobre cimientos podridos. El conjunto de patrañas, cuentos mal escritos y crímenes que forman la historia del MI5 en este período aún está por escribir.

A Guy Liddell lo sorprendió la Primera Guerra Mundial perfeccionando estudios de música en Alemania. Como un buen patriota, dejó el violonchelo y marchó a la guerra. Gran Bretaña premió su valentía con una MC (Military Cross). Casó con una rica heredera, la bella Calypso Baring, que lo volvió loco con sus amantes, sus escapadas a Estados Unidos, sus fiestas y la casa empapelada con portadas de la revista Time.

En 1943, Liddell, que había aguantado el blitz sin pestañear, firmó el divorcio. Nigel West, con la falta de piedad del que también se sabe feo, nos ha dejado un retrato del personaje: "Bajo, con poco, pelo, parecía o muy misterioso o extremadamente tímido. En realidad era las dos cosas. Era, además, vanidoso, siempre consciente de su apariencia. Cuando se entrevistaba con sus subordinados tenía la desconcertante costumbre de mirar a un punto lejano y evitar el contacto con la mirada, al tiempo que se arrancaba pensativamente algún inexistente pelo de la cabeza."

Los "Diarios" los constituyen doce tomos de cuadernos tamaño cuartilla, en papel rayado y horadados mecánicamente, con un número aproximado de 5.725 páginas. La versión accesible al público está censurada en numerosos lugares y presenta, a simple vista, una serie de alteraciones aún no explicadas: por ejemplo, numeración posterior por varias manos, cambio de máquina de escribir, diferente distribución de fuerza en el mecanografiado, distinta pericia dactilográfica, papeles con distinto grado de envejecimiento, incoherencias textuales,etc., por citar unos pocos rasgos perceptibles para el más profano. En resumen, los diarios nos han llegado con intervención de mano de gato y el gato no era un lince.

Cuando terminó su servicio en el MI5, en 1952, Liddell, cumpliendo con las normas para este tipo de documentos, entregó los volúmenes al MI5 donde fueron guardados como material altamente secreto y sólo pudieron ser leídos con permisos especiales. Peter Wright escribió que, gracias a él se salvaron de la destrucción que había ordenado Roger Hollis. El caso es que hasta 2004 los diarios no fueron desclasificados. Al parecer alguna epidemía de miopía aguda ha afectado a críticos e historiadores británicos y hasta el día de hoy no han visto que el supuesto original nos ha llegado un tanto toqueteado. Aun así merece la pena leerlo. Además de las conocidas operaciones de dobles y triples agentes, nos enteramos de chismes como el de que Unity Mitford nunca se pegó ni le pegaron un tiro en la cabeza. Lástima.

11 de febrero de 1940 (Stalin comienza la deportación de 1.200.000 polacos a Siberia, a la vez que acuerda con Alemania incrementar sus intercambios de armas e información de inteligencia. En Gran Bretaña hace cuatro días que se ha empezado la campaña "La charla imprudente cuesta vidas" con carteles con la imagen de Hitler escuchando. La investigación bélica adquiere un ritmo frenético: se investiga la toxina botulínica como arma química y se intenta ganar a Alemania (que ya lo había conseguido con los cañones Hermann Goering Werke SG 116 y Rheinmetall SG 117) en la aplicación de las células fotoeléctricas a las bombas. Aunque, en aquel 10 de febrero, lo que cae sobre toda la costa de Essex son bombas magnéticas):

"La Oxford Instrument Co. Ha estado haciendo células fotoeléctricas para bombas fotoeléctricas. Estas bombas se lanzan desde aviones en vuelo. La sombra o la disminución de luz que produce el objetivo activa las células, que, a su vez, activan la detonación. Hemos comprobado que su índice de acierto es muy alto. Los alemanes tienen algo parecido. El director de la Oxford Instrument Co. esta muy alterado porque los cheques se los han endosado en concepto de "bombas incendiarias". Se los han enviado en sobres de ventanilla, así es que, al mínimo desplazamiento, las autoridades de correos o las del banco han podido ver la causa del pago.

El Director de la A.I.D (Aeronautical Inspection Directorate) también ha estado hablando de forma indiscreta sobre este invento".

12 de febrero de 1940 (El ejército soviético atraviesa la línea Mannerhaeim en Finlandia tras varios días de bombardeos. Gran Bretaña y Francia prometen apoyo y armas a Finlandia. En el MI5 se preparan para esta operación ultrasecreta):

"Al parecer han puesto un anuncio en la Sala de Órdenes del Cuartel General de los Guardias Escoceses solicitando hombres que puedan esquiar en clima ártico. A estas alturas esta información debe de ser ya de dominio público."

26 de febrero de 1940 (Hasta la incorporación de Victor Rothschild para dirigir la unidad de antisabotaje del MI5 B1 (c), la industria de guerra carecía de inspecciones de seguridad, tanto técnica como política. Gran Bretaña se abastecía de empresas alemanas, contrataba obreros y técnicos alemanes y los almacenes nacionales desconocían las mínimas normas para no sucumbir al sabotaje enemigo):

"Ya tenemos los informes de la policía sobre la explosión en Waltham Abbey. Evidentemente están impresionados por la dejadez con la que se dirigen los establecimientos gubernamentales y han señalado que nadie está interesado en el sabotaje de estas fábricas porque, teniendo en cuenta cómo están dirigidas, sólo hay que esperar a que estallen. Vamos a pasar al Ministerio de Suministros de Guerra (Ministry of Supply) una versión resumida de estos informes".

8 de marzo de 1940 (El gobierno británico proporciona máscaras de gas a toda la población, que las llevará el resto de la guerra. Eleonor Roosevelt escribe en su diario: "Anoche fui a un concierto que dio la National Symphony Orchestra y disfruté inmensamente, aunque no pude evitar sentir un atisbo de melancolía cuando se tocaron los valses de Strauss. Una piensa lo que tiene que significar para los vieneses los cambios que hay en su país. Los valses de Strauss sólo pueden florecer en un país feliz."

Desde el 15 de agosto de 1939 la Government Code and Cypher School (GC&CS) estaba en Bletchley Park en jornada continua cifrando y descifrando mensajes. Sus trabajadores tenían que jurar silencio absoluto y de por vida sobre su misión:

" Un tal Mr. Burgoyne, que había ido al Manor Club, en Bracknell (Berks.), vio que había un manual del Foreign Office para codificar y descodificar mensajes en la barra del bar. En una hoja suelta había un mensaje: "abrir cuando se reciba el plan Y" , y había otra hoja suelta, en papel del Foreign Office, mostrandó cómo se cifraba 147 el 19.3.39. El manual está ahora en posesión del director del Club."

13 de marzo de 1940 (El Embajador de Franco en Irlanda, Don Juan García Ontiveros echa una cana al aire -postal- con una walkiria del Führer)

"Hay unas cartas desde Hamburgo a Dublin que han atraído nuestra atención porque estaban dirigidas a "Sieger Werden" (Triunfaremos). Archer dice que ha estado vigilando esta correspondencia durante meses. Hay otras dirigidas a Immer Warten (Esperemos) a la misma dirección. Hemos descubierto que el edifició es la casa del ministro español en Dublin y Archer está convencido de que se trata de un asunto amoroso.. Dice que la mujer del ministro es una de esas españolas austeras que llevan a cualquier hombre a echarse en brazos de una amante. Cecil ha replicado a Archer que, como la dama se halla en Hamburgo, "Immer Warten" es quizás un pseudónimo más apropiado que Sieger Werden"

18 de marzo de 1940 (El agente U35 es Iona Ustinov (né Jonah Freiherr von Ustinow), alias Klop ('chinche') Ustinov (1892-1962). De padre ruso y madre alemana, fue condecorado con la Cruz de Hierro, en la Primera Guerra Mundial, luchando en el ejército alemán. En 1920 se trasladó a Londres donde trabajó como periodista en el Wolff Bureau (lo que sería más tarde la German News Agency) y ejerció como agregado de prensa de la Embajada Alemana hasta 1935. En ese año, dado que no puede probar la pureza aria de su genealogía, se nacionalizó británico. Ustinov fue considerado un gran agente, desde los años 30,y estuvo implicado en casos de gran transcendencia, Fue también marchante de arte, actividad no investigada aún. Por los informes de Blunt a los Servicios Secretos Soviéticos, sabemos que Ustinov dirigía a otro agente holandes, cercano al Príncipe Bernardo, llamado Sevat, que también traficaba con arte)

"U35 estaba sorprendido por el contraste entre las Legaciones de Alemania y Gran Bretaña en Berna.En la legación alemana encontró que había una actividad frenética y pilas de documentos y propaganda de todas clases. En la británica encontró a Torr, sentado en su silla, con la cabeza agachada y las manos juntas como un sacerdote. U35 quería ver al Embajador y Torr estuvo un cuarto de hora intentando disuadirle. Al final, señalando al techo dijo: "El Embajador está ahí arriba. Usted me disculpará que no lo acompañe, pero se me ha quedado la pierna dormida." Se llamó a un botones para que lo condujera ante la augusta presencia"

30 de marzo de 1940 (Dos días antes el Gabinete de Guerra anglofrancés acuerdan el tratado de no firmar la paz por separado con Alemania. Asimismo deciden plantar minas defensivas en toda la costa interior noruega. El general Maurice-Gustave Gamelin ha ordenado que, si Alemania ataca, siete divisiones atraviesen Bélgica hasta la frontera con Holanda. En EE.UU., Eleonor Roosevelt asiste al primer cumpleaños de su nieto, Johnny Boettiger, desconocido para el que firma este artículo.)

"La noche ha sido espantosa para algunos miembros del gobierno porque se ha descubierto que la copia nº 1 de las Deliberaciones del Gabinete de Guerra, según se ha informado, ha estado 36 horas debajo de un cojín en la sala de la suite del General Gamelin en el Hyde Park Hotel. Al parecer Gamelin y su gente se habían marchado a las 2´30 el jueves, dejando el documento encima de una mesa. La doncella, como vio que tenía un enorme sello de Secreto en la tapa, lo colocó debajo de un cojín e informó del asunto al camarero de planta.

El camarero de planta (Maclean)se lo comunicó al Jefe de camareros de planta, que es Italiano y, según Maclean, el Italiano lo metió en cajón bajo llave. Al día siguiente, a las ocho de la tarde, el Jefe de camareros de planta se lo llevó al Director y le dijó que lo había encontrado bajo un cojín. El director inmediatamente informó del hecho a un oficial de la delegación francesa que estaba cenando en el restaurante. Éste, a su vez, tuvo que ponerse en contacto con el War Office y con el Asistente del Primer Ministro y sobre la 1´30 de la madrugada del sábado Jaspers fue sacado de la cama y fue al Hayde Park Hotel. Llamó a S.B y registraron las habitaciones del Italiano intentando conseguir alguna historia coherente.

Se nos ha informado de otro susto. Al parecer, cuando Gamelin y el Estado Mayor del Ejército Británico iban en coche desde Aldershot, una rueda delantera empezó a hacer un ruido extraño. Cuando el chofer estaba colocando una de las las ruedas delanteras, la otra se cayó. Al parecer hay sospechas de sabotaje."

19 de abril de 1940 (Por estas fechas Turquía aún no se ha declardo neutral en la guerra. Además de su valor geoestratégico, Turquía fue un quebradero de cabeza para los Aliados porque estuvo suministrando a Alemania, durante toda la guerra, cromo para la industria bélica)

"Un documento del War Office sellado como "Most Secret" sobre la disposición de nuestro ejército en Turquía y Tracia en el caso de ciertas eventualidades ha sido encontrado en una papelera de Whitehall Court. Un patriótico barrendero se lo ha entregado a la policia"

18 de mayo de 1940 (Liddell se está refiriendo a los principios de la Fall Gelb u Operation Yellow, que es como llamaron los británicos a la ofensiva alemana que empezó el 10 de mayo de 1940 y terminó un mes después con la rendición de Francia y la desastrosa retirada de Dunkerke. Stewart es Stewart Graham Menzies, jefe del SIS (MI6) desde 1939 a 1952):

"Hoy he vuelto a ver a Stewart. Me ha dicho que la situación de hace dos días había sido extremadamente crítica. El problema estuvo en que el ejército francés no luchó. Se quedó apabullado con la intensidad del bombardeo y el ataque de los tanques. Parece haber sido más una cuestión de la forma terrorífica en que se dio el ataque más que del daño que infligió (…)

Stewart también me contó otra historia que tenía que ver con los suministros. Los americanos le encargaron a Harrods 25 catres de campaña, pero como en inglés americano se les llama "cots", Harrods les envió 25 cunas a la embajada. Un iracundo oficial de la Embajada les dijo que estaba llamando desde la Embajada y no desde la guardería"

22 junio 1940 (Anthony Blunt, además de inventarse unos cuantos Poussin, elaboró una versión muy presentable de su entrada en el MI5 para los soviéticos, que coincide muy poco con las sardónicas acotaciones de Liddell: "Después de trabajar en esta sección nueve meses, fui transferido a la B Division. El plan original era que yo sería el asistente personal de Liddell, pero no funcionó porque Liddell es de esa clase de personas que no puede tener ayudantes. Cuando se le presenta el trabajo ya acabado, vuelve a hacerlo él solo")

"Anthony Blunt que acaba de incorporarse al D Branch, ha elaborado el siguiente informe sobre su primer día de trabajo:

1 Carta de una señora que señalaba el peligro de que los centinelas se envenenaran con los helados que vendían los extranjeros.
2 Informe de un hombre que oyó a un coronel (no ha dicho el nombre) diciendo indiscreciones (sin detalles) en un lugar y una fecha indeterminados.
3 Informe sobre un signo (un corazón de enamorados) en un poste de telégrafo
4 Informe sobre un objetor de conciencia de la Iglesia Cristadelfiana que se ofrecía para dar clases de ingeniería a futuros miembros de las Fuerzas Armadas de Su Majestad.
5 Informe sobre un portero de hotel en Escocia del que se piensa que puede tener sangre alemana en sus venas (los registros muestran que la misma acusación ya se hizó en Diciembre de 1914. Cuando se interrogó a su enfermera probó que el hombre no había salido de Escocia en su vida y que era escocés de pura cepa).
6 Informe de una mujer que ha recibido un plano de una agencia de seguros donde aparecen las salidas de emergencia, recepción etc. Dice que puede constituir una valiosa información para el enemigo."

3 de julio de 1940 (Este mismo día la Roya Navy destruye la flota francesa en Mers-el-Kebir. Una semana más tarde la Luftwaffe comienza la mayor batalla de la historia librada por la aviación, la Battle of Britain (10 de julio a 31 de octubre de 1940):

"El Intelligence Centre debería venir aquí y encargarse de este departamento o limitarse a pasarnos cualquier cosa que les llegue y dejar que decidamos nosotros lo que merece la pena investigar y lo que no. En la actual situación, uno de los peligros mayores que nos acechan es la neurosis de la quinta columna.

Hoy hemos investigado otro fiasco. Una mujer se ha comunicado con un varón a través de cierto número de teléfono en Londres. La voz masculina decía: “Sigue la calle que tiene nombre de un río hasta que veas un tiesto de flores rojo. Llama 4 veces a la puerta y di la contraseña”.

Las investigaciones han demostrado que se trataba de un jefe de scouts que estaba entrenando a su pupila en el poder de la observación.”

9 de julio de 1940 (Independientemente de que Liddell se pasara los primeros meses de la guerra suspirando por la pena de muerte para los espías cazados, sin demoras “legalistas”, antes de interrogarlos o colgarlos no dejaba de ver el lado cómico de la situación):

“Tres individuos han llegado hoy a Tow Head cerca de Corck en una barca pequeña. Dos de ellos dijeron que eran afrikanders, aunque era evidente que eran alemanes. El tercero era un indio de Antwerp llamado Abed y dijo que era un aficionado a los pájaros, cosa difícil de creer porque su equipaje consistía en dos maletas llenas de bombas de todas las clases. El grupo llevaba tambien 800 libras. Obed es, claro está, Obed Hussein que hace tiempo que trabaja para los alemanes. Los Irlandeses los han encerrado y piden permiso para interrogarlos.”

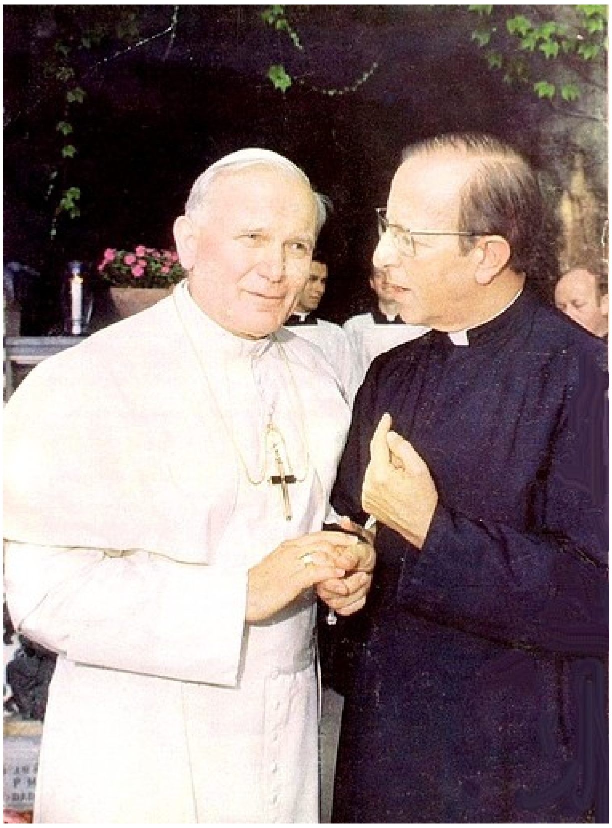
MARCIAL MACIEL, EL LEGIONARIO QUE MURIÓ CUATRO VECES Y NO QUISO CONFESARSE, TAMBIÉN VIOLÓ A DOS DE SUS HIJOS



El padre Maciel también habría abusado de dos de sus hijos

Cuando se conocieron ella tenía 19 años, él 56. De la relación nacieron dos hijos y adoptó otro de una relación anterior. Abusó de dos de sus hijos

dpa* | Ciudad de México

El fundador de los Legionarios de Cristo, Marcial Maciel, quien murió hace dos años acusado de múltiples abusos sexuales, sostuvo una relación de unos 25 años en México con una mujer, con la que tuvo dos hijos propios y uno adoptivo, según sostuvieron este miércoles los involucrados.

La revelación fue sustentada con grabaciones y documentos en el programa de la periodista Carmen Aristegui en MVS Radio, en momentos en que una comisión de cinco obispos está por concluir un informe sobre la Congregación después de diez meses.

"El tenía 56 años y yo tenía 19. El me dijo que era viudo y que andaba buscando una muchacha para casarse", contó Blanca Estela Lara Gutiérrez al inicio del relato sobre la relación que afirma haber tenido con Maciel, quien se hacía llamar José Rivas o Raúl González.

Maciel, fundador de una de las congregaciones más conservadoras y poderosas de la Iglesia, muy cercana al papa Juan Pablo II, fue apartado en 2006 del ministerio público apenas comenzó el Pontificado de Benedicto XVI.

La sanción fue considerada el resultado de más de una década de denuncias de abusos sexuales de al menos 30 seminaristas y estudiantes, aunque el Vaticano no dio las razones y decidió no someter a Maciel a proceso canónico por su avanzada edad.

Después de la muerte del sacerdote a los 87 años, el 31 de enero de 2008, se descubrió que había tenido una hija en España y comenzaron a surgir sospechas de una o más familias más en México.

Las mentiras de Maciel

Lara Gutiérez afirmó el sacerdote le decía que trabajaba en la empresa petrolífera Shell, que era detective privado y hasta agente de la CIA. Se enteró de la verdadera identidad en 1997 cuando se publicó un artículo en la revista "Contenido" sobre las denuncias de abuso sexual.

"Fue cuando yo me enteré de la verdadera historia, de la otra cara", indicó. "Yo lo idolatraba, lo adoraba. Yo estaba ciega totalmente*"*. La relación terminó unos años después.

Abusó de sus propios hijos

Según la afirmación de Lara Gutiérrez, del vínculo nacieron Raúl y Cristian González Lara. Bajo nombre falso, Maciel habría adoptado también a Omar, un hijo que había tenido ella con una pareja anterior. Cristian, el menor de los tres, tiene 17 años. De los demás no se difundió la edad.

En el programa se difundieron audios de conversaciones supuestamente sostenidas por Raúl González, hijo de la mujer, con representantes de los Legionarios de Cristo y con uno de los cinco obispos de la comisión investigadora, que confirmarían sus declaraciones.

Tanto Omar como Raúl dijeron que fueron abusados sexualmente por su padre cuando eran pequeños, algo que revelaron a su madre en 1999. Raúl dijo que el primero de los abusos ocurrió cuando tenía siete años, en un viaje a Colombia, y que duraron unos ocho años.

"Fuimos víctimas también de mi papá, desgraciadamente", afirmó Raúl, que reclama del Vaticano un reconocimiento público a todas las víctimas y resarcimiento económico.

La familia busca un fideicomiso

La familia también busca un fideicomiso que presuntamente les iba a dejar Maciel, que les decía, según sus dichos, que, si le pasaba algo, recurrieran al "señor Alvaro Corcuera", que es el actual superior de los Legionarios.

En una de las grabaciones difundidas en el programa, Raúl González habla supuestamente con el consejero financiero de los Legionarios, Jaime Durán, y con el rector de la Universidad Anáhuac, el sacerdote legionario Jesús Quirce.

Ahí, ambos reconocen la firma y letra de Maciel en documentos mostrados por González y revelan que el fundador de los Legionarios "podía pedir dinero (a donantes), pero no entraba a las cuentas de la Congregación".

También mencionan que existía una familia en Acapulco que "estaba también en su círculo íntimo" y que "estuvo cerca del padre Maciel en los años antes de su muerte".

MARCIAL MACIEL: EL LEGIONARIO QUE MURIÓ CUATRO VECES Y NO QUISO CONFESARSE

Hasta ahora se sabía, gracias a «Crónica», que tuvo al menos seis hijos y varias identidades. En el segundo aniversario del fallecimiento del fundador de los Legionarios de Cristo revelamos sus últimas horas, con la presencia de un exorcista

AUTOR">IDOIA SOTA | JOSÉ M. VIDAL

El día que Marcial Maciel murió, se oyó, como en Pedro Páramo, un murmullo insistente como el que hace el viento al azotar las ramas de un árbol en la noche. Al afinar el oído, al igual que en la obra de Juan Rulfo, aquel bisbiseo apretado como un enjambre se definió en palabras casi vacías de ruido y llenas de piedad: «Ruega a Dios por nosotros». El día que Marcial Maciel murió (ayer se cumplieron dos años), la lujosa casa legionaria de Jacksonville (Florida) se convirtió en un ir y venir de hombres ensotanados. Todavía hoy conservan un rictus extraño en su rostro. Una mueca en la que se adivina que el final de Marcial Maciel hace justicia a una existencia vivida con exceso y fuera de toda ley, civil o divina. Algo horrible ocurrió en la habitación donde el fundador de los Legionarios de Cristo expiró.

Poco más de una docena de personas fueron las elegidas para acompañarlo en sus últimos momentos y, de aquella jornada del 30 de enero de 2008, sólo les queda la certeza -y en algunos casos hasta el consuelo- de que el fundador de los Legionarios de Cristo ha muerto. Cuál fue la causa, cómo sucedió o incluso dónde ocurrió son preguntas que admiten más de una respuesta.

Marcial Maciel era uno, trino y hasta quíntuple. Tenía, al menos, cinco identidades diferentes.
Era Raúl Rivas, amante de Norma Hilda y padre de Normita (ambas en viven holgadamente en Madrid), y Jaime Alberto González Ramírez, pareja de una mujer mexicana y padre de tres hijos en Cuernavaca. Pero también era el progenitor de un chico en Inglaterra y el de una joven en Suiza. A veces era Juan Rivas. Y siempre era Marcial Maciel, fundador de una de las congregaciones religiosas con más poder, conseguidor de incalculables fondos monetarios de dudosa procedencia y pederasta castigado en 2006 por el Papa a la oración y el retiro.
Todos ellos murieron el 30 de enero de 2008, hace ahora dos años. Sus secretarios personales se encargaron de matarlos. ¿Cómo, si no, iban a poder poner al día todos los documentos de «nôtre père», como aún lo llaman? Había cuentas millonarias, propiedades repartidas por medio mundo, fideicomisos en Bahamas... Un imperio calculado en unos 20.500 millones de euros entre lo que conservó para sí, en todas sus versiones, y lo que puso a nombre de su Legión.

Así se explica su don de la ubicuidad y que Marcial Maciel falleciese a la vez -y que se sepa- en Houston (Texas), Washington; Cotija, su pueblo natal en México, y en Jacksonville (Florida). A las pocas horas de dejar este mundo y mucho antes de que los medios de comunicación conocieran la noticia, Wikipedia recogía su muerte en Florida. Aunque minutos más tarde, sospechosamente, la enciclopedia en la Red eliminó el lugar de la muerte de Maciel de su biografía. Dos días después, aparecieron los primeros obituarios en la prensa. The Denver Post y El Paso Times informaron del deceso del fundador de la Legión por causas naturales en Houston (Texas).

¿Fue por causas naturales? Algunos legionarios aseguran que padecía cáncer de hígado. Otros informan de una operación en 2003 a corazón abierto en Houston. Y hay quienes se aventuran a decir que padecía demencia senil. «Había que emitir diferentes partes de defunción, cada uno con su motivo, para cada una de sus identidades», explica José Bonilla, abogado de los hijos mexicanos del legionario.

«EL CAMAROTE» DE MACIEL

Sea como fuere, el verdadero Marcial Maciel murió en un chalé en Jacksonville (Florida), aunque sus restos fueron trasladados a Cotija (México), su ciudad natal. Se trataba de una pequeña casa con unos 10 u 11 legionarios, organizada ex profeso para el descanso de su fundador un año antes de que éste partiera «a la gloria celestial», como rezaba su despedida en la web oficial de la congregación ultracatólica. El 30 de enero de 2008, la población de la casa se vio repentinamente incrementada en, al menos, ocho personas. En el cuarto de Maciel se juntaron Álvaro Corcuera, actual director general de los Legionarios; Luis Garza Medina, vicario general; Evaristo Sada, secretario general; Marcelino de Andrés, a quien Maciel dejó el encargo de entregar el fideicomiso a sus hijos; Alfonso Corona, uno de los superiores; John Devlin, secretario personal del fundador; y las dos Normas. Y, por si el cónclave no era suficientemente surrealista, en los aposentos de Marcial Maciel no faltó un exorcista para asegurarse de que el alma del padre no estaba tomada por algún espíritu demoníaco.

¿Por qué? Hacía más de dos años que el fundador parecía haber perdido la fe. No iba a misa, no rezaba... Los legionarios que lo cuidaban llegaron a comprobar que sentía «repulsa por la religión». Y la aversión a los objetos religiosos es un signo inequívoco de posesión. De hecho, cuentan que, ya en 1946, los primeros legionarios asistieron a «fenómenos raros» de tipo mefistofélicos. El padre tenía por aquel entonces «una habitación en la casa del Sagrado Corazón», un chalé con una estatua de esa advocación. Una «habitación rara». Primero, porque no tenía cama: «Maciel dormía en un ataúd». Y segundo, por los insólitos fenómenos que, dicen, allí sucedían. Una noche, sus compañeros oyeron ruidos extraños en la habitación de Maciel y, cuando entraron, se toparon con «unas bolas de fuego que circulaban por la habitación del fundador hasta que desaparecieron».

Otros atestiguan que, estando un día en la sacristía, aparecieron unos perros rabiosos. Maciel ordenó a los jóvenes que lo acompañaban que dejaran la habitación y, del mismo modo que llegaron, «los perros desaparecieron de la estancia con la puerta cerrada». En otra ocasión, se encontraba en la capilla. Al oír un estruendo, los legionarios «abrieron la puerta y encontraron los bancos tirados y a Maciel bajo uno de ellos». ¿Presencias del Maligno?

Quizá muchas de estas anécdotas no dejen de ser fábulas. Un tinte de realismo mágico en una vida cargada de episodios rocambolescos.

Sin embargo, alguien debió de considerar seriamente la posesión e hizo llamar al exorcista a su lecho de muerte. El propio Luis Garza llevaba algún tiempo lidiando con la rebeldía del fundador. Según fuentes de la Legión, Maciel se puso muy enfermo seis meses antes de morir. Y los legionarios lo trasladaron desde Jacksonville a un hospital de Miami «de toda confianza». Hasta allí llegó el ya entonces «amonestado» fundador acompañado por tres sacerdotes y una consagrada (laicas con voto de castidad).

«ME QUEDO CON ELLAS»

En el hospital de Miami estuvo tres días ingresado. Al segundo día, se presentaron las Normas en su habitación y permanecieron a su cabecera, cuidándolo, con el beneplácito de Maciel y para escándalo de los legionarios.

-Padre, tiene que venir con nosotros- le dijeron éstos cuando le dieron el alta.

Pero, para entonces, Maciel estaba más cerca de ser Raúl Rivas que el fundador de una congregación religiosa y, señalando a las dos mujeres, respondió tajante: «Quiero quedarme con ellas».

Los sacerdotes legionarios, alarmados por la actitud de Maciel, llamaron inmediatamente a Roma. El entonces número tres de la institución, Luis Garza, supo al instante que les rondaba un grave problema. Lo consultó con el máximo responsable, Álvaro Corcuera, subió al primer avión con destino a Miami y fue directo al hospital.

La indignación podía leerse en su rostro. Allí se presentó ante el otrora todopoderoso fundador y le conminó: «Le doy dos horas para venirse con nosotros o llamo a todos los medios para que todo el mundo se entere de quién es usted de verdad». Y Maciel dio su brazo a torcer.

Su estado físico se había deteriorado mucho desde 2005. «No caminaba bien. Tenía afecciones propias de la edad avanzada. En los últimos meses le fueron fallando varios órganos vitales. Imagino que un informe médico diría que murió de parada cardiorrespiratoria. Tenía 87 años: era un ancianito», detalla a Crónica un portavoz de la Legión de Cristo.

Pero a los pocos elegidos que lo acompañaron al final de su vida les costaba verlo como un ancianito. Para ellos, las últimas horas del fundador fueron un verdadero calvario. Marcial Maciel se negaba a confesar sus pecados. No deseaba o no creía en el perdón de Dios. Quizá llevaba demasiados años acostumbrado a engañar al representante divino en el confesionario. Cómo declarar de golpe que fue pederasta, mantuvo relaciones con mujeres y hombres, tuvo al menos seis hijos de los que nunca se encargó como un verdadero padre, abusó de las drogas, deseó y obtuvo grandes cantidades de dinero, plagió la guía espiritual de su congregación, mintió e hizo daño a centenares de personas sin alterarse en lo más mínimo, y Dios sabe qué más. Eso, Dios lo sabe. Entonces, ¿para qué confesarse? «¡Qué no!», espetaba a Álvaro Corcuera, empeñado en ungir al moribundo con los óleos sagrados.

VERSIÓN OFICIAL

Al final, Corcuera habría logrado que Maciel hiciera un profundo examen de conciencia. Ha explicado más a los suyos. «Nôtre père» feneció frente a la imagen de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe y las últimas palabras que escribió en un papel fueron «et verbum caro factum est» (y el verbo se hizo carne). De hecho, presentó una hoja convenientemente garabateada. Las dos versiones son compatibles. Maciel pudo negarse a la confesión y ser obligado. Pudo confesar lo que considerase apropiado y resultar absuelto. Pudo morir en pecado y escribir algo para consuelo de las futuras generaciones legionarias. La verdad sólo la conocen los que ocuparon el camarote de Maciel antes de exhalar. Fuera, los legionarios de Jacksonville esperaban impacientes. Algunos entraban y salían. «Fue tremendo», refiere uno de ellos. «No te puedo decir más. Tremendo».

¿Pondría este calificativo el padre Alfredo Torres, uno de los fundadores de la Legión, al final de Maciel? «Ha hecho usted muy bien en querer saber mi opinión. En su artículo puede poner: "He intentado que el padre Torres se pronunciase, pero él no ha querido"». A sus 83 años, Torres es el único de los primeros legionarios que sigue vivo. Dirige el colegio hispano-mexicano que el movimiento tiene en Madrid y, en medio de la crisis que vive la institución, se ha convertido en un referente de las esencias. «Vienen muchos sacerdotes a hablarme. De Roma, México, Italia... Todos los que no están contentos me escriben o acuden a hablar conmigo y yo los enderezo por el buen camino». Porque, a su juicio, en estos momentos la congregación se encuentra ante una encrucijada. «Hay dos caminos: el de la Iglesia y el de la calle. Yo siempre iré por el de la Iglesia, que es el de Cristo. Y acepto lo que diga el Papa. Sea lo que sea».

Sobre la conveniencia de hacer público que Maciel se negó a la confesión y que en su lecho de muerte hubo un exorcista, el padre Torres aconseja: «Publíquelo. Usted tiene que ganarse la vida y, además, servirá para que reflexionen las personas implicadas».

¿Reflexionarán? De momento, los dirigentes de la Legión se enfrentan a la visitación con cierta opacidad en sus declaraciones.

Los superiores hicieron llegar a todos los centros un argumentario para responder a periodistas, curiosos y enviados del Vaticano. La guía ofrece la respuesta -en su mayoría, «no» y «nada»- a muchas preguntas. ¿Qué hizo el padre Maciel? ¿Hubo irregularidades financieras? ¿Qué dice de las acusaciones de años anteriores [sobre pederastia]? ¿Estaban los superiores al tanto de estos hechos?... Pero, además, el formulario ofrece un hilo argumental para las conversaciones que se salgan de estas cuestiones. Sugieren a los miembros de la Legión y del Regnum Christi (su rama laica) que pidan perdón por el daño causado por Maciel, que se muestren consternados por que el escándalo haya podido contaminar a la Iglesia, que manifiesten que los que están sufriendo están en sus oraciones y que aseguren que tratan de actuar según lo que Cristo habría hecho en su lugar.

PRIMER RECONOCIMIENTO

A mediados de marzo se espera una decisión de Benedicto XVI. Ahora hay entre 100 y 150 sacerdotes legionarios pendientes de ese dictamen para definir su camino dentro o fuera de la congregación. De momento, parece que la opción más plausible pasa por que el Papa designe un representante de confianza que dé un nuevo rumbo al movimiento. Pero también cabe la posibilidad de que Benedicto XVI ordene una refundación o, directamente, opte por que la Legión de Cristo se disuelva.

Mientras, el representante legal de los tres hijos que Maciel dejó en México, José Bonilla, sigue adelante con su lucha por el reconocimiento de los jóvenes como descendientes del fundador. El primer paso, según ha podido saber Crónica, ha sido la carta que Álvaro Corcuera, director general de la Legión, ha enviado al abogado. En ella, reconoce al mediano de los tres, José González, como hijo de «nôtre père». Quedan dos. Además del fideicomiso en Bahamas que Maciel les legó y que ya les ha sido entregado, los vástagos del legionario tendrían derecho a parte de los bienes que el fundador dejó repartidos por todo el mundo. Y, en menos de 30 días, sus hijos interpondrán una demanda para reclamar sus derechos de herencia sobre estos bienes. «Los chicos hablan todas las semanas con el visitador en México, el obispo Ricardo Watty, que se ha mostrado muy preocupado por el asunto». Más, quizá, de lo que Maciel lo estuvo nunca. De hecho, el padre fundador de los Legionarios de Cristo no se despidió de sus tres hijos. Ni siquiera fueron avisados de su fallecimiento.

El día que murió Marcial Maciel fue un ir y venir de sotanas que rezaban por el alma del que llamaban «padre». Pero faltaban tres de sus hijos. Los que Jaime Alberto González Ramírez, su tercera identidad, engendró con una mujer mexicana. Si confesó su séxtuple paternidad y sus múltiples pecados sólo lo saben quienes estuvieron en la habitación con el moribundo. Aquel 30 de enero de 2008, que muchos recuerdan con una contracción en el rostro, se oía un incesante y pío murmullo. «Ruega a Dios por nosotros», decía.

Y ¿cómo no? cuando su hijo abusado presenta problemas psicológicos interviene "un psiquiatra" católico, integrista, de la estirpe de los López Ibor, Enrique Rojas Montes, etcétera, que dopan a la víctima hasta anularlo:

"A Omar y José Raúl los hizo víctimas de abuso sexual durante ocho años.
-Mi primer abuso sucedió en Colombia, cuando yo tenía 7 años de edad. Yo estaba acostado con él, como cualquier niño, como cualquier hijo de familia con su padre a esa edad. Me baja el calzoncillo y me intenta violar. Por instinto humano reacciono y me muevo. Se da cuenta; no me fuerza, pero fue tan fuerte el impacto que hasta el día de hoy recuerdo qué desayuné ese día.

Ese fue el primer abuso contra José Raúl. Hacía que lo masturbáramos, que le sacáramos fotos masturbándolo; él se quedaba con las fotografías. Se hacía el dormido y nos decía que su tío le hacía lo mismo, que ensayáramos con él.

A Omar, el medio hermano, lo vejó por primera vez en Madrid. “En el (hotel) Holiday Inn, me acuerdo. En ese entonces le dice a Raúl: ‘oye, vamos a masturbarlo’ y, niños pequeños, sin malicia, estamos juntos. Me acuerdo que se hacía el dormido y empezábamos a masturbarlo.

“Siempre nos decía que a él le dolía mucho la pierna, que durmiéramos al menos uno de los dos siempre con él, con el afán de que –nos decía– cuando tienes un dolor en los huesos, ‘caliéntenme la pierna porque me duele mucho…’ en Barcelona, de momento nos decía: ‘dense un beso’, pero por qué…”.

En 1999 los muchachos platicaron a su madre lo que les hacía Maciel. José Raúl empezó a sentirse muy confundido y expresó su deseo de acudir con una sicóloga en Cuernavaca, pero su padre lo envió con el doctor Francisco López Ibor, a una clínica muy prestigiosa en Madrid, y lo hospedó en casa de Norma (otra mujer con la que procreó una hija), a la cual le presentó como su tía.

A los 19 años, después de ser atendido en la clínica López Ibor, en Madrid, José Raúl comenzó un tratamiento a base de neurolíticos y ansiolíticos para combatir rasgos obsesivos y humor subdepresivos.

Tomó esos medicamentos durante año y medio; lo tenían permanentemente dopado. Él no podía hablar, siempre echando saliva por un lado, quejándose, recordó ayer la madre.

Cuando reportó esos síntomas a Maciel y le dijo que lo llevaría al médico, el sacerdote le respondió: “‘no, no, sigue dándole el medicamento, lo va a componer, eso lo relaja. Está tranquilo, no pasa nada…’ creo que este señor lo quería tener atontado para que dijera ‘pues sí, lo voy a volver loco para que este muchacho no pueda hablar, no diga nada’”, señaló Blanca.

El hijo de Maciel descubriría después que los medicamentos prescritos por el siquiatra López Ibor eran para enfermos de esquizofrenia, hiperactivos o que no podían dormir, además de que una de las pastillas que su propio padre les suministraba a ellos cuando adolescentes (Darvocet T 100 mg) era un derivado de morfina.

Al respecto, Blanca narró que el legionario cargaba siempre un maletín de médico del cual sacaba un montón de pastillas que ingería antes o después de los alimentos; decía que eran vitaminas, aunque ella sospechó que se trataba de drogas."

MIGUEL HERNÁNDEZ: VIENTOS DEL PUEBLO

LOS COBARDES

Hombres veo que de hombres
sólo tienen, sólo gastan el parecer y el cigarro, el pantalón y la barba.

En el corazón son liebres, gallinas en las entrañas,
galgos de rápido vientre, que en épocas de paz ladran
y en épocas de cañones desaparecen del mapa.

Estos hombres, estas liebres, comisarios de la alarma,
cuando escuchan a cien leguas
el estruendo de las balas, con singular heroísmo
a la carrera se lanzan,
se les alborota el ano,
el pelo se les espanta.
Valientemente se esconden, gallardamente se escapan del campo de los peligros estas fugitivas cacas, que me duelen hace tiempo en los cojones del alma.

¿Dónde iréis que no vayáis a la muerte, liebres pálidas, podencos de poca fe
y de demasiadas patas?
¿No os avergüenza mirar en tanto lugar de España
a tanta mujer serena
bajo tantas amenazas?
Un tiro por cada diente
vuestra existencia reclama, cobardes de piel cobarde
y de corazón de caña.
Tembláis como poseídos
de todo un siglo de escarcha
y vais del sol a la sombra llenos de desconfianza.
Halláis los sótanos poco defendidos por las casas.
Vuestro miedo exige al mundo batallones de murallas, barreras de plomo a orillas de precipicios y zanjas para vuestra pobre vida, mezquina de sangre y ansias.
No os basta estar defendidos por lluvias de sangre hidalga, que no cesa de caer,
generosamente cálida,
un día tras otro día
a la gleba castellana.
No sentís el llamamiento
de las vidas derramadas.
Para salvar vuestra piel
las madrigueras no os bastan, no os bastan los agujeros,
ni los retretes, ni nada.
Huís y huís, dando al pueblo, mientras bebéis la distancia, motivos para mataros
por las corridas espaldas.

Solos se quedan los hombres
al calor de las batallas,
y vosotros, lejos de ellas, queréis ocultar la infamia, pero el color de cobardes
no se os irá de la cara.

Ocupad los tristes puestos de la triste telaraña.
Sustituid a la escoba,

y barred con vuestras nalgas la mierda que vais dejando donde colocáis la planta.

Declaración indagatoria de Miguel Hernández Gilabert

En Madrid a seis de julio de mil novecientos treinta y nueve ante el Sr. Juez Militar Prensa asistido por mí el Secretario, comparece el inculpado del margen, el cual es exhortado a decir verdad en lo que sepa y se le pregunte, habiéndolo ofrecido así:

Preguntado a tenor del artículo 457 del Código de Justicia Militar, dice: Que se llama como queda dicho de edad 28 años, natural de Orihuela provincia de Alicante partido judicial de .... vecino de .... de estado casado de oficio escritor hijo de Miguel y de Concepción no ha sido procesado por delito .... si sabe leer y escribir. Preguntado convenientemente manifiesta:

Que se afirma y ratifica en la declaración que tiene prestada ante la Jefatura del S. N. de Seguridad (puesto en la frontera portuguesa). Que no pertenece a ningún partido político ni organización sindical ni antes ni después del Movimiento, pero que reconoce sus ideales antifascista y revolucionario, no estando identificado con la Causa Nacional, creyendo que el Movimiento Nacional no puede hacer feliz a España.

Que además de las vicisitudes que tiene relatadas en la declaración precedente hace constar que desde enero del 37 en que sale del 1er Bon. móvil a marzo del mismo año estuvo en "La Barraca" tratando de reorganizarla. Que en Albalat de Sorells confecciona un mural, con fotos y alegorías antifascistas, del cual es uno de los autores el dicente.

Que en su libro "Viento del pueblo" cuya obra dice el dicente la tiene recogida la Jefatura Nacional de Propaganda, y que es una compilación de toda la labor que como escritor antifascista y al servicio de la "causa del pueblo" ha desarrollado el dicente durante la guerra, glorificando a la causa roja, recomendando la resistencia a la "invasión" y conteniendo exhaltaciones, dice el dicente, de los rasgos "nobles" de la causa marxista. Seguidamente rectifica el término empleado por el dicente de "glorificando" y expresa que escribía solamente por "identificación" con la "causa popular."

Preguntado si con su labor como escritor antifascista reconocía la labor delictiva que realizaba recomendando la resistencia a la Causa Nacional, contesta el dicente "reconocía esta labor delictiva de contra de la "invasión"."

Afirma que Morla le aconsejó, con el fin de que no cayera en manos de la justicia, que se marchara el dicente a Chile donde iba a publicar su labor de escritor.

Preguntado el móvil por el cual huyó de España dice era económico, ya que en España desde su labor durante la guerra no podía encontrar trabajo en prensa ni en revista alguna actualmente, pero niega fuera por huir de la acción de la justicia, ya que el dicente estuvo en su pueblo de Orihuela hasta el 22 Abril de este año, ya que el dicente añade haya "digo" ni ha asesinado ni denunciado a persona alguna.

Designa defensor a

Dice pueden atestiguar su conducta Don José María Cossío (Espasa-Calpe (Ríos Rosas, 24)) Don Juan Bellod Salmerón (Santiago, 6 en Orihuela) Don Luis Almarcha vicario de Orihuela, Don Ernesto Giménez Caballero y Don Rafael Sánchez Mazas.

Leída que le fué se afirma y ratifica.

Que se afirma y ratifica en la declaración, firmandola con S.S. de que yo el Secretario certifico.

ABEDUL BLANCO, ABELMOSCO, Y AJEDREA

ABEDUL BLANCO (Betula Alba). Es uno de los aceites esenciales que se usan en perfumería: tiene un aroma balsámico y leñoso.

De la corteza se extrae un aceite esencial que se usa en cosmética (anticaspa), y para curtir y aromatizar el cuero de Rusia. Contiene betulinol, betulenoles, diterpenos, sesquiterpenos (14-hidroxi-beta-cariofileno), taninos gálicos, elágicos y catéquicos, y ácidos fenólicos, derivados del ácido cinámico, ácido clorogénico, avicularina, flavonoides, heterósidos de miricitrina, hiperósido, quercetol, quercitrina, saponinas triterpénicas, y vitamina C.

En fitoterapia se utiliza el abedul como cicatrizante por su alto contenido en taninos y extracto etanólico, que, al tener un efecto desinfectante y astringente favorece la cicatrización de las heridas; también es eficaz como diurético por su contenido en flavonoides, y como colagogo/colerético, ya que aumenta la secreción de bilis.

Indicado para el tratamiento de edemas, infecciones genitourinarias, cálculos renales, y retención de orina.

Para aliviar la inflamación y los dolores reumáticos, se rellena un cojín de tela de algodón con hojas desmenuzadas de abedul, y se coloca en la zona dolorida. También, como almohada, alivia la rigidez muscular en el cuello.

Las hojas ahuyentan a los insectos, y es un remedio tradicional contra las polillas de la ropa y los insectos que atacan los libros, por lo que es aconsejable utilizar las hojas secas de abedul como relleno en bolsitas para los roperos, y como marcapáginas de lectura.

Su madera es dura y resistente; con el duramen marrón claro, y la albura blanca y rosacea. Es apta para tallar y para ebanistería.Se utiliza en mangos de cuchillos y navajas, en los zuecos tradicionales de Asturias, en cajas de radio y altavoces por su magnífica resonancia, cualidad que ha aprovechado JVC para fabricar los auriculares HP-FX500 con madera de abedul para conseguir un sonido de calidad excepcional.

En la antiguedad, la tinta de imprenta se fabricaba con hollín de abedul. Y Claudia Severa, desde el campamento romano de Vindolanda, utilizaba para escribir tablillas de un par de milímetros de grosor de madera de abedul, y para que su afectuosa invitación perdurara miles de años:

Saludos de Claudia Severa a Lepidina.

En el 3er día antes de los Idus de septiembre, hermana mía, para el día de celebración de mi cumpleaños, te hago llegar una cálida invitación para asegurarme de que vengas a vernos, y que hagas más agradable esta jornada con tu presencia. Saluda de mi parte a tu Cerial. Mi Aelio y mi hijo os envían sus saludos. Te esperaré, hermana. Adios hermana mía, mi alma querida, a quien deseo prosperidad y salud.

A Sulpicia Lepidina, esposa de Cerial, de parte de Severa.

No durará tantos siglos ninguno de los materiales modernos en los que escribimos.

Y, además, gracias a las flexibles ramas de abedul, se consiguió la disciplina inglesa, que hizo posible el Imperio británico y el sadomasoquismo oxbridge.

ABELMOSCO (Hibiscus Abelmoschus o abelmoschus moschatus) Es uno de los aceites esenciales que se usan en perfumería. Conocido como hibisco, abelmosco, almizclillo, algalia, abuinchillo, ambarilla. Se extrae de las semillas del arbusto abelmosco. Aroma parecido al almizcle, y a las sustancias obtenidas de glándulas de animales, mamíferos en general, y que estos segregan para marcar sus territorios o en sus rituales de apareamiento (algalia, civeta…)

Pertenece a la familia de las malváceas, originalmente fue clasificada como parte del género Hibiscus, y actualmente en el género Abelmoschus.

Contiene fosfolípidos y miricetina, una flavona que tiene propiedades hipoglucemiantes.

El aceite esencial se extrae de las semillas del arbusto abelmosco. Es muy apreciado en perfumeria, aunque puede producir reacciones de fotosensibilidad en algunas personas. Por sus propiedades potencialmente alteradoras del sistema endocrino, productor de las feromonas, y debido a la persistencia y bioacumulación de los almizcles, se ha regulado en la Comisión Europea su etiquetado y restringido su utilización en cosmética.

Se utiliza en aromaterapia para el tratamiento de la depresión, de la ansiedad y de la hiposexualidad, y es un estimulante del sistema nervioso central. En linimento, sirve para aliviar el dolor articular y mejorar la circulación de la sangre.

La emulsión hecha con la semillas de abelmosco trituradas y agua tiene propiedades antiespasmódicas.

Masticando las semillas se neutraliza la halitosis, y se impide la proliferación del Helicobacter pylori, causante de las úlceras de estómago. También tienen propiedades diuréticas y carminativas.

En fitoterapia también se usa para la dermatitis, mediante cataplasma de semillas hervidas en leche.

Las semillas de abelmosco trituradas con albahaca, clavo, y romero, y maceradas durante nueve días en alcohol, sirven como repelente natural contra los mosquitos. También se usan las semillas de abelmosco como aromatizante del té y del café árabe.

En el Āyurveda (आयुर्वेद), existe un tratamiento de sanación para los males del alma y del cuerpo (unidad indisociable) que consiste en ungir la frente, las sienes, y los pulsos con una mezcla tibia de aceites esenciales de hierbas aromáticas y medicinales, y, a continuación, durante cuarenta minutos, se cubre el cuerpo con un edredón de algodón o lino blanco, relleno con una mezcla de semillas y hojas de plantas medicinales y aromáticas trituradas , entre otras, abelmosco, canela, espliego, cedro, aloe, sándalo, alcanfor, nuez moscada, espliego, cilantro, azahar, clavo, albahaca, romero...

La sabiduría y la serenidad en la elección de un perfume -y en la vida- es un largo aprendizaje, que no siempre se consigue.

Un ejemplo dramático de falta de criterio se da con el perfume Poison, de Christian Dior, compuesto en las notas de salida, de tête, de azahar, cilantro, guindilla, ciruela, y anís; seguido al cabo de unas horas , en la nota media, de coeur, de rosa, clavel, tuberosa y canela, y dejando como poso, entre las doce y 24 horas, las notas de fond de ámbar, sándalo, opoponax y abelmosco; y, también, en el perfume 212 Sexy de Carolina Herrera, con una nota de salida compuesta por bergamota, pimienta roja, y mandarina, para dejar paso a la nota de coeur compuesta de una mezcla floral dulce, gardenia, miel y como nota de fondo, almizcle, sándalo, y vainilla.

El resultado, en los dos casos, es un perfume para enloquecidas aspirantes a primíparas añosas, a las que no les importe conseguir un donante de semen con el tabique nasal de platino, a juego con el suyo.

Si bien es cierto que así sólo se estropea una casa.

"En España se tiene por más perfecta la miel que se coge del axedrea, tras ésta, la del romero, la tercera en bondad la del tomillo salsero". (Dioscórides: Acerca de la materia medicinal y de los venenos mortíferos, pp. 176; Ed. 1636, Trad. A. Laguna

AJEDREA (satureia montana, del árabe aššaṭríyya o aššiṭríyya) también llamada ajedrea, ajedrea común, ajedrea de montaña, ajedrea montesina, ajedrea salvaje, ajedrea silvestre, axedrea, axedrea de montaña, axedrea montana, axedrea salvaje, boja, hisopillo, isopillo, isopo montano, isopo montesino, jedrea, morquera, saborea, tomillo real, originaria de la región mediterranea, es una planta aromática perenne, de la familia de las Lamiáceas

El aceite esencial se extrae de la planta entera, tiene un aroma fresco, herbáceo y picante, parecido al tomillo, pero más acre e intenso.

Contiene timol, P-cimeno, carvacrol, timol, p-cimeno, gamma-terpinol, 1,8-cineol, borneol, a-terpineol, cineol, dipenteno, ácido siríngico, ácido vanílico, ácido parahidroxibenzoico, ácido paracumárico, ácido ferrúlico, ácido labiático (rosmarínico), ácido hidroxiterpénico, ácido ursólico (hasta un 8% en taninos), y otros.

Su aceite esencial actúa poderosamente como bactericida. Su acción se centra especialmente en los gérmenes Gram + (estafilococos y estreptococos), en Gram - (colibacilos) y ciertos hongos (candida albicans). Concentración mínima inhibitoria: 0,125 a 0,5 mg/ml, está indicado para el sistema respiratorio y el sistema urinario y digestivo, así como en el tratamiento de abcesos dentales, caries infectadas y micosis de la boca. Además parece estar demostrado que tiene acción antiviral debido a los ácidos fenoles que contiene.

En la planta también se han encontrado taninos que actúan como astringentes, antidiarreicos y cicatrizantes. Está indicada en problemas de inapetencia, atonía gastrointestinal, espasmos gastrointestinales, meteorismo, dolores de estómago, bronquitis y en uso externo sirve asimismo para curar heridas.

El aceite esencial de ajedrea es irritante y no puede aplicarse puro directamente sobre la piel, por lo que se usa mezclándolo con lanolina, y aceites esenciales de canela y romero; y así se usa como ungüento contra la artritis, los dolores musculares, etc.

La especie montana tiene mayores propiedades que la Satureia hortensis. Toda la planta, y especialmente los brotes florales, son antisépticos, aromáticos, carminativos, digestivos, expectorantes y estomacales, por lo que es el condimento perfecto para cocinar habas, judías, guisantes, carnes, salsas, escabeches y conservas. Se utiliza también mezclada con otras hierbas para sazonar embutidos, aceitunas, ensaladas, o marinar y aromatizar el vinagre. Realza especialmente los sabores de las berenjenas, las judías verdes y las coles.

Infusión reconstituyente: 1 cucharada de ajedrea, 1/3 de cucharada de romero y 1/3 de cucharada de verbena en un litro de agua hirviendo. Añadir miel y beber una taza por las mañanas, durante cuarenta días. Es un buen remedio contra la fatiga, como antifúngico, digestivo, colagogo, carminativo antiséptico, fungicida, bactericida, antioxidante, y para aumentar las defensas.

Otra infusión: Una cucharada de postre por taza. Las hojas deben estar bien desmenuzadas antes de añadirlas al agua hirviendo. Se toma una taza después de las comidas como remedio de cólicos y flatulencias, también para gastroenteritis, cistitis, náusea, diarrea, congestión bronquial, desórdenes menstruales.

Como remedio contra la halitosis, se toma esta infusión de ajedrea después de las comidas, y se refuerza con una decocción de ajedrea como colutorio tres veces al día, para hacer gargarismos y desinfectar la cavidad bucal.

Las hojas machacadas se han utilizado tradicionalmente contra las picaduras de las abejas.

Antiguamente, se utilizaba para regular la libido: la satureia montana (perenne) para calmar el deseo sexual y la hortensis como afrodisíaco.

Decían sobre la ajedrea:

 Plinio fue el primero en utilizar el término "satureia", refiriéndose a catorce especies distintas de plantas aromáticas de la zona del Mediterráneo.

 Edmund Culpeper: "Mercurio clama dominio sobre esta hierba. Manténla seca en tu casa todo el año, si te aprecias a tí mísmo y a tu salud. El jugo de la planta instilado en los ojos elimina los obstáculos de la vista si proceden de los humores destilados del cerebro. El mismo jugo, con agua de rosas, y puesto en los oídos, elimina los ruidos, los silbidos y la sordera".

Andrés de Laguna: "Aqui nos pinta Dioscorides dos especies de axedrea, una salvage, y otra que se siembra y cultiva con providentia humana: de las cuales aquella primeramente propriamente se llama, Thymbra, e Cunila: como Satureia estotra que suele crecer en los huertos: aunque se confunden aquestos nombres, e cada una dellas se llama communmente Thymbra, Satureia, e Cunila. Es toda suerte de Axedrea caliente e seca en el grado tercero: empero la hortense no muestra tanta efficacia, dado que es mas agradable al gusto".

 El poeta Virgilio sugirió que se plantara la ajedrea cerca de las colmenas de abejas por el delicioso sabor que daba a la miel.

* En "Cuento de Invierno" Shakespeare menciona la ajedrea junto a la lavanda y la mejorana.

Estoy interesado en madera melina blanca
Donde puedo comprar y el precio por kilo
Muchas gracias

La madera melina negra (la blanca está prohibida por la Ley M/345 Orden Ministerial de 23 Agosto 1987)la puede encontrar a muy buen precio en la Serreria de La Matilla. No en la Matilla misma, sino a unos cuantos kilómetros. No tome la carretera de la derecha, que están arreglando el firme sino la que sale de detras del Colmado. Pídale permiso a la dueña y le dejará entrar el coche en el corral, pero no le espante los gochos y las pitas. Y luego ya es fácil. Todo derecho.
Buena madera.

EL ENAMORADO Y LA MUERTE

14
EL ENAMORADO Y LA MUERTE

Esta noche soñé un sueño muy contrario al alma mía, soñé que tenía en mis brazos la prenda que más quería
y era la Muerte que estaba haciéndome compañía:
-¿Por dónde has entrado, amor,
   amor mío y vida mía?
-Soy la Muerte, Enamorado, que Dios del cielo me envía.
-Por Dios te ruego, la Muerte,
   por Dios y Santa María,
que me dejes otra noche,
   que me dejes otro día,
que me quiero confesar,
   enmendarme de esta vida.-
Aún no era bien de noche

y el galán a rondar iba:
-¡Ábreme la puerta, blanca, ábreme la puerta, niña!
-¡Cómo quieres que te la abra,
si yo abrirla no podía:
mi padre se está acostando,
mi madre que no dormía,
mis hermanitos pequeños
mirando a ver lo que hacía!
-¡Si no la abres esta noche,
ya no lo harás en la vida!
-Anda, vete a la ventana donde labraba y cosía, te echaré cordón de seda
para que subas arriba, si el cordón no te alcanzase, mi cabello te echaría.- Estando en estas razones, la Muerte que allí venía:
-Vamos, vamos, Namorado, hora es de dejar la niña.-
Le cogió la Muerte a cuestas por una oscura montiña, donde no hay moros ni moras ni gente de cristianía.
Encontraron una ermita,
que un ermitaño tenía:
-Por Dios te pido, ermitaño,
por Dios y Santa María,
hombre que de amores muere ¿tendrá la Gloria perdida?
-Las penas que ahora tú pasas yo algún tiempo bien tenía, festejaba una señora
que era la flor de mi vida:
Yo me calzaba por ella,
por ella yo me vestía;
yo no comía por ella,
por ella yo no dormía;
por ella soy ermitaño,
ermitaño en esta ermita.

b)

En aquel vergel chiquito, chiquito, de gran valía,
donde hay rosas y flores,
albahaca y clavellinas,
donde crece la naranja
y el limón y la cidra,
donde hay ruda menuda,
que es guarda de las paridas,
allí estaba el Amador,

el que de amores servía;
la Muerte tiene a su lado,
que llevárselo quería.
- Así vivas, tú, la Muerte, que me prestes otro día, déjame que vaya a ver
a una amiga que tenía.
Si encuentro la puerta abierta,
me prestarás nueva vida;
si la amiga no me abre,
haz de mí lo que querías.-
Ya se parte el Amador,
ya se parte, ya se iba;
topó las puertas cerradas,
ventanas que no se abrían.
Batió, batió en la puerta,
y abrir no le abrían;
se asomó a una ventana,
vio que con otro dormía.
Ya se parte el Amador,
ya se parte, ya se iba;
de los sus ojos lloraba,
de la su boca decía:
-¡Malhaya sea el hombre
que de mujeres se fía!
¡Un amor tenía ella,
por otro lo cambiaría!

Este romance ha tenido en la tradición catalana del siglo XIX una gran difusión, que se continuaba en el siglo XX. Conozco 21 versiones, la mayor parte de ellas inéditas (custodiadas en el archivo del "Cançoner Popular de Catalunya"). Aunque escasísimas, hay también versiones sanabresas, una de las cuales tuve la fortuna de oir y anotar en San Martín de Castañeda el año 1949. Esta versión y otra muy análoga que Tomás Navarro Tomás recogió en Galende en 1910 son muy similares a la primera de las que aquí publico y tienen la misma estructura que las catalanas, salvo que omiten la "confesión" final del ermitaño, pues empalman con la narración de otros romances: el de "El alma peregrina y el caballero piadoso" o el de "La penitencia del rey Rodrigo". Este último romance es responsable de que en la tradición oral del siglo XX de León y de Asturias sólo sobreviva del tema de "El Enamorado y la Muerte" la escena inicial, desde la cual la narración salta a la entrevista con el ermitaño, seguida por la penitencia de ser sepultado vivo con una culebra, según el romance del rey Rodrigo, sin el episodio de la visita a la amada.

Mi segunda versión responde a cómo el tema es recordado por los cantores sefardíes de Tesalia y la Macedonia griega.

Una versión mejicana (en asonante –á.a), procedente de Tlalnepantla, es un arreglo erudito del romance tal como lo publicó Ramón Menéndez Pidal en su Flor nueva de romances viejos (libro difundido en Hispanoamérica en ediciones de Buenos Aires).

El romance oral de los siglos XIX y XX tuvo su origen en el Romancero trovadoresco del siglo XV, del cual proceden los dos "temas" que se combinan en la tradición peninsular (tanto en la del Reino leonés como en la de Cataluña) y, asimismo, en la tradición judeo-española oriental.

Entre los poemas escritos por el poeta cuatrocentista Juan del Enzina "desde que huvo catorze años hasta los veynte y cinco", que constituyen su Cancionero (1496), ninguno alcanzó tanto éxito como el que comienza “Yo estava reposando, / durmiendo como solía”. Aunque llamado “Romance”, se trata métricamente de un poemita en octosílabos cuyos versos pares riman todos en –ía y los impares consuenan de dos en dos.

El romancero tradicional, entonces de moda, le sugirió este curioso esquema métrico, y también la fórmula de comenzar la narración “Yo estaba...” y otras expresiones o modos de decir; pero no, como alguna vez se ha creído, el tema. Se trata de un romance o pseudo-romance que responde perfectamente al género, muy cultivado a finales del siglo XV, de la poesía cortesana en moldes poéticos populares. El romancero “trovadoresco” mantuvo su boga hasta mediados del siglo XVI, en que dejó de interesar al público lector; pero, entre tanto, “Yo estaba reposando” fue reproducido, no sólo en las múltiples reediciones del cancionero juvenil de Juan del Enzina publicadas durante el reinado de Isabel y Fernando, sino en cancioneros musicales, en pliegos sueltos y en cancioneros de romances. He aquí su texto:

Yo estava reposando durmiendo como solía, acordé, triste, llorando
con gran pena que sentía.
Levanteme muy sin tiento
de la cama en que dormía.
cercado de pensamiento,
que valer no me podía.
Mi pasión era tan fuerte,
que de mí yo no sabía,
conmigo estava la muerte
por tenerme compañía.
Lo que más me fatigava
no era porque muría,
mas era por que dexava
de servir a quien servía.
Servía yo a una señora, que más que a mí la quería
y ella era la causadora
de mi mal sin mejoría.
La media noche passada,
ya que era cerca del día, salime de mi posada
por ver si descansaría;
fui para donde morava
aquella que más quería,
por quien yo, triste, penava,
mas ella no parecía.
Andando todo turbado
con las ansias que tenía, vi venir a mi Cuydado
dando bozes y dezía:
-Si dormís, linda señora,
recordad, por cortesía,
porque fuestes causadora
de la desventura mía;
remediad mi gran tristura,
satisfaced mi porfía,

porque si falta ventura del todo me perdería.-
Y, con mis ojos llorosos, un triste llanto hazía,
con sospiros congoxosos,
y nadie no parecía.
En estas cuytas estando,
como vi que esclarecía,
a mi casa, sospirando,
me bolví sin alegría.

El romance del siglo XX heredó del pseudo-romance de Enzina el asonante –í.a, como adaptación de la rima en –ía de los versos pares y eliminó todo rastro del artificio de rimar de dos en dos los impares. También conservó las dos escenas del poema cuatrocentista: la visita de la muerte al enamorado en medio de la noche, interrumpiendo su placentero descanso,y el desesperado y fallido intento del enamorado por entrevistarse con su amada; pero alterando profundamente la concepción de una y otra. Tanto en la escena de la visita intempestiva de la muerte, como en la recuesta de amor, las versiones modernas conservan (consideradas en conjunto) múltiples reminiscencias de versos y expresiones procedentes del poema pseudo-romancístico de Juan del Enzina; pero la Muerte a la cual el Enamorado abraza, creyendo ser la mujer amada, es un personaje tan real como él mismo, y no meramente un estado de conciencia del "Yo" que muere de amor; su congoja es porque se enfrenta, inexorable e imprevistamente, con la última oportunidad de gozar del amor carnal compartido, y desaparece toda huella del debate del poeta con su propia pasión analizada mediante disquisiciones introspectivas.Consecuentemente, la ida en busca de la Amada acaba con la escena dramática, a la vez realista y simbólica, de la frustrada "escalada" del Enamorado utilizando el cordón que amorosamente le proporciona la doncella. Así en los textos sanabreses y catalanes.

En la tradición judeo-española, se substituye el sueño pasional en medio de la noche por un escenario que tiene la misma función contrastante respecto a la inesperada presencia de la Muerte: el de una naturaleza idílica. Ello ocurre también en algunas de las versiones catalanas. El texto sefardí comparte con la tradición peninsular el motivo narrativo del plazo negociado con la Muerte; pero, aunque la ida al encuentro de la Amada se conciba ahora como una "prueba" de confianza en la fidelidad de la que el Amador tiene por amante, el episodio mantiene una mayor similitud en sus versos respecto al romance trovadoresco que el texto peninsular.

En su final, los dos textos, el peninsular y el sefardí de Oriente, son herederos de un segundo poema trovadoresco, que en el Romancero antiguo sólo nos es conocido adosado a una versión de otro de Juan del Enzina ("Por unos puertos arriba") mediante una torpe soldadura. Ese poema trovadoresco, un romance asonantado en –í.a, consistía en la "Pregunta a un ermitaño":

-Dígasme, tú, el ermitaño que hazes la santa vida, el que por amores muere
si tiene el alma perdida
o, por las penas que pasa, si tiene gloria conplida;
dígasmelo, santo ombre,
sácame de esta agonía,
que siete años son pasados que yo hago esta vida, comiendo las carnes crudas

  y bebiendo el agua fría;
mas reniego de los onbres que de las mugeres fían, falsas son y engañosas,
  hechas son a la su guisa:
uno tiene en los braços
  y por el otro suspira.

Aunque, desde el último tercio del siglo XVI hasta nuestros días, los "romances trovadorescos" quedaron arrumbados junto con los gustos de aquella literatura letrada y de su acompañamiento musical, el pueblo cantor siguió repitiéndolos y reelaborándolos para ajustarlos a la estética y a la ética del Romancero "acrónico" incontaminado de las modas literarias de cada generación letrada. Gracias a la capacidad creadora de los múltiples cantores que heredaron el tema, tenemos hoy estos dos poemas dignos de permanente recuerdo.

Y por si acaso alguien se queda con ganas o con dudas de lo que pasa en el páramo, también recomiendo buscar lo relativo al millón de euros de "agujero" en ese Versalles para gente que vá de pobres y vive como ricos, que es el Festival de Almagro. O los cuatro millones de la Fundación Virtus.

¡Y luego la prensa nacional se escandaliza por el editorial "subvencionado" de Cataluña! Por aquí, lo que se dá en portada en radio (Onda 0, por ejem.) es que "las lluvias continúan".

Lo de unos y los otros no es que sea escandaloso. Es aburrido que es mucho peor.

JAVIER RUIBAL: FUGITIVOS DE HAMELÍN

Te voy a contar mi cuento porque yo soy el ratón que se salvó del Titanic en la tabla del jamón.
Con mucha imaginación
y el hueso que me quedaba, del tirón puse un puchero
a base de agua salada.

Me puse a favor del viento que me llevaba pa Caí pa matar el aburrimiento fuí leyendo el New York Times que si baja Wall Street que si crónica social la ratita presumida

no se acaba de casar.

(Estribillo)

Ni santo ni diablo soy ni rico ni pordiosero
para que quiero el trabajo
siendo el rey de mi agujero
Y no me interesa el queso nada
si no viene regalao
no se asuste que así somos
los ratones coloraos.

Fugitivo en Hamelín yo me salvé por la jeta nunca me gustó el flautín
y menos la pandereta fui ratón de biblioteca pero preferí la hambruna porque en la clase de al lado siempre ensayaba la tuna.

Palabra de roedor yo lo he visto que no es un bulo al ratón de ordenador
le entra un cable por el cu...erpo que si no lo deja tuerto se conecta a la memoria yo no sé como es la historia pero yo ratón así ni muerto.

Ni santo ni diablo soy
ni rico ni pordiosero
para que quiero el trabajo
siendo el rey de mi agujero
Y no me interesa el queso nada
si no viene regalao
no se asuste que así somos
los ratones coloraos.

Dios me salve del veneno
y de los laboratorios que no tiren su dinero en pagarme un velatorio yo paso del teleflim paso de la warner broder del joder al gato yin
de malditos roedores.

Al jartible de Martin
y a la boba Susanita les formamos un motin
los ratones mas gaditas

y en Cádiz no hay raton Perez porque acabó en la ruina hay ratitas y placeres
a la vuelta de la esquina.

Ni santo ni diablo soy
ni rico ni pordiosero
para que quiero el trabajo
siendo el rey de mi agujero
Y no me interesa el queso nada
si no viene regalao
no se asuste que así somos
los ratones coloraos.

IN MEMORIAM: TOMÁS HARRIS, ESPÍA, INGLÉS, PERISTA, TRAFICANTE, EXPOLIADOR DE OBRAS DE ARTE, COMPINCHE DE ANTHONY BLUNT Y TUTOR DE JUAN PUJOL, GARBO

"Dedicated to the memory of those from whom the fog cannot yet be lifted, and whose names cannot yet be revealed."

El dinero:la materia oscura en el mundo del espionaje.

Uno lee miles de páginas e informes de los servicios de inteligencia británicos y de sus historiadores y observa pasmado que no se alude al dinero. Siguiendo la tradición inglesa de suponer a la gente de honor "private means" (fortuna personal), se impone un tabú sobre esta cuestión. Hay agentes corruptibles por dinero o lujos occidentales, pero son americanos o rusos. Los expedientes expurgados que se han desclasificado sobre defensores y enemigos de la nación nos llegan sin un informe del Inland Revenue, del HM Customs & Excise, ni del oficial encargado de la investigación. Es más sorprendente aún que concienzudos investigadores de inteligencia no hayan estudiado todos los interrogantes económicos ni reclamado información sobre estos expedientes (que los hubo). Hay casos de auténtica indigencia operativa que convertían a los agentes en personajes de spaghetti spy films (1); hay negocios sucios rayando en la alta traición, hay gastos que doblan los ingresos justificables de los espías, y hay delitos y delicuentes que pertenecieron a los Servicios de Inteligencia Británicos y que fueron amparados y ocultados por su estructura y responsables. Veamos unos ejemplos.

En 1939, Maxwell Knight decide investigar a un matrimonio fotógrafo, los Harlip, porque suponía que eran espías nazis. Envía a su agente Joan Miller para establecer contacto con la pareja, con el pretexto de querer encargarles un booklet. Pero, como Joan sólo dispone de 3 libras para fondos operativos, le cuenta a Gregor Harlip que quiere enviarle una foto a su novio, que está en el frente, pero no tiene bastante dinero. El fotografo espiado se compadece de su espía y le hace más de veinte fotos gratis. Los Harlip, Gregor y Monte Rosa, eran artistas judíos checos, famosos por especializarse en fotografiar a la alta sociedad, que habían huido de Berlin en 1937, donde tenían un attelier. No se descubrió nada contra ellos, pero su expediente (hoy en los National Archives KV 2/923) siguió abierto hasta 1948 y sólo se desclasificó en 2002 (2).

La tacañería de los servicios secretos británicos con sus agentes y funcionarios tuvo sus consecuencias, que a veces fueron muy graves. Olga Grey, otra agente de Knight, infiltrada en el Partido Comunista, y principal testigo en el histórico juicio del Woolwich Arsenal Spy Ring (1937), recibía un salario de 5 chelines a la semana y subsistía con el sueldo de su oficio "tapadera", el de secretaria. El MI5 ha borrado cualquier mención a esta agente, que abandonó el servició con toda discreción (3). Maxwell Knight tuvo que complementar su sueldo montando un bed&breakfast, y escribiendo las peores novelas de espías que se conocen.

Pero el caso más grave por sus consecuencias fue el de Peter Wright. El origen de que este científico y oficial de contrainteligencia protagonizara un escándalo de dimensiones internacionales, que se enfrentaran a cara de perro la justicia británica y la australiana, y que se expusieran al público las vergüenzas de varios organismos de seguridad de Gran Bretaña, fue debido a un incumplimiento por la administración de respetar los derechos de pensión que había adquirido en su anterior empleo al MI5. Peter Wright, cuya única ambición, era montar una granja cuando se jubilara, se encontró con 60 años, y una pensión insuficiente para vivir. El único que percibió el peligro de este cazaespías arruinado fue Victor Rothschild, que intentó desesperadamente defender los derechos laborales de Wright y ayudarle económicamente (4) El MI5 escuchó impertérrito, durante años, las amenazas de Wright y las advertencias de Rothschild, confiado en que Wright estaba amordazado por la Official Secrets Act y que ésta también tendría vigencia en sus antiguas colonias.

Wright publicó, durante los ochenta, Spycatcher, una auténtica bomba contra el sistema británico, no por su contenido, que a veces es bastante errático e incorrecto, sino porque, a partir de ese momento, Gran Bretaña sufre una humillante derrota diplomática en la Commonwealth y el espantajo de la Official Secrets Act, amenaza que había achantado durante decenios a prensa y a funcionarios del estado, empieza a verse como lo que es: una ley de censura igual a la de la peor dictadura. Margaret Thatcher envió como representante al juicio, en el que su gobierno pretendía que Australia prohibiera las memorias de Wright, a un genuino ejemplar de la clase alta británica, estirado, desdeñoso y con expresiones oxbridge, que en Inglaterra imponían respeto, pero que provocaron la carcajada unánime en Sidney. (5)

El siguiente caso, que aún está por cerrar porque no hay gran interés en hacerlo, es el de el negocio de obras de arte falsificadas en el que, por el momento, hay identificados tres nombres: Tomás Harris, Anthony Blunt y Eric Hebborn. El curriculum académico de Anthony Blunt como historiador del arte es impresionante y su influencia en numerosos estudiosos innegable. Su poder en el mercado del arte derivaba de su autoridad intelectual, de los cargos que ocupaba y de la red de personalidades que lo amparaban. Blunt era Catedrático de Historia del Arte en la University of London, director del Courtauld Institute of Art, London (1947-74), y Surveyor of the King's Pictures (1945-72); además aconsejaba a multitud de museos de Europa y América en la adquisición de pinturas. Incluso después de que el gobierno Thatcher hiciese público su delito de espionaje para la Unión Soviética, su figura intelectual continuó siendo inatacable

Tomás Harris tiene una biografía como agente del MI5 circunscrita al caso Garbo. Juan Pujol y Tomás Harris son una simpática pareja de espías: uno el típico español genial y con iniciativas, y el otro el inglés artista y bohemio, que tanto gusta en Andalucia porque les recuerda a los señoritos británicos que los explotaron de forma inmisericorde. Por lo demás Harris parece salido de la nada y los datos sobre sus actividades como agente aún son escasos e incompletos. Algo más documentado está su curriculum como historiador del arte, especializado en pintura española y muy poco su actividad como marchante de arte. Pero, al igual que ocurre con Blunt, todas estas facetas están muy relacionadas.

Tomas Joseph Harris nació en 1908 (6) hijo de Lionel Harris, anticuario, y Enriqueta Rodríguez León. española.

Alrededor de 1880, Lionel Harris y su hermano William trabajan en Sudamérica en negocios textiles.

En 1891 se traslada a España donde comercia con diamantes durante un tiempo.

En 1892 funda una compañía, L. Harrids&Co. con dos sedes, una en Madrid y otra en Londres, dedicadas al negocio de antiguedades, arte y joyas:

> "En 1896, Lionel Harris aún tenía su negocio en Madrid, pero trasladó su negocio en Londres del nº 35 al 23 de Hatton Gardens y abrió otra galería en 127, Regent Street. Lionel había formado sus existencias sacando (7) objetos de plata y otros bienes valiosos de iglesias y monasterios. Montó una exposición de Arte Español en su Galería de New Regent Street donde se exhibieron joyas, alfombras, tapices y jarrones de los siglos XVI y XVII."

En 1900, traslada su negocio de Madrid a Londres y su domicilio está en Lymington Road.

En 1901, instala su galería en 44, Conduit Street.

En 1902 tiene otro negocio en 32, St. Jame´s Street. En 1907 Lionel inauguró la Spanish Art Gallery en 50, Conduit Street con una exposición de Josep Cusachs. Desde 1906 había vendido obras de arte a la Hispanic Society de Nueva York.

En realidad, en estos negocios, hasta 1898, tuvo como socio a Solomon Joseph Messer, tambien marchante de diamantes, joyas y antiguedades, según muestran documentos de la época (8).

Entre 1910 y 1920 vende esculturas, textiles preciosos, alfombras y tapices al Victoria and Albert Museum y es marchante de pintura primitiva española y de obras de El Greco.

Entre 1923 y 1927, Tomás Harris se forma académicamente como pintor y estudioso del arte en la Slade School of Arts y en la British Academy en Roma.

A finales de 1920, con veinte años, Tomás posee una galería, primero en Sackville Street, después en 29,Bruton Street; es socio de la Spanish Art Gallery (50, Conduit Street), la Kent Road Gallery (44, Conduit Street)(9) y funda la Tomas Harris Ltd (29, Bruton Street).

El 9 de junio de 1931, organiza su primera exposición de pintura española ,titulada "Old Masters by Spanish Artists (Velázquez, Ribera, Zurbarán y Goya)", en la Galeria de la Tomas Harris Ltd. Asiste el embajador de España en Londres(10). Desconocemos qué obras se expusieron, de dónde salieron y qué autoridades dieron los permisos para que salieran de España.

En 1938, organiza otra exposición "From Greco to Goya", organizada por la Tomas Harris Ltd. y la Spanish Art Gallery, a beneficio de la Cruz Roja Inglesa (Fondo Español). Esta exposición cuenta con el beneplácito del gobierno de la República y a ella asiste el Director General de Bellas Artes en representación oficial (11)

No sabemos en qué momento entra a trabajar para los servicios secretos ni cuándo finalizó, si es que lo hizo. Las fechas 1940 y 1945 son las que se dicen por norma para cualquier agente de la época, porque el período de guerra es el único que no pueden negar.(12)

En 1943, mientras "dirigía" la operación Garbo, muere Lionel, su padre, y Tomás se hace cargo de la Spanish Art Gallery y hereda 6, Chesterfield Gardens. Chesterfield Gardens se convierte en un lugar de encuentro de agentes del MI5 y MI6, que son agasajados espléndidamente por el matrimonio Harris. El grupo de agentes se llamaba The Outfit (El Equipo) (13) y lo encabezaba el Director del MI6, Iberian Section, Dick Brooman-White, jefe de Harris.

Según Philby, conoció a Harris en el centro de entrenamiento de agentes del SOE, en Brickendonbury:

> "Sin embargo, nuestra figura más destacada era, indudablemente, Tommy Harris, un marchante de gran prestigio. Se le había enrolado, por recomendación de Guy, como una especie de casero, en gran parte porque el y su mujer eran unos magníficos cocineros. Él era el único de nosotros que había establecido alguna relación personal con nuestros alumnos. Era un trabajo que no era digno de una mente sin educar, pero de un intuición brillante. El MI5 lo enganchó enseguida y allí ideó y dirigió una de las más operaciones de inteligencia más inventiva de todos los tiempos. Aquellos días de Brickendonbury de un insoportable tedio y grisura, en lo que a mí concernía, sólo fueron iluminados por el comienzo mi gran y valorada amistad con Tommy Harris" (My Silent War, pp.49-50)

Philby cuenta (14) que fue Harris quien lo recomendó a Brooman-White para que se encargue de la Sección del MI6 en España; pero, como en lo anterior, no hay confirmación independiente de otra fuente. Harris frecuentaba los mismos círculos académicos que Blunt y tenía una relación constante con España (15). Philby visita España dos veces antes de que estalle la Guerra Civil (cosa que nunca dice) (16). Por otro lado, hay una contradicción evidente entre la descripción de Harris como un aprendiz de agente y Harris con la suficiente influencia como para recomendar a Philby, todo ello en un período muy breve de tiempo. Philby nunca llegó a explicar satisfactoriamente por qué gozó, a lo largo de su vida, de la protección de un conservador como Brooman White, incluso cuando su papel de agente soviético era innegable. Tampoco menciona, pero sí lo hace su editor(17), que Harris pagó la educación de alguno de sus hijos. ¿Fue un acto de generosidad de Harris o éste actuaba como intermediario?

También sabemos por Philby que Tomás Harris fue interrogador en Camp 020.

Como hemos visto, la nueva documentación ha revelado que Camp 020 (o Ham Common, como era llamada por el Servicio Secreto) no era un escenario teatral para asustar espías, como pretende hacernos creer Philby, sino un centro de torturas no declarado a la Cruz Roja Internacional:

> "A las pocas semanas, se decidió acabar con la comedia. Simoes fue detenido. Así es que, para no dejar nada al azar se le llevo al "duro" centro de interrogatorios de Ham Common, donde se le dejó a Tommy Harris que lo ablandara. Harris era incapaz de ser "duro" con nadie , pero lo hizo lo mejor que pudo. Le dijo a Simoes que estaba en una cárcel del Servicio Secreto británico; que no estaba protegido por la ley; que su Consulado desconocía su paradero y nunca lo sabría; que, si se le permitía vivir, estaría allí encerrado de por vida; que nadie iba a saber nunca si se moría de hambre, si le dábamos palizas o lo matábamos. Su única esperanza era confesar que espiaba para los alemanes. Eso y todo lo que se le ocurrió a la desbordante imaginación de Harris" (18)

En 1946, Harris aún trabaja para el MI5 y se piensa en encargarle que vaya a la Haya para vigilar los contactos con el MI6 de un artista y espía comunista, Henri Pieck (19)

En 1951, en los informes que Anthony Blunt elabora para el NKVD, advierte que Tomás Harris, que en ese momento trabaja para el SIS (MI6), planea usar a su antiguo agente Garbo para penetrar en los servicios secretos de Alemania del Este (20)

Por tanto, Tomas Harris, es agente de los servicios secretos britanicos. Su actividad se documenta, por ahora, hasta 1951. No es comunista ni criptocomunista, sino que participa en la caza de ellos que se organiza desde la guerra fría. El origen de su amistad con Burgess, Philby o Blunt hay que buscarlas en otro sitio. Con Anthony Blunt mantiene las relaciones de dos socios pringados en el turbio mercado de la falsificación de arte y del tráfico con arte de dudosa procedencia. Traduzco un artículo de una periodista de investigación, Isabel Vincent, silenciada por todos los "historiadores" del espionaje británico y del círculo de Cambridge. El artículo, hoy desaparecido, fue publicado en el National Post de Canada el 14 de diciembre de 2000.

> "Topo de los soviéticos desviaba arte a la National Gallery
> Los conservadores estudian si las pinturas procedían del expolio durante la guerra"
>
> La National Gallery of Canada ha declarado que investigarála procedencia de algunas de sus adquisiciones más importantes después de la Segunda Guerra Mundial, después de que el National Post descubriera que habían sido compradas porque así lo había aconsejado un experto británico en arte, desenmascarado más tarde como espía soviético.
>
> Anthony Blunt, también conocido como el Cuarto Hombre de un círculo de espías, procedentes de la clase alta británica, que trabajaron para la Unión Soviética durante la Guerra Fría, recibió unos honorarios del museo de al menos 1000$ al año, por asesorarles en la adquisición de obras europeas después de la segunda guerra mundial.
>
> Blunt dirigía una red de colegas espías que actuaban como marchantes de arte en Europa para adquirir algunas de sus obras para la National Gallery. Al menos uno de sus contactos es sospechoso de haber traficado con arte saqueado por los soviéticos de la zona republicana durante la Guerra Civil (1936-1939)

Además de experto en arte español, Harris fue agente del MI6,(...)y algunos historiadores sospechan que espió para los soviéticos.

Harris vendió a la National Gallery diversas obras, unas veces con la colaboración de Blunt y otras sin ella. Hizo varios viajes a España durante la guerra Civil y, supuestamente, se benefició del arte expoliado por los soviéticos. Las obras de arte se robaron de monasterios, museos y galerías y fue vendido a una red de archantes de Londres, Bruselas y París. Los beneficios fueron al ejército soviético para financiar su ayuda a los republicanos españoles.

A pesar de los cuestionables contactos de Blunt y de su propia historia como traidor, revelada en 1979 por la Primer Ministro británica Margaret Thatcher, la National Gallery no había incluido ninguna de las obras que había comprado por su mediación en la lista de las 106 pinturas con lagunas en su procedencia- esto es de su propiedad- desde la decada de los 30 a la de los 40.

La National Gallery va a hacer pública el 29 de Diciembre esta lista para saber si algun cuadro fue expoliado por los nazis a los judíos de los países ocupados por el Tercer Reich. La publicación es una respuesta al rumor de que galerías de todo el mundo podrían haberse beneficiado del arte robado por los nazis y vendido, a través de intermediarios en París, Londres, Bruselas y Amsterdam, durante e inmediatamente después de la Segunda Guerra Mundial.

Aunque instituciones nacionales de todo el mundo están investigando la procedencia de obras adquiridas durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial, hasta el momento no se ha hecho nada para rastrear dónde se halla el arte expoliado de España entre 1936 y 1939.

Algo que debemos recordar es que la National Gallery publicó catálogos completos de sus colecciones en los 50 y, de nuevo, en los 80, ha dicho Pierre Théberge, director de la National Gallery en Ottawa. Añadió que el museo investigaría si había lagunas en la propiedad de las obras adquiridas por Blunt.

"Cualquiera que esté interesado en estas pinturas tendrá acceso a esta información. Somos uno de lospocos museos en el mundo que va a hacer pública su colección entera" dijo Théberg.

Durante la época en que la National Gallery hizo sus adquisiciones más importantes en Europa, las pinturas robadas por los nazis y por los soviéticos en España, fueron vendidas por docenas de marchantes en Europa,que pusieron en el mercado un alijo de las más grandes obras maestras a precios astronómicos.

En 1937, en plena Guerra Civil Española, Harris vendió a la National Gallery un cuadro de un pintor español, Jusepe Leonardo, titulado San Juan Bautista. Según los registros de la National Gallery, la pintura estaba en una colección privada en Inglaterra,cuyo nombre no consta, antes de ser adquirida por Harris. Antes de esto hay una laguna de más de 40 años. Los registros de propiedad más antiguos del museo muestran que el San Juan Bautista estaba en posesión del Conde Pedro Daupias en Lisboa,a principios de siglo.

"Por lo que sabemos, el cuadro estaba en Inglaterra desde 1892 y eso es lo único que sabemos seguro sobre su procedencia" dijo Théberge.

Por consejo de Blunt, la National Gallery compró Augustus y Cleopatra en 1953. Por aquel entonces el cuadro se le atribuía al pintor francés Nicolas Poussin. Blunt, un experto en Poussin de fama mundial,ayudó a que el museo adquiriera la pintura por 500 libras en la Spanish Art Gallery de Harris, en Londres. La procedencia, bastante inprecisa, de la obra indica que Harris la adquirió en 1938; antes había estado en una colección privada en Gran Bretaña cuyo nombre no consta.

Blunt también aconsejó a la National Gallery para que comprara Abraham y los tres ángeles, obra del artista español del siglo XVII, Bartolomé Esteban Murillo.Aunque esta pintura no fue adquirida a través de Harris en Londres, también tiene una procedencia dudosa. El cuadro, encargado para adornar un hospital en la ciudad natal de Murillo, Sevilla,fue robado por las tropas napoleónicas durante sus saqueos en Europa.

Blunt también aconsejó a la National Gallery en la compra del Mercurio y Argos de J.M.W. Turner, en 1951 y, en 1949, de la Lamentación del pintor flamenco Quinten Matsys.Ninguna de estas obras parece que tenga procedencia dudosa ni fueron adquiridas a través de la galería de Harris en Londres".

Que yo sepa, Isabel Vincent es la primera persona en descubrir el nexo real que une a Blunt con Harris. A partir de sus artículos, la catarata de trapicheos, falsificaciones y negocios oscuros que ha desatado la revisión de los negocios de Harris y Blunt ha sido continua (21). Las denuncias de Isabel Vincent venían a sumarse a las declaraciones hechas años antes por el falsificador de pintura Eric Hebborn, amigo de Blunt y de su pareja y heredero John Gaskin, que ponian en evidencia que Blunt era conocedor de las falsificaciones. Hebborn murió asesinado en Roma en 1996, y aún se está investigando el alcance del engaño y a través de qué galerías llegaron las falsificaciones a los museos de medio mundo (22)

El dossier adjunto puede dar una idea de la "the most rigid integrity" que, según Blunt, adornaba la persona de su amigo Tommy Harris (y la del panegirista, añado yo). El dossier, cuyo origen fue comprobar rumores y noticias dispersas para una nota a pie de página, no es, ni mucho menos completo, pero basta para apuntar:

—Que los Harris traficaron con obras de arte de España y de Europa sin escrúpulo alguno respecto a su procedencia. La evidencia que presento es abrumadora.

—Que, en España, no se limitó al período de la Guerra Civil, sino que empezó desde que Lionel Harris instaló su negocio en España hasta los años 60.

—Quedan comprobadas las relaciones "comerciales" entre Blunt y Harris. Harris ponía en el mercado obras (unas veces falsificadas, otras de procedencia dudosa). Blunt se encargaba de avalarlas y de que fueran compradas por museos e instituciones de todo el mundo.

—Los dos eran hombres cultos, de clase alta, pertenecientes a los servicios de inteligencia británicos, con información privilegiada sobre el expolio nazi y todos los pasos policiales y legales que se daban para localizar arte robado. Harris tuvo base permanente en España. Antes, durante y después de la guerra civil tuvo trato de privilegio por parte de las las autoridades, primero republicanas y, después, franquistas. En España hizo exposiciones, siguió mercadeando y su casa en Mallorca fue centro de múltiples reuniones, que, sorprendentemente, no despertaron interés en la policía de la dictadura.

— Harris no sólo participó en turbios negocios con nuestro arte, sino que jamás denunció el tráfico de obras procedentes del expolio nazi, que se daba en nuestro país. Esto puede explicar que ningún judío lo reivindique como correligionario digno de ser recordado.

—Considerando lo anterior, a la ingente tarea que están llevando a cabo muchos museos de revisar todas y cada una de las transacciones donde intervinieron Harris o Blunt, habría que añadir:

—Investigar la procedencia de los grabados de Goya que forman la colección Tomás Harris, hoy en el British Museum, una de las mejores del mundo.

—Estudiar paradero y avatares de de la famosa tirada de grabados de Goya del 37, de las que se desconoce el paradero de muchos ejemplares.

—Volver a las hemerotecas y cruzar la información sobre robos de arte en España con subastas, exposiciones y adquisiones de galerías como las de los Harris, Christie´s o Sotheby's (23)

—Reclamar que se hagan públicos los archivos de las distintas sociedades y galerías que tuvo la familia Harris.

En resumen: las relaciones entre Blunt y Harris no las explica ninguna afinidad ideológica, sino que se basan en una comunidad de intereses económicos. Y los dos podían ser extorsionados por cualquier servicio de inteligencia conocedor de sus trapicheos. En el caso de Blunt, aún no sabemos en qué medida afectó a la colección de Arte de la Casa Real Británica (adquisiciones y ventas) ni el montante total que habría supuesto compensar a los damnificados del expolio pre-nazi, nazi y post-nazi (24)

NOTAS

1 Hasta hoy sigue siendo un misterio qué estaba haciendo el Brigadier Dudley Clarke, creador del famoso British Army's Commando Regiment, en plena guerra mundial, paseándose por las calles de Madrid disfrazado de mujer. Traduzco el estupor del Director del MI5(b) (contrainteligencia) al enterarse del incidente:

> "Se me ha olvidado mencionar que Dudley-Clarke fue liberado hace tres semanas. Las circunstancias de su liberación fueron, como poco, peculiares. (Cuando lo detuvieron) iba vestido de mujer, completamente, con sujetador, etc., etc. Nadie sabe por qué llevaba ese disfraz. Dudley Clarke viene de camino ya. Nadie entiende qué necesidad tenía de ir a España. Antes de que se le permita volver a Oriente Medio, tendrá que dar explicaciones satisfactorias. A lo mejor sólo es que le gusta creerse un super agente del servicio secreto. (Diarios de Guy Liddell, 11 noviembre de 1941)

> "A Dudley Clarke lo embarcaron para Inglaterra desde Gibraltar, pero su barco fue torpedeado, así es que se le devolvió a Gibraltar y se le envió a Oriente Medio para enfrentarse a medidas disciplinarias. Hay unas fotos muy interesantes de él con ropas de mujer, que hemos obtenido de la policia española" (Diarios de Guy Liddell, 12 diciembre de 1941)

El valiente brigadier (180 cmsx85 kgs y 42 años) tuvo que dejar huella indeleble en la policia de moral y buenas costumbres franquista.

(3) Vid. las referencias del MI5 a este caso. Para conocer la historia de Olga Gray (codename M12) en el MI5 puede verse:

No hay que perderse los interrogantes de alto vuelo teórico de D. Turner sobre Olga Grey y el patinazo del Partido Comunista:

> "Me he quedado intrigado por la referencia a Olga Gray (la agente del MI5) acostándose con Glading. A juzgar por su foto, Glading no era ninguna belleza, así que debe haber sido un gran sacrificio por el Rey y por la Patria. La viuda de Glading, Rosa (su segunda mujer) todavía vive, pero cuando contacté con ella en Agosto se negó a hablarme del caso del Arsenal de Woolwich: los aspectos sexuales de esta historia supongo que explican su reluctancia a hablar de ella"

(4) Victor Rothschild ofreció a Peter Wright un puesto como asesor de seguridad en NMR&Sons y le prestó 5.000 libras para montar la granja en Australia. (Rose, 245). No fue una táctica muy inteligente, porque Wright olfateó el miedo en tanta generosidad.

(5) Thatcher envió a Sir Robert Armstrong, Cabinet Secretary y no al Fiscal General para señalar que el asuntó y el país no merecían que se enviara una figura de primera línea. El antagonismo que despertaron la prepotencia de Thatcher y la soberbia estulticie de Armstrong aunaron al juez Philip Powell con Malcolm Turnbull , el abogado de Wright, que, por aquellos años era un joven inteligente, sarcástico y con una ambición ilimitada. Noticias de la época:
- El joven abogado que sacudió Whitehall en el caso del espía
- El abogado de Wright pone en evidencia al gobierno británico

(6) La familia Harris: Hace pocos años, una pariente de los Harris, Anita Harris,empezó su árbol genealógico y descubrió a sus "famosos" parientes. Desde entonces, ha abierto varias webs donde publica toda la información que le llega sobre la familia Harris. A pesar del tono idealizado de su autora, conviene consultarlas porque es donde se hallan los esquemas familiares más completos de la familia de Tomás: a) http://tomasharris.com/ y b) http://anitaharrisfamily.co.uk/
Por lo demás, son unas páginas muy interesantes y bien diseñadas.

(7) El textoque traduzco es de Anita Harris:

> By 1896 Lionel Harris still had his business in Madrid, but moved his London business from 35 to 23 Hatton Gardensand opened another gallery at 127 Regent Street. Lionel had built up stock by extracting silver articles and other valuables from ecclesiastical and monastic sources in Spain. He exhibited his stock in a Spanish Art Exhibition at his New Regent Street Gallery, showing 16th/17th century embroideries, jewellery, rugs, and vases. (cursiva y negritas mías).

Teniendo en cuenta lo que a continuación expondremos sobre los Harris y la Spanish Art Gallery , la traducción de este término ha resultado peliaguda. No creo que Anita Harris haya querido que tuviera las connotaciones siniestras que el Webster le confiere y los adjetivos que yo me resisto a poner por escrito.

(11) Un ditirambo delirante de la Agencia Febus (republicana), que ya auguraba el tono campanudo del NO-DO franquista:

El director general de Bellas Artes, que ha regresado de Londres, donde se ha celebrado una Exposiciónde trabajos y grabados de Goya,ha manifestado que en su breve estancia en Inglaterra ha podido apreciar el interés con que los ingleses miran la marcha de nuestra guerra y la simpatía del pueblo británico por nuestra lucha.Algunos pintores y escritores ingleses no sólo se dedican a elogiar las obras de Goya, sino que también tienen palabras conmovidas para las vicisitudes de nuestro pueblo.—Estoy muy satisfecho—-añadió—del resultado de mi viaje, pues se han puesto los primeros jalones con la celebración de una, Exposición de arte moderno en Londres. El Director General de Bellas Artes era Josep Renau Berenguer.

(12) Otros hermanos de Tomás también trabajaron para el Servicio Secreto: Enriqueta para el MOI (Ministry of Information), Violeta para el MI5b. También colaboraba, según se infiere de los Diarios de Liddell y de los recuerdos de Kim Philby, la mujer de Tomás, Hilda:

> The plan to bring Mrs G to reason seems to be going fairly well. She rang up Haines and Tommy Harris in a frightful state. Haines went and found the room full of gas. This was clearly a bit of play-acting for his benefit. He did however think there was a % chance of her doing something foolish, so Mrs Harris was asked to go and calm her down during the night. (Liddell, 23 junio 1943)

(18) De este caso también habla Guy Liddell, el 1 de agosto de 1942. La descripción de Camp 020 como cárcel clandestina se ha incorporado ya a la versión oficial, que había negado rotundamente:

> *The War Establishment Table of Ham Common Refugee Camp (No. 020) may be found in WO 24/939. (23) Subastado en Sotheby´s el tríptico de Ambrosius Benson robado en Nájera en 1913. Noticias como ésta son constantes. En este caso, el ministerio de César Antonio Molina, decidió no iniciar acciones legales para su recuperación ni gastarse el millón y medio de euros para devolverla a Nájera.

Una anécdota reveladora de la ingente cantidad de casos y de la necesidad de relacionar y cruzar distintas fuentes, me ocurrió buscando qué había pasado con las tablas del Maestro de Torralba. Además de salir Tomás Harris en los tratos, apareció un erudito del arte e hispanista, Eric Young, que había vendido al Museo Bowes otro panel del Maestro de Torralba. El Museo Bowes ha incluido la tabla en su lista de "obras de dudosa procedencia". Parece evidente la necesidad de acompañar esta lista con otra de "Marchantes y académicos de dudosa honradez" o "Peristas de postín" si optamos por la jerga castiza.

- Bowes Museum: Spoliation Report
Desde hace más de cuarenta años ha habido denuncias contra el expolio de arte en España, pero nunca han sido apoyadas ni por gobiernos ni por organismos académicos. En el dossier sobre expolio intento recoger el mayor número posible de estas denuncias. Hay algún ilustre académico que ha hecho del asunto del expolio tema de investigación, pero, como mantiene sus descubrimientos restringidos al selecto club de los académicos y sólo recurre a internet como tienda de venta de sus libros y artículos, lo dejaré en el olvido

(24) España también tiene sus problemas por irregularidades gravísimas al adquirir arte. El caso del cuadro de Pissarro que se exhibe en el Museo Thyssen no va a ser la única sorpresa. La respuesta del gobierno español a las reclamaciones de sus legítimos dueños ha sido miserable y vergonzante: El cuadro de la pobre judía que acabó en Madrid y Spain will have to answer Nazi art theft lawsuit

DOSSIER EXPOLIO

Es incalculable el número de obras de arte que fueron expoliadas en los siglos XIX y XX.

Los nazis registraron minuciosamente sus robos, pero Francia y Gran Bretaña optaron por el saqueo sin control del arte que encontraban a su paso. El botín, en el mejor de los casos, pasaba a otros museos, y en el peor era destruido sin escrúpulo alguno. Lo que el imperio británico arrasó en Oriente Medio multiplica por mil a lo que conservó (expoliado y en sus museos).

España sufrió, durante más de dos siglos, oleadas de estos crímenes, primero por las tropas napoleónicas, después por sus autoridades civiles y eclesiásticas que vendieron patrimonio nacional para lucro propio y, por último, durante la guerra civil. La encomiable hazaña de la protección del Tesoro Nacional y de su traslado a Ginebra durante la contienda no nos debe hacer olvidar que republicanos y sublevados robaron y traficaron con el patrimonio artístico como norma de conducta y jalearon la destrucción de toda obra cultural que pudiera relacionarse, por la más peregrina razón, con el enemigo. Durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial, España colaboró activamente con el gobierno de Hitler en el tráfico de obras de arte robadas a los judíos y, al final de la guerra, en su evasión.

En los Archivos Nacionales de Estados Unidos se ha desclasificado toda esa documentación, procedente de los servicios de inteligencia americanos e ingleses que operaban en España en 1939-1945. Allí están los nombres y apellidos de marchantes, anticuarios, adeptos al régimen , españoles y falsos huidos de la Alemania nazi que hicieron fortuna con arte robado por los nazis. Es una "fosa"de nuestra historia que nadie parece interesado en desenterrar, ni siquiera para enriquecer el programa cultural de las asociaciones de amistad hispano-judías, que andan un tanto encanadas en la lírica popular y el cuchifrito kosher.

Francisco de Zurbarán, Spanish, 1598–1664 207.0 x 106.7 cm (81 1/2 x 42 in.)
Oil on canvas
Object is currently not on view
Zurbarán was renowned as a painter of large-scale religious images, greatly in demand for churches and monasteries throughout Spain and the New World. Zurbarán's colors are restrained and his compositions rigorously simple; this austerity, combined with precise detail and strong, theatrical lighting, gives his sacred figures an intense, almost mystical presence. This image may, in fact, represent a vision reportedly seen by Pope Nicholas V two hundred years after Saint Francis's death in 1226: the undecayed body of the saint standing in his burial crypt as though living.
Museum of Fine Arts, Boston Herbert James Pratt Fund, 1938
Accession number: 38.1617

Provenance/Ownership History: Please note: The history of ownership is not definitive or comprehensive, as it is under constant review and revision by MFA curators and researchers.

1823, acquired in Madrid by William à Court (b. 1779 - d. 1860), 1st Baron Heytesbury, Heytesbury House, Wiltshire [see note 1]; by descent within the family to Margaret Anna (d. 1920), Lady Heytesbury; April 27, 1926, Lady Heytesbury estate sale, Hampton and Sons, Heytesbury, lot 1358, sold for £21. 1931, with Tomás Harris, Ltd., London [see note 2]. By 1935, Julius Böhler, Böhler and Steinmeyer, Lucerne [see note 3]; 1938, sold by Böhler and Steinmeyer to the MFA for 02.50. (Accession Date: November 10, 1938)

NOTES:
[1] See Martin S. Soria, The Paintings of Zurbarán: Complete Edition (London: Phaidon, 1953), p. 179, cat. no. 184. William à Court was ambassador to Spain from 1822 to 1824.

[2] The MFA painting was exhibited at Tomás Harris, Ltd., London, in 1931 ("Old Masters by Spanish Artists," June 1931), though whether Harris owned it, or it was on loan from Böhler (see below, n. 3), has not been determined.

[3] Julius Böhler lent the painting to the exhibition "Alte und neue spanische Kunst" (Kunstverein, Hamburg, August-September, 1935), cat. no. 27. When asked about its provenance, Fritz Steinmeyer wrote (letter to the MFA;

November 25, 1938) that the firm had bought it in 1927 from an English dealer, who had acquired it from a French private collection. Two other paintings by Zurbarán, also included in the Heytesbury sale of 1926, are documented as being owned by Böhler in 1927. However, because the MFA painting is not known ever to have been in a French collection, Steinmeyer's information is, at least in part, erroneous. According to Juan Antonio Gaya Nuño, La Pintura Española fuera de España (Madrid, 1958), p. 344, cat. no. 3107, the MFA painting was purchased at the Heytesbury sale in 1926 by Tomás Harris, who sold it in 1931 to Böhler and Steinmeyer. This has not been substantiated, however, and the painting's provenance between 1926 and 1935 remains unclarified.

Esta magnífica pieza perteneció a Lionel Harris, siendo adquirida por D. José Lázaro Galdiano en París. Estuvo en la colección Plandiura de Barcelona y en la Spanish Art Gallery de Londres. Erróneamente COTT la sitúa en el Museo de Arte de Barcelona, porque seguramente la encontró en un inventario de Plandiura que, como es sabido, legó casi toda su colección al Museo de Arte de Cataluña. FERRANDIS (1940) lo sitúa correctamente en la colección Lázaro, de París, aunque duplica su referencia (nº 32 y nº 149) al no detectar que habia pertenecido anteriormente a Michel Boy, por quien fue vendida en 1905 (nº 297 del Catálogo G.Petit, con atribución "oriental siglo XV").
En el interior muestra varios sellos de las Aduanas francesas y una etiqueta correspondiente a la Exposición de arte musulmán de Munich, en 1910, donde figuró con el nº 8, siendo entonces su expositor la Spanish Art Gallery de Londres.

"El retablo desapareció, pues, antes de 1845. Desconocemos las manos por las que pudo pasar hasta nuestro siglo. Los datos conocidos por el Art Museum de Cincinnatti (Ohio, USA) son que en 1915 estaba en la Spanish Art Gallery de Harris en Londres, lo poseía French and Co. de Nueva York en 1935, fue vendido al americano Charles Deering, industrial y aficcionado al arte quien lo instaló en su palacio de Maricel (Tarragona) hasta que se fuera en 1921. Deering lo revendió de nuevo a French and Co. y en 1953 fue adquirido definitivamente por el Museo.
En 1935 se había exhibido en el Brooklyn Museum de Nueva York. Max J. Friedlander lo cita dentro de los 14 volúmenes de su "Early Netherlandish Painting" editados inicialmente en 1935. Friedlander no proporciona foto alguna pero describe exactamente el retablo con el número 173 del catálogo de Jan Sanders van Hemessen "an altarpiece with many panels, in the centre Christ on the Cross" and Saint Jerome" pero no indica más datos acerca de su origen (salvo expuesto en Art Market, Londres, Th. Harris) o paradero ("desconocido" en su opinión)."

Retablo aragonés propiedad (?) de la Hispanish Art Gallery y descrito por Tancred Borenius, "An early Spanish Retablo", The Burlington Magazine for Connoisseurs, Volume XLI Number CCXXXII CCXXXVII . July December, 1922
COMPLETE quattrocento retablos are rarely seen outside Spain. The one here reproduced by kind permission of Mr. Lionel Harris The present altarpiece, which originally was in a church at the little town of Barbastro, an episcopal see in "Eastern Aragon, displays clearly enough in a general way its affinity to the work of the Catalan school of the end of the quattrocento. The nearest parallel to which I can point is, perhaps, Jaime Huguet's Retablo de Santa Julita in San Quirse de Tarrassa ' ; but the painter of Mr. Harris's polyptych has individual characteristics of style, among which may be mentioned the application of colours in flat washes, a positive note of vermilion being frequently echoed in the scheme of colour. 0f early Spanish Church furniture(...) [Plate], is a typical and well- preserved example of this characteristic class

La Nao de Mataró, que procedía de la ermita de San Simón, situada cerca de Mataró.

"Es uno de los más antiguos del mundo y reproduce una nave mercante mediterránea de la baja Edad Media. En referencia a su origen más probable, se le denomina modelo de Mataró. Aparentemente fue fabricado en el siglo XV, aunque durante mucho tiempo se ha ignorado su antigüedad exacta.
No obstante, la madera de la quilla se ha analizado recientemente mediante carbono 14 y se ha establecido que el modelo fue fabricado entre 1456 y 1482."
No se conoce con exactitud dónde estuvo el modelo antes de su desaparición de España. Existen dos teorías al respecto. Según una de ellas fue puesto en venta por un anticuario barcelonés llamado Calavar.5 Según la otra, pasó a manos de una acaudalada familia española.6
Lo más probable es que el anticuario londinense Lionel Harris adquiriera el modelo en España alrededor de 1920. Harris era propietario de un negocio de antigüedades especializado llamado "The Spanish Art Gallery". Al parecer, no pudo encontrarle un comprador en Londres y en 1927 se lo cedió en depósito a Julius Böhler, un anticuario de Munich."

Su texto está lleno de vaguedades e imprecisiones. Llevo años estudiando la vida y la obra de Tomás Harris y debo rogarle que, antes de hacer acusaciones tan graves, se documente un poco mejor. Si tiene la ambabilidad de escribirme, podemos discutirlo.

Muchas gracias.

Sr. Andreu Jaume: estaremos encantados de leer la biografía que usted dice estar escribiendo como fuente inagotable de datos y precisiones.

Y como sería una pena que quedara sólo para nuestros ojos a través del correo electrónico, ponemos a su disposición esta bitácora para que nos puntualice cuanto quiera sobre las causas por las que Tomás Harris comercia -sin poder justificar su origen- con los cuadros que se detallan en el "Dossier" adjunto al artículo de Eliah Meyer.

Saludos cordiales

[GREENPEACE ESPAÑA BAJO BANDERA DE CONVENIENCIA]

He sido miembro y activista de Greenpeace España durante diez años. Las razones que me han llevado a borrarme de esta organización son las siguientes:
En los últimos años, Greenpeace España no ha aportado ni un solo informe científico, ni técnico, ni medianamente trabajado, ni mínimamente cotejado con bibliografía sobre ninguno de los problemas medioambientales de este país. Como ejemplo puede verse la gansada de ignorancia, firmada por Doña Patricia Bermejo, que constituye el documento [Residuos radioactivos de alta actividad] y que está incluido en la sección "Informes" de la página web de la organización.
El texto, mal redactado, mal estructurado, mal escrito, sin argumentos racionales, ni científicos, ni económicos, es un insulto a la inteligencia de miles de ecologistas que están trabajando y luchando contra organismos y empresas que sí se molestan en argumentar sus posiciones por más dañinas o perjudiciales que sean. Como éste es el resto de los informes y comunicados sobre cualquier problema medioambiental.
Mientras existan amenazas como la contaminación de aguas por vertidos, la implantación de cementerios y centrales nucleares, la extinción de bosques y especies, la detención de uno o cien activistas es una anécdota contra la que hay que protestar, pero sin perder el tiempo. Lo demás es culto al lider. Porque don [Juan López de Uralde] donde tiene que estar no es manifestándose en una cena de gala de los reyes de Dinamarca, sino tomando muestras del pantano de Flix o recopilando información sobre los negocios mafiosos con los residuos tóxicos y nucleares.
Y mientras que [Roberto Saviano] anda en la mira de la cosa nostra, -esa multinacional dedicada reciclaje de residuos tóxicos y radioactivos que campa por sus respetos en nuestro país-, Greenpeace España aún no ha elevado la más mínima protesta. ni secundado su labor de denuncia. A lo mejor es que tampoco saben quién es. La ignorancia y la incompetencia son las formas más eficaces de colaboracionismo.

 Banderas de conveniencia de tierra firme ***

Han sido tristemente conocidos en prensa los pabellones de conveniencia de algunos barcos …. : http://es.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pabell%C3%B3n_de_conveniencia

Pues bien, comento algo relacionado, también real, pero de tierra adentro:

Estadio de fútbol, con bares alrededor. Éstos son discretos y cormalmente tienen una cantidad “normal” o moderada de clientes.

Hoy toca partido del equipo de primera que usa el estadio: buena parte de esos locales se anima y muestra en su exterior la bandera del susodicho equipo de ricos futbolistas, como reclamo para los miles de personas que circulan alrededor del campo de fútbol. Mañana no hay bandera que mostrar ni dinero extra que recaudar. Y así cada dos semanas aproximadamente durante la Liga.

Hoy, en cambio, excepcionalmente juega la selección regional de fútbol de la zona. Pues ahí están los citados bares con sus banderas autonómicas ….

Y, cosas que a veces pasan, hoy, sin embargo, el estadio lo usa un cercano e importante equipo de rugby que tiene un importante partido de nivel europeo … ¡Qué importa! Aunque el equipo no es de la ciudad ni de la provincia, no faltan las correspondientes banderas.

¿Se podría decir que la Locura Globalizante esclava del dinero tiene a convertir, al menos a ciertas personas o negocios, en (prosti)putos? ¡¿Todo por la pasta?! Por el interés te quiero, Inés/Andrés. Poderoso caballero es Don Dinero … versión siglo XXI en Occidente …

[OTRO MILAGRO DE SAN JOSEMARÍA: EL PRODIGIOSO CASO DEL COLEGIO DE MÉDICOS DE MADRID Y LOS TÍTULOS DEL DOCTOR ENRIQUE ROJAS MONTES]

Una de dos: o es un milagro de San Josemaría, santo subito del Opus Dei,. o la maquinación de sus acólitos en el Notariado, en el Rectorado de la Universidad correspondiente, en el Consejo General del Colegios Médicos de España, en el Colegio de Médicos de Madrid, y en el Ministerio de Educación.

Lo normal es que un licenciado en Medicina, con el tiempo y una caña, y algunos años suplementarios de estudios oficiales, consiga una especialidad o dos o tres; y que después de haber presentado el "Título de Licenciado en Medicina original, oficialmente expedido o reconocido por el Ministerio de Educación, Política Social y Deporte, o testimonio notarial realizado en España." También es normal que "Si posee título Especialista deberá presentar título original o testimonio notarial realizado en España. Si éste no estuviera expedido, hay que aportar carta de pago y nombramiento oficial del Ministerio de Educación, Política Social y Deporte. Cuando sea facilitado dicho título, deberá ser presentado al Colegio para su obligatorio registro."

Lo que es extraordinario, y digno de una hagiografía de San Josemaría es la evolución a la inversa, y que un "r*econocido y prestigioso psiquiatra*" (en los Tribunales, es un crack para incapacitar legalmente a alguien), al cabo del tiempo resulta que es licenciado en Medicina General.

Y eso habría que comprobarlo, visto lo visto, porque no parecen muy de fiar los que inscribieron al colegiado nº 282824864, Dr. Enrique Rojas Montes, (con diferentes números de Documento Nacional de Identidad, otro milagro) como especialista en psiquiatría, y al cabo de veinticinco años de forrarse como psiquiatra, resulta que ahora certifican que sólo es licenciado en Medicina general, y no les consta ninguna especialidad.

Aquí tienen escalonados los certificados referidos a don Enrique Rojas Montes, expedidos a petición de uno de los ciudadanos que no quisieron trasvasarle unos cuantos millones de su cuenta bancaria, y se vieron enfrentados a este representante de la Santa mafia, la santa coacción, la santa intransigencia y la santa desvergüenza.

Por ejemplo, el 2 de marzo de 2005, don José Saturio Gutiérrez Martín -al que Enrique Rojas Montes le ha pedido 40 millones de pesetas para no hundirlo económica y socialmente-, que después de declinar las generales de la Ley, DNI, domicilio y teléfono, solicita en debida forma, al Ilustre Colegio de Médicos de Madrid, la información a la que cualquier ciudadano tiene derecho:

"DICE:

Pero entonces, ¿qué pinta el Ilustre Colegio de Médicos, si no comprueba la titulación de sus colegiados, y se limita a decir amén a lo que pretenda ser cualquier mangante que usurpa un título de especialista en Psiquiatría, Neurología, y Medicina del Trabajo?

¿O eso sólo ocurre cuando el trilero pertenece a la Santa Mafia?

Y pensar que éste es el "psiquiatra" que ha evaluado y determinado la veracidad de las apariciones de la Virgen y la sinceridad de Amparo Cuevas, la vidente de El Escorial, a la que Rouco Varela ha dado el nihil obstat y su bendición...

¿Y aún dicen que hay mucho anticatolicismo y mucho odio contra el Opus Dei en España?

REGISTRO DEL TÍTULO DE ESPECIALISTA

Al acabar la Residencia los médicos obtienen un certificado, pero éste no sirve para registrarse como Especialista en el Colegio. Para ello, hay que acudir al Ministerio de Ciencia y Tecnología (Albacete, 5. Tel: 916038605), solicitar la expedición del Título (abonando la tasa correspondiente) y el justificante (orden supletoria) para poderse registrar como Especialista en el Colegio. Más adelante, cuando el Ministerio de Sanidad (Paseo del Prado, 18-20. Tel: 901 400 100) ya emite el oriiginal del Título, es obligatorio traerlo al Colegio para proceder a su registro.

Requisitos para las personas que se colegian por primera vez en Madrid:

- 2 fotografías tamaño carné (color / iguales)
- DNI (fotocopia)
- Título de Licenciado en Medicina original, oficialmente expedido o reconocido por el Ministerio de Educación, Política Social y Deporte, o testimonio notarial realizado en España. Los que no hubiesen recibido el Título de Licenciado, deberán presentar certificado del Rector de la Universidad, según Orden Ministerial (Boletín Oficial del Estado de 18 de julio de 1989), así como el recibo original que justifique el pago para la expedición del título de Licenciado en Medicina. Cuando le sea facilitado dicho título, deberá ser presentado al Colegio para su obligatorio registro.
- Cuenta bancaria en España (datos completos)
- Si posee título Especialista deberá presentar título original o testimonio notarial realizado en España. Si éste no estuviera expedido, hay que aportar carta de pago y nombramiento oficial del Ministerio de Educación, Política Social y Deporte. Cuando sea facilitado dicho título, deberá ser presentado al Colegio para su obligatorio registro.
- Derechos de Colegiación: abono en efectivo de 106,45 euros.
- Si proceden del extranjero deben presentar Certificación expedida por Organismo Oficial legalizado por vía diplomática o Apostilla de la Haya, de no estar ni haber estado inhabilitado para el ejercicio de la medicina (original y traducción al castellano - validez de 3 meses).

Y que tendrá que ver el Opus Dei con la titulación de sus miembros. Yo soy ama de casa obligada -no tengo trabajo remunerado y estoy inscrita en Inem buscando trabajo- y no tengo titulación y soy del Opus Dei. No me la han pedido a mi ni al Dr. Enrique Rojas, ni al Catedrático de Universidad, ni al fontanero, ni al médico de cabecea, ni al Otorrino, ni a la ingeniero, ni la licencia al taxista, a ningún profesional a no ser que sea para contratarlo cuando si es necesario.

Dejen de atacar a todo el Opus Dei. Es como si cuando ustedes hacen algo mal, incorrecto los demás atacaran a su padre, a su familia. Cada uno es responsable de sus propios actos, el Opus Dei no responde por los actos personales de cada uno ya que por eso somos personas con libertad y voluntad propia. Al Opus Dei le confiamos nuestras formación espiritual y actuar como Dios manda depende de cada uno de nosotros Estoy en desacuerdo con el apoyo que presta la Obra al doctor Enrique Rojas. No sé si el Padre está al corriente pero creo que el doctor Rojas está perjudicando tanto a la Obra como a todos nosotros y estoy segura que a mí no se me permitiría la conducta del doctor. El Opus Dei sí es responsable, si no de todos, de muchos actos individuales de sus miembros, porque bien se ocupa de ocultar o quitar hierro a conductas realmente vergonzosas, o incluso de favorecerlas y hasta de solicitarlas, como quien encarga un trabajo sucio y luego maquilla todo el proceso y los resultados pero ha ganado ocultamente.

No hay bondad en pertenecer al Opus Dei; ese pretendido espíritu de servicio no es sino la cara visible de un terror absoluto a la libertad, a la responsabilidad de los propios actos: en el Opus Dei se vive para obedecer sin pensar... y todo queda justificado por la santa obediencia.

No hay decisión para la autorrealización; es una renuncia a los propios dones que deberían ser desarrollados; hay una profunda conciencia de culpabilidad y sometimiento a la espera de algo mejor, a pesar de las continuas contradicciones y abusos que se viven.

Sí se puede culpar al colectivo, especialmente a los directivos, de ciertos actos tan escandalosos como este y otros muchos, muchísimos, pequeños y grandes, puesto que tanto cometerlos como encargarlos son parte de la verdadera esencia del Opus Dei.

Amén.

Daniel ¿estás describiendo a una mafia?. Hombre... espera un poco, a ver si el ama de casa que pertenece al Opus Dei, nos explica cómo el Colegio de Médicos de Madrid, archiva la denuncia del caso que nos han presentado (el artículo de El Mundo: El psiquiatra, la esposa y su marido).
Quizás tenga alguna explicación que dar que no sea dinero y tráfico de influencias del Opus Dei, puesto que las asociaciones profesionales sancionan por mucho menos de lo necesario para ser condenado en la vía judicial (en el caso del artículo de El Mundo, hubo condena).
He visto otra cosa muy descarada colgada por ahí del Colegio de Médicos de Madrid con este médico.

Lo que considero buenas fuentes, dicen, que Enrique Rojas es miembro SUPERNUMERARIO del opus dei y que los supernumerarios aportan un % de sus ingresos a esta organización.

Creo que Daniel Apilánez... tiene toda la razón. El opus dei es una mafia con todos sus ingredientes (Enrique Rojas paga y el opus dei lo protege).
A su vez, al opus no le interesa que Enrique Rojas deje de ser impune. Sus ingresos disminuirían notablemente y el % que aporta al opus, también.

Pienso, que el Colegio de Médicos de Madrid hace un flaco favor a la profesión, a los médicos honestos y a las instituciones y organismos del país, encubriendo a Enrique Rojas y doy fe que el encubrimiento del Colegio de Médicos de Madrid a Enrique Rojas, ha sido y es mucho mayor del que muestra gatopardo en este artículo.

Desde Junio 2009, este Colegio no contesta por escrito cuando se les pregunta por la especialidad de Enrique Rojas (por ley, tienen obligación de hacerlo). Y, Desde Dic. 09, si se pregunta por teléf. engañan tranquilamente al ciudadano informando con las especialidades de Enrique Rojas que muestran en la web, sin informar de la letra pequeña.

Gracias a quien haya escrito este artículo.

El delito de intrusismo se castiga en el artículo 403. Supone el ejercicio de actos propios de una profesión con ausencia del correspondiente título, distinguiéndose entre título académico y título oficial.

Por «actos propios de una profesión» hay que entender los definidos como tales en la reglamentación específica de cada profesión. La jurisprudencia ha establecido que en caso de no existir tal reglamentación habrá que acudir a criterios objetivos de general validez en el ámbito social. Para la tipicidad de la conducta basta la realización de un acto aislado, siempre que sea idóneo y peculiar de la profesión invadida, considerándose la repetición de actos o su continuidad como una misma infracción. Ahora bien, si la reglamentación específica de la profesión exige el requisito de la reiteración de actos, la falta de habitualidad hará atípica la conducta aislada; en este sentido, la jurisprudencia ha establecido, por ejemplo, que sólo cabe entender que la prohibición de ejercer como médico especialista a quien no lo sea, se refiere al ejercicio habitual de la especialidad, de tal manera que, ocasionalmente, un médico no especialista puede actuar sobre una patología propia de una especialidad, conforme a las normas reglamentarias, en circunstancias especiales que lo justifiquen (urgencias, no presencia de especialista, levedad de la primera intervención, etc.), pero no puede dedicarse de manera continuada al diagnóstico y tratamiento de enfermedades incluidas en el cuadro de Especialidades Médicas.

La perfección del delito exige también la ausencia de título. Si el ejercicio de la profesión exige título académico expedido o reconocido en España de acuerdo con la legislación vigente, su ausencia supone una pena de multa de seis a doce meses; si la actividad profesional exige un título oficial que acredite la capacidad necesaria y habilite legalmente para su ejercicio, su ausencia supone la pena de multa de tres a cinco meses. Con la redacción del Código cabe plantearse la posibilidad de aquellas profesiones que además de título académico exijan título oficial; en este caso habrá que contemplar la posibilidad de un concurso de delitos. Por otra parte, la inexistencia determinadas profesiones hará inaplicable el tipo; en este sentido se ha manifestado la jurisprudencia sobre el ejercicio de actividades como la medicina naturalista, la acupuntura o la aplicación de rayos láser. En todo caso, la jurisprudencia ha establecido que las actuaciones esporádicas de amistad o mera complacencia sin contraprestación son atípicas.

Otra cuestión que suele plantearse es la del cobro de honorarios. La jurisprudencia ha considerado que los actos de desempeño de una profesión sin el correspondiente título y el cobro de honorarios constituyen una única infracción, rechazando el posible concurso entre los delitos de intrusismo y estafa, siempre que los honorarios se mantengan dentro de los acostumbrados en el ejercicio legítimo de esa profesión.

Con respecto al componente subjetivo del delito, el Código Penal no prevé la forma imprudente, por lo que sólo puede ser cometido en forma dolosa, bastando el dolo eventual.

El Código establece una agravación para el caso de que el culpable, además, se atribuyere públicamente la cualidad de profesional amparada por el título requerido, siendo la pena de prisión de seis meses a dos años.

Como falta contra el orden público, se castiga en el artículo 637, con la pena de arresto de uno a cinco fines de semana o multa de diez a treinta días, al que se atribuyere públicamente la cualidad de profesional amparada por un título académico que no posea.

Artículo 404.

A la autoridad o funcionario público que, a sabiendas de su injusticia, dictare una resolución arbitraria en un asunto administrativo se le castigará con la pena de inhabilitación especial para empleo o cargo público por tiempo de siete a diez años.

Artículo 405.
A la autoridad o funcionario público que, en el ejercicio de su competencia y a sabiendas de su ilegalidad, propusiere, nombrare o diere posesión para el ejercicio de un determinado cargo público a cualquier persona sin que concurran los requisitos legalmente establecidos para ello, se le castigará con las penas de multa de tres a ocho meses y suspensión de empleo o cargo público por tiempo de seis meses a dos años.

Artículo 406.
La misma pena de multa se impondrá a la persona que acepte la propuesta, nombramiento o toma de posesión mencionada en el artículo anterior, sabiendo que carece de los requisitos legalmente exigibles.

gatopardo,

Muchas gracias por tu artículo. Tanto el Colegio de Médicos de Madrid como el Consejo de Médicos de España, torean a las víctimas de Enrique Rojas y se han saltado en muchísimas veces sus propios estatutos, normas y reglas para proporcionar impunidad a Enrique Rojas. Es debido a la intervención del Opus Dei. Es de vergüenza.

A ver si conseguís que se destape a Enrique Rojas lo mismo que se destapó al de los legionarios de Cristo Rey, Marcial Masiel.

Conozco al Dr. rojas desde hace 30 años, me detectó un sindrome bipolar y con gran acierto y humanidad me prescribió "Plenur" litio, para una depresión endógena, genética.He permanecido estable y sin ningún problema. Lo que más me gusta del Dr. Rojas es su humanismo, al margen de su pertenecia al Opus Dei, que no comparto, pero hay que ser respetuoso y yo soy liberal, progresista.Sus libros son un deleite, comparto muchas cosas. No cabe duda que sus honorarios son caros pero no es un psiquiatra normal, es humanista como lo era Marañón y dice grandes verdades de la sociedad actual, al margen del tema religioso. Considero el Opus como una secta, pero él como persona inspira confianza, es una bellísima persona. Solo he ido a consulta 2 veces, puntualmente, mi economía se ha resentido, pero no me fiaba de otros especialistas que te llenan de medicamentos y no hablas y analizas las causas del mal de tu alma. Hace poco, por 2ª vez, tuve un trastorno de ansiedad y me costó lo suyo pero está solucionado clinicamente y las causas del mismo, que es lo importante. el Dr. Rojas se detiene con el paciente, lo analiza, se interroga en el porque de los comportamientos y los hechos causados. Creo que es un buen profesional, tal vez su consulta está llena de personas pudientes, i qué mas da i lo importane es todo lo bueno que ofrece. Si es Catedrático o no, me da igual, es efectivo y humano.

Hay muchos taraos en esa especialidad que me dan miedo. Su pensamiento lo comparto, excepto lo del Opus, pero hay respeto, no se habla nunca, no hace proselitismo. a mi me ha curado, en 2 ocasiones y eso es lo que importa. Todos, cuando podemos vamos a los mejores especialistas. El OPUS está maldito, yo no estoy de acuerdo EN NADA con esa secta del Sr. Escriva, y conozco sus métodos, porque mi padre sufrió las consecuencias por no meterse allí. Pero este doctor, al margen de su idiología es buen profesional y por tanto caro, como otros muchos médicos. No creo en las barbaridades que se han dicho de él, lo siento, he debido conocer a otro médico con igual nombre, en la calle Serrano.
Hay muchos bulos y personas que quieren hacer daño. cuando alguien destaca los españoles somos crueles, arremetemos contra el triunfador. Los libros del Dr. Rojas son una auténtica maravilla, es conservador pero dice cosas tan humanistas......y eso necesita nuestra sociedad materialista......HUMANIDAD, ESCUCHAR AL PACIENTE SIN PRISA, hacerlo sentirse seguro de su médico.
Considero que es caro pero efectivo y sus charlas, coloquios, libros son magníficos.
Y no comulgo con el OPUS y las persons excesivamente conservadoras, pero respeto y comprendo, al menos son consecuentes.
CREO QUE LA CAMPAÑA ORQUESTADO DESDE ALGUNOS MEDIOS DE COMUNICACIÓN Y PERSONAS debe de cortarse. No hay derecho. Yo lo conozco, no soy de sus ideas pero es buen médico. En eso se distingue a una persona TOLERANTE, como lo fué nuestro poeta antonio Machado, los personajes españoles de la 2ª República, la Institución Libre de Enseñanza, tolerantes a las ideas, comportamientos.
Gracias por permitirme publicar mis ideas en el bloc.

Ojalá las campañas de periodismo ciudadano que se citan en este artículo, consigan que alimañas como Enrique Rojas dejen de pensar que engañar es efectivo y que los "concede licencias" que reparten el mundo como tú, caigáis del guindo. Si no entiendo mal, vienes a decir que este mal nacido puede engañar y no se le deben hacer "campañas de desengaño". ¡Eres divina!

Para ser exactos, Eulalia es el prototipo de gente idónea para caer en manos de un estafador, y de un sacacuartos.

Gatopardo ¿Acaso las cualidades que acabas de atribuirle a Eulalia no son propias de la divinidad?

Siempre he oído que el tipo de personas con las características de Eulalia, además de gozar de buena reputación están muy cerca de Dios. Pero quizás tengas razón y no sea tan divina (ni tan tonta, gato). Eulalia tiene también una buena dosis de tergiversación y autoritarismo cuando llama "campaña orquestada" a una campaña documentada y propone que se silencie la buena información.
Quizás sea más pillina que divina.

RETRATO DEL FOLLAPAVAS

El follapavas —puede ser uno, un gobierno en pleno y la oposición— es un espécimen bastante común, cuya labia y encanto sólo funciona con quien tiene menos criterio y menos cerebro que una gallina de Guinea.

El follapavas suele sonreír beatíficamente con algún chiste que no nos ha contado; tiene un discurso altisonante, reiterativo, y explaya un muestrario de buenas intenciones sin concreción posible, y, en su mente, se confunde la realidad con sus deseos. El follapavas mantiene la confianza en si mismo y la exagerada percepción de sus logros, aunque no haya motivos, y, sobre todo, cuando se enfrenta con su fracaso.

El follapavas tiene el talento de un zahorí para descubrir veneros ocultos en el río de la historia que confirman su papel de guía y timonel, aunque sea arrastrado por la corriente, frenéticamente agarrado a un tronco, y a punto de ahogarse.

La pava que se deja enredar —puede ser la mayoría de votantes— lo mira con arrobo de quinceañera, se conmueve con esos ojos de evangélica simplicidad, sus voz engolada, que alterna con trémolos de profeta, y esa fe mesiánica en su papel salvífico y su megalomanía. La pava —sea una o la mayoría— sospecha lo peor de quien , ante su amado, ponga el culo contra la pared, y se tiente la entrepierna y la cartera. La pava se hace ideas y llega a conclusiones de canibal en menos que se santigua un cura loco. Y vota en masa.

Cualquiera puede darse cuenta de que el follapavas es tonto por esencia, presencia y potencia; tonto con enjundia, tonto de estopencia y santos óleos, tonto con balcón a la calle, tonto con puntero, tarima y pizarrín; tonto con Decreto Ley y Boletín Oficial del Estado; tonto lleno de ocurrencias; tonto ruidoso, con bombo, tambor y trompeta; tonto obsecuente y bienintencionado... pero, además, cualquiera puede comprobar el axioma de Boileau: "Un tonto, siempre encontrará a otro más tonto que él, que lo admire." Y le vote.

Dios quiso que siempre haya un roto para un descosido.

Quiera Dios que la pava se nos haga anacoreta y casta, y nos desate el tonto que nos ha atado a un brazo, porque nos augura un futuro más negro que el sobaco de un moro.

¡Eureka!

Por fin, lo que la ciencia necesitaba para confirmar lo que tanto tiempo se sospechó. A saber;

El Hombre "puede ser" racional.

La energía nuclear es perjudicial para el comportamiento y el desarrollo normal de las personas. Solo hay que echar un vistazo a los comentarios para sospechar la procedencia de los afectados. (Cercanías de alguna central o cementerio nuclear).

La simple etimología de determinados sustantivos (los anteriormente expuestos son ejemplo de algunos) causa tanto daño (o más) que la exposición a radiaciones.

Enhorabuena. Ha caido un velo más. ¡Viva la Ciencia!

A juzgar por la respuesta, y a riesgo de "no estar a su altura", me permito hacerle/s una sugerencia. Es la siguiente.

Por favor, exíganlé algo más de sí al becario que dejan de guardia los fines de semana. Si fuera necesario, que se apunte a algún cursillo de lectura. Debe aprender a leer mejor. Después de LEER, viene PENSAR, recapacitar de si lo leído es literal o tiene otro significado "entre líneas". Y después de pensar, ESCRIBIR.

Por último, y siguiendo mi argumentación en pro de la Ciencia, les hago notar que visto lo visto,(http://es-es.facebook.com/group.php?v=wall&ref=mf&gid=302595390459) no hay duda del aumento de probabilidades de inteligencia extraterrestre; http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=276554677566

Un saludo.

P.D. ¡Ya me gustaría formar parte de esa especie que me catalogan! Pero mucho me temo que no dispongo el tiempo necesario para cumplir dichos requisitos (Funcionario sin tarea, que pasa el tiempo cabreado por los desastres del capitalismo y los fachas, y con el temor de perder los privilegios conseguidos por su amistad con los políticos y sindicatos de su región) ¿Estamos?

DOCUMENTAL: CONVENTOS DE VERGÜENZA. LAS HERMANAS DE LA MISERICORDIA EN IRLANDA.

En el documental de Christopher Weber1, "Conventos de vergüenza", se menciona el terreno, dentro del convento, donde yacen cientos de cadáveres sin identificación, sin registro, ni documento alguno que explique la causa de la muerte. Algo que no nos resulta extraño en España, aunque aquí, la mordaza y el olvido por decreto, no nos haya permitido remover las fosas donde se enterraron miles de niños y de jóvenes en terrenos de los conventos, de los internados, y de las "casas de Misericordia". Tampoco se suele hablar de aquella costumbre que desterró y enterró en vida, en las casas de Misericordia y en los manicomios, regidos por monjas, a cualquiera que no fuera docil, según la moral católica, como las jóvenes solteras embarazadas, a las que se les encerrana de por vida, y se les quitaba su hijo al poco de nacer, y a las que la Iglesia Católica, que custodiaba esas instituciones represivas, privó de libertad, derechos, salarios, encadenadas a trabajos embrutecedores, castigos y abusos físicos hasta su aniquilación. Como a sus hijos, producto del pecado, que crecieron en un régimen peor que carcelario, a la merced del peor sadismo.

Aquel limbo jurídico proveyó de carne fresca a los sacerdotes y a los caciques, a los que se les permitía tener servidores dóciles para los trabajos más duros y para sus peores aberraciones. Por ejemplo, al padre Noël Reynolds, confesó haber abusado sexualmente de docenas de niños:
-(...) sometía a las niñas pequeñas, para insertar brutalmente un objeto en su vagina, y luego en su ano.
-¿Qué objeto era el que insertaba?
-¿El objeto?...mi crucifijo.
Denunciar una violación en esas condiciones, significaba palizas y castigos suplementarios por parte de sus guardianas, que tenían la certeza moral de que sólo la posesión diabólica sería capaz de tentar el santo celibato y la castidad de aquellos hombres de bien.
No era posible escapar, encerradas bajo llave y medidas extremas de seguridad, sin papeles, sin amigos, sin nadie que los protegiera, no podían hacer otra cosa que trabajar hasta la extenuación y obedecer. Algunos lo intentaron, pero en una sociedad donde, en cada casa y cada esquina había soplones que alertaban a la policía sobre los conocidos y los desconocidos, y donde casi todos eran sospechosos, su huida abocaba al fracaso.
En los años setenta del siglo XX, en manicomios e instituciones cerradas había mujeres que habían sido ingresadas por sus maridos para solventar un fracaso matrimonial, a falta de divorcio. Las mujeres casadas no podían trabajar, administrar su patrimonio, su herencia, ni su vida profesional, ni viajar, sin permiso de sus maridos.
También las había que fueron ingresadas en la adolescencia por padres severos que temieron el deshonor que podría traer una hija rebelde a su familia. Hasta el año 1979, las mujeres solteras, en España, no podían firmar un contrato de trabajo o matricularse en una universidad, viajar, ni administrar el dinero obtenido con su trabajo, sin permiso de su padre, hasta los veinticinco años. Salvo para tomar estado: casarse o hacerse monja, en cuyo caso, la edad de emancipación era a los 23 años.
Las hermanas de la Misericordia, orden religiosa católica afincada en varios países, que rigieron los conventos de las Magdalenas en Irlanda, han sido investigadas por las denuncias por abusos sexuales, físicos y sicológicos a niños y jóvenes bajo su custodia. El informe Ryan, en un exhaustivo y premioso interrogatorio, ha desmenuzado los hechos ad nauseam, y ha evidenciado la falta de escrúpulos morales y éticos de la Iglesia Católica, únicamente preocupada por ocultar los hechos, y quitar importancia y trascendencia al sistemático sadismo con el que, a lo largo de setenta años, aniquilaron cualquier sospecha de dignidad en quienes cayeron bajo su férula. Aún no se ha investigado su labor de exterminio en los asilos de ancianos a su cuidado.
No hay manera de entender cómo continúa siendo tolerada y legalizada la Iglesia Católica, una institución que predica una moral contra natura, que actúa en contra de los más elementales derechos humanos, y ampara, protege, y ofrece impunidad a los sacerdotes y monjas acusados de delitos de lesa humanidad.
Y menos aún se entiende que haya padres que, con inconsciencia criminal, dejen a sus hijos, indefensos, en los colegios y catequesis de las sectas católicas.

Gatopardo

(1) Documental filmado por Christopher Weber acerca del famoso caso de los conventos de las hermanas de Magdalena en Irlanda del Norte. Uno de los mejores documentales que retrata el brutal maltrato de esas monjas hacia las chicas (madres solteras, chicas rebeldes, etc.), que eran encerradas de por vida, separadas de sus familias y condenadas al olvido, víctimas inocentes de una sociedad irlandesa puritana. El último convento de la Magdalena cerró en 1996, apenas dos años antes de la producción de este documental.

Los obispos irlandeses encubrían violaciones de niños

Catherine McAuley fue quien fundó, en China, en 1831, la orden católica de las Hermanas de la Misericordia.

Rápidamente esta congregación se expandió a distintas partes del mundo, entre ellos, en Dublín, Irlanda.

Entre sus votos, las hermanas juraban castidad, obediencia a Dios, pobreza y también estar al servicio de los más necesitados.

Sin embargo, específicamente en la institución mantenida en Dublín, lo que debía ser un hogar para niños y mujeres se convirtió en un verdadero centro de torturas.

Se registra que las mayores denuncias de maltrato físico y sexual a los niños fueron a partir de los años 40 y continuaron hasta pasada la década de los 80.

No obstante, a lo largo de la investigación se descubrió que existen antecedentes de este tipo de torturas desde 1914.

También se ha descubierto que estas monjas administraban lo que se denominó como "lavanderías de la Magdalena", el lugar donde se recluían a los niños para someterlos a distintos tipos de humillaciones y maltratos.

Incluso el informe Ryan indica que el tipo de castigos eran "perversos, severos, arbitrarios e impredecibles".

Además indica que al momento de hacerse público este tipo de denuncias, la congregación estaba más preocupada del escándalo que podía implicar que esto saliera en los medios, más que el bienestar de los menores.

Tras conocerse este informe, y como una forma de compensar a las víctimas, las Hermanas de la Misericordia anunciaron que destinarán 128 millones de euros para indemnizar a quienes padecieron de estas torturas. Ha sido tal el impacto de esta situación que incluso en el año 2000 llegó esta perversa historia a la pantalla grande.

Corresponsal desde Londres. Un sacerdote pedófilo que abusa de un niño, es escandaloso. Un obispo que oculta el abuso, todavía más. ¿Entonces, cómo calificar lo que se ha producido en Irlanda durante los últimos treinta años? Decenas de sacerdotes han abusado de centenares de niños y la jerarquía de la Iglesia católica ha escondido cuidadosamente estos hechos con la complicidad de la policía. El informe oficial que acaba de desvelar estas poco edificantes prácticas conmociona a toda la nación y desestabiliza de nuevo una institución que ha dominado la vida de generaciones de irlandeses.

En torno a 450 niños fueron víctimas de abusos sexuales practicados por una cincuentena de sacerdotes entre 1975 y 2004. Y los autores de estas sevicias fueron protegidos por los cuatro arzobispos que se han sucedido en la diócesis de Dublín. "Presento a todos los que viven todavía, mis excusas, mi pesar y mi vergüenza" ha declarado el actual arzobispo de la capital irlandesa, Monseñor Diarmuid Martin.

El informe está publicado seis meses después de otra investigación, que reveló decenas de abusos desde los años 1930 hasta los años 1990 en las instituciones para niños dirigidas por la Iglesia católica. La periodista Mary Raftery, que desde hace mucho tiempo trabaja con los niños víctimas de actos pedófilos, escribe en The Iris Times : "Hay una imagen fulgurante e indeleble que se encuentra en las páginas del informe Ryan. Se refiere al padre Noël Reynolds, que confesó haber abusado sexualmente de docenas de niños. Sometía a una niña pequeña, para insertar brutalmente un objeto en su vagina, y luego en su ano. El objeto, era su crucifijo."

El informe narra con detalle cómo este hombre permaneció siendo cura de Glendalough (y responsable de la escuela primaria) durante casi tres años, después de que los padres se quejasen de su comportamiento ante el arzobispo de Dublín, Desmond Connell, en los años 1990." En 1997 -añade la periodista-, fue finalmente trasladado, para convertirse en capellán del Hospital nacional de rehabilitación, en Dun Laoghaire, donde se encontraban… 94 niños enfermos hospitalizados (…) Unos niños que fueron sacrificados alegremente para proteger a sacerdotes, a la institución y sus bienes."

Para el diputado Aengus O Snodaigh, portavoz del Sinn Féin (partido de base católica), el informe supone "una acusación agobiante contra la Iglesia católica y el Estado… una traición flagrante a generaciones de niños perpetrada por personas en posición dominante". El ministro de Justicia, Dermot Ahen, reconocía, "un abuso de poder y de confianza sistemática frente a unos niños inocentes e indefensos". Promete que "eso no se repetirá nunca más".

Esperemos que así sea.

MAGDALENE LAUNDRIES:Joni Mitchell

I was an unmarried girl
I'd just turned twenty-seven
When they sent me to the sisters
For the way men looked at me
Branded as a jezebel
I knew I was not bound for Heaven
I'd be cast in shame
Into the Magdalene laundries

Most girls come here pregnant
Some by their own fathers
Bridget got that belly
By her parish priest
We're trying to get things white as snow
All of us woe-begotten-daughters
In the steaming stains
Of the Magdalene laundries

Prostitutes and destitutes

And temptresses like me-- Fallen women--
Sentenced into dreamless drudgery ...
Why do they call this heartless place
Our Lady of Charity?
Oh charity!

These bloodless brides of Jesus
If they had just once glimpsed their groom
Then they'd know, and they'd drop those stones Concealed behind their rosaries
They wilt the grass they walk upon
They leech the light out of a room
They'd like to drive us down the drain
At the Magdalene laundries

Peg O'Connell died today
She was a cheeky girl
A flirt
They just stuffed her in a hole!
Surely to God you'd think at least some bells should ring!
One day I'm going to die here too
And they'll plant me in the dirt
Like some lame bulb
That never blooms come any spring
Not any spring
No, not any spring
Not any spring

Hay cosas que nunca entenderemos, que por muchas vueltas que demos a la cabeza, se nos hacen inconcebibles. Y ahí están y solo nosotros nos escandalizamos. Ellos piden perdón, solo cuando son descubiertos, nunca antes, y ya está, se confiesan y van al cielo de pedo.
¡Qué suerte vivir así!

Bueno gato... qué horror y qué mal lo he pasado con la persona que relataba cómo se la llevaron.
Hace poco estuve valorando con mi abogado que me podía haber pasado si no me hubiese escapado, Enrique Rojas hubiese podido llevar a cabo su plan y me hubiesen encerrado en el psiquiátrico privado que pretendía.

Le decía, que creía que no podía dejarme salir viva a no ser que saliera en el estado mental donde sólo se babea.
Este cabrito (déjame decirlo hoy, no me borres el taco porfa) y el padre de mis hijos sabían que yo denunciaría. ¿De qué les iba a servir a ninguno de los dos haberme llevado una madrugada, encerrarme y toda la parafernalia que montaron?. A Enrique Rojas, le faltaba un telediario para que se celebrase el juicio por el caso de Menchaca. ¿Cómo iba a permitir que saliese en las mismas condiciones que entraba, cuando se había saltado la ley y todos los protocolos que rigen para internar a alguien en contra de voluntad?.

Me siento en la obligación de desmantelarle a Enrique Rojas "su estructura" para llevarse a la gente de madrugada y de dar a conocer sus métodos para doblegar voluntades. Estoy muy cansada pero...

Me parece aterrador lo que vivieron las mujeres y niños indefensos en manos de estos supuestos servidores de Dios, no soy quien para juzgar, habra personas que verdaderamente se entregan a Dios en cuerpo y alma; pero los otros monstruos no merecen misericordia ni perdón de Dios...

QUINTO ANIVERSARIO DE GATOPARDO

Hace cinco años, creamos esta bitácora para que no tuviera sitio y refugio la gente que nos encocora, y cuyo fusilamiento tenemos encargado a los nuestros, en cuanto ganemos, como son:

—el grupo "No anuncio Coca Cola porque no quiero", payos con una beligerante dulzura entreverada con pacifismo;
—los del tipo curica capón o catequista con guitarra y buenas intenciones, que deberían estar prohibidos o confinados en las catacumbas con los cristianos, de donde los herederos de Nerón no deberían haberles dejado salir.
—los pazguatos, pamplinas, soplagaitas, mascachufas, amigos de remilgos, aspavientos y ñoñeces, en gachas de benevolencia hueca del género "Club Amén";
—la versión laica de los evangelizadores sociales;
—los literatos y periodistas con sensibilidad de prima donna, con las mismas mañas y las mismas incoercibles ganas de gustar que una puta dilettante;
—los que les gusta más una víctima que a un tonto un tambor, y se extasían sientiéndose compasivos.

Reivindicamos todo lo que la "educación" y la "pedagogía" de los reformatorios pretendieron erradicar de nosotros: los heterodoxos, herejes, descreídos, escépticos, bordes, barriobajeros, guasones, irrespetuosos, y puñeteros niños de Morelia y de Auxilio Social.

Y no queremos cuentas con cursis y repipis.

¡Viva Huckleberry Finn, abajo Borges!

Como yo nunca llevo la cuenta de nada, mido mi tiempo en estas tierras blogueras por ti, y me sorprendo cada vez que celebras un aniversario. ¡Cinco años ya! Una medalla no, cinco tenían que darte por cada año de aguantar pelmas, dorapíldoras, autoprotagonistas y pelmazos con ínfulas en esta casa. Yo ya llevo tres o cuatro chalets y aún tengo que barrerlos del portal a diario... Y tú los realquilas, tiene narices.
Un abrazo de enhorabuena gata sabia, y golpecitos amistosos en la cocorota a tus compis de foto.

Estimadxs Companyerxs de Gatopardo, soy Manel Lacuerda, estudio Historia y Ciencias Sociales en la Universidad de Bochum, Alemania. Actualmente trabajo en un proyecto de memoria histórica del Nacismo. Investigo la biografía de Erich Struchtemeier, en principio un emigrante alemán que se trasladó al país Vasco durante la república de Weimar, que volvió a Alemania durante la Guerra Civil (yo creía que simplemente como refugiado) para volver de nuevo durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial. Recientemente descubro que su nombre aparece como colaborador del régimen Nacionalsocialista en los documentos desclasificados de la CIA. En estos papeles aparece muy poca información al respecto, menos de la que aparece en vuestro blog (Artículo: "S) THE FACTUAL LIST OF NAZIS PROTECTED BY SPAIN"). Me encantaría saber de dónde habéis sacado la información suplementaria o si conocéis más fuentes sobre este tema en la sque pueda consultar, y en cualquier caso sería un placer poder intercambiar con vosotrxs información y conocimientos.

Un cordial Saludo,

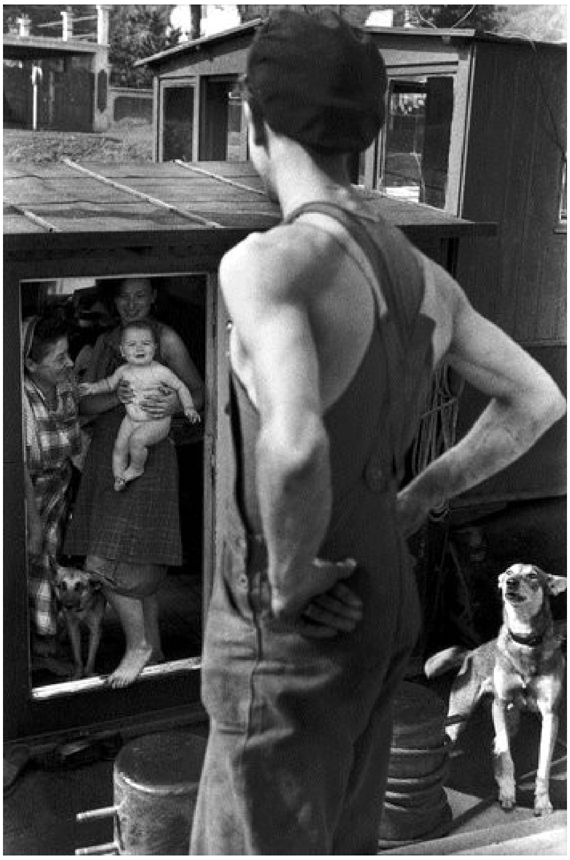
SI LAS MUJERES MANDASEN...



Julio creció como único varón de una familia de mujeres, de la que su padre se libró mediante una pulmonía que lo llevó a la tumba, cuando su hijo tenía tres meses.
Sus tías, sus primas, su abuela, y sus hermanas, mucho mayores que él, se eternizaban en minuciosas cháchara sobre cualquier sentimiento o barrunto en una vertiginosa noria emotiva. Diseccionaban con fruición el comportamiento de cualquiera, si miró, quiso decir, hizo un gesto, iba solo como si...qué ropa llevaba... Exponían con determinación sus ideas sobre los pliegues y las pinzas en las faldas, el conjunto de jersey y rebeca, el zapato salón y la altura de los tacones, entre admoniciones muy sensatas sobre el carácter y la biografía de todos los conocidos y desconocidos. Eran de una minucia expositiva inagotable, y todo era objeto de comentarios.
No le dejaban jugar con sus compañeros al salir de clase, porque temían que se resfriara, aprendiera ordinarieces o se malease, y controlaban sus horarios, sus idas y venidas, planificaban sus quehaceres y sus ocupaciones. Julio recibía todo el tiempo instrucciones, mimos, burlas y broncas cuya causa no comprendía; y llegó inexorablemente a la conclusión de que era poco inteligente o, al menos, que desconocía la claves, y su mirada impregnada de perpetua extrañeza lograba desatar las risas y la irritación del gineceo.

-¿Qué te parece el vestido que llevaba Paca?
-No sé...
-¿No sabes qué te parece un vestido verde con falda de vuelo y mangas jamón?
-No me he fijado en el vestido...
-¿Y en qué te has fijado? Has estado hablando con ella media hora...
-Hablábamos de su viaje... Se va a ir a París a estudiar y dice que le da miedo, pero que está decidida...
-Hombre tenías que ser para no darte cuenta que ese vestido es horroroso, y lo mal que le sienta ese color lechuga...
Surgían las burlas y los enfados cuando quería comprender el estricto código de lo conveniente y lo inaceptable:
-¿Por qué os extraña que Lucas vaya con sus amigos y no tenga novia? Vosotras tenéis amigas y no tenéis novio...
Y sus tías respondieron con un ataque de ira, seguido de llanto. La abuela, cuando supo la razón, le obligó a pedir perdón por su crueldad. Pero Julio actuó con un arrepentimiento ficticio, como siempre en estos casos, porque no llegaba a comprender cuál había sido su crimen.
La primera vez que se encontró rodeado de hombres, en el servicio militar, sintió una estremecida sensación de paz interior, de serenidad: las ocupaciones y preocupaciones de sus congéneres no le inspiraban el estupor balbuceante que sentía en el gineceo, aunque no podía mirar a las mujeres como piezas de caza, a las que evaluar como objetos de deseo, y no acababa de entender la obsesión que demostraban sus compañeros con los asuntos de faldas. A él todas las mujeres le recordaban las de su familia, y era como si sus miradas, sus mohines, sus gestos y sus palabras llevaran adjunto un mensaje estupefaciente que le incomodaba.
Se encontró feliz y liberado en aquella ciudad de provincias, y las tardes que tenía libres en el cuartel acudía al taller de reparación de coches del brigada. Al principio, limpiaba las piezas de los motores desmontados, sin atreverse a colocarlas; pero, poco a poco, adquirió destreza y se ocupó de montar y desmontar motores, supo interpretar su sonido, y diagnosticar el problema...
Aquel taller era un lugar de reunión para conductores, taxistas, repartidores y militares del parque móvil. Aquel mundo de amistades masculinas, sin llantos ni risas inmotivadas, aquella falta de dramatismo y el tono monocorde de los saludos, las confidencias y las conversaciones era un bálsamo para su mente, tan necesitada de tranquilidad.
Cuando volvió a la casa familiar, una vez licenciado, fue para decirles que le habían ofrecido trabajo en el taller y lo había aceptado.
Hubo revuelo, extrañeza, llantos, propósitos de acudir por turnos para “limpiar a fondo”, tomaron bajo su responsabilidad prepararle la casa donde viviría, cosieron fundas para cojines, colchas, sábanas, compraron telas para hacer cortinas, le obligaron a aceptar sus consejos y sus instrucciones. Julio desaparecía temprano y se marchaba al bar o al taller del pueblo, y fue aceptado en la cofradía masculina con alivio, porque a sus paisanos les había resultado sospechosa aquella falta de rebeldía, que lo había mantenido lejos de ellos.
El último día en el pueblo, una hora antes de tomar el tren, mientras comían, recibió como una bofetada la pregunta que habían estado planteando y discutiendo a sus espaldas, y que sólo su abuela consideró que estaba autorizada a hacerle.
-Julito, di la verdad ¿te has hecho homosexual?

Julio abrió la boca y sólo pudo emitir un sonido inarticulado, como un ronquido. Palideció, las miró de hito en hito a todas, y al cabo, se hizo la luz en su mente, y fue consciente de como se podía definir su armisticio consigo mismo. Y respondió tajante, sin importarle los llantos, la ira, ni los ataques de nervios que desencadenase en aquellas mujeres:
-No, abuela, no soy homosexual. Soy misógino, como cualquier hombre normal que haya tenido que convivir sólo con mujeres.

Mi tardanza para explicar el "negocio" de los portátiles para las escuelas, se debe a que, a la hora de afinar y recopilar información entre los enseñantes, los malditos son incapaces de darme datos escuetos, como marca, modelo, etc. sin sustituirlos por su egocéntrica exhibición sufrimientos como víctimas de la pedagogía y del Ministerio de Educación.

EL BOTÍN DE GUERRA DEL CSIC FRANQUISTA: EL PATRIMONIO DE LA JUNTA PARA AMPLIACIÓN DE ESTUDIOS DE LA REPÚBLICA

El 24 de Noviembre del 2009 hará 70 años que se creó el CSIC por Ley. No he visto, por ahora, ninguna información sobre los actos para conmemorar este aniversario, lo que no me extraña , dado lo irregular del nacimiento del CSIC, como intentaré exponer a continuación.
Existe gran controversia entre los estudiosos de la historia del Consejo Superior de Investigaciones científicas (CSIC) sobre si existe una continuación o una ruptura en lo referente al espíritu entre dicha Institución y la Junta para Ampliación de Estudios e Investigaciones científicas (JAE), pero en cambio si que están de acuerdo en que, en lo que concierne a los edificios y terrenos, se produjo una continuidad material. Es en este segundo aspecto en el que voy a centrar mi artículo, pues entiendo que la herencia material de los edificios de la JAE al CSIC se ha transmitido de una forma fraudulenta, por lo que más que hablar de herencia deberíamos decir rapiña, robo o apropiación indebida.

Equipamientos promovidos por la JAE (1907-1939).

Se inician en 1913, cuando la Junta para Ampliación de Estudios presidida por Santiago Ramón y Cajal decide instalar la sede de la nueva Residencia de Estudiantes, que desde 1910 se encontraba dispersa en unos hotelitos de la calle Fortuny. El 11 de Agosto de 1913 por Real orden, el Ministerio de Instrucción Pública autoriza la construcción de nuevos edificios en los terrenos que le pertenecen en los Altos del Hipódromo. Fueron los arquitectos institucionistas Florez y Luque los encargados de estas construcciones. Los terrenos se extendían desde el final de la calle Pinar, en la Castellana, hasta los altos del Hipódromo, para bajar en rápido desmonte a la plataforma ocupada por el Palacio de la Industria y sus Jardines (Museo de Ciencias Naturales) .Con el impulso renovador de la JAE, el museo se consolidó y, en 1913, pasó a llamarse Museo Nacional. Según palabras de su director Jiménez Fraud , ”…era un cerrillo inundado por el sol y batido por los vientos desde el que se disfrutaba de una gloriosa vista de la Sierra de Guadarrama….la Junta logró obtener una modesta subvención para construir los nuevos edificios…”

Posteriormente en esta mítica Colina de los Chopos se fueron instalando otros edificios, como el Instituto Escuela con sus campos de deporte, inaugurado en 1920. En 1923, se construye la casa del director de la Residencia. En 1926 el Estado adquiere unos terrenos colindantes por el norte con la Residencia, donde se va a construir el Instituto de Física y Química y los nuevos edificios para la ampliación del Instituto Escuela. En 1930 se inicia la construcción del edificio dedicado a teatro, biblioteca de la Residencia, conocido como el Auditorium , siendo sus arquitectos los residentes Carlos Arniches y Martín Domínguez. En 1932 se inaugura el Instituto de Física –química financiado por la Fundación Rockefeller y construido por los arquitectos Manuel Sánchez Arcas y Lacasa. Durante la guerra civil, 1937-39, se instala allí la Residencia el Hospital de Carabineros para enfermos de malaria, dirigido por el Dr. Luís Calandre Ibáñez, mi abuelo, Delegado de la Junta para ampliación de Estudios en Madrid durante la guerra. Se mejoraran algunas infraestructuras, y el gobierno del Frente Popular republicano construyó un Refugio antiaéreo debajo de la Colina de los Chopos, para proteger a los científicos de la JAE y a los enfermos.
El Estado compra en 1929 el edificio conocido como “Palacio del Hielo” en la calle Duque de Medinaceli, en donde, después de unas obras del arquitecto Pedro Muguruza, se destina la parte central para el nuevo local del Centro de Estudios Históricos, así como la Secretaria de la JAE y el depósito de publicaciones de la misma.
Otros muchos edificios e infraestructuras fueron obra y patrimonio de la JAE como el Instituto Cajal(Cerro de San Blas-Atocha) El Jardín Botánico (situado entre el Paseo del Prado y la Costa Moyano , incluyendo en su interior el pabellón Villanueva) El Museo de Antropología, la Residencia de Señoritas entre la calle Fortuny y el Paseo del Obelisco, la Estación alpina de Cercedilla, la Misión biológica de Galicia, etc…

Fundamento jurídico

La creación del Instituto de España aparece por primera vez en el BOE del 8 de diciembre de 1937, en donde en el artículo primero se dice “….las academias conservaran el título de Reales y formarán juntas un cuerpo total con el nombre de Instituto de España” cuyos detalles de organización y atribuciones se especificarán en disposiciones reglamentarias…”Firmado por Francisco Franco desde Burgos.
En el BOE del 2 de Enero de 1938 se desarrolla algo más la organización de dicho Instituto de España,… “Presidente Manuel de Falla, Vicepresidente Sainz Rodriguez, Secretario Eugenio D´Ors, Canciller Pedro Muguruza, Castañeda, Artigas, etc…”
Pero será con el Decreto del 19 de Mayo de 1938, publicado con ocasión de celebrarse el aniversario de la muerte de Menéndez y Pelayo donde Franco traspasaba al Instituto de España los bienes y servicios de la JAE a la que sustituía:

“…Artículo primero: El Instituto de España, será el órgano a través del cual el Estado orientará y dirigirá la alta cultura y la investigación superior en España, viniendo a sustituir en parte a la Junta para Ampliación de Estudios y pensiones para el extranjero... Artículo segundo… el Ministerio de Educación Nacional detallará en órdenes sucesivas las funciones que como consecuencia del presente decreto, deban pasar a depender del instituto de España, así como las partes o servicios de los mismos que habiendo pertenecido a la Junta para Ampliación de Estudios deban ser entregados a las universidades….Artículo séptimo: Queda disuelta por este decreto la Junta para

Ampliación de Estudios e Investigaciones científicas…. Artículo octavo: Previendo en fecha próxima y ocasión de alto significado nacional de otro grupo de instituciones, concernientes al estudio de las ciencias de la naturaleza y matemáticas… se dispone la creación de los siguientes organismos… Centro de Estudios históricos, Centro de Arqueología e Historia Americana… (Firmado por Francisco Franco, y el Ministro de Educación Sainz Rodriguez, en Burgos).
El 11 de Abril de 1939, se publica en el BOE una orden del ministerio de Educación Nacional aprobando los estatutos para el Instituto de España"…Según lo dispuesto en los Decretos de 8 de diciembre de 1937 y 19 de Mayo de 1938, este Ministerio a propuesta del Instituto de España aprueba los siguientes estatutos: "...Artículo primero… Tiene el carácter de organismo supremo, por cuyo instrumento el Estado organiza ordena y mantiene instituciones dedicadas al cultivo del saber y atiende al cumplimiento de sus fines según el Decreto del 19 de Mayo de 1938 que enumera un primer grupo de instituciones de este orden."

El 26 de Abril de 1939 se publica un nuevo decreto en cuyo preámbulo se dice "…El Decreto del 19 de Mayo de 1938… preveía que las fundaciones que en el mismo se encomendaban al Instituto de España de carácter literario e histórico, había de ser continuado con otras de carácter científico, filosófico, técnico… con ocasión del patrocinio del nombre de Ramón y Cajal con ocasión del aniversario de su tránsito… Articulo primero: Según idénticas bases estatutarias a las contenidas en el Decreto del 19 de Mayo de 1938 sobre fundaciones histórico-literarias… se procederá a la instauración por el Instituto de España de Instituciones de carácter científico….Artículo Tercero: …un centro de Estudios biológicos y Naturales con un laboratorio Ramón y Cajal para investigaciones biológicas, un laboratorio de Química y Biología… una sociedad y Museo de Ciencias Naturales, jardines botánicos y zoológicos, …un centro de altos estudios de Física, Química… Artículo quinto: Todos estos organismos, como aquellos a que se refería el Decreto del 19 de Mayo de 1938 se dotarán con cargo a los créditos consignados en el Presupuesto del Estado… Artículo sexto: Todos aquellos organismos científicos sobre los que ejercían dirección o patronato la desaparecida JAE y la Fundación Nacional de Investigaciones científicas y Ensayos de Reforma quedarán a cargo del Instituto de España que sucede a dichos organismos en sus derechos, funciones y personalidad jurídica…" (Francisco Franco, en Burgos.)
Con el propósito de aprovechar los servicios e infraestructuras de la JAE (esto es, el botín de guerra) el 24 de Noviembre de 1939 se crea por los vencedores fascistas el Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas, con representación tanto en las instituciones educativas y culturales como en los estamentos fundamentales del nuevo Estado. Entre su articulado destacamos "…artículo sexto: Todos los Centros dependientes de la disuelta Junta para Ampliación de Estudios e Investigaciones científicas, de la Fundación de investigaciones y ensayos de Reformas, y los creados por el Instituto de España, pasarán a depender del CSIC… Artículo décimo: …Los bienes de todas clases pertenecientes a la disuelta JAE y a la Fundación de Investigaciones pasarán al CSIC que asume las obligaciones antes encomendadas a aquellos organismos, continuando el mismo régimen económico establecido…" (Firmado Francisco Franco, Madrid).
En Febrero de 1940 se publica en el BOE un Decreto regulando el funcionamiento del CSIC.
En el BOE del 28 de Abril de 1940, se publica una orden disponiendo que el Instituto de España traspase al recién creado CSIC todos los servicios de la Disueltas Juntas para ampliación de Estudios y Fundación Nacional de Investigaciones científica, "…Primero: El Instituto de España traspasará al CSIC en el plazo de ocho días los servicios, locales, efectos y documentación procedentes de las extinguidas JAE y Fundación Nacional…" (Firmado por Ibáñez Martín, Ministro de Educación Nacional).

Conclusiones

El traspaso de los bienes patrimoniales, así como de otros servicios de la JAE al CSIC, se hicieron de manera fraudulenta a través del Instituto de España, pues se fundamentaron en el Decreto del 19 de Mayo de 1938, emitido por el gobierno ilegal de Burgos, que se rebeló contra la legalidad republicana, y que por tanto no tiene validez jurídica.
Dado que todo el entramado jurídico que acabo de exponer, hace siempre referencia a dicho Decreto y se van entrelazando unos Decretos y Ordenes con otras, queda claro que todos los edificios que pasaron al CSIC así como los nuevos que construyó en terrenos que pertenecían a la JAE, (como sería el caso de la actual Sede Central y el Instituto de Edafología, bra del arquitecto Miguel Fisac, en los terrenos que antes de la guerra habían estado ocupados por los campos de deportes de la Residencia de Estudiantes), o las diferentes obras de rehabilitación de los edificios de la antigua JAE, como la transformación del Auditórium en Iglesia del Espíritu Santo , o las obras llevadas a cabo en el Instituto Cajal, el Palacio del Hielo en Duque de Medinaceli, la Residencia de Señoritas trasformada en un Colegio Mayor y luego en el Instituto Ortega y Gasset, o el Instituto Escuela que paso a ser el Colegio Ramiro de Maeztu , en donde también se hicieron obras , son ilegales, pues se basan en dar la propiedad al CSIC, legitimando el Decreto de Mayo de 1938 , ilegal de raíz. También en terrenos del Campus se construyó el Archivo Histórico Nacional, ahora dependiente del Ministerio de Cultura.

Y lo más grave, las obras llevadas a cabo con el consentimiento del CSIC, sin licencia municipal, en el pabellón Trasatlántico de la Residencia de Estudiantes en los años 90 (con el agravante de pasar por alto la protección como Bien de Interés Cultural, categoría monumento), destruyendo parte de un Refugio antiaéreo construido en el subsuelo, en 1937, para el Hospital de Carabineros situado en la Residencia, sin siquiera haberlo inventariado, lo que acumularía una cuadruple ilegalidad:

1) La de hacer obras sobre una propiedad que no esta claro les pertenezca,

2) de haber rehabilitado sin licencia del Ayuntamiento de Madrid, destruyendo parte de un vestigio de arquitectura militar de la guerra,

3) de ser sobre un edificio con protección BIC

4) además, haber solicitado un galardón europeo, ocultándolo todo en la solicitud. Por ello he vuelto a formular una denuncia al Ministerio de Cultura el día 20 de Octubre del 2009, en los siguientes términos:

"Cristina Calandre solicita le sea retirado el galardón sello Patrimonio Europeo a la Residencia de Estudiantes , por el otorgado por el Comité de Patrimonio Europeo, en marzo del 2007, mientras se aclara la propiedad de esos edificios, pues, en el formulario de Solicitud, esta Residencia pone que los edificios son propiedad del CSIC y que éste, en base a un acuerdo Marco, firmado en Septiembre de 1990, cede la utilización de los edificios e instalaciones a la Fundación Residencia, cuando según todo lo expuesto anteriormente, el fundamento jurídico esta viciado de origen y, por tanto, queda en entredicho los derechos de propiedad del CSIC, e invalidado dicho acuerdo Marco.

Y por entender que yo, nieta del Dr. Luís Calandre Ibáñez, (nombrado en Octubre de 1938 por el Gobierno legítimo de la República, Delegado de la JAE en Madrid) soy parte interesada, como ya manifesté en mi anterior reclamación al Comité de Patrimonio

Europeo de Julio del 2009, y que me fue desestimada, pues entiendo que dar por legal dicho Decreto franquista de 19 de Mayo de 1938 impide en reconocimiento jurídico de mi abuelo y va contra su honor y el de la II República. "

Y no sé si sería tan grave como lo anterior que se materializara un proyecto del CSIC para revalorizar "su patrimonio", con la creación de un de parque temático de la Ciencia, repensando la Colina de los Chopos, y comenzando con un parking subterráneo para 300 coches, seguramente en donde se encuentra el Refugio sin inventariar. Pero deberían sobre todo repensar si esa "Colina de los Chopos" es un patrimonio que les pertenece, o ,quizás, tengan que devolvérselo a la Junta para Ampliación de Estudios, aunque sea retroactivamente, a la que se lo arrebataron de mala manera.

PS.
Yo no sabía que se podía vender un inmueble dos veces por el mismo propietario. Tal fue el caso del Instituto Internacional de Boston, en Madrid, (Miguel Angel 8), que, en 1924, vendió por 250.000 pesetas su propiedad en la calle Fortuny 53 al Ministerio de Instrucción Pública, lugar donde se estableció la Residencia de Señoritas (de la JAE) dirigida por María de Maéztu, y que luego, en 1999, el Instituto Internacional de Boston volvió a vender ese mismo edificio al Estado español por 650 millones de pts., pagando además la Fundación Ortega y Gasset que se encontraba ocupándolo desde 1982, 75 millones. Actualmente está presidida por el Rey.
Casualmente yo realicé mi doctorado y suficiencia investigadora en esta Institución, en la calle Fortuny 53 , y estudié el bachilletato en el Colegio Estudio, situado en Miguel Angel 8, del Instituto Internacional . ¡Qué buén negocio para los norteamericanos, y qué malo para el Estado español ha sido el botín de guerra de la JAE!

Domingo 01 Noviembre 2009, 12:57

Aprovechando que Mercedes Cabrera Calvo Sotelo era ministra de Educación y Ciencia (en excedencia estaturaria como patrona en la Fundación Ortega y Gasset), se inscribió el 14 de enero del 2008 a nombre de ese Ministerio el edificio de Fortuny 53. Habian pasado más de 80 años desde su venta al Estado, en 1927. Lo extraño es que, en 1939, no se lo apropiara el CSIC como todos los demás bienes de la JAE.
En 1994 fue declarado por la Consejería de Cultura de la CAM como bién de Interés cultural (BIC) , pero anteriormente ya había tenido una rehabilitación en 1984-85 a cargo de los arquitectos Pérez-Pita y Jerónimo Junquera. Lo que no sé es quien sería el promotor de esa obra, pues en tal fecha lo ocupaba ya la Fundación Ortega y Gasset
Domingo 08 Noviembre 2009, 17:47

Por otro lado ,es una buena noticia pues al estar inscrito a nombre del Ministerio de Educación y Ciencia, y en ningun momento apareciera el CSIC como titular de dicho solar y edificio en la calle Fortuny 53,(que según la Ley de creación del CSIC del 24 de Noviembre de 1939 adjudicaba todos los bienes de la JAE disuelta por el Decreto de Mayo de 1938 al CSIC , como sería este inmueble) sienta jurisprudencia de que dicha legislación no se ha cumplido y por tanto que la JAE no fue disuelta en Mayo de 1938 por el BOE.Y esto es lo que yo vengo reivindicando desde hace 3 años(mediante todas mis publicaciones) pues impedía el reconocimiento jurídico de mi abuelo Luis Calandre Ibañez, como Delegado de la JAE nombrado por el gobierno legítimo de la Republica en Octubre de 1938. Ahora sólo queda que el Gobierno derogue ese decreto lo antes posible, lo cual tienen mucho más facil. !Eso sí, nos ha salido bastante caro, pero es de justicia!

Otra prueba para demostrar que el Decretro franquista del 19 de Mayo de 1938 es nulo lo tenemos en el actual colegio Ramiro de Maeztu, antiguo Instituto Escuela, que esta transferido a la Comunidad de Madrid. Por orden del 4 de Abril de 1939 (BOE), el Ministerio de Educación Nacional dice "se establecerá el Ramiro en los locales del Hipodromo del mismo Instituto Escuela". Si vemos el Registro de la Propiedad se dice que es el Estado el titular al 100%, eso sí, en el año 1926. La Ley de creación del CSIC de noviembre de1939 no llego a tiempo, se le adelantó el Ministerio de Educación.
En 1978 fue declarado Bien de Interés Cultural, aunque posteriormente se hicieron varias obras de rehabilitación, que espero cumplieran con la Ley de Patrimonio histórico de 1985.

Jueves 12 Noviembre 2009, 15:09

Más y más pruebas de la nulidad de ese ignominioso decreto franquista:Orden del 14 de Agosto de 1940 : "Visto bueno por el que se aprueban obras de reparación y reconstrucción de cierre de los terrenos en los altos del Hipódromo propiedad de este Ministerio" (El de Educación, y no dice nada del CSIC). Más: Orden del 8 de Diciembre de 1941 "Visto el proyecto de urbanización de los terrenos situados en los altos del Hipódromo propiedad de este Ministerio (de Educación). Ante todo esto, peligra la legalidad de la Ley fundacional del CSIC del 24 de Noviembre de 1939, confiscando las propiedades de la JAE antes de finalizar la guerra, y van a tener que compartir "su botin" con el Ministerio de Educación , pero los del CSIC, muy listos, han creado un nuevo ministerio, el de Ciencia e Innovación, al que se llevaron, en el año 2008, la dirección general de Universidades, que afortunadamente devolvieron en el 2009 a Educación. !Vaya lucha por el botín de la JAE!.

Domingo 15 Noviembre 2009, 23:02

Y puestos a seguir con las indagaciones de los graves delítos, acabo de constatar otro más, en este caso, del Estado Español, pues al tramitar la solicitud de la Residencia para el galardón Sello Patrimonio Europeo, en el 2007,contravino la "Declaración de la Unesco relativa a la Destrucción del patrimonio cultural "aprobado en Octubre del 2003 en donde se especifíca (...) El Estado que intencionadamen te destruye su patrimonio cultural... asumirá la responsabilidad de esos actos, según el Derecho internacional.." El Estado español no informó, ni a la Unesco ni al Comité de Patrimonio Europeo, formado por los ministros de los 27 paises comunitarios, de que se había destruído parte de un vestigio arqueológico de la Guerra Civil en el subsuelo, cuando lo conocía perfectamente, aunque sus responsables lo nieguen.
Tendrá que ser, pues, mediante la aplicación del Derecho internacional como conseguiremos, no solo proteger el Refugio y quitárle el Galardón Patrimonio europeo a la Residencia, sino exigir, además, rsus esponsabilidades al Estado Español. Y qui estan todos implicados:Comunidad de Madrid, Ayuntamiento de Madrid, Ministerio de Cultura, Ministerio de Hacienda, CSIC-Ministerio de Educación, y la Monarquía .

Una ley de gran trascendencia para la cultura nacional: Las funciones del Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas.

En el Consejo de ministros de ayer ha sido aprobada una ley, .presentada .por el de Educación, D. José Ibáñéz Martín, con la que se crea el Consejo Superior de investigaciones Científicas, con el altísimo propósito de renovar nuestra tradición cultural y restaurar la clásica y. cristiana unidad de las ciencias, devolviendo a .las mismas su régimen de sociabilidad, coordinación y jerarquía.

La investigación científica cumplirá así sus fines,-elaborando una aportación, a la cultura universal, formando un profesorado rector del pensamiento hispánico, elevando la técnica :y la producción científica, insertando las ciencias en. ía marcha normal y progresiva de la Historia y conjugando la tradición universal y católica con las exigencias modernas. Por esta ley se establece que al Estado compete el impulso y apoyo, de esta tarea, secundado por la cooperación de las Reales Academias, de Ja Universidad y de los Centros de la. ciencia aplicada y de investigación de todo orden. A la organización, científico-técnica, se le asigna un importantísimo papel en el plano de los problemas nacionales, en tal modo, que sea la ciencia la que cree la potencia de la Patria.

Para el desarrollo ds la investigación se establece, como condición primordial, la comunicación: e intercambio,!con los demás Centros investigadores del mundo, .y de modo especialísimo con. los de aquellos países que se hallan incluidos dentro, de la órbita de la Hispanidad y señorío espiritual de nuestra Patria.

El alto patronato del Consejo corresponde al Caudillo, presidiéndolo en su representación el ministro de Educación Nacional integrarán el Consejo representantes de la Universidad, Escuelas Especiales, Cuerpo de Archivos, Reales Academias, Centros investigadores del Ejército, Marina, Aire y Ciencias Sagradas y de la Falange.

Actuará por plenos, que se reunirán una vez al año para aprobación de presupuestos y planes de trabajo, y estará constituido por dos vicepresidentes, un secretario y un interventor.

Organizará .también este Consejo el intercambio científico de los Centros investigadores, especialmente en lo que concierne al régimen de pensiones, becas, cursos y conferencias de profesores españoles y extranjeros, etc.

El ministro de Educación Nacional queda facultado para reglamentar, interpretar y aplicar la ley, así como para organizar definitivamente, después de oídas las Academias, el Instituto de España, que subsistirá -como enlace -de las misinas,

Visto el expediente de depuración profesional seguido contra el Colegiado D. LUIS CALANDRE IBAÑEZ y
RESULTANDO probado en el mismo que el expedientado de destacada ideología izquierdista anterior al G.M.N. pertenecía antes de iniciarse este a la Agrupación de Médicos liberales, a los Amigos de la Unión Soviética, ~~a la Casa de Cultura~~ y a otras Entidades todas de significación abiertamente enemiga de los principios que inspiraron el Alzamiento Glorioso y la Cruzada contra el marxismo.

RESULTANDO que el expedientado continuó durante la revolución pasada oponiéndose y realizando labor en contra de nuestro G.M. firmando manifiestos y adhesiones a la llamada causa popular, entre otros uno de "los intelectuales españoles por la victoria del pueblo" otro de los amigos de la Unión Soviética y en 1.938 uno de adhesión al manifiesto del Dr. Negrín, en todos los cuales se vertín conceptos injuriosos contra nuestra Cruzada y sus legítimos representantes, conceptos que tambien ha vertido en público innúmeras veces el expedientado.

RESULTANDO que por su destacada significación de adhesión a la causa roja, fué el Dr. Calandre nombrado Director del Hospital de Carabineros desde cuyo puesto ayudó eficazmente a los marxistas, toda vez que procuraba recuperar el mayor número posible de hospitalizados para devolverlos al frente, no ayudando por el contrario a ninguna persona de derechas.

CONSIDERANDO que, a juicio del que suscribe, están comprendidos los expresados hechos en el apartado b) c) f) g) y h) del artículo segundo de la Orden del Ministerio de la Gobernación fecha seis de octubre de mil novecientos treinta y nueve.

PROPONGO a la Junta Directiva del Colegio Oficial de Médicos de ésta provincia sea impuesta al expedientado Don Luis Calandre Ibáñez las sanciones de número 4º (tiempo máximo) del artículo tercero de la Orden Ministerial citada.

La Junta, no obstante, con superior criterio, resolverá lo que estime en Justicia.

"Queremos una ciencia católica. Liquidamos, por tanto, en esta hora, todas las herejías científicas que secaron y agostaron los cauces de nuestra genialidad nacional y nos sumieron en la atonía y la decadencia. [...] Nuestra ciencia actual, en conexión con la que en los siglos pasados nos definió como nación y como imperio, quiere ser ante todo católica."

INFORME SOBRE LA GESTIÓN COLECTIVA DE DERECHOS DE PROPIEDAD INTELECTUAL (3)

PASTIMES OF THE INTELLIGENTSIA
The Reading

II.3 Algunos datos relevantes del sector

54. Según datos de la Agencia de Evaluación de las Políticas Públicas y la Calidad (AEVAL)[16], el número total de miembros de las entidades españolas de gestión colectiva de derechos de propiedad intelectual ascendió en 2007 a 132.528, siendo los autores el grupo de mayores dimensiones (109.132; 82,3% sobre el total de miembros), seguido del de artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes (21.854; 16,5%) y el de productores (1.542; 1,2%). Según las series históricas procedentes del Ministerio de Cultura, el número total de miembros de estas entidades ha crecido a un ritmo anual medio del 5,9% durante el periodo 2000-2007.

55. SGAE tiene un papel predominante en este ámbito (véase Tabla 2), gestionando los derechos de un 70,9% de los miembros pertenecientes a las entidades de gestión, seguida de AIE (10,5%), CEDRO (9,9%), y AISGE (6,0%).

56. La recaudación realizada por las entidades de gestión colectiva en el año 2007 ascendió a 518,9 millones de euros. Un 93,9% de esta cantidad fue recaudado en España, mientras que el 6,1% restante fue recaudado en el exterior. Según las series históricas del Ministerio de Cultura, la recaudación total de las entidades ha crecido a un ritmo anual medio del 8,6% durante el periodo 2000-2007.

57. De nuevo, la SGAE, con 369,1 millones de euros (véase Tabla 2) es la entidad de mayores dimensiones en términos de recaudación (71,1% del total recaudado en 2007), seguida de CEDRO (8,3%), AISGE (5,4%) y AGEDI (4,5%).

Tabla 2. Recaudación y miembros de las entidades de gestión. 2007

	Recaudación (en millones de euros)	en % total	Miembros (en personas)	en % total
SGAE	369,1	71,1%	93.933	70,9%
CEDRO	43,0	8,3%	13.133	9,9%
VEGAP	10,5	2,0%	1.708	1,3%
DAMA	1,0	0,2%	358	0,3%
AIE	22,4	4,3%	13.862	10,5%
AISGE	28,2	5,4%	7.992	6,0%

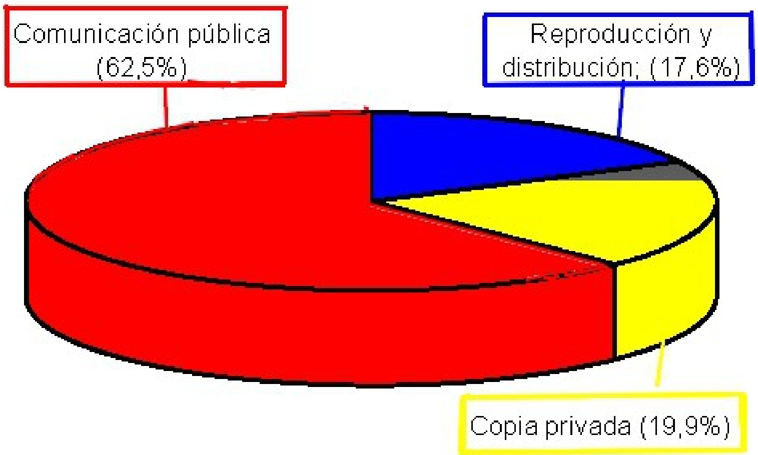
58. Los derechos más importantes en términos de recaudación en España son los de comunicación pública (304,3 millones de euros; un 62,5% de la recaudación nacional en 2007), seguido del de copia privada (97,1; 19,9%) y de los de reproducción y distribución (85,6; 17,6%).

Reparto de la recaudación nacional por tipo de derechos, en % sobre recaudación nacional total. 2007



Fuente: AEVAL (2008).

59. Sobre las cantidades recaudadas en 2007, las entidades de gestión asignaron 108,5 millones de euros, lo que significa un 20,9% del total, a gastos de administración (73,3 millones de euros) y a gastos asistenciales, promocionales y formativos destinados a los socios de las entidades (35,2 millones de euros).

60. El montante total destinado a repartir entre los titulares ascendió en 2007 a 413,7 millones euros. De esta cantidad, un 87,7% se asignó a titulares de las entidades nacionales, mientras que el 12,3% restante fue asignado a titulares de derechos de entidades de otros países.

61. Es importante señalar que las entidades generan montantes de cantidades recaudadas y no repartidas a ningún titular. Es decir, recaudan dinero por un titular y después el titular no lo recibe. La información sobre este tema es bastante escasa, y toda la que existe proviene de las propias entidades y de sus memorias. Según datos de AEVAL, de la recaudación media anual en 2005-2007, 65,8 millones de euros (un 13,6%) no fueron asignados al realizar el primer reparto. Con el paso del tiempo este porcentaje desciende a niveles menores, puesto que algunos titulares son finalmente encontrados; de esta forma, las cantidades finalmente no repartidas se sitúan en torno al 4% de la recaudación total, según AEVAL. En todo caso, las cantidades pagadas por los usuarios y no repartidas a ningún titular que se van acumulando en el tiempo ascienden a volúmenes muy considerables: en el caso de la SGAE, y según su Balance de Situación al cierre del ejercicio 2008, los derechos pendientes de reparto ascendían a 164,3 millones de euros.

62. Las entidades de gestión proveen un input productivo para múltiples sectores de la economía, que utilizan obras y prestaciones protegidas por derechos de propiedad intelectual en el desarrollo de sus actividades. En la Tabla 3, se muestra la desagregación de lo recaudado por la SGAE por tipos principales de usuarios [17]. Como puede observarse, el abanico de actividades económicas que deben pagar por utilizar obras y prestaciones protegidas es muy amplio, siendo los principales segmentos, en términos de recaudación, las televisiones y las radios, que aglutinan casi un 50% de la recaudación de la SGAE.

III. PODER DE MERCADO Y BARRERAS DE ENTRADA

63. Como ya se ha señalado, cada una de las entidades de gestión que existen en España gestiona categorías de derechos distintas, lo que significa que ninguna otra entidad gestiona los mismos derechos. Para cada uno de los derechos que gestionan de cada colectivo, la entidad tiene una posición monopolística en la prestación de servicios a titulares y usuarios.

64. Por lo tanto, la presión competitiva que afrontan es insignificante, lo que reduce sus incentivos a prestar sus servicios a titulares y usuarios de modo eficiente, y permite que puedan ejercer su poder de mercado e incurran en prácticas anticompetitivas, como la fijación de tarifas inequitativas y/o discriminatorias.

65. Sólo en un caso existen dos entidades que, en cierto modo, compiten: SGAE y DAMA compiten en la gestión de los derechos de los autores del medio audiovisual (guionistas y directores). Aunque SGAE también gestiona los derechos de otro tipo de autores (por ejemplo, los musicales o los teatrales), en los cuales ostenta un monopolio de facto, en el segmento audiovisual existe la posibilidad de que un autor elija entre DAMA y SGAE para que una de las dos gestione sus derechos. A su vez, un usuario puede adquirir licencias por el uso de obras de autores del medio audiovisual de cualquiera de las dos entidades, si bien es importante subrayar que el repertorio de cada entidad es muy distinto siendo el de SGAE mucho más amplio que el de DAMA. Por ello la competencia por los usuarios es necesariamente muy limitada.

66. Tanto el extinto TDC como la CNC han puesto de manifiesto en varias ocasiones la posición monopolística desde la que actúan las entidades en la gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual[18]. El poder de mercado del que disfrutan las entidades y la escasa presión competitiva que afrontan se explica por la confluencia de varios factores:

- La existencia de economías de escala en la gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual.
- Las barreras de entrada legales.
- Las barreras de entrada estratégicas.

67. Estos factores limitan la competencia efectiva y/o potencial de otras entidades de gestión nacionales o extranjeras, o la competencia efectiva y/o potencial que podrían ejercer los titulares mediante la gestión individual de sus derechos.

NOTAS

16 A no ser que se indique lo contrario, la fuente de todos los datos analizados en esta sección es AEVAL (2008).

17 No existen datos para el conjunto de las entidades, por lo que los datos de la SGAE constituyen una aproximación al dato agregado. Los datos de las otras entidades podrían desviarse de los datos de la SGAE. En especial, los de CEDRO y, en menor medida, VEGAP, cuyos tipos de usuarios se distinguen sustancialmente de los del resto de entidades.

18 Expresamente, se ha puesto de manifiesto la posición monopolística de SGAE (Resolución del TDC, de 25 de enero de 2002, sobre el Expediente 511/01 Vale Music/SGAE), EGEDA (Resolución del TDC, de 27 de julio de 2000, sobre el Expediente 465/99 de Propiedad Intelectual Audiovisual), AGEDI (Resolución de la CNC, de 9 de diciembre de 2008, sobre Expediente 636/07, Fonogramas), AIE (Resolución de la CNC, de 9 de diciembre de 2008, sobre Expediente 636/07, Fonogramas) y AISGE (Resolución del TDC, de 27 de julio de 2000, sobre el Expediente 465/99 de Propiedad Intelectual Audiovisual).

II. LA GESTION COLECTIVA DE DERECHOS DE PROPIEDAD INTELECTUAL

II.1 Los derechos de propiedad intelectual

11. La normativa nacional básica en la que se recogen los derechos de propiedad intelectual es el Real Decreto Legislativo 1/1996, de 12 de abril, por el que se aprueba el Texto Refundido de la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual, regularizando, aclarando y armonizando las disposiciones legales vigentes sobre la materia (en adelante, LPI)2.

12. La propiedad intelectual protege obras y prestaciones. Las primeras hacen referencia a las creaciones originales literarias, artísticas o científicas expresadas en cualquier medio. Las segundas a las interpretaciones artísticas, los fonogramas, las grabaciones audiovisuales y las emisiones de radiodifusión.

13. Según el Ministerio de Cultura, "los derechos de propiedad intelectual otorgan, además del reconocimiento a los creadores, la retribución económica que les corresponde por la realización de sus obras y prestaciones. Es también un incentivo a la creación y a la inversión en obras y prestaciones de la que se beneficia la sociedad en *su conjunto"*3.

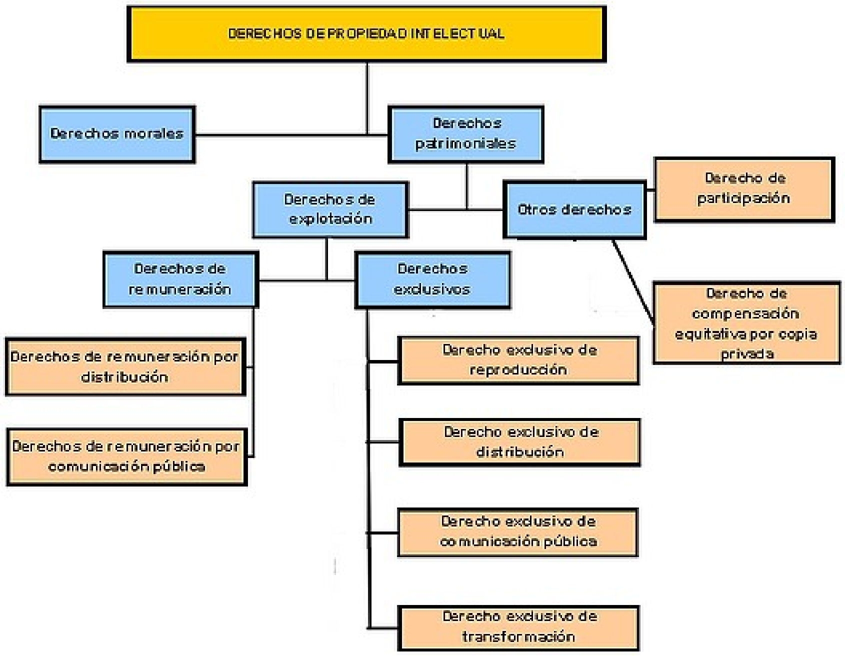
14. Los titulares a quienes la normativa reconoce derechos de propiedad intelectual pueden ser de diferentes tipos. Normalmente se diferencia entre titulares de derechos de autor y otros titulares (en ocasiones denominados titulares de derechos afines), como son los artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes, los productores de fonogramas, los productores de grabaciones audiovisuales, las entidades de radiodifusión, los divulgadores de determinadas producciones editoriales y los creadores de meras fotografías.

15. La clasificación de los derechos de propiedad intelectual se puede reflejar en el siguiente diagrama:



16. Los derechos morales se reconocen en la normativa nacional a los autores y a los artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes. En esencia, reconocen a éstos la condición de autor o artista intérprete o ejecutante como tales, así como el derecho a controlar la integridad de su obra.

17. Por su parte, los derechos patrimoniales son aquellos por los cuales el titular recibe una remuneración. Existen dos clases de derechos patrimoniales: los derechos de explotación y otros derechos.

18. Los conocidos como Otros derechos son los dos siguientes:

• Derecho de participación. Según el artículo 1 de la Ley 3/2008 "los autores de obras de arte gráficas o plásticas, tales como los cuadros, collages, pinturas, dibujos, grabados, estampas, litografías, esculturas, tapices, cerámicas, objetos de cristal, fotografías y piezas de vídeo arte, tendrán derecho a percibir del vendedor una participación en el precio de toda reventa que de las mismas se realice tras la primera cesión realizada por el autor. Los ejemplares de obras de arte objeto de este derecho que hayan sido realizados por el propio autor o bajo su autoridad se considerarán obras de arte originales. Dichos ejemplares estarán numerados, firmados o debidamente autorizados por el autor".

• Derecho de compensación equitativa por copia privada. Según el artículo 25 de la LPI

"l*a reproducción realizada exclusivamente para uso privado, mediante aparatos o instrumentos técnicos no tipográficos, de obras divulgadas en forma de libros o publicaciones que a estos efectos se asimilen reglamentariamente, así como de fonogramas, videogramas o de otros soportes sonoros, visuales o audiovisuales, originará una compensación equitativa y única por cada una de las tres modalidades de reproducción mencionadas… dirigida a compensar los derechos de propiedad intelectual que se dejaran de percibir por razón de la expresada reproducción*".

19. Sin embargo, el presente Informe se va a centrar principalmente en los derechos de explotación. La razón principal estriba en que el importe a pagar por los derechos de explotación lo establecen las entidades de gestión, mientras que en el caso de los otros derechos, su importe se establece mediante procedimientos distintos, que implican, de uno u otro modo, la intervención administrativa en su fijación[4].

20. Los derechos de explotación pueden ser de dos tipos:

• Derechos exclusivos: son aquellos que permiten a su titular autorizar o prohibir los actos de explotación por el usuario de su obra o prestación protegida, y a exigir de éste una retribución a cambio de la autorización que le conceda.

• Derechos de remuneración: a diferencia de los derechos exclusivos, no facultan a su titular a autorizar o prohibir los actos de explotación por el usuario de su obra o prestación protegida, aunque sí obligan a éste al pago de una cantidad dineraria por los actos de explotación que realice.

21. Los actos de explotación que pueden originar tales derechos de explotación son los siguientes:

• Reproducción: "La fijación directa o indirecta, provisional o permanente, por cualquier medio y en cualquier forma, de toda la obra o de parte de ella, que permita su comunicación o la obtención de copias" (artículo 18 de la LPI). En este caso, solamente existen derechos exclusivos, pero no de remuneración.

• Distribución: "La puesta a disposición del público del original o de las copias de la obra, en un soporte tangible, mediante su venta, alquiler, préstamo o de cualquier otra forma" (artículo 19.1 de la LPI).

• Comunicación pública: "Todo acto por el cual una pluralidad de personas pueda tener acceso a la obra sin previa distribución de ejemplares a cada una de ellas. No se considerará pública la comunicación cuando se celebre dentro de un ámbito estrictamente doméstico que no esté integrado o conectado a una red de difusión de cualquier tipo" (artículo 20.1 de la LPI).

• Transformación: "La transformación de una obra comprende su traducción, adaptación y cualquier otra modificación en su forma de la que se derive una obra diferente" (artículo 21.1 de la LPI). En este caso, solamente existen derechos exclusivos, pero no de remuneración.

22. Dentro de los derechos de explotación, los más relevantes [5] son los derechos que se derivan de actos de comunicación pública. La comunicación pública hace referencia a actos tales como una representación escénica de una obra, la proyección pública de una obra cinematográfica, su emisión por televisión o radio o su puesta a disposición en Internet. En el artículo 20.2 de la LPI se incluye una lista no exhaustiva de actos de comunicación pública, que se recogen según su redacción literal en la LPI:

Tipos de actos de comunicación pública contemplados en la LPI

"a. Las representaciones escénicas, recitaciones, disertaciones y ejecuciones públicas de las obras dramáticas, dramático-musicales, literarias y musicales mediante cualquier medio o procedimiento.

b. La proyección o exhibición pública de las obras cinematográficas y de las demás audiovisuales.

c. La emisión de cualesquiera obras por radiodifusión o por cualquier otro medio que sirva para la difusión inalámbrica de signos, sonidos o imágenes. El concepto de emisión comprende la producción de señales portadoras de programas hacia un satélite, cuando la recepción de las mismas por el público no es posible sino a través de entidad distinta de la de origen.

d. La radiodifusión o comunicación al público vía satélite de cualesquiera obras, es decir, el acto de introducir, bajo el control y la responsabilidad de la entidad radiodifusora, las señales portadoras de programas, destinadas a la recepción por el público en una cadena ininterrumpida de comunicación que vaya al satélite y desde éste a La Tierra. Los procesos técnicos normales relativos a las señales portadoras de programas no se consideran interrupciones de la cadena de comunicación. […]

e. La transmisión de cualesquiera obras al público por hilo, cable, fibra óptica u otro procedimiento análogo, sea o no mediante abono.

f. La retransmisión, por cualquiera de los medios citados en los apartados anteriores y por entidad distinta de la de origen, de la obra radiodifundida. Se entiende por retransmisión por cable la retransmisión simultánea, inalterada e íntegra, por medio de cable o microondas de emisiones o transmisiones iniciales, incluidas las realizadas por satélite, de programas radiodifundidos o televisados destinados a ser recibidos por el público.

g. La emisión o transmisión, en lugar accesible al público, mediante cualquier instrumento idóneo, de la obra radiodifundida.

h. La exposición pública de obras de arte o sus reproducciones.

i. La puesta a disposición del público de obras, por procedimientos alámbricos o inalámbricos, de tal forma que cualquier persona pueda acceder a ellas desde el lugar y en el momento que elija.

j. El acceso público en cualquier forma a las obras incorporadas a una base de datos, aunque dicha base de datos no esté protegida por las disposiciones del Libro I de la presente Ley.

k. La realización de cualquiera de los actos anteriores, respecto a una base de datos protegida por el Libro I de la presente Ley."

23. Los derechos de remuneración que reconoce la LPI por actos de comunicación pública son los que se incluyen en el siguiente cuadro:

Derechos de remuneración por actos de comunicación pública reconocidos en la LPI

Derecho de remuneración de los autores por la comunicación pública de obras audiovisuales (artículos 90.3 y 90.4 de la LPI), de carácter irrenunciable e intransmisible por actos inter vivos.

Derecho de remuneración equitativa de los artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes por la comunicación pública (modalidad art. 20.2.i de la LPI) de fonogramas o grabaciones audiovisuales (artículo 108.3 de la LPI), de carácter irrenunciable.

Derecho de remuneración equitativa y única de productores de fonogramas y artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes por la comunicación pública de fonogramas (artículos 108.4 y 116.2 de la LPI), salvo en la modalidad art. 20.2.i de la LPI.

Derecho de remuneración equitativa y única de los productores de grabaciones audiovisuales y artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes por la comunicación pública (modalidades 20.2.f de la LPI y 20.2.g de la LPI) de grabaciones audiovisuales (artículos 108.5 y 122.2 de la LPI).

Derecho de remuneración equitativa de los artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes por la comunicación pública de grabaciones audiovisuales (artículo 108.5 de la LPI), salvo modalidades 20.2.f de la LPI y 20.2.g de la LPI.

Derechos de remuneración por actos de comunicación pública

24. Los titulares de derechos de propiedad intelectual pueden ceder sus derechos exclusivos a otras personas o sociedades, quienes se convierten de este modo en titulares de los derechos, aunque sea a título derivativo y no originario. Este es el caso, por ejemplo, de los editores de libros o de los editores musicales que, mediante los contratos de edición suscritos con los autores de las obras literarias o musicales, adquieren los derechos originarios del autor, quien los cede a cambio de una contraprestación económica.

25. Si bien los titulares no pueden ceder sus derechos de remuneración, este tema no está exento de cierta controversia, debido a que la LPI sólo establece la irrenunciabilidad de los derechos de remuneración de modo explícito para algunos de ellos.

26. En definitiva, como se puede observar, el sistema de derechos de propiedad intelectual incluye distintos tipos de titulares, de obras y prestaciones, y de actos de explotación, lo que da lugar a una compleja casuística en la determinación de cada uno de los derechos y en las características de cada uno de ellos. Así, el titular y el tipo de derecho que éste tenga en cada caso dependerán del tipo de acto de explotación de que se trate y del tipo de obra o prestación sobre la que tenga derechos. Asimismo, sobre una misma obra o prestación puede existir una variedad de titulares que ostenten diferentes derechos.

27. Por poner un ejemplo: los derechos exclusivos sobre la obra audiovisual corresponden al autor, pero como se establece en el artículo 88.1 de la LPI, por el contrato de producción de la obra audiovisual se presumen cedidos al productor los derechos exclusivos de reproducción, distribución y comunicación pública, así como los de doblaje o subtitulado de la obra. Pero además de estos derechos exclusivos, la LPI también reconoce una serie de derechos de remuneración por actos de comunicación pública al propio productor, a los autores y a los artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes. En consecuencia, si una obra audiovisual se retransmitiese, por ejemplo, en la habitación de un hotel, en principio, el derecho exclusivo correspondería al productor audiovisual, y además el autor (artículo 90.4 de la LPI), el propio productor audiovisual (artículo 122.2

de la LPI) y los artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes (artículo 108.5 de la LPI) tendrían un derecho de remuneración por este acto de comunicación pública.

28. Esta pluralidad de tipologías de titulares, de obras y prestaciones, y de derechos y actos de explotación que se recogen en la LPI, difícil de interpretar en algunos casos, da lugar a un sistema complejo, que en muchas ocasiones genera incertidumbre a los usuarios que explotan obras y prestaciones en torno a los pagos que han de realizar y las autorizaciones que han de obtener, dificultando su interacción con los titulares de derechos de propiedad intelectual.

II.2 Las entidades de gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual

29. En virtud de la existencia de los derechos de propiedad intelectual analizados en el apartado anterior, cuando una persona, empresa o institución (un usuario) explota una obra o prestación protegida, tiene que estar autorizado para ello y realizar los pagos correspondientes que se deriven de dicha explotación.

30. La gestión de los derechos de propiedad intelectual es el ejercicio de estos derechos por parte de los titulares que los poseen.

31. En la normativa española que regula los derechos de propiedad intelectual no se incluye ninguna definición precisa del término gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual. Según la Comunicación de 2004 de la Comisión Europea, sobre la gestión de los derechos de autor y derechos afines en el mercado interior, "el término gestión de derechos se refiere al modo de administrar los derechos de autor y derechos afines, es decir, al modo de concederlos, cederlos o remunerarlos según su tipo de utilización. La gestión individual de los derechos es la comercialización de los derechos entre titulares particulares y usuarios comerciales. La gestión colectiva de los derechos es un sistema mediante el cual una sociedad de gestión colectiva administra conjuntamente los derechos y supervisa, recauda y distribuye el pago de los derechos en nombre de varios titulares"[6].

32. Como se desprende de la Comunicación de la Comisión Europea, en principio, la gestión de derechos puede ser individual o colectiva. Si la gestión es individual, cada uno de los titulares ejerce sus derechos de modo individual. Si la gestión es colectiva, una entidad de gestión colectiva de derechos representa a un conjunto de titulares y ejerce los derechos en su lugar.

33. La gestión individual no necesariamente implica a un titular con un reducido número de obras o prestaciones. Existen titulares, como es el caso de las grandes editoras musicales, que ostentan derechos sobre un amplísimo número de obras. En este sentido, es importante destacar que las diferencias entre los titulares con respecto al volumen de obras o prestaciones sobre las que ostentan derechos inciden en el poder de negociación que tienen frente a la entidad que gestiona los derechos en su nombre.

34. La LPI impone la gestión colectiva obligatoria a través de las Entidades de gestión para determinados derechos de propiedad intelectual, de tal forma que en esos casos el titular no tiene la opción de gestionarlos de modo individual y, además, la entidad de gestión colectiva lo representa por mandato legal, es decir, puede recaudar en su nombre independientemente de que éste haya delegado en la entidad la gestión de estos derechos.

35. Los derechos en los que la gestión colectiva es obligatoria son básicamente los derechos de remuneración, pero también el derecho exclusivo de autorizar la retransmisión por cable (artículo 20.4.b LPI) y el derecho de compensación equitativa por copia privada (artículo 25 LPI).

36. Volviendo a la clasificación de los derechos de propiedad intelectual realizada en el apartado anterior, pueden distinguirse los derechos de gestión colectiva obligatoria:

En color verde los derechos de gestión colectiva obligatoria.

37. Las entidades de gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual gestionan los derechos de gestión colectiva obligatoria y, en la mayoría de los casos, también gestionan derechos de gestión colectiva voluntaria7.

38. Hasta 1987 en España existía únicamente una entidad de gestión, la SGAE, que gestionaba todo tipo de derechos en régimen de monopolio. Tras la aprobación de la LPI en 1987, y acompañando a la introducción de nuevos derechos en la ley, surgieron nuevas entidades de gestión que básicamente se encargaron de la gestión de los nuevos derechos reconocidos.

39. De esta forma, en estos momentos existen en España 8 entidades de gestión que, sin embargo, no compiten en la gestión de los mismos derechos, sino que, a pesar de que la LPI no lo imponía, cada una de ellas se ha especializado en la gestión de derechos que ninguna otra gestiona (normalmente de un determinado colectivo de titulares), ostentando de esa forma un monopolio de hecho en su sector 8. Esto es así con la única excepción de los derechos de los autores (directores y guionistas) del medio audiovisual, donde a partir de 1999 operan dos entidades: SGAE y DAMA.

40. Las entidades son las siguientes:

41. Según la LPI las entidades de gestión deben carecer de ánimo de lucro y deben contar con la autorización del Ministerio de Cultura para actuar como tales. El ámbito de gestión de la entidad, es decir, los derechos administrados y las clases de titulares de derechos comprendidos en la gestión, se establece en sus estatutos, que deben cumplir unos requisitos determinados (art. 151 de la LPI) y ser presentados al Ministerio de Cultura en el proceso de autorización. El Ministerio de Cultura tiene la facultad de aprobar o no los estatutos presentados por la entidad, así como sus posteriores modificaciones (artículo 159.2 de la LPI). Las facultades que la LPI atribuye al Ministerio de Cultura confieren un amplísimo poder a este organismo en la configuración de este sector. Como se explicará más adelante, el margen de discrecionalidad de este organismo puede ser una de las razones por la cual existen monopolios gestores de derechos de propiedad intelectual y se observa una compartimentación y segmentación por categorías de derechos.

42. El principal objetivo de las entidades de gestión es "la gestión de derechos de explotación u otros de carácter patrimonial, por cuenta y en interés de varios autores u otros titulares de derechos de propiedad intelectual" (artículo 147 de la LPI).

43. En la LPI se especifican de modo impreciso algunas de sus funciones, y en ningún caso se establece de modo articulado y sistemático cuáles son todas ellas. No obstante, dicha sistematización es realizada por el Ministerio de Cultura, que señala que las funciones de una entidad de gestión son las que se recogen literalmente a continuación 9:

• Administrar los derechos de propiedad intelectual conferidos, con sujeción a la legislación vigente y a sus estatutos y ejercitar los derechos de propiedad intelectual, bien de forma delegada por sus legítimos titulares, o bien por mandato legal (derechos de gestión colectiva obligatoria). Para gestionar los derechos que sus estatutos les tienen encomendados, las entidades de gestión conceden a los usuarios autorizaciones no exclusivas10 para utilizar los derechos de los colectivos de titulares que representan a cambio de una contraprestación económica.

• Fijar una remuneración adecuada al tipo de explotación que se realice y percibir esa remuneración con arreglo a lo estipulado. La determinación de las contraprestaciones económicas que los usuarios deben abonar a las entidades de gestión por las autorizaciones que reciben, las fijan aquéllas mediante el establecimiento de las tarifas generales11 que no están sujetas a la previa o posterior aprobación por el Ministerio de Cultura, sin perjuicio de la obligación de negociar las tarifas con asociaciones de usuarios que quieran utilizar los derechos que tienen encomendados para su gestión.

• Perseguir las violaciones de estos derechos mediante un control de las utilizaciones.

• En el ámbito de las utilizaciones masivas, celebrar contratos generales con asociaciones de usuarios de su repertorio12 y fijar tarifas generales por la utilización del mismo.

• Permitir hacer efectivos los derechos de naturaleza compensatoria (por ejemplo, la remuneración por copia privada).

• Realizar el reparto de la recaudación neta correspondiente a los titulares de derechos. Las cantidades recaudadas son abonadas a sus legítimos titulares previo el descuento de unos porcentajes variables destinados a atender los gastos en que incurren para prestar estos servicios.

• Además de atender a su finalidad de gestionar derechos, las entidades por imposición legal deben prestar a los colectivos de titulares que representan servicios asistenciales, formativos y promocionales.

• Proteger y defender los derechos de propiedad intelectual contra las infracciones que se cometan, acudiendo en su caso a la vía judicial.

44. De forma más sintética se podría decir que el núcleo fundamental de funciones que realiza una entidad de gestión colectiva es conceder licencias13 para la utilización de las obras o prestaciones gestionadas; fijar tarifas generales; recaudar los pagos que se deriven de la explotación de obras y prestaciones; vigilar el uso que se hace de las obras y prestaciones; detectar posibles infracciones y actuar contra ellas; y, distribuir los pagos recaudados entre los titulares que representa, una vez descontados los gastos de gestión. A todo ello, se añade una función de promoción y de ayuda a los titulares que debe ser obligatoriamente realizada por las entidades, tal y como establece la LPI.

45. Los usuarios de las obras y prestaciones protegidas son muy diversos e incluyen, entre otros, a cadenas de televisión, radios, salas de bodas, hoteles, teatros, gimnasios, bares u organizadores de fiestas populares. También están cobrando cada vez más peso en virtud del progreso tecnológico y de las nuevas formas de distribución y consumo de obras los usuarios que explotan obras y prestaciones únicamente en el entorno online. Es muy importante tener en cuenta que las necesidades y características específicas de cada usuario varían en un grado muy alto.

46. A la hora de clasificar a los usuarios, es importante tener en cuenta tres características fundamentales:

• La capacidad que los usuarios tienen para anticipar y controlar el uso que hacen de las obras y prestaciones protegidas. Aunque esto es posible para muchos, como las televisiones, las radios o quienes exploten obras o prestaciones en el entorno online, existen tipos de utilizaciones en las cuales el uso es más difícil de controlar, como por ejemplo, una radio en un bar o una televisión en la habitación de un hotel. Evidentemente, el progreso tecnológico es un factor que incide en las posibilidades de anticipar y controlar el uso y en el coste al que pueden llevarse a cabo.

• La posibilidad de que la entidad o los titulares puedan vigilar, a un coste razonable, el uso que los usuarios hacen de los repertorios. En algunos casos, como las televisiones, las radios o los usuarios que exploten obras y prestaciones en el entorno online, es factible que esta condición se satisfaga. No obstante, en el caso de otro tipo de usuarios (como los bares, las discotecas o los gimnasios) la monitorización y vigilancia del uso es más costosa. Como en el caso anterior, el progreso tecnológico constituye un factor que incide en las posibilidades de monitorizar y vigilar el uso, así como en el coste al que puede realizarse.

• La necesidad que los usuarios tienen de acceder a un repertorio amplio para el desarrollo de su estrategia comercial. Existen usuarios que necesitan acceder a un repertorio extenso, mientras que otros sólo precisan utilizar un número reducido de obras o prestaciones.

47. Desde el punto de vista de la organización de los mercados de gestión de los derechos de propiedad intelectual, es importante señalar que las entidades de gestión actúan en varios mercados de producto: prestan servicios de gestión a los titulares, servicios de concesión de licencias a los usuarios y servicios de gestión a otras entidades de gestión, normalmente extranjeras[14] pero también nacionales[15]. Conviene recordar de nuevo que los titulares, pero sobre todo los usuarios, pertenecen a distintas tipologías que se diferencian sustancialmente.

48. Por la propia estructura del sistema de propiedad intelectual y la existencia de múltiples derechos de múltiples tipos de titulares, en ocasiones los usuarios tienen que realizar pagos a casi todas las entidades, ya que al explotar determinadas obras y prestaciones, se utilizan los derechos de titulares pertenecientes a distintos colectivos.

49. Por ejemplo, en el caso de la retransmisión de una obra audiovisual desde la habitación del hotel, en principio, el hotel tendría que obtener la autorización para utilizar el derecho exclusivo del productor audiovisual de EGEDA y pagar a esta entidad el derecho de remuneración de los productores, así como pagar los derechos de remuneración a las entidades que representen al resto de titulares con derechos sobre la obra audiovisual: autores (SGAE y/o DAMA), artistas o intérpretes ejecutantes actorales (AISGE) y artistas o intérpretes ejecutantes musicales (AIE).

50. Para todos estos operadores a quienes las entidades prestan servicios, resulta esencial que el funcionamiento de las entidades de gestión sea eficaz y eficiente.

51. Adquiere especial relevancia en el caso de los usuarios, puesto que las entidades gestionan un input que resulta fundamental para ellos. Ello es así tanto para los usuarios que operan en mercados tradicionales como para aquellos que realizan su actividad en mercados emergentes, como el de explotación de obras y prestaciones en el entorno online.

52. Sin embargo, la falta de presión competitiva puede generar problemas. Por un lado, el establecimiento de tarifas inequitativas y/o discriminatorias. Por otro, las dificultades para que los usuarios gestionen de modo eficiente sus costes y para que se desarrollen mercados no tradicionales de explotación de obras y prestaciones.

53. Estas dificultades se ven agravadas por la multiplicidad de derechos y entidades y la falta de claridad y de adaptación de la LPI a las nuevas realidades, que, es preciso recordar, no define con claridad términos cruciales como “repertorio”, “usuario” o “explotación” y no está completamente adaptada a los recientes cambios tecnológicos.

La indefinición es tal que algunos usuarios no saben que lo son hasta que alguien viene a reclamarles el pago. Estos factores elevan los costes de transacción, introducen incertidumbre en las negociaciones y generan inseguridad jurídica.

NOTAS

2 Además de la LPI, está la Ley 3/2008, de 23 de diciembre, relativa al derecho de participación en beneficio del autor de una obra de arte original. Hasta la entrada en vigor de esta Ley, este derecho se regulaba en el derogado art. 24 de la LPI.

3 http://www.mcu.es/ (consulta realizada el 23/03/09).

4 Dentro de los derechos de explotación, el único caso en el que su importe se fija por intervención administrativa es el derecho de remuneración por préstamo (artículo 37.2 de la LPI).

5 La importancia se ha medido en términos de recaudación. En 2007, estos derechos supusieron un 62% de la recaudación total nacional de las entidades de gestión de derechos (Fuente: AEVAL (2008).

6 Comisión Europea (2004).

7 AIE y AISGE son las únicas entidades de gestión que, de facto, aunque estén habilitadas para ello, no gestionan derechos de gestión colectiva voluntaria. En el resto de casos, todas las entidades gestionan derechos de gestión colectiva voluntaria, siendo la predominancia de estos derechos mayor en el caso de las entidades de autor, en especial de SGAE.

8 De hecho, AIE y AISGE se han especializado dentro de un mismo colectivo, puesto que la primera gestiona los derechos de los artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes musicales y la segunda los de los artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes actorales.

10 Esto significa que la utilización de un derecho administrado por la entidad por parte de un usuario A es compatible con la utilización del mismo derecho por parte de otro usuario B.

11 A lo largo de todo el Informe se utiliza la expresión "tarifa", puesto que es la que normalmente se utiliza en este contexto. No obstante, es preciso subrayar que no se trata de tarifas reguladas o aprobadas por ninguna autoridad administrativa u órgano similar, que es a lo que normalmente se alude con el término "tarifa". En el caso presente, las "tarifas" son precios que las entidades de gestión establecen por la utilización de su repertorio.

12 En la LPI no se define la palabra "repertorio", y éste es uno de los elementos sobre los que habitualmente entidades de gestión y usuarios discrepan. A los solos efectos de este informe, el término repertorio de una entidad de gestión colectiva alude al conjunto de los derechos de propiedad intelectual que gestiona por mandato legal o contractualmente. Es importante señalar que el repertorio puede hacer referencia a derechos de titulares de otros países, en virtud de los acuerdos que las entidades de gestión nacionales tienen con entidades del resto del mundo o de lo que se establezca en la LPI.

13 A efectos de este Informe, por conceder licencias se entiende tanto licencias por derechos exclusivos como contratos conforme a los cuales se hagan efectivos los derechos de remuneración.

14 En virtud de los acuerdos con entidades extranjeras.

15 Algunas entidades de gestión prestan servicios de recaudación a otras entidades de gestión nacionales. Por ejemplo, CEDRO presta servicios de recaudación a VEGAP para algunos derechos, algo que también hace EGEDA para AGEDI y AIE o SGAE para VEGAP (véase AEVAL (2008)).

DE RODILLAS ANTE UN CANTANTE

Bautista usa 450 millones de los autores para avalar al 'holding' de la SGAE y comprar teatros

"El problema de fondo, en cualquier caso, es el dinero que la SGAE deja sin repartir por no encontrar a sus dueños. Según las estimaciones realizadas por AEVAL (la Agencia Estatal de Evaluación de las Políticas Públicas y la Calidad de los Servicios), a 31 de diciembre de 2008 esta cifra se elevaba a un total de 164,3 millones de euros. El destino final de ese dinero no es público y la propia Comisión Nacional de la Competencia (CNC) reconoce en su último informe al respecto que "la información sobre este tema es escasa y toda la que existe proviene de las propias entidades de gestión a través de sus memorias anuales".

"Los editores sospechan que ese dinero se traspasaría a los fondos de la Fundación Autor para poder financiar después el macro proyecto ARTeria. El informe de la CNC hace hincapié en este hecho y asegura que "las cantidades pagadas por los usuarios y no repartidas a ningún titular que se van acumulando en el tiempo ascienden a volúmenes muy considerables". El fin de Teddy Bautista en la SGAE podría estar así cerca."

TRIBUNAL DE LA COMPETENCIA: INFORME SOBRE LA GESTIÓN COLECTIVA DE DERECHOS DE PROPIEDAD INTELECTUAL (1)

Las entidades de gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual realizan su actividad desde una posición monopolística. Ello reduce sus incentivos a operar de modo eficiente y facilita la emergencia de numerosos problemas relacionados con la fijación de tarifas inequitativas y/o discriminatorias. tarifarios, como ponen de manifiesto los expedientes del Tribunal Defensa de la Competencia /Comisión Nacional de la Competencia El objetivo de este Informe es analizar los problemas tarifarios y las restricciones a la competencia en este sector a partir del análisis del marco regulatorio y de las actuaciones llevadas a cabo por las entidades de gestión, al objeto de realizar recomendaciones para la articulación de un modelo más favorable a la competencia.

RESUMEN EJECUTIVO

Las entidades de gestión colectiva de derechos de propiedad intelectual administran y ejercitan muchos de los derechos reconocidos en el marco legal vigente sobre propiedad intelectual y, en concreto, en la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual. Actúan de intermediarios entre los titulares de derechos y los usuarios que explotan obras y prestaciones, representando a los primeros y ejerciendo, ya sea mediante cesión voluntaria o mandato legal, los derechos de propiedad intelectual en su lugar.

A pesar de que el progreso tecnológico y las nuevas formas de distribución y consumo de obras y prestaciones están poniendo en cuestión el rol tradicional de las entidades de gestión, éstas continúan teniendo un papel relevante en la actualidad. La actividad que realizan incide en múltiples sectores de la economía, tanto en los que intervienen en la producción de obras y prestaciones protegidas como en aquellos que las explotan en el desarrollo de su actividad. En 2007, la recaudación total de las entidades ascendió a 518,9 millones de euros.

Teniendo en cuenta la importancia de los derechos de propiedad intelectual en la economía, resulta fundamental que los mercados de gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual funcionen del modo adecuado y sin que existan distorsiones en términos de competencia, sobre todo cuando para muchos usuarios la explotación de obras y prestaciones constituye un factor de producción necesario para el desarrollo de su actividad.

Las entidades de gestión tienen un elevado poder de mercado, realizando normalmente su actividad desde una posición monopolística. Cada una de las ocho entidades existentes en España (SGAE, DAMA, CEDRO, VEGAP, AGEDI, EGEDA, AIE, y AISGE) se ha especializado en la gestión de un determinado conjunto de derechos que nadie más gestiona. La única excepción tiene lugar en el segmento de autores audiovisuales, donde existe un leve grado de competencia entre la entidad dominante, SGAE, y la minoritaria, DAMA.

La posición monopolística de las entidades reduce sus incentivos a operar de modo eficiente y facilita la aparición de una serie de problemas. Por un lado, el establecimiento de tarifas inequitativas y/o discriminatorias. Por otro, las dificultades para que los usuarios gestionen de modo eficiente sus costes y para que se desarrollen mercados no tradicionales de explotación de obras y prestaciones.

Estas dificultades se ven agravadas por la multiplicidad de derechos y entidades y por la falta de claridad de la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual en aspectos que son claves en la comercialización de los derechos de propiedad intelectual, lo que incrementa los costes de transacción y negociación de los usuarios y genera un alto nivel de litigiosidad entre oferentes y demandantes, con la consiguiente inseguridad jurídica.

La falta de presión competitiva a la que se enfrentan las entidades de gestión se explica por la confluencia de barreras de entrada que limitan la competencia efectiva y/o potencial que otras entidades nacionales o extranjeras o los propios titulares podrían ejercer.

Por un lado, se encuentran las economías de escala en la gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual, que generan una tendencia a la concentración de mercado que puede conllevar desventajas competitivas para los entrantes. No obstante, su relevancia depende del tipo de utilización y se está viendo afectada por el progreso tecnológico, que está propiciando la aparición de nuevas formas de gestión de los derechos de propiedad intelectual, reduciendo los costes vinculados a dicha actividad y facilitando la gestión individual, particularmente en el entorno online.

Por otro lado, están presentes las barreras de entrada legales incluidas en la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual y las barreras de entrada estratégicas que las entidades de gestión han establecido en un entorno regulatorio que no contrarresta su elevado poder de mercado.

La Ley de Propiedad Intelectual incorpora una serie de condiciones para operar como entidad de gestión que han contribuido decisivamente a configurar el actual régimen de monopolios y que dificultan la aparición de nuevos operadores que compitan con las entidades ya autorizadas. En primer lugar, la exigencia de una autorización previa condicionada al cumplimiento de requisitos que introducen un elevado grado de incertidumbre, falta de claridad y subjetividad y otorgan al Ministerio de Cultura un elevado margen de discrecionalidad en la concesión de las autorizaciones que afecta al grado de competencia. Este intervencionismo administrativo permite cerrar el paso a otras formas de gestión colectiva distintas a la actualmente existente y que el mercado puede estar demandando. En segundo lugar, la necesaria constitución como entidades sin ánimo de lucro. En tercer lugar, la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual impone, más allá de lo que obliga la legislación de la Unión Europea, la gestión colectiva obligatoria a través de las entidades de gestión de determinados derechos, impidiendo que la gestión individual se desarrolle libremente y que los titulares aprovechen todas las posibilidades que les brinda el progreso tecnológico.

Todos estos factores ponen de manifiesto que la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual constituye un marco legal muy restrictivo de la competencia y tendente a reforzar el efecto de las barreras de entrada de naturaleza económica. En este sentido, las reformas introducidas en la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual a raíz de la transposición de la Directiva de Servicios resultan claramente insuficientes y favorecen el mantenimiento de monopolios gestores de derechos de propiedad intelectual.

Junto con las barreras de entrada legales, existen una serie de barreras de entrada estratégicas que las entidades han establecido en un entorno regulatorio que permite que las entidades puedan explotar su posición monopolística. Por un lado, los contratos con entidades de gestión extranjeras suelen incorporar cláusulas de exclusividad en la gestión de los repertorios y obstáculos a la libre elección de entidad por parte de los titulares. Por otro lado, los contratos de gestión con los titulares se caracterizan por incluir altos periodos de permanencia y preaviso, limitar la libertad del titular para definir el alcance del contrato y garantizar a la entidad la exclusividad en la gestión de los derechos. Finalmente, las entidades establecen en muchas ocasiones tarifas por disponibilidad independientes del uso efectivo, configuran repertorios en los que confluyen sin distinción derechos de gestión colectiva obligatoria y voluntaria y mantienen una importante falta de transparencia sobre sus repertorios, factores que contribuyen a reforzar su poder de mercado.

Pese a que la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual establece un marco normativo de la gestión colectiva en la que la opción más querida y probable es la existencia de entidades de gestión monopolísticas, las obligaciones que este marco legal les impone en absoluto permiten contrarrestar el elevado poder negociador que les atribuye su poder de mercado.

En primer lugar, no existe control ex-ante sobre las tarifas que fijan las entidades, ya sea a través de la introducción de obligaciones eficaces o a través de la supervisión de una autoridad competente. En segundo lugar, el proceso de negociación con los usuarios no garantiza que las tarifas sean razonables y equitativas, puesto que el marco legal permite que, ante una falta de acuerdo, se apliquen las tarifas generales fijadas previamente de modo unilateral por la entidad monopolística, lo que reduce los incentivos de esta última a entrar en una negociación real. En tercer lugar, el control ex-post es muy reducido, principalmente porque la Comisión de Propiedad Intelectual, creada por la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual de 1987 como mecanismo de resolución de conflictos tarifarios entre las entidades de gestión y determinados usuarios, no se ha mostrado como un instrumento eficaz, fundamentalmente porque no ha sido dotada de las competencias y las facultades coactivas necesarias para que pudiese servir eficazmente a ese fin.

La ausencia de un marco regulatorio eficaz ante la posición monopolística de las entidades a la hora de establecer sus tarifas ha dado lugar a numerosos conflictos tarifarios, que se han tratado de resolver a través de los tribunales de justicia y también ante el TDC/CNC, sede en la que en varias ocasiones las entidades han sido sancionadas por abusar de su posición de dominio mediante la fijación de tarifas inequitativas y/o discriminatorias. Los problemas tarifarios introducen distorsiones en los mercados donde operan los usuarios, ya sea porque dan lugar a precios excesivos por utilizar el repertorio, porque impiden que los usuarios gestionen de modo eficiente sus costes o porque ocasionan desventajas competitivas entre usuarios similares.

La CNC considera que las barreras de entrada detectadas y los problemas tarifarios hacen necesaria una revisión del modelo español de gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual. La necesidad de un nuevo enfoque legislativo sobre distintos aspectos de la actividad realizada por las entidades de gestión no es algo nuevo, sino que ha sido demandado en varias ocasiones por diferentes instancias. Precisamente en el ámbito europeo, son importantes las iniciativas planteadas recientemente destinadas a promocionar la competencia entre las diferentes entidades de la Unión Europea.

La CNC considera que es posible un modelo más favorable a la competencia, donde las entidades enfrenten mayor presión competitiva en la prestación de servicios a titulares y usuarios y los mecanismos de mercado puedan organizar esta actividad, dictando cuántas entidades deben existir, qué categorías de derechos deben gestionar y cómo deben gestionarlos. El objetivo de introducir competencia en la gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual es particularmente importante teniendo en cuenta los desarrollos tecnológicos de la última década y el advenimiento del entorno online como la ventana de explotación de obras y prestaciones fundamental en el futuro.

La introducción de competencia requiere reforzar la capacidad de elección de los titulares y de los usuarios. Por este motivo, la CNC considera que debe realizarse una revisión integral de la Ley de Propiedad Intelectual. Ahora bien, en tanto persista la situación monopolística de las entidades de gestión, resulta determinante mejorar su regulación exigiendo a las entidades la introducción de mayor flexibilidad en las condiciones de los contratos de gestión con los titulares; imponiéndoles obligaciones de transparencia y definición de tarifas que tengan en cuenta el uso efectivo de los repertorios y criterios objetivos para su fijación; y creando un regulador que pueda dirimir de forma vinculante toda clase de conflictos en materia de propiedad intelectual. La remoción de esta serie de obstáculos a la competencia y barreras de entrada incrementará los incentivos de las entidades a prestar sus servicios de modo eficiente y reducirá las posibilidades de que ejerzan su poder de mercado en distintos ámbitos, y en particular en el tarifario.

I. INTRODUCCIÓN

1. El marco normativo nacional y distintos convenios internacionales protegen y articulan el sistema de propiedad intelectual vigente en España. Este sistema reconoce distintos derechos de propiedad intelectual a las personas que crean obras y prestaciones.

2. Los derechos de propiedad intelectual otorgan el reconocimiento a los creadores y permiten que obtengan una retribución económica por la realización de sus obras y prestaciones. En virtud de la existencia de estos derechos, cuando una persona, empresa o institución explota una obra o prestación protegida, tiene que estar autorizado para ello y realizar los pagos correspondientes que se deriven de dicha explotación.

3. La gestión de los derechos de propiedad intelectual hace referencia al ejercicio de estos derechos por parte de los titulares que los poseen, lo que esencialmente se refiere a la realización de las autorizaciones correspondientes y a la recaudación de los pagos.

4. Tanto en España como en otros países existe la posibilidad, y en muchas ocasiones la obligación, de gestionar de modo colectivo los derechos de propiedad intelectual a través de una Entidad de gestión. Su rol fundamental es actuar de intermediaria entre los titulares de derechos y aquellos que quieren utilizarlos, representando a los primeros y ejerciendo, ya sea mediante cesión voluntaria o mandato legal, los derechos de propiedad intelectual en su lugar.

5. En la actualidad, existen en España ocho entidades de gestión: SGAE (editores y autores de obras musicales, audiovisuales, literarias, dramáticas y coreográficas), CEDRO (editores y autores de obras impresas), VEGAP (autores de obras de la creación visual), DAMA (directores-realizadores y guionistas de obras audiovisuales), AIE (artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes musicales), AISGE (artistas intérpretes o ejecutantes actorales), AGEDI (productores de fonogramas) y EGEDA (productores audiovisuales).

6. Cada una de las entidades de gestión existentes en España disfruta de un elevado poder de mercado (de monopolio de facto), sin tener que enfrentarse a la competencia de ninguna otra entidad que gestione los mismos derechos, con la única excepción del segmento de autores audiovisuales, en el que existen dos entidades: SGAE y DAMA.

7. Como ponen de manifiesto algunas resoluciones del extinto Tribunal de Defensa de la Competencia (TDC) y de la Comisión Nacional de la Competencia (CNC), en varias ocasiones las entidades de gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual han abusado de su posición de dominio mediante la fijación de tarifas inequitativas y/o discriminatorias por la utilización del repertorio que gestionan. En este ámbito existen seis resoluciones[1], cinco de las cuales concluyeron con una sanción a la entidad correspondiente:

• Resolución del TDC, de 14 de diciembre de 1998, sobre el Expediente 430/98, Onda Ramblas/AGEDI. El motivo del expediente fue una denuncia de Onda Ramblas a AGEDI por fijación de tarifas inequitativas y discriminatorias. No obstante, el TDC no sancionó a AGEDI.

• Resolución del TDC, de 27 de julio de 2000, sobre el Expediente 465/99 de Propiedad Intelectual Audiovisual. El TDC sancionó a EGEDA, AISGE y AIE por fijación de tarifas inequitativas a los hoteles.

• Resolución del TDC, de 25 de enero de 2002, sobre el Expediente 511/01 Vale Music/SGAE. El TDC sancionó a SGAE por fijación de tarifas discriminatorias a Vale Music, frente a otras productoras de discos integradas en una asociación.

• Resolución del TDC, de 13 de julio de 2006, sobre el Expediente 593/05 Televisiones. El motivo del expediente fue una denuncia a AGEDI por fijación de tarifas inequitativas y discriminatorias. En esta resolución, el TDC sancionó a AGEDI por fijación de tarifas discriminatorias a A-3 y T-5 frente a TVE.

• Resolución de la CNC, de 9 de diciembre de 2008, sobre el Expediente 636/07, Fonogramas. En esta resolución, la CNC sancionó a AGEDI y AIE por fijación de tarifas discriminatorias a SOGECABLE frente a TVE y ONO.

• Resolución de la CNC, de 23 de julio de 2009, sobre el Expediente 651/08, AIE/T5. En esta resolución, la CNC sancionó a AIE por haber exigido unas tarifas inequitativas y discriminatorias a Telecinco.

8. Además, la introducción de obstáculos para evitar la competencia de otras entidades también constituye otro motivo por el cual el TDC/CNC se ha pronunciado sobre determinadas conductas anticompetitivas. Así, el TDC tramitó en 2003 el caso relacionado con el conflicto entre SGAE y DAMA, que se originó a partir de la denuncia de DAMA. En ese mismo año, este expediente derivó en un Acuerdo de Terminación Convencional entre DAMA y SGAE, que incorporó una serie de elementos favorecedores de la competencia entre ambas entidades.

9. Las conductas observadas a lo largo de los últimos años hacen necesario un análisis del marco regulatorio de la gestión colectiva en España desde el punto de vista de la competencia. Por este motivo, la CNC realiza este Informe, cuyo objetivo fundamental es analizar las condiciones de competencia y los problemas tarifarios en este sector, con el fin de realizar recomendaciones para la articulación de un modelo más favorecedor de la competencia, en el que se incrementen las posibilidades de que las entidades afronten mayor presión competitiva, que permita una reducción del nivel de conflictividad y garantice un marco eficaz de resolución de conflictos relativos a la gestión de la propiedad intelectual, y en particular de los conflictos tarifarios.

10. El Informe se estructura de la manera siguiente. En el apartado II se analiza qué son los derechos de propiedad intelectual y cómo se articula el sistema vigente en España. Seguidamente, se estudian las características principales del sistema español de entidades de gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual, que constituyen el ámbito de estudio de este Informe. A continuación, en el apartado III, se analiza el poder de mercado de las entidades de gestión y las barreras de entrada. En el apartado IV, se analizan los problemas tarifarios característicos de este sector. Finalmente, en los apartados V y VI, se incorporan las conclusiones y las recomendaciones del Informe.

NOTAS

1 Tres resoluciones de estas están pendientes de revisión judicial: Resolución sobre el Expediente 593/05, Televisiones; resolución de la CNC sobre el Expediente 636/07, Fonogramas; resolución sobre el Expediente 651/08, AIE/T5.

LA MUÑECA

La muñeca se llamaba “Pepita”, tenía el pelo ralo de crepé, la cara de celuloide, y una expresión maligna de bisoja. Cada estación del año tenía un vestuario diferente, asunto que mi tía Anita tomaba muy a pecho desde hacía medio siglo. Sentada en una mecedora, Pepita producía escalofríos en los pocos críos que visitábamos el comedor “de respeto” en el que jamás comió nadie.
-Cuando me muera quiero que entierren a Pepita conmigo -decía mi tía Anita con una sonrisa tan escalofriante como su muñeca.
Un día, el pelo de crepé creó una fauna blancuzca y mi tía Anita hubo de dejar calva a su muñeca, y a partir de entonces llevó gorros de ganchillo. Con el tiempo uno de sus párpados se quedaba entrecerrado, y empezó a tener la misma expresión ladina y artera que solía poner mi tía Anita cuando soltaba una de sus frases:
-¡Quien tiene hijos e hijas más vale que hable de pollos y de gallinas!
Porque mi tía Anita no había tenido hijos, y dada su falta de información, tejió historias inverosímiles con las que me aterraba cuando yo tenía diez años.
-Tuve cinco abortos- contaba- y los vi como buscaban la teta para mamar...
-¿De cuantos meses estabas embarazada?
-De dos meses: pero menos los ojos, que los tenían vacíos, estaban completos, igual que un recién nacido, pero así de grande- y con el índice y el pulgar medía tres centímetros- La comadrona me dijo que si encontrara un biberón para el tamaño de su boca, los podría criar, pero se quedarían sin ojos. No había un biberón tan pequeño...
-¿Y no los podías alimentar con una jeringuilla como a los gatetes?...
-¿Y qué iba yo a hacer con un hijo tuerto y ciego?
Otras veces, señalaba con la barbilla la foto de su marido y decía:
-Bien que me la jugó: no me dijo hasta después de casarme que lo habían operado de un tumor en sus partes y no podía tener hijos....
-¿No decías que habías tenido cinco embarazos?
-Por eso abortaba, porque para que nazca una criatura hace falta el padre y la madre: y Antonio no podía... por eso salían hueros.
Y me contaba nuevos detalles de los fetos, en donde siempre permanecían las cuencas de los ojos vacías y su angustiosa búsqueda de teta:
- Tardaron en morir... hubo uno que lo tuve en la cunica del niño Jesús tres días, y cada vez que lo miraba lo veía torciendo el morrete buscando teta.
Yo se lo contaba a mi madre, que decía indignada:
-¡Pero si no ha estado en la vida preñada! ¡Será retorcida!
Luego, víctima de alguna misteriosa perversión, era yo la que pedía que me diera más detalles.
-¿Tuviste alguna nena entre los abortos?
-Tuve unas gemelas: rubias, con tirabuzones, preciosas... - y su mirada se volvía glauca por la emoción- y tenían los ojos azules, azules...
-¿Las nenas no tenían vacíos los ojos como los nenes?
-No, ellas tenían ojos; pero en la nuca, entre el pelo, y claro... con la vida que les esperaba con esa monstruosidad...
Hubo veces que me contó como era el traje de los abortos al nacer: uno llevaba tirantes con el pantalón, pero sin botones, cosidos; otro llevaba sólo unos pañales... Y durante un par de años mi fingida credulidad hizo que adornara con elaboradísimos detalles sus confidencias. Un día hasta se enfadó conmigo y me dijo que no les llamara fetos, porque al fin y al cabo eran mis primos.
- ¡Como te gusta escoger a tu familia, y mis hijos no son tus primos, ya me dirás si soy tu tía o no te toco nada! -Y estuvo varios días de morro.
Al final, harta de su actitud ofendida, le aclaré:
-¡Mira, no seas tonta, que sé que nunca has estado embarazada!
A partir de entonces ya no me invitó nunca más a merendar a su casa, y su actitud fue de total desapego.

Yo ya era una enfermera curtida en el turno de noche que no cumpliría los cuarenta cuando ingresaron a mi tía Anita en Ginecología, para operarla de un tumor. A sus casi ochenta años había disminuido de tamaño, pero seguía teniendo un aspecto intimidante, y cuando me pidió que le buscara un notario y me quedara de testigo, troté por cumplir sus ordenes.
- Quiero que ponga usted en mi testamento que mi muñeca Pepita ha de ir en el ataúd conmigo, y con el resto de mis cosas me da igual lo que hagan: ¡no las van a disfrutar! El entierro ya está pagado, y todos los papeles y los recibos están en esa cartera. A usted le pagará este testamento mi sobrina, la que viene como testigo, que cuando yo he sido joven bastante miseria le he quitado. -Y me lanzó una mirada llena de desprecio.
Pero salió viva de la operación, y tuve ocasión de sufrirla, igual que el resto de las enfermeras, como paciente impertinente y caprichosa.
El día que le dieron el alta me buscó su cirujano para darme el informe de anatomía patológica.
-Es un caso muy raro: sólo me he encontrado otro hace muchos años... El tumor era un feto anquilosado, al que le había crecido el pelo y las uñas hasta hacer una masa de tejido córneo de quince centímetros de diámetro...
- ¡No me diga que fue verdad que alguna vez estuvo embarazada!
-¡Lo dudo!
-¿Y ese feto?
-Era lo que podríamos llamar su mellizo, que en estado embrionario fue engullido por ella...
-Mi tía es muy mayor... le querría pedir un favor...
-No quiere que le diga lo que es...
-Por favor, dígale que el feto era suyo, que hubiera podido ser su hijo...
Y en la vitrina del comedor, al lado de la mecedora de Pepita, un frasco con formol y su tumor, tuvo una vela encendida y oraciones diarias a partir de entonces.
Hace dos años murió mi tía a los noventa y ocho y, al poco, me llegó de parte del albacea y notario, que había redactado su enésimo testamento, una carta de mi tía Anita para mí:
"Quiero que, como no has tenido hijos, a mi muñeca Pepita la entierres contigo, porque conmigo irá el hijo de mi vientre, que, aunque te guste escoger a tu familia, resulta que era tu primo, un varón, y no me parece bien que esté con una muñeca en la tumba. ¡Y como ves, sí estuve embarazada!"
Lo peor es que soy incapaz de tirar la muñeca a la basura y ahora soy yo la que comento los abortos de mi tía y digo con una sonrisa de través:
-"Cuando me muera quiero que entierren a Pepita conmigo"
Y Pepita, con su aire malévolo, completamente bizca y con un parpado entrecerrado, parece guiñarme un ojo.
La esterilidad es hereditaria.

Impresionante e inspirador. Parece mentira que en tan corto espacio se pueda evocar un mundo tan rico y complejo. Los diálogos son una delicia y la foto, inquietante, de la muñeca es ya la guinda del pastel. Felicidades Gato.

CADA MOCHUELO EN SU OLIVO, Y L'OCELL A LA GÀBIA

En los temas y enlaces de Gatopardo, hay un puñado de valientes dispuestos a desmenuzar el fraude contractual que sufren los ciudadanos en un estado corrupto. Como en La gran corrupción, donde Rafael del Barco explica quienes y como se prevalieron de sus cargos durante décadas para amenazar y extorsionar, procesar y encarcelar a algunos empresarios.
Si pagaban, se les dejaba libres y sin cargos. Si no podían o no querían pagar, o convenía hacerlos víctimas de un montaje, comiéndose las culpas de otros, el juez Estevill dictaminaba "¡L'ocell a la gàbia!" (el pájaro a la jaula), como fue el caso de Rafael del Barco, una de las víctimas de esta asociación de malhechores liderada por el juez corrupto Pascual Estevill y el abogado trapisondista Piqué Vidal, auxiliados por toda la red de jonjoberos, abyectos, indignos, rastreros, lagoteros y rufianes con puestos clave en la Banca, en Hacienda, la Judicatura, y en las más altas instituciones del Estado.
En su bitácora, "La gran corrupción", cuenta esta historia y otras más con la flor y la nata de la alta sociedad catalana, que es lo mismo que decir la clase caciquil calcada de la Sicilia reconquistada por la mafia italo-americana y la Democrazia Cristiana, y de la Argentina neoperonista de Menem y los Kichner; pero rebozada con la falta de horizontes que tiene esa subespecie humana que medra con el aldeanismo nacionalista.
Actualmente, mientras permanece cada mochuelo en su olivo, guardándose muy mucho de solidarizarse con quien ha sido enfilado por la bota de los poderosos, creyéndose a salvo y al margen, hay ciudadanos que acuden a este ágora de Internet, dispuestos a rescatar el reportaje social, la investigación periodística, el artículo de denuncia, y ese viejo adagio que reza: "Hoy por ti, mañana por mí", que nunca deberíamos haber olvidado. Porque la solidaridad ciudadana no es una cuestión ética y moral solamente: es imprescindible si no queremos perecer como idiotas incapaces de unirse frente al enemigo.
No dejemos solos a estos combatientes que aún no han sido silenciados por el tedio, la desesperación, o la mordaza avalada con una sentencia judicial, aunque sólo sea porque saben con qué mimbres se ha urdido nuestra perdición y nuestra jaula.

SI YA LO DENUNCIAN WOLFGANG WODARG, PRESIDENTE DE LA COMISIÓN DE SALUD DEL CONSEJO DE EUROPA, Y EL PERIODISTA IÑAKI GABILONDO...

Gabilondo, en el editorial del informativo del siete de enero de 2010, de la cadena de TV. Cuatro ha dicho que el presidente de la Comisión de Salud del Consejo de Europa, Wolfgang Wodarg, sí lo ha denunciado con el vigor que requiere esta conspiración internacional de los lobbys farmacéuticos para fomentar el miedo.
Lástima que, en abril de 2009 (1), algún científico tirara de la manta y contara los lazos existentes entre la querra bacteriológica, los cárteles de la droga, los políticos, y la industria farmacéutica; y que el 4 de mayo de 2009, en el tema "El espía que surgió del frío", explicáramos los prolegómenos de esta jugada, en el artículo "Gripe porcina: el fiasco de 1976: the swine flu fiasco" (2), por no hablar de la campaña informativa de Miguel Jara, que calificó la campaña de vacunaciones como "marketing del miedo" (3). Y no contentos con eso, en octubre de 2009, nos hicimos eco del artículo y del video de Teresa Forcades, "Gripe A, Lo que ni quieren que sepamos" (4), mientras que, en "El País", se le tachaba de monja inculta y con un ego desmesurado, capaz de las mayores insensateces con tal de que hablaran de ella, entresacando frases aisladas de su vídeo, y describiendo pormenorizadamente sus gestos y sus problemas con la toca. En fin, las tácticas al uso del periodismo de investigación con el que "la prensa seria".nos ha obsequiado en los últimos años. Nada que ver con el periodismo y los periodistas ciudadanos de los blogs, que nos chupamos un dedo.
Quizás harto de estos susurros inaudibles de los que dijimos que la gripe A había sido sobredimensionada por las mafias farmacéutica y política, para obtener ganancias multimillonarias con unas vacunas no testadas, sin garantía, tan inseguras que sus sicarios en los gobiernos habían tenido que firmar una cláusula de exención de responsabilidad.

Esto es lo que cuenta Gabilondo ahora:

"Muchos lo venían diciendo en voz baja. Pero hoy alguien lo ha denunciado alto y claro. El presidente de la Comisión de Salud del Consejo de Europa, el alemán Wolfgang Wodarg, ha acusado al lobby de los laboratorios farmacéuticos de organizar la psicosis de la gripe A.
Este caballero, médico, epidemiólogo y antiguo miembro del SPD, (el Partido Socialista Alemán), ofrece unas extensas declaraciones al diario francés "L'humanité". En ellas atribuye a la organización mundial de la salud la responsabilidad de la ola de histeria. Afirma que en ese organismo hay mucha gente vinculada de forma muy estrecha con la industria farmacéutica, que el pánico que recorrió el mundo no fue espontáneo sino planificado y que no había nada en esta gripe que justificara tal alarma.

Es especialmente interesante la aportación que el doctor Wodarg hace sobre la declaración de pandemia. Hasta el pasado mes de mayo de 2009, para que se declarara una pandemia era preciso que un virus se extendiera con rapidez, pero también que el número de casos mortales estuviera siendo muy superior a las medias estacionales. Desde ese mayo de dos mil nueve, la definición se cambió. Ya no se aludía a la mortalidad. Bastaba con que estuviera apareciendo en distintos países. Así pues, la pandemia quedaba definida por la propagación, no por la gravedad.
Un par de meses después de este cambio de definición, en junio del dos mil nueve, se anunciaba oficialmente la pandemia de la gripe A. Los laboratorios se lanzaron a fabricar la nueva vacuna y los gobiernos, hábilmente pastoreados por los intereses de esos lobbyes, hicieron lo que les correspondía hacer: comprar millones de unidades.
Hoy sabemos que la gripe A ha producido la décima parte de casos mortales que una gripe estacional y tenemos millones de dosis con las que no sabemos qué hacer, y que intentamos colocar -quien sabe con qué argumentos- en los países subdesarrollados.
Antes de que acabe este mes, el Consejo de Europa abrirá una investigación sobre el papel de los lobbyes y los gobiernos en este negocio: el negocio más repugnante, el negocio del miedo."

Gabilondo no ha mencionada la campaña que han llevado a cabo, en los medios de información del Grupo PRISA (Cuatro, El País, etc.), entre otros, acusándonos de conspiranoicos desinformados a los que lo denunciábamos en Internet, y desprestigiando a los médicos y bioquímicos que no se dejaron comprar por las farmacéuticas y alertaron a los ciudadanos, describiéndolos como científicos sin talla, resentidos, mediocres, paranoicos, exhibicionistas...

La disyuntiva es peliaguda: ¿una persona puede cambiar y rectificar o sólo cambian los amos que le dictan su conducta?

DAVID BRAVO RESPONDERÁ A LAS PREGUNTAS DE LOS INTERNAUTAS EN 20MINUTOS

La ley que facilita el bloqueo de aquellas páginas web que vulneran los derechos de la propiedad intelectual ha suscitado muchos interrogantes: ¿Quién determinará si un contenido incumple la nueva normativa: un juez o la Comisión de Propiedad Intelectual creada por el Ministerio de Cultura? ¿A quién afectará dicha ley? ¿Cómo será el proceso de cierre de una web una vez que se haya determinado que ésta la infringe?

David Bravo, conocido abogado del mundo internauta y defensor de que los patrones clásicos de la propiedad intelectual deben adaptarse a los nuevos usos que los ciudadanos hacen de ella, responderá online justo un día después, el martes, 12 de enero, a las 12.30 horas, a todas tus preguntas sobre la nueva ley. Ya puedes enviar la tuya.

David Bravo está especializado en Derecho Informático y Propiedad Intelectual. Ha representado a desarrolladores de software P2P y páginas de enlaces a estas redes.

El Consejo de Ministros aprueba la ley sobre descargas en Internet:

Madrid. (Agencias).- "El Consejo de Ministros ha aprobado las medidas con las que pretende acabar con la piratería en internet y que preven que el cierre o bloqueo de una página web que infrinja la legalidad se produzca siempre por orden judicial, según ha informado la ministra de Cultura, Ángeles González-Sinde.
La propuesta aprobada por el Gobierno y que pasa por diversos órganos consultivos del estado antes de su remisión a las Cortes en febrero es "muy equilibrada" y "da la última palabra a los jueces, que deberán de decidirá rápidamente".
Entre las medidas aprobadas figura la creación de una Comisión de Propiedad Intelectual, que será el órgano que reciba las denuncias de afectados por la piratería. Una vez que esta comisión compruebe que en efecto existe una vulneración de los derechos de propiedad intelectual, solicitará el cierre o bloqueo de la página a un juez, que deberá de tomar una decisión en cuatro días."

NOTA:
Teniendo en cuenta que los juicios por prevaricación, estafa, cohecho, narcotráfico, y contra los mafiosos tardan lustros en celebrarse, eso de que los de la toga y las puñetas vayan a defender la propiedad intelectual con caracter de urgencia, en un Tribunal de Excepción heredero del Tribunal de Orden Público franquista (T.O.P.), va a ser digno de verse.

Increíble. Pero no estoy sorprendido.
En 2001, aposté en la gente, y Uds. no me han fallado nunca.
Uds. han creado la colección más grande de conocimiento humano que haya existido alguna vez: 14 milliones de artículos enciclopédicos en 270 idiomas, todavía en desarrollo y mejora constante. Uds. la han apoyado, financiado, y sostenido.

No hay publicidad que pague Wikipedia. Lo hacen Ustedes. Wikipedia es el quinto sitio web más visitado en todo el mundo – 340 milliones de personas el último mes – y financiamos nuestros servidores y algunos empleados completamente con donaciones. HACKER BURLA LA SEGURIDAD DE LA WEB DE LA PRESIDENCIA ESPAÑOLA DE LA UNIÓN EUROPEA

Un hacker ha tenido la amabilidad de avisar a nuestro gobierno -y al resto de los europeos- de que sus productos informáticos no son de fiar. Y ha colocado la foto de Mr. Bean, personaje que reúne todas las características que los enemigos de Rodríguez Zapatero le atribuyen: poco avispado, engolado, risible e incapaz de resolver problemas sin crear otros mayores.
Teniendo en cuenta que Informática El Corte Inglés (IECISA) y Telefónica cobran 11,9 millones de € por cuidar de la seguridad y la cobertura técnica de esa página web -que a las horas que son muestra eso tan bonito y tan europeo de "Service Temporarily Unavailable. The server is temporarily unable to service your request due to maintenance downtime or capacity problems. Please try again later. Apache Server at www.eu2010.es Port 80"-, es como para preguntarse qué otras pifias nos aguardan de la Presidencia española en la Unión Europea, aparte de un gasto previsto de casi 90 millones €, de los cuales algunos han sido repartidos de la siguiente guisa:

- 2,99 millones € a la empresa Vitra, con sede en Birsfelden (Suiza) y en Weil am Rhein (Alemania) para mobiliario de diseño. Estamos seguros de que si nuestro Gobierno no ha contratado ninguna empresa española, sus razones tendrá, aunque nos tememos que sean inconfesables.

- 1,12 millones € para la Institución Ferial de Madrid (IFEMA), lugar donde se harán algunas reuniones.

- 100.000 € para una ignota empresa -amiga y aliada- que suministrará los obsequios de corbatas para los hombres y pañuelos para las mujeres. (Seguro que con los paramecios estampados que tanto gustan a esos menestrales de la entrepreneurial fabada group)

- 55.000 € para cuchipandas, encargadas a la empresa Mallorca Difusión,

- 812.000 € para los viajes de los participantes de las reuniones, de los que se ocupará la Compañía Transmediterránea, perla del Grupo Acciona, en cuyo consejo de administración están -¡cómo no!- Entrecanales Domecq y otros viejos amigos de la Monarquía.

Y para colmo, ha sido designado el eurodiputado L. Y., alias "gafe de la Bética"*, presidente de la Delegación para las Relaciones con Mercosur, y de la Conferencia de Presidentes de Delegación en el Parlamento Europeo, así como miembro de la Delegación en la Asamblea Parlamentaria Euro-Latinoamericana, después de hundírsele la nao Victoria que estaba botando, convertirse en una antorcha el Pabellón de los Descubrimientos, durante su paso por la Expo 92 , ir de visita a Asis, y haber un seismo y hundirse la Iglesia del santo; ir de turista a Turín, e incendiarse y desmoronarse medio techo del Duomo, con grave riesgo para la "Sábana Santa", mandar él de gira mundial a las carabelas del descubrimiento, y eslorarse ellas en llegando a Japón, etc. , y, claro, ha ido de visita a Cuba, y no lo han dejado entrar.

Es lo que se llama tirar con pólvora del Rey... y pegarse en el pie.

Gatopardo

P. S. 4 enero 2010, 22.05 h.

"El Gobierno ha negado que la web oficial de la Presidencia española de la Unión Europea haya sido atacada por un hacker para sustituir el vídeo de bienvenida de José Luis Rodríguez Zapatero por una fotografía del humorista británico Mr. Bean y ha asegurado que la página ha estado caída durante horas por el "considerable incremento de tráfico" que ha provocado la difusión de la noticia a través de multitud de medios de comunicación e Internet."

O sea, que Informática El Corte Inglés y Telefónica y el Ministerio de Industria y Comunicaciones no tenían previsto que la web de la Presidencia de la Unión Europea pudiera recibir muchas visitas.

El Instituto Nacional de Tecnologías de la Comunicación (Inteco) del Ministerio de Industria, Turismo y Comercio ha explicado:

"El supuesto ataque ha consistido en aprovechar una vulnerabilidad del código fuente denominada XSS (cross site scripting) dirigida a los usuarios de la web y no a la web en sí misma".

"Este tipo de ataques, para resultar efectivos, deben combinarse con alguna técnica adicional que engañe al usuario de la web para que pinche en un enlace modificado malintencionadamente, por ejemplo, con ingeniería social".

"La web de la Presidencia española de la UE no ha sido alterada por ningún intruso, ya que la imagen mostrada en el engaño ha sido cargada desde un servidor remoto y todo el supuesto ataque reside en la url usada (enlace creado malintencionadamente), y no es posible acceder a ella usando normalmente la web".

Cada vez me acuerdo más de Cantinflas y del Braulio de Figuerola y Capitán

 Puede que sea una sucesión de coincidencias adversas lo del mal fario de L. Y.: pero por si un por si acaso, yo no escribo ni digo su nombre.

Disculpen la intromisión, ya que esto no tiene nada que ver con el artículo que aquí se comenta, pero necesito que alguien me diga cual es el camino de salida de este blog

He caído aquí tres años tarde, víctima de mi curiosidad e impulsado por un artículo publicado en Público de Eliseo Bayo. En este momentos no se como dejar de leer todo lo que me he perdido durante este tiempo.

Llevo dos días desternillándome con los comentarios de Gatopardo, disfrutando con placer de sus relatos, vindicaciones y rica escritura. No contento con esto también leo divertido los versos de la Cabra poetisa, busco con ansiedad los artículos de investigación del tal Alimaña y todavía encuentro tiempo para buscar los escritos del resto de socios fundadores de esta locura virtual
Necesito volver a mi rutina, a mi trabajo y a mis ejercicios aeróbicos. En estos momentos me siento el niño que descubrió el mundo a través de Tintin y que reía a carcajada limpia con la única compañía de Obelix y Carpanta.
Tengo una personalidad adictiva que me ha traído graves problemas desde mi mas tierna infancia (hace unos días que cumplí el medio siglo) y ahora no puedo parar de leer.

No puedo mas, estoy extenuado, en dos dias me enamoré de la Gatopardo, admiré al Alimaña y ya envidio a la Cabra. Puede ser que pierda mi trabajo (ni hablar de mi salud mental) si continuo leyendo los archivos correspondientes a estos tres últimos años.

Por favor, necesito que alguien me indique el camino de salida.

Para curarse esta obsesiva dedicación a la lectura de gamberradas, desatinos y artículos bordes, le sugiero una buena ducha, afeitado, agua de colonia, una camisa desabotonada en plan pecho-lobo, un pantalón ceñido, y salir a hacer encuestas en las discotecas a ver si estudian o trabajan, y si suelen ir por allí.

Cuando tenga mi edad ya le dará un reuma y tendrá que dedicarse a las deposiciones escritas de cualquier tontolaba con un blog.

De nada. Ya saben que me gusta ser útil.

CARTA MORAL A JORDI SOBRE LA TRASCENDENCIA Y LA IMPERMANENCIA

Querido nieto: últimamente me preocupas; dices frases que pareces extraer de los camposantos o de una tanda de ejercicios espirituales, ribeteadas con cierta apatía existencialista. Resumiendo, estás pajizo, que es la condición del que se mata a pajas mentales.

Llegados a este punto he de rebatir tu idea de que la mejor manera de relacionarse con los hijos sea la cotidianidad, que los pequeños monstruos suelen trufar con alaridos, protestas, peleas, llantos, discusiones y una crueldad mental digna de Calígula. Y cualquier adulto en su sano juicio ha de frustrarlos unas ciento veinte veces al día si quiere mantener la cordura, cosa que se denomina hipócritamente "educación", pero que es puro instinto de supervivencia.

Tienes la gran suerte de verlos de uvas a peras, de pascuas a ramos, y poderte lanzar con ellos a disfrutar de una desinhibida conducta de psicópatas, ingiriendo alimentos insanos, a deshoras, yendo a Port Aventura y sitios parecidos de juerga y francachela, en los que se te conoce como "el peor de los tres". Y los delirantes propósitos de barcos, acampadas bajo las estrellas, con historias de piratas, luchas homéricas, y mágicos seres que dicen cosas profundas y prohibidas, te ofrece la posibilidad de disfrutar de las ventajas de tratar con niños sin ninguno de sus inconvenientes, al tiempo que te conviertes en su héroe y no en el latoso progenitor que no los deja trasnochar y transgredir las normas.

El resto de tu tiempo, considero una elaborada coquetería emocional que los eches de menos; pero eso forma parte de tu encanto veneciano. Interiormente sabes que no hay nada que contribuya más a la senilidad precoz que el trato con los niños y con los perritos con pedigree. Entontece a cualquiera. Y tú eres listo, aunque no tanto como yo que no suelo cultivar esta sensibilidad de secano, pero lo suficiente como para que quedes con tus ligues en días de diario, y no tengas más remedio que abandonarlas en el lecho poco después, porque tenéis que madrugar. Y, como los fines de semana tienes la excusa de los niños, evitas la escena de la camiseta grande que usan como salto de cama, y eso que a ellas las enloquece, el beso matutino con sabor a café con leche y dentífrico, con la vista puesta en la cama deshecha, mientras tú tienes una indefinible sensación de que quedaría fatal si te vistieras y te fueras a buscar la prensa y un café de máquina, con un camarero que no te eche miradas incendiarias de pasión.

A los que los dioses quieren perder, les conceden sus deseos: así es que procura no tocarles las narices, no vaya a ser que te concedan los críos a tiempo completo.
Y sobre la impermanencia, qué quieres que te diga: relee las disquisiciones de Heráclito y Parménides, y no me hagas plagiarlos...
Un abrazo tiernísimo.

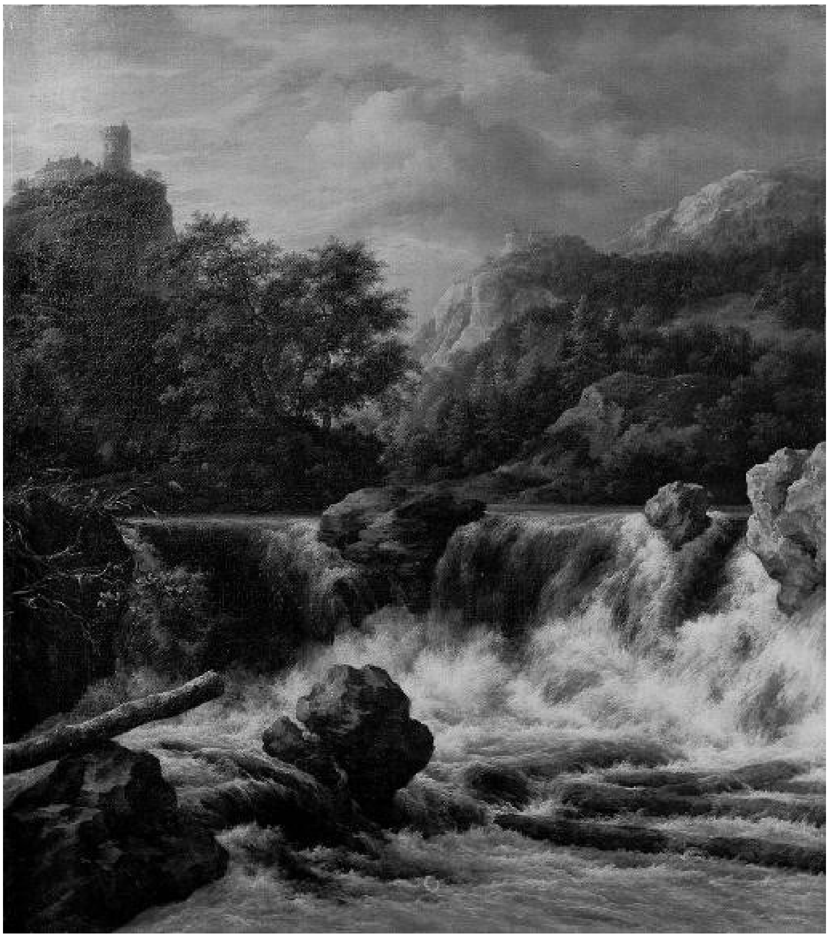
ROMANCE: POR LA RIBERA DEL TURIA. LLANTO DEL PASTOR ENAMORADO



13
POR LA RIBERA DEL TURIA
LLANTO DEL PASTOR ENAMORADO

Por aquel lirón arriba
  lindo pastor va llorando, con el agua de sus ojos
  el gabán lleva mojado.
-Buscaréis, ovejas mías,
  pastor más aventurado,
que os lleve a la fuente fría
  y os carée con su cayado.
Adiós, adiós, compañeros,
  las alegrías de antaño,
si me muero de este mal,
  no me entierren en sagrado, enterradme en prado verde,
  donde no paste ganado,
dejen mi cabello fuera
  bien peinado y bien rizado, para que diga la gente
  "Aquí murió el desgraciado, que murió de mal de amores que es un mal desesperado".
Ya enterraban al pastor
  enmedio del verde prado,
al son de un triste cencerro,
  que no hay allí campanario.
Tres serranitas le lloran
  allá en el monte serrano:
Una decía;: "¡Ay, mi primo!", otra decía: "¡Ay, mi hermano!", la más chiquitita de ellas:
  "¡Adiós, dulce enamorado!, ¡mal te quise, por mi mal, siempre viviré penando!.

b)

Por aquel lirón abajo,
  un lindo pastor venía,
en el su costado izquierdo
  traía mortal herida, que se la hizo otro pastor
  por celos que le tenía;
buen pastor debía ser
  por lo bien que disponía.
Hablaba con sus ovejas
  y a sus corderos decía:
-Buscaréis otro pastor,
  que os cuide de noche y día, que os lleve a beber agua a la fuente en que solía
y de noche a la majada
  y después a la pacía.- Ya le entierran al pastor al pie de una verde oliva,
al son de un triste cencerro,
  porque campanas no había.

Tres serranitas le lloran
de la alta serranía.
Una dice:"¡Ay, mi hermano!", la otra "¡Adiós, primo" decía
y la más chiquita de ellas:
"¡Adiós, el bien de mi vida!".

El romance en asonante –a.o, que en versión asturiana de Santianes de Molenes fue ya publicado en 1885 y en versión leonesa de Viadangos de Arbas, más completa, recogida en 1980, fue dada a conocer por mí en 1997, tiene claramente su punto de partida en un romance trovadoresco, consonantado en –ado, que incluyó el librero y literato Joan de Timoneda en su Rosa de Amores (Valencia, 1573), y que comienza así:

Por la ribera deTurya va un pastor tras su ganado, pobre, triste y sin abrigo,
pero más enamorado,
con lágrymas de sus ojos
el gaván trahe mojado,
entre sí mismo diziendo:
-Crudo Amor, ya estás vengado, pues me tienes preso, herido,
y a tus leyes domeñado...

Otros componentes del romance oral de los siglos XIX y XX comparten, con su comienzo, un noble origen literario: el formulaico motivo de "No me entierren en sagrado", tiene su origen, como ya diré en su momento, en otro romance trovadoresco, "Si se está mi corazón", y la escena de las tres jóvenes que lloran al muerto es un calco del final del famoso romance de tema épico relativo a la "Muerte de Fernand Arias" en el reto de Zamora.

El romance en asonante –í.a, recogido de la tradición oral en el Valle del Lozoya (Madrid), en 1903 y 1904, y en el concejo asturiano de Ponga, en 1920, es una hábil refundición tradicional del asonantado en –á.o.

Vemos, en una y otra de las dos versiones que he presentado, cómo el Romancero oral del siglo XX no sólo heredó y adaptó poemas que ya en los siglos XV y XVI formaban parte del acervo tradicional, sino que se enriqueció acudiendo a la poesía de moda en aquellos siglos de tránsito de la literatura tardo-medieval a la renacentista.

NOTA: El romance de "El pastor enamorado" no debe confundirse con otro tema que goza de una mayor difusión: "Testamento del pastor", que la trashumancia ha difundido por la montaña leonesa y palentina y por Cáceres y La Mancha. Dice así:

Sierra arriba, sierra abajo,
un serranito venía,
con una manta terciada
a uso de serranía,
con el rosario en la mano rezando el "Ave María", no sé si reza por su alma
o si reza por la mía.
A la sombra de un peñasco,
el serrano se tendía.
Llamaron a un cirujano,
por ver el mal que tenía.
Le mandó hacer testamento
de todo lo que tenía.
-Ovejas, las mis ovejas,
aquellas que yo quería,
buscaréis nuevo pastor
que os dé la pastoría, que os traiga cañada abajo, os traiga cañada arriba,

y que os lleve a las montañas
a beber las aguas frías.
El zurrón de las cucharas lo mando a la mi María, para que de mí se acuerde cuando dé vuelta a las migas;
el puchero de la miera,
que allí en la majada había, ese puchero lo mando
a las mozas de la hila
y el gancho y las abarcuelas que me los digan a misas.

Autor: Declaración de Reporteros sin Fronteras

Reporteros sin Fronteras están indignados por la condena a 21 meses de prisión para el director de la Radio Cadena SER, Daniel Anido y el Director de Información, Rodolfo Irago, por haber publicado, en 2003, en la web de la Cadena SER, una lista de 78 personas afiliadas indebidamente al Partido Popular (PP, oposición) en la región de Madrid. Los dos directivos de la SER también han sido condenados a indemnizar a los demandantes, cuyos nombres figuraban en la lista, y no se les permite ejercer como periodistas durante los 21 meses de su condena. En espera de la sentencia de apelación, Rodolfo Daniel Anigo Irago siguen libres.

"El veredicto es verdaderamente escandaloso, desproporcionado e indigno de un país miembro de la Unión Europea. Es inaceptable que los periodistas sean condenados a prisión o se les prohíba ejercer su profesión, simplemente por realizar su misión de informar exhaustivamente. La "revelación de secretos en Internet" que ha motivado la decisión del juez constituye el deber de una investigación libre de la prensa",

"El derecho a informar y ser informado, protegidos por la Constitución española, no depende de ninguna manera del medio utilizado para publicar la información. Aunque la aparición y el desarrollo de Internet plantean interrogantes legítimos, esto no afecte a los principios universales relativos a la libertad de expresión. Es simplemente absurdo que un juez puede considerar que este derecho se aplica a la televisión, radio o prensa escrita, pero no a Internet, al que no considera como un medio de comunicación social, sino como un "vector de propagación universal" sin la protección de las garantías constitucionales. De una concepción anacrónica de los medios de comunicación, que se encuentra sólo en los regímenes autoritarios encuentra aquí un eco del diseño peligroso de Internet. Algunos jueces españoles tienen la oportunidad de ejercer libremente su profesión dentro de la Unión Europea y deben asumir plenamente sus decisiones, a nivel local e internacional ", dijo Reporteros sin Fronteras.

"Pedimos a la justicia española que revise rápidamente esta condena que podría crear un precedente peligroso", dijo Reporteros sin Fronteras.

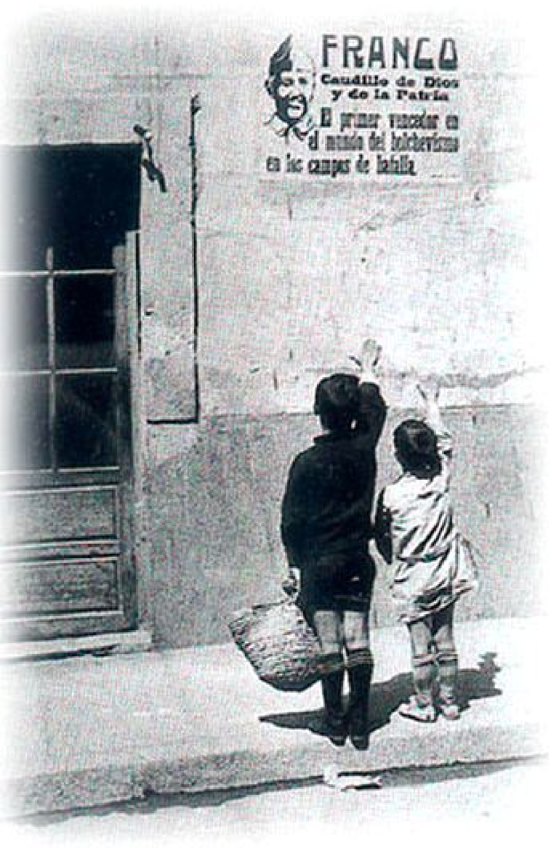
POR LA DIGNIDAD DE LOS EMPLEADOS PÚBLICOS CONTRA EL DESPILFARRO, EL CLIENTELISMO POLÍTICO Y LOS ENCHUFES EN CASTILLA-LA MANCHA



La realidad de nuestra Administración

La situación que se vive en la Administración Regional requiere una llamada de atención para que la sociedad conozca los excesos que se producen en cuanto a privilegios económicos y laborales que perjudican la imagen de lo público y aleja a la Administración de los ciudadanos, a los que debe un servicio público transparente y objetivo.
Los empleados públicos que trabajan cada día en el ámbito de sus responsabilidades laborales no pueden seguir aguantando actitudes poco claras de los altos cargos, ni soportando el desprestigio constante a que se ven sometidos como consecuencia de la creciente ocupación de puestos de libre designación con criterios únicamente políticos, o el crecimiento ilimitado de asesores de la más variada condición, que generan serias deficiencias de funcionamiento y desmotivación de los empleados públicos en los diferentes servicios y departamentos del Gobierno Regional.
Los empleados públicos son la garantía de que los medios y fondos públicos son usados como espera la sociedad, pues esos trabajadores ocupan sus puestos laborales mediante concurso público, lo que asegura el uso de los recursos tal y como establece el ordenamiento jurídico.

La denuncia sobre las malas praxis en la Administración se producen como consecuencia de la falta de atención a las quejas realizadas y a las muchas peticiones de diálogo y explicaciones públicas, lo que nos lleva ahora a poner en entredicho la excesiva politización de la Junta de Comunidades de Castilla La Mancha.

Los problemas detectados

Los representantes de la Junta de Personal ya presentamos en el mes de diciembre del año 2006 (26/12/2006), un escrito ante las Cortes de Castilla La Mancha para que se actuara en contra de los excesivos honorarios de los "Cargos Políticos" en todos los niveles de la Administración, desde la Presidencia hasta las Delegaciones Provinciales. Desde aquel momento hemos insistido en la limpieza de todas las contrataciones y la máxima claridad en las retribuciones, sin conseguir aclarar la mayoría de las cuestiones, motivo por el que realizamos esta convocatoria de prensa para revelar los reiterados incumplimientos de los responsables regionales, que pasamos a enumerar:

- José María Barreda, Presidente de la Junta de Comunidades de Castilla La Mancha, viene incumpliendo sistemáticamente su palabra para justificar su elevado sueldo o aclarar el destino de sus honorarios.
- Se recoloca, en puestos en algunas ocasiones mejor remunerados, a los cesados, con el populista argumento de la reestructuración para reducir gastos, que evidentemente no suponen ahorro alguno a las arcas públicas.
- La oposición y los grupos políticos guardan un preocupante silencio en torno a estos temas, en lo que parece un gran pacto de carácter económico, muy alejado de las verdaderas preocupaciones que afectan a los castellanomanchegos.
- Se argumenta la profesionalidad para dar cobertura a muchas contrataciones con elevados sueldos, cuando la realidad es que han sido ellos los que nos han sumido en la actual crisis global y en la más que probable desaparición de Caja Castilla La Mancha, emblema regional, tal y como la conocemos.
- La creación de Fundaciones, Sociedades Públicas y Empresas creadas a la sombra de organismo públicos, sólo buscan la duplicidad de los órganos administrativos, sobresueldos, beneficios personales y vías para escabullirse de los límites legales y la fiscalización y vigilancia de los empleados públicos, que tiene el deber moral de velar por los intereses generales.
- Se alientan privatizaciones o externalizaciones que provocan pérdidas de puestos de trabajo, modelos de contratos en precario e inestabilidad en el empleo
- Se mantienen índices de temporalidad en el empleo de casi el 25% (23,91% a 1/09/2009), apoyados en numerosas ocasiones en excesivas comisiones de servicio, que pervierten el sentido de los concursos de traslados.
- Se guarda un riguroso secreto sobre las gratificaciones concedidas. Se evita hacerlas públicas y, ni siquiera, se incluye tal posibilidad en el articulado de la Ley de Presupuestos.
- Se aceptan regalos sin un registro de los mismos, que en las fechas navideñas se multiplican escandalosamente, sin que nadie conozca su procedencia o su destino final.
- Se multiplican sin control los puestos de asesores, que sirven para recolocar a cargos políticos en su mayoría, siendo significativo el número de asesores docentes en educación (más de 100) que desempeñan puestos de funcionarios de administración general.
- El número de designaciones a dedo crece sin medida. Si sumamos a las más de 2.000 comisiones de servicio, los puestos de libre designación y concurso específico (libre designación encubierta) nos acercamos a la escandalosa cifra de más de 3.000 puestos de trabajo.

Por la dignidad de los empleados públicos:

Los empleados públicos exigimos mayor respeto hacia la sociedad castellano-manchega, para que recobren la confianza en su Administración, de la que sus funcionarios, laborales fijos o contratados sin vinculaciones políticas, son un ejemplo de profesionalidad en el ejercicio de sus funciones.
No podemos seguir formando parte del desprestigio creciente de la Administración, aumentado considerablemente por los clientelismos políticos, los beneficios particulares inconfesables o de algunas empresas vinculadas invariablemente con concesiones u otras decisiones administrativas.
Pedimos mayor rigor por parte del Presidente de la Junta de Comunidades de Castilla La Mancha y de sus altos cargos, que sin ningún pudor se aumentan desmesuradamente sus ingresos, y establecen cada vez mayores diferencias con los trabajadores, tal y como puede comprobarse en algunas Declaraciones de Bienes y Rentas publicadas en el Diario Oficial de Castilla La Mancha de personas que ostentan, o han desempeñado en el pasado, importantes puestos de representación en nuestra Comunidad Autónoma.
Por todo ello, los empleados públicos denunciamos la parcialidad de la clase política y solicitamos la comprensión popular para funcionarios, laborales y contratados, estigmatizados por la falta de escrúpulos de unos cuantos aprovechados y amparados por los partidos políticos.
Los empleados públicos confesamos el desánimo por la creciente politización de la vida pública y el escaso aprovechamiento de los verdaderos profesionales, que han obtenido su plaza únicamente en base a los méritos demostrados, y no para pagar favores o deudas políticas.
Solicitamos de la Presidencia de la Junta una respuesta inmediata al silencio administrativo que permite estas situaciones impropias de un Estado Democrático y de Derecho.

JUNTA DE PERSONAL DE LOS SERVICIOS CENTRALES (CCOO, UGT, USO, CSI-CSIF y STAS)

NOTA:
Entre sus muchos méritos, estos empleados públicos no cuentan con una prosa inspirada. Tienen la selvática sintaxis de quienes se han nutrido de prosa burocrática y sindical, engullida con poco seso y menos discernimiento.
Como decía la Duquesa de Guermantes: ¡Qué lástima no poder escoger a nuestros inocentes!

LA CONSEJERÍA DE EMPLEO Y MUJER DE MADRID PLAGIA DOS ARTÍCULOS SOBRE MARÍA GOYRI

En una de esas publicaciones de autobombo y autopromoción con las que los políticos y las instituciones públicas nos demuestran que no creen que sepamos leer, ni razonar, y tampoco creen que sea necesario aliñar un poco la bazofia periodística que nos echan, cuya redacción suele estar a cargo de ágrafos y lameculos, la revista "Empleo y mujer"(pdf), de noviembre de 2009, en la pág. 23, hay un artículo copiado y plagiado del artículo de Wikipedia sobre María Goyri y del artículo de Federico Jiménez Losantos: María Goyri: La primera universitaria (El Mundo, 24 de mayo de 1998).
Por supuesto sin citar fuentes, ni autoría.
También han guindado la foto, perteneciente al archivo digital Menéndez Pidal/María Goyri, sin citar procedencia.
Eso sí, debajo del robo, los ladrones han puesto sus rúbricas:

No hay ni una docena de palabras en todo el artículo que no sean copia y plagio.
Me gustaría saber cuánto han cobrado esos mentecatos, y cuánto cuesta al erario público hacer esa revistita digna de minusválidos mentales irrecuperables.

Mujeres en la historia

María Goyri,
primera universitaria española de la época contemporánea

María Goyri nació en Algorta (Getxo) en 1874, hija natural de Amalia Goyri, una costurera culta y librepensadora, que educó a su hija ignorando las convenciones de la época, la inscribió en un gimnasio y a los doce años la matriculó en la Escuela de Comercio. Instalada desde los cinco años en Madrid, a los 16 empezó a estudiar en la Facultad de Filosofía y Letras como oyente, pidiendo autorización al Ministerio de Fomento para abrir una matrícula femenina. Se le concedió para el curso siguiente, pero con la condición de no permanecer en los pasillos, entrar en el aula junto al catedrático, y no sentarse en clase junto a sus compañeros, sino en una silla al lado del profesor. Fue la primera mujer que obtuvo la licenciatura de Filosofía y Letras, en 1896, y la primera en obtener el doctorado, en 1909, en una universidad española.

En 1892 su vida se cruza con las de Concepción Arenal y Emilia Pardo Bazán. Fue en el Ateneo de Madrid, donde tenía lugar el Congreso Pedagógico Hispano-Portugués. Salió a debate la ponencia de Concepción Arenal sobre la educación de la mujer y los dos aspectos que reclamaba: la formación intelectual y la educación física. Carmen Rojo, que dirigía la Escuela Normal de Maestras, se opuso frontalmente a la reivindicación gimnástica, y ahí intervino una joven María Goyri, que defendió con vehemencia las tesis de Concepción Arenal. Fue tan encendida su intervención que Goyri se consagraba ante el pequeño mundo de las intelectuales españolas.

Conoció a Ramón Menéndez Pidal en una conferencia que dio Marcelino Menéndez Pelayo en el Ateneo, y se casó con él en 1900. Su viaje de novios fue por los pueblos de la ruta del Cid, recogiendo versiones de romances hispánicos de tradición oral. Tuvieron tres hijos: Ramón, Jimena y Gonzalo. Participó en las tareas docentes del Instituto Escuela de segunda enseñanza, creado en 1918, junto a María de Maeztu, redactando los programas de enseñanza del español para niños de ocho a diez años, y siendo nombrada el 23 de octubre de 1933 vocal del Patronato de dicha institución. Trabajó hasta la guerra civil en la Institución Libre de Enseñanza y colaboró con una sección, titulada Crónicas femeninas en la Revista Popular.

La guerra sorprendió al matrimonio Goyri-Menéndez Pidal, en su casa de San Rafael (Segovia), en una zona controlada por los militares que se habían alzado contra la República. En el Archivo General de la Guerra Civil Española consta que desde Burgos, donde estaba la Junta de Defensa Nacional al mando de Franco, pidieron el 2 de julio de 1937 a las autoridades de Segovia un informe de las actividades e ideología política de la familia Menéndez Pidal. En dicho informe se dice de María Goyri que "es una persona de gran talento y cultura, de una energía extraordinaria, que ha pervertido a su marido y a sus hijos. Muy persuasiva y de las personas más peligrosas de España. Es sin duda una de las raíces más robustas de la revolución."

Al acabar la guerra, el Instituto Escuela y todos los centros docentes auspiciados por la Junta para Ampliación de Estudios, de ideas liberales y educación mixta, fueron prohibidos, y a los maestros se les prohibió ejercer su magisterio. María, apartada de la docencia, se dedicó hasta el final de su vida a investigar y recopilar las diferentes versiones de romances de la tradición oral para el Archivo del Romancero. Su correspondencia con los investigadores e hispanistas de todo el mundo se custodian en la Fundación Menéndez Pidal, en el Olivar de Chamartín, donde vivió y trabajó desde 1917 hasta su muerte, y son una fuente imprescindible para los estudiosos del Romancero. Murió en 1955.

A quien corresponda:

La revista Empleo, Mujer e Inmigración es una publicación mensual que recoge actos, noticias, actividades y ayudas de la Consejería de Empleo, Mujer e Inmigración.

En octubre de 2007, el Consejo Editorial de dicha revista acordó incluir en la última página, la historia de mujeres nacidas en Madrid, o que al menos hubiesen vivido en la Comunidad de Madrid, preferiblemente durante el siglo XX, que se hubiesen significado por su aportación en favor de los derechos de la mujer. El objetivo era dar a conocer de manera sencilla y divulgativa esta semblanza, sin ninguna pretensión científica.

En la edición de noviembre de 2009, se eligió a María Goyri, madre de Jimena Menéndez-Pidal, por haber sido la primera mujer en obtener un título universitario. Para su redacción, se consultaron diferentes fuentes, entre ellas, un artículo de Federico Jiménez Losantos, así como los fondos ubicados en el Instituto Internacional para la foto, si bien es cierto que no se hace mención a las mismas.

En este sentido, rogamos disculpen la no inclusión de dichas fuentes que, a partir de ahora, y en posteriores artículos, sí haremos.

¿QUÉ HA HECHO LA AGENCIA TRIBUTARIA CON LA DENUNCIA PRESENTADA POR DIEGO CATALÁN CONTRA LA FUNDACIÓN RAMÓN ARECES?

Ya hemos hablado aquí del fraude fiscal que existe en España, gracias a una legislación que ha sido diseñada para permitir que las Fundaciones y las Sociedades de Inversión de Capital Variable (SICAV), donde desgravan las grandes fortunas, sean una isla de corrupción, descontrol fiscal e impunidad que nos han hecho acreedores de la denominación de Estado fallido.

Y, hemos hablado del desparpajo casi temerario de Isidoro Álvarez, presidente de la Fundación Ramón Areces y de El Corte Inglés en sus enjuagues con la Hacienda Pública:

"Cualquier empresario que no sea él, sabe que si quiere ahorrar con Hacienda no basta con decir que ha comprado doce millones de bonos del Tesoro austriaco , y que los ha vendido, a continuación, con casi cuatro millones de pérdida; pero no ha guardado los justificantes de la compra-venta ni ninguna otra documentación, "sólo apuntes bancarios". Y que hagan el favor de desgravarle esa pérdida patrimonial o se mete en pleitos. "Rufufú" Álvarez lleva mareando la perdiz en los tribunales contra Hacienda desde el año 1991. En 2007 el Tribunal Supremo da la razón a la Administración General del Estado al reclamárle 3.970.000 euros." **

Y, en 2007, Diego Catalán, denuncia a la Fundación Ramón Areces ante el Protectorado de Fundaciones y la Agencia Tributaria:

TEXTO DE LA DENUNCIA:

Es copia literal:

A la atención de la Agencia Tributaria. Delegación de Madrid
Madrid, a 30 de julio de 2007

Estimados sres:

La Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal solicita se investiguen las posibles irregularidades fiscales que, a continuación, se detallan:

La Fundación Ramón Areces ha declarado en su Memoria Oficial de Actividades 2004-2005:

1. Que financió la publicación de la Historia de la Lengua Española, de Ramón Menéndez Pidal, publicada y editada por esta Fundación.

2. Que financió las investigaciones de su presidente, Diego Catalán Menéndez Pidal durante este período.

La Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal hace constar que, ni en esos años ni después, ha recibido subvención, ayuda, ni cantidad alguna en ningún concepto, como pueden comprobar en la declaración fiscal de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, en sus Libros de Cuentas y en el Libro de Actas que están a disposición de sus Inspectores Fiscales. Como tampoco ha recibido subvención, ayuda ni cantidad alguna Diego Catalán Menéndez-Pidal en las fechas indicadas.

El 18 de diciembre de 2006 la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal hizo una comunicación formal a la Fundación Areces y a todos y cada uno de sus patronos, solicitando rectificaran el error contable y fiscal, ya que tales afirmaciones por su parte exigían nuestra complicidad en esa irregularidad, cosa que no estábamos dispuestos a consentir.

Al no recibir respuesta ni haber obtenido rectificación, rogamos tengan a bien tomar buena nota de esta solicitud y de nuestra absoluta transparencia en lo referente a nuestros deberes con la Hacienda Pública.

Por si hubiera facturas o recibos presentadas a ese organismo de control tributario que así lo justificaran, solicitamos y nos ponemos a su disposición para un examen pericial que pueda dictaminar sobre la autenticidad de las firmas, ya que la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal hacer constar que tales afirmaciones no se corresponden con la realidad.

Atentamente,

Diego Catalán
Presidente de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal

Memoria de la Fundación Ramón Areces 2004-2005 donde detallan sus inversiones desgravables, completamente falsas:

La Real Academia de la Historia ha concedido su Medalla de Oro al Excmo. Sr. D. Isidoro Álvarez Álvarez, presidente de la Fundación Ramón Areces, en testimonio de agradecimiento al eficaz apoyo que viene prestando la Fundación a las actividades de la Real Academia. Se hizo entrega de la Medalla en sesión académica celebrada el día 17 de diciembre de 2004.

De otra parte, la Real Academia Española y la Fundación han firmado un Convenio para la financiación de los trabajos de revisión del léxico económico del Diccionario de la Lengua Española.

Acto de la firma del Convenio con el director de la Real Academia Española, D. Víctor García de la Concha.

- CONVENIO CON LA FUNDACIÓN RAMÓN MENÉNDEZ PIDAL.

En 1984 la Fundación Ramón Areces adquirió el inmueble donde vivió y trabajó hasta su muerte el ilustre historiador y filólogo, D. Ramón Menéndez Pidal. Mediante un convenio suscrito con la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, se le concedió a ésta la ocupación y uso del inmueble, con el fin de que sirviera como sede y centro de trabajo de dicha Fundación. En esta casa se conserva la biblioteca y el archivo documental de D. Ramón Menéndez Pidal.

Asimismo, la Fundación Ramón Areces presta una Ayuda destinada a los trabajos de investigación que dirige el profesor D. Diego Catalán Menéndez-Pidal, habiéndose publicado diversos trabajos como fruto de su labor investigadora. Entre estos trabajos cabe destacar "El Archivo del Romancero" y, muy recientemente, "Historia de la Lengua española", obra póstuma de D. Ramón Menéndez Pidal, ordenada y concluida por el Profesor Catalán.

Prefacio a la 2ª edición de la Historia de la Lengua Española de Ramón Menéndez Pidal , con PS donde se denuncia la falsedad contable y fiscal de la Fundación Ramón Areces

PALABRAS PRELIMINARES

La presente obra consta de dos volúmenes. En el primero se halla, desnuda de cualquier aditamento, la Historia de la lengua española de Ramón Menéndez Pidal en primera edición póstuma. Completa, hasta donde llegó a escribirla. Auténtica, en cuanto que su contenido es totalmente menéndez-pidalino. Fruto de toda una vida casi centenaria, fue largamente deseada por cuantos conocieron a Ramón Menéndez Pidal y apreciaron su magisterio. Cosas de la vida la dejaron inconclusa y encajonada. Ha sido tarea compleja, larga y azarosa ponerla en la forma en que ahora puede leerse.

Quien quiera saber más acerca de ella acuda al volumen segundo. Allí se explica, de mano de Menéndez Pidal, sobre qué bases conceptuales fue concebida y, de la mía, cómo y en qué tiempos y circunstancias se construyó (desde sus cimientos, hasta los últimos retoques en la fachada). También detallo con qué originales he contado para editar cada parte, capítulo o apartado y cómo han sido utilizados. Índices varios ayudarán al lector apresurado o interesado en acceder sólo a ciertos temas o detalles a bucear en el millar largo de páginas escritas por Menéndez Pidal.

D. C.

P.S. La segunda edición mejora a la primera en la corrección de una serie de errores, en general tipográficos, y respecto al infundado reconocimiento de haber contado con el apoyo de entidades ajenas a la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal.

Que mal por que la Agencia Tributaria es la pionera en la introducción de la e-administración, en España, dando la posibilidad de presentar la Declaración de la Renta por internet. A lo largo de los años se han ido aumentando los servicios ofrecidos desde internet, además se han aumentado los canales de prestación como el teléfono, los SMS o la TDT.

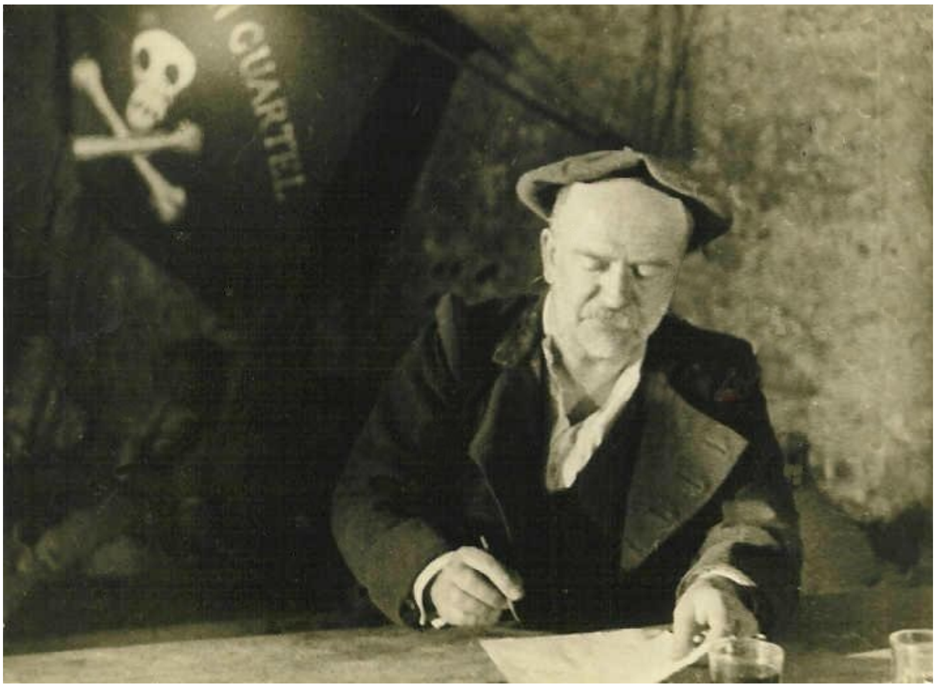
AMORES PÓSTUMOS



Nunca quise ser escritora.
Yo quería ser bailarina, girar y danzar subrayando la música, y saludar con una graciosa reverencia a quienes, aún hechizados, aplauden.
En mi camerino, flores y tarjetas de admiradores que nunca sabrán de la rigurosa disciplina que ha hecho de mi cuerpo una herramienta dúctil. Luego, vestida con un traje sastre, sin maquillaje, saldría de incógnito para encontrarme en una ciudad cualquiera, hasta llegar al hotel, adonde me esperaría Baroja, con su sonrisa tenue y un punto triste.
Le contaré, irónica, que fue un gran éxito y cuantas veces hube de saludar, los aplausos...
-"La verdad es que estos meridionales son unos niños... ¡Qué arraigada tienen la preocupación por lo bello! " Cuando enfermé, desfilaron los médicos con sus muecas gafes y sus diagnósticos nebulosos sobre el origen de mi parálisis. Descarté los escenarios y decidí ser bióloga. Luchar durante años contra esta puerca materia que esconde sus arcanos, y que mis cuadernos, salpicados de ácidos vesicantes, detallen mi pugna con los elementos. Hasta que un día, con ese escepticismo que siempre me surge ante lo demasiado evidente, permaneceré hasta el amanecer en el laboratorio, para repetir aquel experimento que me abrirá las puertas del descubrimiento genial. Al llegar a casa, exhausta, encontraré a Baroja adormilado frente a la estufa apagada, que al primer golpe de vista ha adivinado todo. Y no me felicita.

- "¡Terrible viaje de donde no se vuelve!"
Y yo, después de muchos años sin permitirme una debilidad, lloraré mansamente, arrebujada en su abrazo, sin poder hablar, porque en verdad es arrasador enfrentarse a lo desconocido y dejar de lado las dulces certezas de siempre y de todos por la revelación fulminante de un día.
Cedió la enfermedad sin que yo abriera un libro de Biología ni manejase una simple probeta, y me encontré en plena adolescencia, sobrante de vigor.
Sería conspiradora. Haría un arte de la intriga política. Una mujer aparentemente inocua y de brumosa indefinición, daría paso a una aventurera despiadada que viviseccionará la ingenuidad del enemigo, burlará a la policía de varios países y tendrá cronometrados los estímulos y las reacciones del adversario, gracias a mi prodigioso cerebro. Sí, morderé en la vida como quien nunca aprendió a usar los cubiertos, con el aire desganado que enmascara mi decisión depredadora. Neutralizaré al contrario con una sonrisa, un melindre y con ese encanto melifluo y certero de mujer deseable, para asestarle, indefenso, un golpe letal. Risueña, pediré ayuda a los aduaneros, que han memorizado mi descripción de fiera al acecho entre los reclamos de busca y captura, para transportar mi liviano equipaje, deliciosamente frágil, escondiendo mi fortaleza y las pruebas de un escándalo político internacional o una conjura inenarrable tejida entre sonrisas, Mientras, mis víctimas, hechizadas con quien soslayó su vulgaridad y sólo apreció su fulgor, rozarán la muerte y el descrédito por haber revelado información confidencial, secretos de Estado, claves, transacciones, proveedores, intermediarios... Quizás el "síndrome de Estocolmo" explique más tarde su confusión emocional, su oscura simpatía por la enemiga y su silencio cómplice, que me salva.
Habré de desconfiar de esa difusa mística reformista de mis correligionarios, imbuidos de un despreciable espíritu de sacrificio, demasiado peligroso para quien, como yo, sólo considera sagrada su propia supervivencia. Y al cabo de varios suicidios en mi conciencia, agotada, con ese sabor de ceniza que deja la exploración de lo humano; pero invicta, llegaré a mi cubil para encontrar la ternura abrupta de Baroja, que me retirará el pelo de la cara, y me dejará apoyarme dulcemente en su hombro.
-"Las pasiones políticas tienen eso; con la cabeza tocan lo más noble, la salvación de la patria y de la raza; con los pies, con lo más miserable, con la policía, los vicios y los crímenes."
Pero para cuando yo quise conspirar, las alternativas políticas posibles consistían en atrofiar la capacidad crítica y desarrollar la obediencia debida.
Seré la abnegada amante de un hombre único. Purificaré mi egoísmo, mis petrificaciones de solitaria irreductible. Amar. Disfrutar del encanto de los diminutivos y las palabras cargadas de significado, intraducibles. Me apasionaré así, como todo el mundo, con esa pizca de absurdo argumental que hace de toda historia a dúo algo inefable. Mañana, tarde y noche viviré con mi amado y para mi amado. Nos contaremos secretos y ternezas y pereceré de dicha en sus brazos.
No obstante, la dosis de vacuidad necesaria para solazarme en la contemplación de las córneas de mi amado se evapora en cuanto me imagino unas horas en su compañía y con toda la eternidad para nosotros.
Me temo que las cumbres y las simas de un gran amor son mesetarias, y con mi inicua naturaleza no podré pretender que me entusiasme.

No seré bailarina, ni bióloga, ni conspiradora, ni una amante legendaria.
Seré escritora y mis lectores descubrirán los tesoros de Sardanápalo en mi prosa, mi léxico y mi sintaxis, pulimentados con precisión de orfebre, en una narración donde mi alma se ensanchó hasta abarcar la de mis personajes. Ojerosa y ebria ante mi creación me sentaré a los pies de Baroja, que leerá mi manuscrito con gesto indescifrable.
-"Yo, como todo escritor que quiere mejorar su obra he probado varias veces a emplear el adorno conocido por todos. He hecho el ensayo, he suprimido "ques", he quitado gerundios, he perseguido las asonantes, he puesto donde estaba escrito "había nacido", "naciera... y al final no he hecho más que comprobar que esa especie de perfección, que no es perfección, sino habilidad colectiva y mostrenca, no vale nada."
Lo taladro con la mirada, buscando camorra; él me mira por encima de las gafas, burlón.
-"Yo soy un fauno reumático que ha leído un poco a Kant."
Abrí de una patada la puerta de mi estudio, que preside Baroja, donde mi vieja gata maullaba para que la bajase, encaramada en lo más alto, haciendo equilibrios en las estanterías. Cuando me subí a la escalera (¿en, con, o por la escalera?) la arrullé, y mientras se aferraba a mí con todas sus uñas, la dejé en el repecho de la ventana, e hice un gesto demasiado brusco que dio con mis huesos en tierra.
Durante un mes he de llevar este corsé de escayola.
- "¡Don Pío, átame las alpargatas!"
Me pregunto por qué te tuviste que morir, condenado Baroja, sin conocernos.

INTELECTUALES Y MANTENIDOS DEL RÉGIMEN

Durante la transición a la democracia, uno de los problemas que tuvo que resolver la sociedad española fue la reubicación y jubilación anticipada de los llamados Funcionarios del Movimiento Nacional. Hoy nos encontramos con un problema similar y, si no sabemos encontrar la solución rápidamente, será interminable la cadena de comunicados, peregrinaciones monclovitas y declaraciones contra internautas (sólo perdonables dada su edad, su indigencia intelectual y carecer de otros medios de subsistencia que no sea el gorroneo a las arcas del Estado).
El Gremio de la Cultura, es decir el Aparatchnik del PSOE, nos está resultando a los contribuyentes excesivamente caro. Que los Ayuntamientos les den bolos a unos sexagenarios con balido de oveja traqueotomizada, como Aute o Victor Manuel, es un acto de caridad tan loable como llevar cestas de Navidad a la Cruz Roja. Que estos yayos deliren y piensen que los internautas andamos descargándonos sus eyecciones líricas es un síntoma de un proceso patológico neuronal con el que hay que ser tolerantes, y procurar que la carcajada que nos provocan no le rompa los tímpanos al de al lado. Pero que los abuelitos exijan canon y hablen de propiedad intelectual es asunto más serio.
Nadie les ha negado a estos intelectuales* la propiedad de sus obras. Por mi parte, jamas me haría responsable de incluir semejante fardo de mediocridad en mi patrimonio. Es más, califico como auténtico despilfarro de suelo público los metros cuadrados gastados para guardar sus creaciones, y creo que son ellos los que deberían de pagar cuando el Estado les da un espacio en la red o en otros medios de comunicación públicos que les sirven de propaganda. Por ejemplo ¿cuánto nos ha costado a los españoles que la Biblioteca Cervantes edite a Almudena Grandes y la industria cinematográfica versione sus novelas? ¿Cuánto nos cuesta cada hora de estas nulidades en la radio y la televisión públicas para soltar gracietas, ideicas o butades que sólo les interesan a ellos y a sus tatas, que los ven con buenos ojos?

Deberíamos saber explicarles que hay un mercado donde sí podrían ganar dinero sin necesidad de ser un lastre para la patria. Y ese mercado, que es un espacio de culto, como les gusta a los intelectuales, es el de freaky. Un ejemplo: La carátula del disco Querencias de Aute, que es un mix a la saudade del género "qué bonico era Jackson Browne de joven", con un primer plano del autor recordándonos lo que come la muerte y el photoshop, alcanzaría precios altísimos en ebay. Incluso el disco es aprovechable y lo compraria alguien anunciado como "Aute, el Willi Polvorón de la gauche franquista".
El caso de Almudena Grandes es distinto. Yo creo que los internautas, por conciencia ecológica y fitosanitaria, pagaríamos gustosos por no verla ni saber que se desperdician árboles para recoger sus sandeces.
Dos cofradías más se han unido a exigir impuestos especiales (recurso de extorsión muy querido de la cosa nostra) y tribunales extrajudiaciales: los editores y libreros, y ciertos periódicos digitales.
Es evidente, para cualquier analista de mercados, que los problemas que arrastra el sector de la edición y venta de libros no están ni en la piratería ni en los libros digitales. La situación actual la crearon ellos. Las editoriales españolas se dedicaron desde los años ochenta a destruir fondos editoriales y a instaurar un modus vivendi & atracandi de best sellers, subvenciones y libros de texto de dudosa calidad científica. La respuesta "está descatalogado" o "esa edición queda para pasta de papel" era la habitual y sigue siéndolo. El libro de segunda mano se convirtió en un objeto quasidelictivo, propio de outsiders, pobretones y okupas de la cultura. Y, sin entender ni estudiar los nuevos recursos de edición, se dio la patada a un gremio artesano de gran profesionalidad como era el de los impresores.
El resultado es que tenemos unos libros malos, caros y chabacanos y que el librero de hoy tiene como modelo al pelanas de El Corte Inglés de la sección Papeleria y Novedades. Nacieron IberLibro y Amazon como alternativas viables y rentables, pero a estos inútiles editores españoles lo único que se les ocurrió fue reclamar apoyos del Estado. Nadie les ha exigido a estos empresarios que resuelvan su propia incompetencia en áreas como logística, distribución o costes, por no hablar de la vulgaridad de sus cartas de presentación. La oferta cultural de una Editorial como Planeta (otra que anda reclamando palos a los insurrectos de la red) consiste hoy en:
Los Cuentos de Navidad, de Ana Botella
Inculteces, de Toni Garrido
Historia de España, de César Vidal y Jiménez Losantos
El símbolo perdido, de Dan Brown

No dudo que esta porquería forme parte de las bibliotecas de nuestros ministros o del fondo de armario ideológico de Zapatero o Rajoy, pero el resto de los ciudadanos somos gente sana que huimos de la coprofagia y otras cochinadas.
Por otra parte, ni en un delirium tremens isopropílico, me puedo imaginar, ni a mí ni a ninguno de mis conocidos, descargándonos, ni ilegal ni legalmente, ni en su totalidad ni en forma de analecta, ni sobrios ni hartos de coca, las ocurrencias de Ana Botella o Toni Garrido. (Para el lector de fuera de España, Toni Garrido es un lameculos del régimen que se rie de sus propios chistes, mientras el resto del país andamos buscando dónde está la gracia y al responsable de haber contratado al gracietas).
Puestos a mirar la pela y en plan capitalismo of course, los ciudadanos no tenemos por qué subvencionar un sector que es mal empresario, que no aporta nada a la cultura, que es incapaz de adaptarse a una tecnología que lleva más de veinte años en marcha, y que encima se permite la chulería de insultarnos a los que lo mantenemos. Que cobren lo que les de la gana, que pongan siete candados a sus productos, pero que se corten las subvenciones a este Patio de Monipodio.

Respecto a la prensa, cuando sus gestores y empresarios entiendan que no es productivo fusilar noticias de la red y la radio para imprimirlas en papel y poner en marcha furgonetas por todo el país, de forma que los lectores puedan volver a ingerir, en mal castellano y con faltas de redacción y ortografía, lo que han visto u oído la noche anterior, entonces habrán avanzado algo en el problema. Y mandar, por ejemplo, corresposales a Rusia que no saben ruso para que traduzcan malamente el Times online, tampoco lo veo yo muy sagaz. También sería aconsejable, si pretenden cobrarnos, una cierta soltura con los idiomas y algunos conocimientos básicos sobre los temas que abordan.
No pedimos mucho: lo necesario para tapar las vergüenzas y no tener que andar regalando las cazuelas de Pirex para "fidelizar" clientes.

ESPAÑA: MANIFIESTO EN DEFENSA DE LOS DERECHOS FUNDAMENTALES EN INTERNET

Para enviar un e.mail de protesta a la Presidencia de Gobierno: gabinete@presidencia.gob.es

1.- Los derechos de autor no pueden situarse por encima de los derechos fundamentales de los ciudadanos, como el derecho a la privacidad, a la seguridad, a la presunción de inocencia, a la tutela judicial efectiva y a la libertad de expresión.

2.- La suspensión de derechos fundamentales es y debe seguir siendo competencia exclusiva del poder judicial. Ni un cierre sin sentencia. Este anteproyecto, en contra de lo establecido en el artículo 20.5 de la Constitución, pone en manos de un órgano no judicial -un organismo dependiente del ministerio de Cultura-, la potestad de impedir a los ciudadanos españoles el acceso a cualquier página web.

3.- La nueva legislación creará inseguridad jurídica en todo el sector tecnológico español, perjudicando uno de los pocos campos de desarrollo y futuro de nuestra economía, entorpeciendo la creación de empresas, introduciendo trabas a la libre competencia y ralentizando su proyección internacional.

4.- La nueva legislación propuesta amenaza a los nuevos creadores y entorpece la creación cultural. Con Internet y los sucesivos avances tecnológicos se ha democratizado extraordinariamente la creación y emisión de contenidos de todo tipo, que ya no provienen prevalentemente de las industrias culturales tradicionales, sino de multitud de fuentes diferentes.

5.- Los autores, como todos los trabajadores, tienen derecho a vivir de su trabajo con nuevas ideas creativas, modelos de negocio y actividades asociadas a sus creaciones. Intentar sostener con cambios legislativos a una industria obsoleta que no sabe adaptarse a este nuevo entorno no es ni justo ni realista. Si su modelo de negocio se basaba en el control de las copias de las obras y en Internet no es posible sin vulnerar derechos fundamentales, deberían buscar otro modelo.

6.- Consideramos que las industrias culturales necesitan para sobrevivir alternativas modernas, eficaces, creíbles y asequibles y que se adecuen a los nuevos usos sociales, en lugar de limitaciones tan desproporcionadas como ineficaces para el fin que dicen perseguir.

7.- Internet debe funcionar de forma libre y sin interferencias políticas auspiciadas por sectores que pretenden perpetuar obsoletos modelos de negocio e imposibilitar que el saber humano siga siendo libre.

8.- Exigimos que el Gobierno garantice por ley la neutralidad de la Red en España, ante cualquier presión que pueda producirse, como marco para el desarrollo de una economía sostenible y realista de cara al futuro.

9.- Proponemos una verdadera reforma del derecho de propiedad intelectual orientada a su fin: devolver a la sociedad el conocimiento, promover el dominio público y limitar los abusos de las entidades gestoras.

10.- En democracia las leyes y sus modificaciones deben aprobarse tras el oportuno debate público y habiendo consultado previamente a todas las partes implicadas. No es de recibo que se realicen cambios legislativos que afectan a derechos fundamentales en una ley no orgánica y que versa sobre otra materia.

LOS PERIODISTAS SON SERES ESPECIALES

A lo largo de una vida poco ejemplar he tenido ocasión de conocer muchas clases de gente; pero hasta hace poco no había tenido ocasión de tratar con periodistas. Como los precios son más bajos en el club de jubilados, vienen en bandadas. Se les reconoce enseguida: todos llevan algún aderezo incongruente: una pajarita con la camisa de cuadros de franela, unos zapatos de charol con el anorak, un pelo enmarañado y grasiento con un traje de alpaca, y siempre llevan mucha prisa; pero son capaces de tirarse dos horas de palique. La encargada me deja poner el tenderete de echadora de cartas y, a cambio, le descubro enamorados tímidos, de pelo rizado y buena posición, que no se atreven a declararse. La pobre se siente una femme fatale, y todos los parroquianos andan locos con sus miradas incendiarias y sus próstatas.
Cuando algun periodista me pide que le lea el tarot con cara de escepticismo, sé que vuelve. Los miro a los ojos, en silencio, mientras mezclo las cartas y hago los siete montones. Como soy hipertiroidea, tengo una mirada que parece una taladradora, y eso a los clientes los impresiona.
-Elija usted uno.
Digo de usted a todo el mundo, porque el tuteo que se ha generalizado en España es herencia de los falangistas, como tantas otras cosas de los progres, y a mí me recuerda el sabor del aceite de ricino.
-Tiene usted un enemigo muy poderoso.- No hay periodista que no crea que Botín, Rubalcaba, Fox, Bush, e Isabel Pantoja no se levantan de madrugada, insomnes, preocupados por lo que él escribe -Pero también tiene alguien muy poderoso que le protege. Es alguien a quien usted hizo un favor muy grande, aunque usted no le dio importancia.
Y se lo cree, porque quien más o quien menos se piensa que ha hecho favores a mansalva.
Al cabo de unas cuantas sesiones, me han contado su vida, sus preocupaciones, los rifirrafes con las mujeres, las zancadillas de los compañeros...
Lo que me tiene completamente obnubilada es que da igual que sean corresponsales de guerra, fotografos, sección casquería o prensa del corazón, información económica o política: su interés informativo se centra en los otros periodistas y los otros medios. Llegan de Líbano, oliendo aún a polvora, y cuando cualquiera hablaría de los bombardeos, de las víctimas, del miedo a morir, cuentan:
-El de la Agencia X escribía las crónicas desde el hotel, preguntándole a los camareros, y los de la CNN cobran unas dietas fabulosas, barra libre por cuenta de la empresa...

-¿Es verdad que han bombardeado las centrales eléctricas y los hospitales? -les pregunto. Y contestan:
-Esa información la publicó el de la Agencia X, que está loco. Estuvo dos días sin aparecer por el hotel, salvo para dormir... y el gilipollas no nos quería decir adónde iba. Un novato que busca que lo maten.
Y no hay manera de hacerles entender a estos chicos que a los lectores nos interesa saber qué ocurre con las subastas de obras públicas, con el blanqueo de dinero, con las constructoras que no están dadas de alta en la Seguridad Social y, sin embargo, tienen docenas de obras en construcción, qué pasó con el derrumbe del barrio del Carmel en Barcelona, que parece asunto del CNI, alto secreto militar o algo por el estilo. Y en qué limbo de la inspección de Hacienda yacen las Fundaciones, como la Ramón Areces, propietaria de El Corte Inglés...
Pero conseguir que dejen de poner como noticias de portada lo que hacen y dicen otros periodistas es como querer sobrevivir con mi paga de viudedad sin redondear el presupuesto como echadora de cartas. Imposible.
Desde hace unos días, el tema que más me consultan es si Arcadi Espada se va a poner a servir o a buscar críada...
Está visto que lo único que da dinero es la tontería ajena...

Con espacios como 30 Minutes of Special Assigment, de la CBS, y más tarde para la CNN, la realizadora Amy Berg llevaba invertidos cuatro años de investigación en torno a los sacerdotes pederastas. Había producido varios informes sobre los escándalos de pederastia en el seno de la Archidiócesis de Los Ángeles, y estaba muy familiarizada con el Cardenal Roger Mahony y con los más de 550 sacerdotes bajo su jurisdicción que habían abusado de niños sin ser castigados.

Sin embargo, nada de ello le había preparado para el Padre Oliver O'Grady. Los abusos de O'Grady superaban todos los de sus colegas. Es un hombre que siente escaso remordimiento, cuya compulsión ha destrozado familia tras familia. Sus veinte años de servicio en la Iglesia los dedicó a dos actividades: guiar a su comunidad, y planificar su próximo abuso. Seducía a los padres para ganarse el acceso a sus hijos. Violaba a niños y niñas de todas las edades. Alcanzó a violar a un bebé de nueve meses. O'Grady fue por fin encarcelado y, tras cumplir la pena, deportado a Irlanda, donde había nacido. Pero Berg, que se había documentado acerca de la negativa de la Iglesia a facilitar documentos privados relativos a los sacerdotes pederastas de Mahony, descubrió que ninguno de los superiores de O'Grady había encarado escándalo público o castigo alguno. El mismísimo Cardenal Mahony había negado haber mantenido contacto significativo alguno con O'Grady, pese a que la documentación más bien demostraba lo contrario. Con el deseo de escuchar el otro lado de la historia, Berg averiguó el teléfono de O'Grady en Irlanda y le llamó. Incluso tras varias conversaciones con O'Grady, Berg seguía perpleja.

«Se mantenía totalmente desvinculado con respecto a los abusos que había inflingido» —recuerda—. «Le resultaba imposible recordar todos y casa uno de los hechos. En algunos casos ni siquiera estaba seguro de haber hecho algo indebido». Finalmente, tras varias conversaciones telefónicas semanales, O'Grady se avino a encontrarse con Berg. Ésta voló inmediatamente a Irlanda. «Ni siquiera era consciente de que estaba haciendo una película acerca de esto» —admite—. «*No estaba realmente asustada. UN BAR HA SIDO APUÑALADO EN SEVILLA

Detenido el hijo del dueño del bar apuñalado en Sevilla

"La policía ha detenido a un hijo del dueño del bar, que ha fallecido esta mañana en Sevilla por supuesto parricidio."
("Supuesto parricidio", porque primero habrá que demostrar que el bar era su padre.)

"La policía intenta averiguar ahora si el herido era propietario o trabajador del bar."
(Para descubrir el móvil no hay nada como saber si la factura del Hospital la paga la Seguridad Social bajo el epígrafe de autónomo o de currante.)

"El apuñalamiento sucedió a las 7.45 de la mañana en el bar Ruiseñor en la calle Gorrión del barrio de Los Pajaritos."
(Y eso por no hablar de la plaga de palomas que hay en Sevilla.)

"El hombre fue encontrado en un charco de sangre, por lo que perdió gran cantidad de sangre y presumiblemente alguna de las múltiples puñaladas le alcanzó algún órgano vital."
(Lo que daría yo por leer una crónica de este periodista como corresponsal de guerra.)

Hasta el momento, la Fiscalía no ha procesado a sus profesores por fraude contractual y mala praxis profesional. Y tampoco, al Ministerio de Educación como responsable civil subsidiario por haberle causado a J.M.A. esta grave incapacidad para redactar con propiedad.

Creo que el muerto nada puede ya aducir si fueron tres o seis puñaladas, el Fiscal tampoco creo que vaya al Hospital , ni siquiera requiera por mandamiento judicial que informe al juzgado, el importe y quien ha pagado los gastos sanitarios, como los gastos de sepelio.

Las noticias de parricidios son siempre sobrecogedoras –el parricida de la catana, la ballesta, el hacha, la escopeta-, la hora en este caso esclarecedora indicativa de padre madrugador, trabajador autónomo en itínere, casado o separado, nada dice la noticia que deje viuda compungida.

La edad 45, si estaba divorciado es muy mala para trabajar y atender a un hijo de 20 años, en plena efervescencia de toda clase de actividades y mundos. Me reservo lo que es sabido por activa y pasiva en el crecimiento en estos hechos. Están relacionados con la sanidad, las medicaciones, los diagnósticos, los tratamientos ambulatorios y vida habitual, descansando la responsabilidad de las instituciones a salvo.

La forma de redacción empleada, el sujeto, el verbo, el complemento directo, etc. y las diversas formas gramaticales como fallos, nada puedo decir ya que soy culposo de usar el salero de las comas. Hace corto plazo de tiempo –anterioridad al tiempo actual-, algún lector ante la lectura de propias filípicas, quedo sin aliento o sin alguna neurona sana, si alguna aún le quedaba funcionando.

TIMOTHY HAMPTON: OTRO INSPECTOR DE ARMAS NUCLEARES SUICIDADO POR SU GRACIOSA MAJESTAD

El 21 de Octubre de 2009 fue descubierto, en el Vienna International Centre (VIC), el cadáver de un varón de 47 años que fue identificado como el del científico británico Dr. Timothy Hampton. Según la policía austriaca y los oficiales de la ONU, que ocupa la sede del VIC, el Dr Hampton habría efectuado el mortal aterrizaje desde el piso 17º. Considerando :

1. Que el Dr. Hampton trabajaba en la planta 6ª y no tenía pleito que dirimir en la 17ª.

2. Que no se le encontró arnés. piolet, ni casco protector, ni bayeta de limpiar cristales, ni secretaria o becaria que justificara tal ascensión

3. Que su pasaporte era británico y su curriculum demostraba que era cachorro de Porton Down, cercano al Dr. David Kelly (que se suicidó paseando a su perrito).

4. Que el forense austriaco, que utilizó la sierra de corte oscilante al son de la Marcha Radensky, no encontró signos de que lo habían estrangulado. Y, si lo hizo, no lo consideró relevante.

5. Que Timothy Hampton era el segundo inglés extravagante que le daba por auto-estrangularse y lanzarse desde el mismo piso en un período de cuatro meses.

6. Que las leyes de la hospitalidad internacional no incluían cargar con los fiambres que iba dejando el MI5 y el MI6 aquí y acullá dans l'Europe.

Concluía el informe con que el Dr. Hampton, que andaba metido en la inspección de arsenales nucleares iranies, se había suicidado.
El Foreign Office confirmó el veredicto y añadió que Timothy había sido alumno de St Bartholomew's School, lo que descartaba cualquier hipótesis conspiranóica sobre su muerte.
Annika Thunborg, portavoz del Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty Organisation (CNTBTO), que es el organismo que vigila el uso de energía nuclear en el mundo-minus-Dimona, advirtió que ya había denunciado a los medios de comunicación británicos que, recogiendo los resultados de una segunda autopsia encargada por la familia de Hampton, habían sugerido la posibilidad de un asesinato. Esta es la razón por la que The Times y The Guardian hayan achantado la mui, a pesar de que la noticia haya salido en los demás periódicos británicos e internacionales, excluyendo los de esta tierra de ceporros ágrafos que es España.

Gordon Brown ha reconocido que habrá que investigar esta muerte.

Los Servicios Secretos de su Graciosa, que siempre tienen la mala suerte de que se les encargue investigar sus propias fechorías, han sugerido la probabilidad de que se colara en el edificio de la ONU algún sicario de Mahmud Ahmadineyad, que engatusara al Dr. Hampton con malas intenciones.
Y si quieren saber algo más, como dice doña Olga, mójense el kukusklán.

CON LA CREMA DE LA INTELECTUALIDAD

La poetisa que daba el recital a las seis de la tarde me mandó llamar a las cuatro, porque se le había enclavijado la mandíbula. Agarré el ungüento con alcohol de romero, espliego, árnica e hipérico y salí pitando en su auxilio.
Aquella ametralladora verbal parecía una carraca con sordina:
-No pueo epegá o diente-dijo.
-Espera, te doy un masaje y para las seis, seguro que estarás mejor...
-Iposible, no pueo habar así
Yo casi lo prefería, porque me tendría que chupar el recital de poesía rodeada de toda la plana mayor de la intelectualidad y de la delincuencia local, que por culpa de su buen hacer como abogada estaban sueltos y sin vacunar, dispuestos a jalearla.
Pero mis masajes obran prodigios. A las seis llegamos la poetisa y yo, envueltas en el aura del ungüento, que apestaba a veinte metros. Josico, peinado como si lo hubiera lamido una vaca, y nervioso como un novio, esperaba en la puerta del Salón de Actos con una docena de colegas de la ganzúa y del tirón, tan peripuestos como él. Ella se fue camino del comité organizador y yo me quedé en la puerta con ellos
-¡No choricéis a estos primos, eh, que os conozco!
-Que no, agüela, que ehtamo mu tenso... Oye, ¿dónde te va a sentá?
-No sé, en cualquier sitio, no habrá mucha gente...
-Nosotros detrá, y lo que tú haga, nosotro lo mimmo... ¡Hotia, qué fuerte, tú, mi abogá hace poesía!
Y lo decía con la misma expresión que diría "mi abogada levita".
Y llegó Ágata, la simpar, con las pupilas como faros, y con unos cuantos aficionados a los alucinógenos, para solidarizarse con la poetisa, que para eso están los amigos. Traté de disuadirlos:
-Oye, no, venga, idos a dar por culo a otro sitio...
-¡Venga, agüela, no seass borde, que esstos dicen que no han oído nunca poessías, y vamoss de buen rollito, eh, no te passes!
-¿Os estaréis callados, eh?
-¡Que ssi, que ssi, que no seass brassas! Nos sentamoss detráss y lo que tú hagass, nosotross lo missmo.
Y entramos. Y me senté en los bancos de la izquierda, con más de veinte bombas de relojería detrás.

El comité organizador y el resto de los invitados cuando nos veían se iban sentando en los bancos de la derecha, bien lejos, y con esa expresión que tiene la gente fina de estar oliéndose un bigotillo de mierda fresca.
Mi amigo Juan José, el patriarca de aquella movida, sin enterarse de cuál era su sitio en aquel evento, vino a sentarse conmigo.
Y la poetisa empezó a declamar que si el atardecer, que si la pasión, impetuosa como una quinceañera, y que si, ay, te quiero, amor, con mucho brío y mucho énfasis... cerca de una hora raca-raca, hasta que se atascó, se le olvidó de qué iba y para disimular quiso que aquello pareciera interactivo:
-Agüela ¿cómo es lo de la novela...?
Y no pudo terminar porque de los bancos de la derecha se levantó un señor al borde de la congestión y se fue hacia donde yo estaba.
-¿La agüela? ¿Tú eres la que vas haciendo befa, mofa y escarnio de los poetas de Albacete?
Me puso perdida de babas. Yo lo miré arrobada y le pregunté a Juan José:
-¿Quién es este energúmeno?
Juan José, tan caballero y tan puntilloso con las normas de etiqueta, consideró que debía presentarnos según los cánones:
-¿Me permites que te presente a Manuel Tarrín?
-A mí no me presentas a esta tía que nos ha insultado y...
- Yo he insultado a los poetas; pero usted ni lo es, ni lo ha sido, ni lo va ser en su puñetera vida... -dije por si acaso escribía sin aprovechar todo el renglón.
Me puse de pie y para hacerlo le di lo que yo considero un ligero empujón, y casi se mata contra el respaldo de un banco.
Todos los que se habían sentado detrás, acudieron de refuerzo. También acudieron en tropel los organizadores para mediar, pero Tarrín, ciego de ira por la que le estaba cayendo, quería atizarme. Juan José con los brazos en cruz melodramáticamente gemía:
-¡Manuel, que ella es como de mi sangre, que es como si me pegaras a mí!
Mientras, las huestes no literarias repartían patadas y mandobles en la melé a todo lechuguino que se acercara, sin preguntar a qué fin. Juro que nunca había visto tantos poetas tambaleantes desde que trabajé en un bar.
Y Pepe Navarro, el locutor de voz más engolada de todo el universo mundo, en lo que considero que fue su momento estelar en el campo de la diplomacia, entrevistaba para la radio, micrófono en mano, a la poetisa, en el otro rincón del ring.
-"¿Por qué una poetisa escribe poesía?" Y la poetisa con los ojos que se le salían de las órbitas repetía como un mantra: "Pues, pues... pues... pues...", mientras fulguraban los insultos y los aullidos. Fue una entrevista inenarrable la que se retransmitió al día siguiente.
Por fin, ogramos separarnos de los poetas sin pizca de melancolía, y allá que nos fuimos con la poetisa a casa de Ágata a celebrarlo.
Nunca he visto tantos analfabetos funcionales entusiasmados con la poesía: querían ir siempre que hubiera un recital.
En casa de Ágata se organizó en un pispás un pequeño banquete: vino, entremeses, whisky, coca colas, una tortilla de patatas troceada en cuadraditos, queso, tacos de jamón... y unos ceniceros de cristal de roca divinos.
-Venga, come, que todo esto es por ti...
La poetisa, con lágrimas en los ojos, emocionada, ponderó:
-Habéis gastado hasta lo que no tenéis por mí, es...sois... no sé... Y no pudo seguir.
Nosotros nos miramos un poco incómodos. Y callamos todos: esta abuela, los delincuentes y los drogotas.
Como dijo Camus, "un hombre es más por lo que calla que por lo que dice"...
¡No íbamos a dejar todo aquello en el bufé para que se lo comieran los poetastros! ¿no?

LAS HIJAS DEL PRESIDENTE RODRÍGUEZ ZAPATERO TIENEN SUS DERECHOS Y SUS PRERROGATIVAS, COMO TODO EL MUNDO

El derecho a la intimidad y a la imagen de las hijas del Presidente Rodríguez Zapatero es incuestionable.
Lo que me cuestiono es la responsabilidad civil de los padres de unas niñas que infringen las normas de Tuenti, y que, siendo menores y reclamando privacidad, publican sus fotos en Internet, insultan y lanzan amenazas de muerte, en plan troll, amén de atentar gravemente contra la lengua española.
No quiero ni pensar que lo hagan desde las IP 193.146.153.128 -193.146.153.255, reservadas al Complejo de la Moncloa, sede del Gobierno de España, y al Palacio de la Moncloa, residencia oficial del Presidente de Gobierno español y su familia.
Tampoco quiero ni imaginarme que sea con nuestros impuestos con los que se paga el trabajo de la Brigada de Delitos Informáticos dedicado a contrarrestar la insensatez de esta familia, buscando e identificando a los que hacen humor gráfico con las fotos de sus criaturas, que nada pintaban en un viaje oficial, ni con el Presidente Obama y su esposa en un acto protocolario reservado a los mandatarios participantes en una conferencia internacional.
Y eso por no hablar del trabajo suplementario que con caracter urgente se han tomado los jueces, cuando en España tenemos una Justicia que compite en lentitud y falta de medios con la de Zambia.
Y todo esto cuando no hay ni presupuesto para transcribir y traducir las miles de horas de conversaciones grabadas por orden judicial a presuntos terroristas árabes.
Lo que sí que puedo imaginarme es por qué estas niñas sólo despiertan una ternura mercenaria.

NICOLAS SARKOZY ESTUVO ALLÍ, Y AQUÍ ESTÁN LAS PRUEBAS

Después de la controversia -y las dudas- sobre la foto que ha publicado en facebook Nicolas Sarkozy, abatiendo el muro de Berlín, piqueta en mano, que él data en la tarde del 9 de noviembre de 1989, y contra los que tratan de minimizar su papel decisivo, tenemos la obligación de reproducir aquí otras pruebas que demuestran su participación estelar como testigo y protagonista no sólo en la destrucción del muro de Berlín, sino en otros grandes momentos de la Historia Universal.
Por mucho que me pese, la verdad es la verdad, y aunque me duela que me haya birlado a mi adorada y pizpireta Carla Bruni, por mucho que me encorajine su intento de abandonar el exquisito club de los hombres verticalmente disminuidos, subiéndose encima de unos zapatos Hiplus de diez centímetros, y por mucho que la irritación que me produce lo mismo les dé arre que so, fiel a mi obligación de informar a los lectores con prontitud y rigor, aquí tienen las pruebas gráficas:

CARMEN ROJAS CERRO, EL OLIVAR DE CHAMARTÍN, Y LA GRAMÁTICA

E.MAIL DE RESPUESTA DEL DEPARTAMENTO DE PATRIMONIO HISTÓRICO DEL AYUNTAMIENTO DE MADRID A QUIENES SOLICITAMOS LA DECLARACIÓN DE BIEN CULTURAL PARA EL OLIVAR DE CHAMARTÍN. JUNIO DE 2005

"Estimado Sr./Sra.:
Acusamos recibo de su escrito en el que nos manifiesta su inquietud por la posible Declaración como Bien de Interés Cultural del Olivar de Chamartín, solicitando que se haga efectiva dicha declaración.
Tal cuestión no es competencia del Ayuntamiento de Madrid, sino de la Comunidad Autónoma de Madrid. De lo que si es competente el Ayuntamiento es de la calificación en materia de protección a través de su Plan General de Ordenación Urbana y es en ese sentido en el que nos hemos interesado desde éste Área de Gobierno de las Artes en trasladar el mutuo interés al Área de Gobierno de Urbanismo para que se proceda a estudiar el nivel de protección actual en el P.G.O.U.M. y si es conveniente o susceptible de mejora.
Sin otro particular.
Atentamente.

Carmen Rojas Cerro *.
JEFE DEPARTAMENTO DE PATRIMONIO HISTORICO (Fin de la transcripción)

E.MAIL ENVIADO POR SUSANA HIDALGO A GATOPARDO:

Admirada Gatopardo:

Soy lectora asidua de tu blog y siempre me ha gustado los temas que abordas y la seriedad y justeza de tus fuentes. Por eso, cuando denunciaste la posible destrucción del Olivar de Chamartín, envié mi carta a las direcciones que nos aconsejabas. Bueno, pues yo creo que o te has equivocado o, por lo menos, en una de ellas, anda suelto un ejemplar de incultura desinhibida, que se firma Carmen Rojas Cerro ("JEFE DEPARTAMENTO DE PATRIMONIO HISTÓRICO" así, con grandes mayúsculas, comiéndose una preposición, como en la castiza expresión "el coño la Bernarda"), y que tiene graves problemas de comprensión y de expresión. Te detallo:

Dice esta notable funcionaria: "Acusamos recibo de su escrito en el que nos manifiesta su inquietud por la posible Declaración como Bien de Interés Cultural del Olivar de Chamartín". O sea que ha entendido todo lo contrario de lo que decíamos. Ahora habrá que volver a escribirle y explicarle que lo que pretendemos es que el Olivar de Chamartín sea declarado Bien de Interés Cultural.

A continuación, le da una patada al correcto uso del gerundio y añade: "solicitando que se haga efectiva dicha declaración". La esquizofrenia pura: estamos "inquietos" ante la posibilidad de que el Olivar sea declarado Bien de Interés Cultural y, a la vez, pedimos que se declare . Tonta y liosa, vaya.

Prosigue la astuta funcionaria con una retahíla de dislates e idiotismos, cuyo mensaje final viene a ser: "Vaya usted a otra ventanilla y deje de molestar, hombre, que son las once". Pero ésta ni vende pólizas. Se va a ganar el sueldo "desde é*ste* (sic) Área de Gobierno de las Artes en trasladar el mutuo interés al Área de Gobierno de Urbanismo". Aquí ya me pierdo. Supongo que agarra del brazo al mutuo interés y se lo presenta a otro/a enchufado/a de Urbanismo: "Cuca/Borja, te presento al mutuo interés, trátamelo con cariño, que los de Gatopardo me han dado un horror de jaqueca..."

El pobre "mutuo interés" queda en manos del chupatintas de Urbanismo, que "procede a estudiar el nivel de protección actual"(igualito que los fontaneros mirando el nivel del sifón) "Y si es conveniente o susceptible de mejora": Si es conveniente ¿qué? ¿que lo mejoren? Van a montar un chiringuito en el Olivar y los figuras de Urbanismo meditando sobre el grado de protección teórica.

Por último, quede constancia aquí de que esta funcionaria padece una bulimia agónica con las comas y los acentos. Dile de mi parte que el sí de la quinta línea ("de lo que si es competente…") se acentúa. Y que deje tranquilo y sin acentuar el "este" de "éste Área de Gobierno".

Estoy haciendo la Declaración del IRPF. No quiero ni pensar el rebaño de incompetentes, vagos y funcionarios lameculos del poder que estoy manteniendo con los impuestos.

"Sin otro particular", como dice la "jefe departamento".

Susana Hidalgo (la Susy de tu sección "Comentarios")

MINISTERIO DE CULTURA: ¿QUÉ HA HECHO EL PROTECTORADO DE FUNDACIONES CON LA DENUNCIA PRESENTADA POR DIEGO CATALÁN CONTRA LA FUNDACIÓN RAMÓN ARECES?

No es mal truco eso de dejar que los corruptos campen por sus respetos durante décadas, y presentarlos ante las cámaras de televisión y ante la justicia cuando ya se han forrado la andorga a modo y a algún juez le conviene darle un revoque a la fachada del sistema.
Y como, en España, la mala memoria de los responsables de los organismos competentes -y encargados de velar por la legalidad-, nos han hecho campeones de la desinformación, la corruptela, el fraude, y la inopia, mientras los caciques y los bandarras se forran sin rubor, queremos facilitar a los cargos electos y a los funcionarios competentes del Protectorado de Fundaciones, dependiente del Ministerio de Cultura, la oportunidad de no cometer "delito de fraudes y exacciones ilegales realizadas por funcionarios", "delito de infidelidad en custodia de documentos oficiales", "delito de negociaciones y actividades prohibidas a los funcionarios", "delito de prevaricación", y ganarse el sueldo honradamente: miren a ver adónde han traspapelado la denuncia de Diego Catalán contra la Fundación Ramón Areces ante el Protectorado de Fundaciones, porque mis cuates y yo tenemos la puñetera costumbre de insistir y no reblar ni soltar presa, y no queremos tener que verlos esposados y sin cinturón por haberle hecho ustedes un favor a cuatro mangantes.

Es copia literal:

A la atención de la Subsecretaria General Técnica. División del Protectorado de Fundaciones:

Madrid, 27 de julio de 2007

La Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal (NIF G-78519451 y con nº 121 en el Registro de Fundaciones del Ministerio de Educación y Ciencia) expone ante el Protectorado de Fundaciones los siguientes hechos, cuya gravedad ruega se tenga en consideración a la hora de tramitar su denuncia:
Antecedentes: Desde su constitución, en 1984, la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal firmó un Convenio con la Fundación Ramón Areces, según el cual ambas Fundaciones se comprometían a velar por la conservación de la Casa Menéndez Pidal, sede de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal y propiedad de la Fundación Ramón Areces, por la continuidad de la labor de investigación histórica y filológica , por la conservación de sus valiosísimos archivos (propiedad de Diego Catalán Menéndez Pidal) y por la preservación y acrecentamiento de su biblioteca (propiedad de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal). Las relaciones entre ambas Fundaciones se hallan formalizadas preceptiva y estatutariamente por un Consejo Mixto de Patronos, cuya presidencia y poder de convocatoria recae en el Presidente de la Fundación Ramón Areces, Don Isidoro Álvarez Álvarez (o, en su ausencia, uno de los patronos vocales de la Fundación Ramón Areces). En este Consejo se supervisa el cumplimiento de las obligaciones que las dos Fundaciones han contraído por la conservación de la Casa Menendez Pidal y el patrimonio cultural que alberga.
Hasta febrero de 2004, estas relaciones fueron correctas y de acuerdo a la normativa legal. Pero, a partir de ese año, en que la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal inicia las gestiones, ante las autoridades competentes, para solicitar de éstas el mayor grado de protección urbanística a la casa y jardín y la consideración del conjunto como Bien Cultural (protección concedida por el Ayuntamiento de Madrid, con número de expediente 713/2005/000337, que ha declarado el Olivar de Chamartín espacio protegido), la Fundación Ramón Areces no sólo ha incumplido todas y cada una de sus obligaciones como firmante del Convenio de 9 de mayo de 1984, sino que ha iniciado una escalada de acosos a la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal , llegando incluso a asaltar la sede, invalidando el cierre de la puerta y manipulándola para una posterior intrusión, lo que ha obligado a la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal a interponer dos denuncias el día 12, una en Comisaría de Chamartín, (nº atestado 14.764) y otra el mismo día en el Juzgado Decano de Madrid) y a hacer público los continuos atropellos que está sufriendo:

1. La Fundación Ramón Areces ha dejado de cumplir hasta las más elementales obligaciones de conservación y mantenimiento de la Casa Menéndez Pidal y de su Jardín Catalogado, durante siete semestres, en los años 2004, 2005, 2006 y 2007. Ha incumplido la obligación de convocar el Consejo Mixto de Patronos, en la reunión preceptiva semestral, a pesar de las peticiones formales de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, y no ha contestado a ninguna de sus cartas en que se le informaba de problemas graves relativos a esta cuestión.

2. Si la voluntaria y meditada política de abandono del cuidado del perímetro tapiado, el sistema de calefacción, el jardín histórico, muros, bajantes y aleros y tejados de la casa (repetidamente denunciada en las cartas y actas de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal), que, si aún no ha afectado gravemente a la conservación de este enclave natural e histórico se debe, exclusivamente, a que la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal ha asumido, durante todos estos años, la onerosa carga del mantenimiento de una finca y casa que corresponde a la Fundación Ramón Areces, y al hecho de que su Presidente, así como otras personas de bien con vergüenza civica, han colaborado mediante su desinteresado trabajo y su dinero personal para que este valiosísimo patrimonio cultural no se deteriorara o sucumbiera, porque, hay que subrayar que esta dejación de responsabilidades por parte de la Fundación Ramón Areces se refiere a una propiedad que tiene la máxima protección urbanística y `por lo tanto debe ser mantenida en perfecto estado, siendo punible contribuir por acción u omisión a su deterioro,.

3. Pese a esos desvelos, ante la imposibilidad legal de realizar en su sede obras estructurales, que no le competen, el Patrimonio de la Fundación Ramón Menendez Pidal ha sufrido daños irreparables en su Biblioteca (secciones Moderna e Hispanoamericana) y en su prestigio institucional al haber tenido que mantener inaccesibles a los investigadores durante todos estos años sus valiosos fondos hispanoamericanos.

4. La Fundación Ramón Areces ha dejado de pagar las partidas presupuestarias correspondientes a esos siete semestres, tanto las referentes a suministros, comunicaciones, conservación de la propiedad y seguridad, como las destinadas a Mantenimiento, restauración e incremento del patrimonio y sede, como aquellas destinadas a la investigación filológica, conservación y catalogación de los fondos documentales y publicaciones. El montante de esta deuda asciende a más de 600.000 euros.

5. Un hecho aún más grave es que la Fundación Ramón Areces ha publicado en su Memoria oficial de Actividades de 2004-2005 que sigue subvencionando, en virtud del citado Convenio, a la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal y los trabajos de investigación que en ella dirige el profesor D. Diego Catalán Menéndez-Pidal, y cita, en concreto entre los libros publicados con su mecenazgo la Historia de la Lengua Española, obra póstuma de Ramón Menéndez Pidal. Llegando incluso a presentarse fraudulentamente como mecenas ante el público y la prensa en la ceremonia de su presentación en la Real Academia Española, cuando lo cierto es que la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal no ha recibido ni un euro de la Fundación Ramón Areces ni en 2004, ni en 2005, ni después (y se ha visto obligada a desmentir oficialmente en la 2ª edición de la citada obra el haber sido subvencionada por ella). La gravedad de este hecho, sobre el que Diego Catalán, presidente de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, llamó la atención al presidente de la Fundación Ramón Areces, don Isidoro Álvarez, y demás Patronos de la misma, sin que respondieran a las cartas, no es de índole protocolaria sino de transparencia fiscal.
Si, con posterioridad al año 2003, la Fundación Ramón Areces ha hecho una declaración en el Protectorado de Fundaciones y en el Ministerio de Hacienda en este sentido, la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal solicita su rectificación inmediata y pide, además, una auditoría de la inspección fiscal del Ministerio de Hacienda, y del Protectorado de Fundaciones sobre la contabilidad de la Fundación Ramón Areces, independientemente de las acciones legales que solicitemos de organismos internacionales.

Firmado: Diego Catalán.

Gracias, Gatopardo, por rescatar del olvido los abusos contra el Olivar de Chamartín. Es deleznable que la memoria de Menéndez Pidal, que tanto dio a España, quede ultrajada por toda esa caterva de corruptos, al amparo de la "oficialidad"

Me he quedado muy a gusto leyendo el artículo de García Viñó. Es como beber de manantial después de un hartazgo de albañales. Oye, ¿qué tal está La Fiera Literaria? Son muy lacónicos en cuanto a suscripciones y tal.

ALBERT CAMUS: DISCURSO DE ACEPTACIÓN DEL PREMIO NOBEL DE LITERATURA, AÑO 1957

Estocolmo, 10 de diciembre de 1957

Al recibir la distinción con que ha querido honrarme su libre Academia, mi gratitud es más profunda cuando evalúo hasta qué punto esa recompensa sobrepasa mis méritos personales. Todo hombre, y con mayor razón todo artista, desea que se reconozca lo que es o quiere ser. Yo también lo deseo. Pero al conocer su decisión me fue imposible no comparar su resonancia con lo que realmente soy. ¿Cómo un hombre, casi joven todavía, rico sólo por sus dudas, con una obra apenas desarrollada, habituado a vivir en la soledad del trabajo o en el retiro de la amistad, podría recibir, sin una especie de pánico, un galardón que le coloca de pronto, y solo, a plena luz? ¿Con qué ánimo podía recibir ese honor al tiempo que, en tantos sitios, otros escritores, algunos de los más grandes, están reducidos al silencio y cuando, al mismo tiempo, su tierra natal conoce una desdicha incesante?

He sentido esa inquietud, y ese malestar. Para recobrar mi paz interior me ha sido necesario ponerme de acuerdo con un destino demasiado generoso. Y como era imposible igualarme a él con el único apoyo de mis méritos, no he hallado nada mejor, para ayudarme, que lo que me ha sostenido a lo largo de mi vida y en las circunstancias más opuestas: la idea que me he forjado de mi arte y de la misión del escritor. Permitanme, aunque sólo sea en prueba de reconocimiento y amistad, que les diga, lo más sencillamente posible, cuál es esa idea.

Personalmente, no puedo vivir sin mi arte. Pero jamás he puesto ese arte por encima de cualquier cosa. Por el contrario, si me es necesario es porque no me separa de nadie, y me permite vivir, tal como soy, a la par de todos. A mi ver, el arte no es una diversión solitaria. Es un medio de emocionar al mayor número de hombres, ofreciéndoles una imagen privilegiada de dolores y alegrías comunes. Obliga, pues, al artista a no aislarse; le somete a la verdad, a la más humilde y más universal. Y aquellos que muchas veces han elegido su destino de artistas porque se sentían distintos, aprenden pronto que no podrán nutrir su arte ni su diferencia más que confesando su semejanza con todos.

El artista se forja en ese perpetuo ir y venir de sí mismo hacia los demás, equidistante entre la belleza, sin la cual no puede vivir, y la comunidad, de la cual no puede desprenderse. Por eso, los verdadero artistas no desdeñan nada; se obligan a comprender en vez de juzgar. Y si han de tomar partido en este mundo, sólo puede ser por una sociedad en la que, según la gran frase de Nietzsche, no ha de reinar el juez sino el creador, sea trabajador o intelectual.

Por lo mismo el papel de escritor es inseparable de difíciles deberes. Por definición no puede ponerse al servicio de quienes hacen la historia, sino al servicio de quienes la sufren. Si no lo hiciera, quedaría solo, privado hasta de su arte. Todos los ejércitos de la tiranía, con sus millones de hombres, no le arrancarán de la soledad, aunque consienta en acomodarse a su paso y, sobre todo, si en ello consiente. Pero el silencio de un prisionero desconocido, abandonado a las humillaciones, en el otro extremo del mundo, basta para sacar al escritor de su soledad, por lo menos, cada vez que logre, entre los privilegios de su libertad, no olvidar ese silencio, y trate de recogerlo y reemplazarlo, para hacerlo valer mediante todos los recursos del arte.

Nadie es lo bastante grande para semejante vocación. Sin embargo, en todas las circunstancias de su vida, obscuro o provisionalmente célebre, aherrojado por la tiranía o libre para poder expresarse, el escritor puede encontrar el sentimiento de una comunidad viva, que le justificará sólo a condición de que acepte, tanto como pueda, las dos tareas que constituyen la grandeza de su oficio: el servicio a la verdad, y el servicio a la libertad. Y puesto que su vocación consiste en reunir al mayor número posible de hombres, no puede acomodarse a la mentira ni a la servidumbre porque, donde reinan, crece el aislamiento. Cualesquiera que sean nuestras flaquezas personales, la nobleza de nuestro oficio arraigará siempre en dos imperativos difíciles de mantener: la negativa a mentir respecto de lo que se sabe y la resistencia ante la opresión.

Durante más de veinte años de historia demencial, perdido sin remedio, como todos los hombres de mi edad, en las convulsiones del tiempo, sólo me ha sostenido el sentimiento hondo de que escribir es hoy un honor, porque ese acto obliga, y obliga a algo más que a escribir. Me obligaba, especialmente, tal como yo era y con arreglo a mis fuerzas, a compartir, con todos los que vivían mi misma historia, la desventura y la esperanza. Esos hombres nacidos al comienzo de la primera guerra mundial, que tenían veinte años en la época de instaurarse, a la vez, el poder hitleriano y los primeros procesos revolucionarios, Y que para completar su educación se vieron enfrentados a la guerra de España, a la segunda guerra mundial, al universo de los campos de concentración, a la Europa de la tortura y de las prisiones, se ven hoy obligados a orientar a sus hijos y a sus obras en un mundo amenazado de destrucción nuclear. Supongo que nadie pretenderá pedirles que sean optimistas. Hasta llego a pensar que debemos ser comprensivos, sin dejar de luchar contra ellos, con el error de los que, por un exceso de desesperación han reivindicado el derecho al deshonor y se han lanzado a los nihilismos de la época. Pero sucede que la mayoría de entre nosotros, en mi país y en el mundo entero, han rechazado el nihilismo y se consagran a la conquista de una legitimidad.

Les ha sido preciso forjarse un arte de vivir para tiempos catastróficos, a fin de nacer una segunda vez y luchar luego, a cara descubierta, contra el instinto de muerte que se agita en nuestra historia.

Indudablemente, cada generación se cree destinada a rehacer el mundo. La mía sábe, sin embargo, que no podrá hacerlo. Pero su tarea es quizás mayor. Consiste en impedir que el mundo se deshaga. Heredera de una historia corrompida —en la que se mezclan las revoluciones fracasadas, las técnicas enloquecidas, los dioses muertos, y las ideologías extenuadas; en la que poderes mediocres, que pueden hoy destruirlo todo, no saben convencer; en la que la inteligencia se humilla hasta ponerse al servicio del odio y de la opresión—, esa generación ha debido, en si misma y a su alrededor, restaurar, partiendo de amargas inquietudes, un poco de lo que constituye la dignidad de vivir y de morir. Ante un mundo amenazado de desintegración, en el que se corre el riesgo de que nuestros grandes inquisidores   establecezcan para siempre el imperio de la muerte, sabe que debería, en una especie de carrera loca contra el tiempo, restaurar entre las naciones una paz que no sea la de la servidumbre, reconciliar de nuevo el trabajo y la cultura, y reconstruir con todos los hombres una nueva Arca de la Alianza.

No es seguro que esta generación pueda al fin cumplir esa labor inmensa, pero lo cierto es que, por doquier en el mundo, tiene ya hecha, y la mantiene, su doble apuesta en favor de la verdad y de la libertad y que, llegado el momento, sabe morir sin odio por ella. Es esta generación la que debe ser saludada y alentada dondequiera que se halle y, sobre todo, donde se sacrifica. En ella, seguro de vuestra profunda aprobación, quisiera yo declinar hoy el honor que acabais de hacerme.

Al mismo tiempo, después de expresar la nobleza del oficio de escribir, querría yo situar al escritor en su verdadero lugar, sin otros títulos que los que comparte con sus compañeros, de lucha, vulnerable pero tenaz, injusto pero apasionado de justicia, realizando su obra sin vergüenza ni orgullo, a la vista de todos; atento siempre al dolor y a la belleza; consagrado en fin, a sacar de su ser complejo las creaciones que intenta levantar, obstinadamente, entre el movimiento destructor de la historia.

¿Quién, después de eso, podrá esperar que él presente soluciones ya hechas, y bellas lecciones de moral? La verdad es misteriosa, huidiza, y siempre hay que tratar de conquistarla. La libertad es peligrosa, tan dura de vivir, como exaltante. Debemos avanzar hacia esos dos fines, penosa pero resueltamente, descontando por anticipado nuestros desfallecimientos a lo largo de tan dilatado camino. ¿Qué escritor osaría, en conciencia, proclamarse orgulloso apóstol de virtud? En cuanto a mi, necesito decir una vez más que no soy nada de eso. Jamás he podido renunciar a la luz, a la dicha de ser, a la vida libre en que he crecido. Pero aunque esa nostalgia explique muchos de mis errores y de mis faltas, indudablemente ella me ha ayudado a comprender mejor mi oficio y también a mantenerme, decididamente, al lado de todos esos hombres silenciosos, que no soportan en el mundo la vida que les toca vivir más que por el recuerdo de breves y libres momentos de felicidad, y por la esperanza de volverlos a vivir.

Reducido así a lo que realmente soy, a mis verdaderos limites, a mis dudas y también a mi difícil fe, me siento más libre para destacar, al concluir, la magnitud y generosidad de la distinción que acabais de hacerme. Más libre también para decir que quisiera recibirla como homenaje rendido a todos los que, participando el mismo combate, no han recibido privilegio alguno y sí, en cambio, han conocido desgracias y persecuciones. Sólo me falta dar las gracias, desde el fondo de mi corazón, y hacer públicamente, en señal personal de gratitud, la misma y vieja promesa de fidelidad que cada verdadero artista se hace a si mismo, silenciosamente, todos los días.

Texto original, en francés

En recevant la distinction dont votre libre Académie a bien voulu m'honorer, ma gratitude était d'autant plus profonde que je mesurais à quel point cette récompense dépassait mes mérites personnels. Tout homme et, à plus forte raison, tout artiste, désire être reconnu. Je le désire aussi. Mais il ne m'a pas été possible d'apprendre votre décision sans comparer son retentissement à ce que je suis réellement. Comment un homme presque jeune, riche de ses seuls doutes et d'une œuvre encore en chantier, habitué à vivre dans la solitude du travail ou dans les retraites de l'amitié, n'aurait-il pas appris avec une sorte de panique un arrêt qui le portait d'un coup, seul et réduit à lui-même, au centre d'une lumière crue ? De quel cœur aussi pouvait-il recevoir cet honneur à l'heure où, en Europe, d'autres écrivains, parmi les plus grands, sont réduits au silence, et dans le temps même où sa terre natale connaît un malheur incessant ?

J'ai connu ce désarroi et ce trouble intérieur. Pour retrouver la paix, il m'a fallu, en somme, me mettre en règle avec un sort trop généreux. Et, puisque je ne pouvais m'égaler à lui en m'appuyant sur mes seuls mérites, je n'ai rien trouvé d'autre pour m'aider que ce qui m'a soutenu tout au long de ma vie, et dans les circonstances les plus contraires : l'idée que je me fais de mon art et du rôle de l'écrivain. Permettez seulement que, dans un sentiment de reconnaissance et d'amitié, je vous dise, aussi simplement que je le pourrai, quelle est cette idée.

Je ne puis vivre personnellement sans mon art. Mais je n'ai jamais placé cet art au-dessus de tout. S'il m'est nécessaire au contraire, c'est qu'il ne se sépare de personne et me permet de vivre, tel que je suis, au niveau de tous. L'art n'est pas à mes yeux une réjouissance solitaire. Il est un moyen d'émouvoir le plus grand nombre d'hommes en leur offrant une image privilégiée des souffrances et des joies communes. Il oblige donc l'artiste à ne pas se séparer ; il le soumet à la vérité la plus humble et la plus universelle. Et celui qui, souvent, a choisi son destin d'artiste parce qu'il se sentait différent apprend bien vite qu'il ne nourrira son art, et sa différence, qu'en avouant sa ressemblance avec tous. L'artiste se forge dans cet aller retour perpétuel de lui aux autres, à mi-chemin de la beauté dont il ne peut se passer et de la communauté à laquelle il ne peut s'arracher. C'est pourquoi les vrais artistes ne méprisent rien ; ils s'obligent à comprendre au lieu de juger. Et s'ils ont un parti à prendre en ce monde ce ne peut être que celui d'une société où, selon le grand mot de Nietzsche, ne règnera plus le juge, mais le créateur, qu'il soit travailleur ou intellectuel.

Le rôle de l’écrivain, du même coup, ne se sépare pas de devoirs difficiles. Par définition, il ne peut se mettre aujourd’hui au service de ceux qui font l’histoire : il est au service de ceux qui la subissent. Ou sinon, le voici seul et privé de son art. Toutes les armées de la tyrannie avec leurs millions d’hommes ne l’enlèveront pas à la solitude, même et surtout s’il consent à prendre leur pas. Mais le silence d’un prisonnier inconnu, abandonné aux humiliations à l’autre bout du monde, suffit à retirer l’écrivain de l’exil chaque fois, du moins, qu’il parvient, au milieu des privilèges de la liberté, à ne pas oublier ce silence, et à le relayer pour le faire retentir par les moyens de l’art.

Aucun de nous n’est assez grand pour une pareille vocation. Mais dans toutes les circonstances de sa vie, obscur ou provisoirement célèbre, jeté dans les fers de la tyrannie ou libre pour un temps de s’exprimer, l’écrivain peut retrouver le sentiment d’une communauté vivante qui le justifiera, à la seule condition qu’il accepte, autant qu’il peut, les deux charges qui font la grandeur de son métier : le service de la vérité et celui de la liberté. Puisque sa vocation est de réunir le plus grand nombre d’hommes possible, elle ne peut s’accommoder du mensonge et de la servitude qui, là où ils règnent, font proliférer les solitudes. Quelles que soient nos infirmités personnelles, la noblesse de notre métier s’enracinera toujours dans deux engagements difficiles à maintenir : le refus de mentir sur ce que l’on sait et la résistance à l’oppression.

Pendant plus de vingt ans d’une histoire démentielle, perdu sans secours, comme tous les hommes de mon âge, dans les convulsions du temps, j’ai été soutenu ainsi : par le sentiment obscur qu’écrire était aujourd’hui un honneur, parce que cet acte obligeait, et obligeait à ne pas écrire seulement. Il m’obligeait particulièrement à porter, tel que j’étais et selon mes forces, avec tous ceux qui vivaient la même histoire, le malheur et l’espérance que nous partagions. Ces hommes, nés au début de la première guerre mondiale, qui ont eu vingt ans au moment où s’installaient à la fois le pouvoir hitlérien et les premiers procès révolutionnaires, qui furent confrontés ensuite, pour parfaire leur éducation, à la guerre d’Espagne, à la deuxième guerre mondiale, à l’univers concentrationnaire, à l’Europe de la torture et des prisons, doivent aujourd’hui élever leurs fils et leurs œuvres dans un monde menacé de destruction nucléaire. Personne, je suppose, ne peut leur demander d’être optimistes. Et je suis même d’avis que nous devons comprendre, sans cesser de lutter contre eux, l’erreur de ceux qui, par une surenchère de désespoir, ont revendiqué le droit au déshonneur, et se sont rués dans les nihilismes de l’époque. Mais il reste que la plupart d’entre nous, dans mon pays et en Europe, ont refusé ce nihilisme et se sont mis à la recherche d’une légitimité. Il leur a fallu se forger un art de vivre par temps de catastrophe, pour naître une seconde fois, et lutter ensuite, à visage découvert, contre l’instinct de mort à l’œuvre dans notre histoire.

Chaque génération, sans doute, se croit vouée à refaire le monde. La mienne sait pourtant qu’elle ne le refera pas. Mais sa tâche est peut-être plus grande. Elle consiste à empêcher que le monde se défasse. Héritière d’une histoire corrompue où se mêlent les révolutions déchues, les techniques devenues folles, les dieux morts et les idéologies exténuées, où de médiocres pouvoirs peuvent aujourd’hui tout détruire mais ne savent plus convaincre, où l’intelligence s’est abaissée jusqu’à se faire la servante de la haine et de l’oppression, cette génération a dû, en elle-même et autour d’elle, restaurer, à partir de ses seules négations, un peu de ce qui fait la dignité de vivre et de mourir. Devant un monde menacé de désintégration, où nos grands inquisiteurs risquent d’établir pour toujours les royaumes de la mort, elle sait qu’elle devrait, dans une sorte de course folle contre la montre, restaurer entre les nations une paix qui ne soit pas celle de la servitude, réconcilier à nouveau travail et culture, et refaire avec tous les hommes une arche d’alliance. Il n’est pas sûr qu’elle puisse jamais accomplir cette tâche immense, mais il est sûr que partout dans le monde, elle tient déjà son double pari de vérité et de liberté, et, à l'occasion, sait mourir sans haine pour lui. C'est elle qui mérite d'être saluée et encouragée partout où elle se trouve, et surtout là où elle se sacrifie. C'est sur elle, en tout cas, que, certain de votre accord profond, je voudrais reporter l'honneur que vous venez de me faire.

Du même coup, après avoir dit la noblesse du métier d'écrire, j'aurais remis l'écrivain à sa vraie place, n'ayant d'autres titres que ceux qu'il partage avec ses compagnons de lutte, vulnérable mais entêté, injuste et passionné de justice, construisant son œuvre sans honte ni orgueil à la vue de tous, sans cesse partagé entre la douleur et la beauté, et voué enfin à tirer de son être double les créations qu'il essaie obstinément d'édifier dans le mouvement destructeur de l'histoire. Qui, après cela, pourrait attendre de lui des solutions toutes faites et de belles morales ? La vérité est mystérieuse, fuyante, toujours à conquérir. La liberté est dangereuse, dure à vivre autant qu'exaltante. Nous devons marcher vers ces deux buts, péniblement, mais résolument, certains d'avance de nos défaillances sur un si long chemin. Quel écrivain, dès lors oserait, dans la bonne conscience, se faire prêcheur de vertu ? Quant à moi, il me faut dire une fois de plus que je ne suis rien de tout cela. Je n'ai jamais pu renoncer à la lumière, au bonheur d'être, à la vie libre où j'ai grandi. Mais bien que cette nostalgie explique beaucoup de mes erreurs et de mes fautes, elle m'a aidé sans doute à mieux comprendre mon métier, elle m'aide encore à me tenir, aveuglément, auprès de tous ces hommes silencieux qui ne supportent, dans le monde, la vie qui leur est faite que par le souvenir ou le retour de brefs et libres bonheurs.

Ramené ainsi à ce que je suis réellement, à mes limites, à mes dettes, comme à ma foi difficile, je me sens plus libre de vous montrer pour finir, l'étendue et la générosité de la distinction que vous venez de m'accorder, plus libre de vous dire aussi que je voudrais la recevoir comme un hommage rendu à tous ceux qui, partageant le même combat, n'en ont reçu aucun privilège, mais ont connu au contraire malheur et persécution. Il me restera alors à vous en remercier, du fond du cœur, et à vous faire publiquement, en témoignage personnel de gratitude, la même et ancienne promesse de fidélité que chaque artiste vrai, chaque jour, se fait à lui-même, dans le silence.

PRIMER CONCURSO DE ANÉCDOTA Y PERLA IDIOMÁTICA

Durante centurias, el trabajo de corrección de estilo se ha trasmitido como en los antiguos gremios: de maestro a aprendiz; no obstante, la demanda y el interés que en la última década se ha observado, prueba que nos encontramos ante un oficio en vías de transformarse en profesión: con leyes propias y útil no sólo para el ámbito editorial sino también para otras disciplinas.

Por esta razón, y con la finalidad de empezar a documentar el trabajo de corrección de estilo en nuestro país, PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC convoca a correctores de estilo, editores, traductores, diseñadores, escritores, periodistas, publicistas y todas las personas que se dediquen o se hayan dedicado al trabajo de edición, a que participen en el Premio Martí Soler para elegir la mejor anécdota o en el Premio Nikito Nipongo, para la mejor perla idiomática, o en ambos, con las siguientes bases.

Premio Martí Soler

Como reconocimiento por su constante preocupación para capacitar a las personas que trabajan en el mundo editorial y su extensa trayectoria en él, PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC, instituye el Premio Martí Soler a la mejor anécdota sobre la corrección de estilo en nuestro país.

1. Podrán participar todas las personas que se dediquen o se hayan dedicado al trabajo editorial en nuestro país.

2. El tema de la anécdota deberá versar sobre algún suceso que conozcan de primera fuente o en el que hayan participado de manera directa sobre el trabajo de la corrección de estilo, que haya sucedido en cualquier lugar y cualquier medio de nuestro país.

3. La anécdota deberá ser inédita, tanto de medios impresos como electrónicos, y sólo se recibirá una por participante.

4. La extensión de la anécdota debe tener un máximo de 1800 caracteres.

5. La anécdota deberá enviarse a la dirección electrónica de PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC (peac.informes@gmail.com), en formato RTF y sin ningún dato que revele la identidad de la persona concursante.

6. En el cuerpo del mensaje electrónico deberán escribirse los datos de la persona que concursa: nombre completo, edad, ocupación actual, lugar donde trabaja y números de teléfono fijo y celular.

7. Los trabajos participantes se exhibirán durante las actividades con las que PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC, conmemora el Día Internacional de la Corrección de Estilo, a celebrarse el 7 de noviembre de 2009.

8. Si la persona participante desea leer su anécdota como parte de las actividades programadas, deberá indicarlo en el cuerpo de su mensaje electrónico; en el entendido de que únicamente se dispone de una hora para las lecturas, por lo que se dará preferencia conforme al día y a la hora en la que se inscriban.

9. La selección a la mejor anécdota se hará mediante votación directa del público asistente. El fallo será inapelable.

10. Sólo habrá una anécdota ganadora y la premiación se llevará a cabo durante la cena en Buentonería La Cigarrera, con la que se concluyen las celebraciones del Día Internacional de la Corrección de Estilo.

11. El premio consiste en un paquete de libros, una botella de vino, diploma y registro como socio de PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC, durante un año.

12. PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC se arroga el derecho de publicar tanto en su página electrónica como de manera impresa los mejores trabajos.

13. Esta convocatoria queda abierta a partir de su publicación y cierra el 5 de noviembre de 2009.

14. Cualquier caso que no esté considerado dentro de estas bases será resuelto por PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC.

Premio Nikito Nipongo

Como reconocimiento a la labor que en pro del buen uso del idioma desempeñó a lo largo de más de 50 años en su columna Perlas Japonesas, PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC, instituye el Premio Nikito Nipongo a la mejor perla idiomática.

1. Podrán participar todas las personas interesadas.

2. Las erratas tipográficas y errores de dedo no participan en este concurso: únicamente se tomarán en cuenta los gazapos, galimatías, despropósitos, desatinos, disparates y demás errores idiomáticos y culturales que hayan sido publicados, vistos o escuchados en algún medio electrónico de nuestro país.

3. Sólo se recibirá una perla idiomática por participante y deberá especificarse su fuente.
4. La extensión de la perla idiomática debe tener un máximo de 1800 caracteres incluyendo la explicación.
5. La perla idiomática deberá enviarse a la dirección electrónica de PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC (peac.informes@gmail.com), en formato RTF y sin ningún dato que revele la identidad de la persona concursante.
6. En el cuerpo del mensaje electrónico deberán escribirse los datos de la persona que concursa: nombre completo, edad, ocupación actual, lugar donde trabaja y números de teléfono fijo y celular.
7. Los trabajos participantes se exhibirán durante las actividades con las que PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC, conmemora el Día Internacional de la Corrección de Estilo, a celebrarse el 7 de noviembre de 2009.
8. Si la persona participante desea leer su perla idiomática como parte de las actividades programadas, deberá indicarlo en el cuerpo de su mensaje electrónico; en el entendido de que únicamente se dispone de una hora para las lecturas, por lo que se dará preferencia conforme al día y a la hora en la que se inscriban.
9. La selección a la mejor perla idiomática se hará mediante votación directa del público asistente. El fallo será inapelable.
10. Sólo habrá una anécdota ganadora y la premiación se llevará a cabo durante la cena en Buentonería La Cigarrera, con la que se concluyen las celebraciones del Día Internacional de la Corrección de Estilo.
11. El premio consiste en un paquete de libros, una botella de vino, diploma y, en caso de trabajar en el área editorial, su registro como socio de PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC, durante un año; de lo contrario la invitación a la cena para dos personas.
12. PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC, se arroga el derecho de publicar tanto en su página electrónica como de manera impresa los mejores trabajos.
13. Esta convocatoria queda abierta a partir de su publicación y cierra el 5 de noviembre de 2009.
14. Cualquier caso que no considerado en estas bases será resuelto por PROFESIONALES DE LA EDICIÓN, AC.

RAMÓN MIER: SI UNO DE ADO ES LA MEJOR LÍNEA DE AUTOBUSES DE MÉXICO, NO QUIERO CONOCER LA PEOR

Cometí el error de comprar mis boletos de Línea UNO de ADO por internet. Fue un error que me ha costado tiempo y disgustos.
Uno pensaría que el comprar en línea debería tener para el comprador la ventaja de evitarse filas y ahorrarse tiempo. Uno pensaría que al vender en línea el vendedor ahorraría dinero evitando el uso de taquillas.
No es así con la venta de boletos de ADO, donde los viajeros que necesitan comprobante fiscal NO pueden imprimirlo en línea. ¡Tienen que pasar a las taquillas a que se los impriman!

Gracias por compartir mi post. La verdad ya hasta me da un poco de pena preocuparme / molestarme tanto por este tipo de cosas que, coparadas con otras realmente carecen de importancia.

Pero si alguien logra reír con mi desgracia o ahorrarse un disgusto valió la pena compartirlo.

Saludos afectuosos.

DOÑA OLGA RAMOS

Para mi admirada Aswad, directora de la revista musical española, que no me da el puesto de cerillera que le pido...

LA CHICA DEL 17

La chica del 17
de la plazuela del Tribulete nos tiene con sus 'toilettes' revuelta a la vecindad.
La gente ya la critica,
porque hace tiempo
que no se explica
¿A dónde va la chica
tan bien 'plantá'?
Por eso a las vecinas
les da por murmurar
y al verla tan compuesta
le dicen al pasar:

¿Dónde se mete la chica del 17?
¿De dónde saca pá tanto como destaca?
Pero ella dice al verlas en ese plan:
La que quiera coger peces que se acuerde del refrán!

La Chica del 17
gasta zapatos de tafilete sombrero de alto copete
y abrigo de petigrís
los guantes de cabritilla medias de seda con espiguilla y viste la chiquilla como en París.
Por eso a las vecinas las da por murmurar
y al verla tan compuesta
le dicen al pasar:

¿Dónde se mete la chica del 17?
¿De dónde saca pá tanto como destaca?
Pero ella dice al verlas en ese plan:
La que quiera coger peces que se acuerde del refrán!

LA MACHICHA

Llevado por la fama de la Machicha
Don Procopio una noche se fue al Olimpia
El buen señor es un conquistador
El buen señor es un conquistador

Para gozar del baile fue Don Procopio
Armado de gemelos y telescopio
El buen señor es un conquistador
El buen señor es un conquistador

Al ver a las coristas tan melenudas
Decía don Procopio son pistonudas
Comprendo que estén locos, con la Machicha
Es el baile que ahora, esta de moda allá en Paris

Todo lo que veía le entusiasmaba
Y al compas del baile, palmoteaba.
El buen señor es un conquistador
El buen señor es un conquistador

Al ver dar esas vueltas tan en redondo
Don Proscopio decía, yo es que me mondo
El buen señor es un conquistador
El buen señor es un conquistador

Y cuando se colocan todas en fila
Parecen que le queman, con la badila
Comprendo que estén locos con la machicha
Es el baile que ahora esta de moda allá en Paris

LA CIRILA

Soy el trompeta de más pupila el más granuja del batallón Tengo sitiada a la Cirila que es una hembra que está cañón.

Pa' conquistarla más fácilmente me he puesto el traje de mi teniente Pues de corneta cuando le hablaba de mi se pito pitorreaba

Hoy de seguro no hay pitorreo cuando la miro me tambaleo Hoy la Cirila viene por mí cuando me arranco diciendo así

Ven Cirila ven y verás y verás a un oficial
Ven Cirila ven
que te aguarda el teniente más juncal y que te quiere de chipén Ven Cirila ven
que me la que me late el corazón
Ven Cirila ven y cálmame este trip tripi tripi tripi ton

Con la Cirila luciendo el talle que es de palmera casi juncal Después de darnos tono en la calle en taxi fuimos al Nacional

En el té tango nos obsequiaron
y hasta un globito nos regalaron Yo de ver chicas me puse bobo
y a la Cirila le pinché el globo

Dimos el mitin entre la gente, nos tropezamos con mi teniente Al calabozo, me dijo a mí
y a la Cirila le dijo así

Ven Cirila ven y verás y verás a un oficial
Ven Cirila ven que te aguarda el teniente más juncal y que te quiere de chipén
Ven Cirila ven que me la que me late el corazón
Ven Cirila ven y cálmame este este trip tripi tripi tripi ton

EL DOCTOR ROJAS, EL DOCTOR ROSADO, Y OTROS MAULAS DE CUIDADO... (1)

"No hay estafador que no sea simpatiquísimo."

Periódicamente, los españoles tenemos necesidad de ofrecerle nuestra credulidad a algún charlatán que exhiba esa amabilidad chispeante que tienen todos los sacacuartos, el énfasis y la afectación de un telepredicador, y un surtido de preceptos bienintencionados y hueros extraídos de alguna analecta con tufo a opus dei y a new age. Ahora tenemos a [Enrique Rojas Montes], cuyo aspecto atildado de representante de específicos y su desparpajo de vendedor de alfombras me recuerda al antaño famoso doctor Manuel Rosado, que enseñaba, como técnica de reanimación, a quemar con un cigarrillo encendido en la zona de la fontanela, y dejar de lado los primeros auxilios, y hasta que no hubo unos cuantos deudos que lo llevaron a los tribunales, lo tuvimos omnipresente en la única emisora de TV de la España cañí.

Luego , el Doctor Rosado se dedicó a las soluciones «definitivas» para la depilación, la calvicie y la obesidad, con el resultado de otro rosario de denuncias por estafa. Más tarde fue asesor químico de un laboratorio clandestino de cocaina para una red de narcos colombianos, y también tuvo ahí otro percance con la justicia.

Como ustedes comprenderán, el Ilustre Colegio de Médicos de Madrid no ha tenido a bien darle de baja, funge como doctor colegiado nº 13.044, con cuarenta años de ejercicio profesional, y en su curriculum reclama la gloria de haber hecho más de 150 programas en TV, visitar a más de 40.000 enfermos en su consulta, haber impartido cursos de 90 horas lectivas entre los que destacan "La Medicina Cuántica", "Virus y Vacunas del alma", o "Las curaciones espontáneas" y escribir mazo de libros en los que "une la Nueva Física Cuántica con el Saber Hermético de El Kybalion para encontrar explicación a lo inexplicable y conseguir lo que parece imposible."

(Aviso a mis maliciosos lectores que las frases en bastardilla y entrecomilladas no son producto del adobo de enteógenos que se ha metido nariz arriba esta servidora, sino copia literal del prospecto promocional del doctor Manuel Rosado, Colegiado 13.044 del Ilustre Colegio de Médicos de Madrid)

El doctor Enrique Rojas Montes ha tenido mejores padrinos, y no ha sido encarcelado por su negocio de certificados médicos y testimonios para el Tribunal de la Rota y otros, asegurando, palabrita de doctor en psiquiatría, catedrático de la Universidad Complutense de Madrid y médico del alma , que tal o cual tiene una enfermedad mental que lo incapacita para la guarda y custodia de sus hijos o para administrar su propia fortuna, y como antecedentes psiquiátricos, ahí está Enrique Rojas para testificar a favor de la parte contraria y contar sus desórdenes mentales, o sus órdenes de ingreso en clínicas psiquiátricas de amigos, saltándose todos los protocolos. Luego, como haber recibido tratamiento psiquiátrico es una lacra infamante, y sus víctimas tienen enfrente a toda la pléyade de médicos, loqueros y abogados del Opus Dei defendiendo a uno de los suyos, el doctor Rojas Montes sigue tan campante.

Entre tanto, escribe libros de autoayuda que él llama "ensayos" con frases dignas de don Jesús Urteaga, aquel cura del Opus que le enseñó a gran parte de la población a apagar la televisión cuando se escuchaba su lema de presentación: "Siempre alegres para hacer felices a los demás." .

El doctor Rojas Montes no es catedrático de la Universidad Complutense de Madrid, y si tiene el título de Psiquiatría será de alguna tómbola de Caritas; pero lo que sí tiene es el mayor catálogo de tautologías y melonadas retóricas, ensartadas con preceptos rebozados en aspartamo emocional, del género ñoño que tanto gusta a los editores de libros de autoayuda, y a otros cuantos mascachufas como ellos.

Y con esos mimbres, faltaba el canto de un folio para que el doctor pontificara y acreditara las virtudes de cualquier cosa estipendio mediante. Y lo tenemos haciendo presentaciones científicas como la "Guía Mini para tener confianza maxi", del Tampax, junto con la hermana de Penélope Cruz, firmando una investigación clínica encargada por unos bodegueros en la que afirma que el vino es un poderoso antidepresivo (); de la misma forma que promociona las virtudes del estimulador magnético transcraneal (EMT), aparato inventado en Israel (cuna del aparato depilatorio Epilady, muy en la línea del alargador de penes sin cirugía Jes-extender) que sustituye al anticuado electroshock, y frie el cerebro del paciente con ondas magnéticas, sin anestesia, y, al tiempo que le cura la depresión, le aligera el bolsillo.

Y con ese im-pre-sio-nan-te bagage científico que lo caracteriza presenta esta maravilla de la técnica psiquiátrica: copio literal:

Por qué esta máquina cura la depresión (así, sin signos de interrogación) Funcionamiento.
Consiste en estimular la corteza prefrontal del cerebro con ondas de entre 19 y 20 hercios.
Dolencias.
Se aplica a pacientes cuya depresión no remite con fármacos y también a enfermos obsesivos.
Indolora.
No produce contracciones ni convulsiones, al contrario que el tradicional "electroshock".
Pala magnética.
Con ella se dan 30 descargas de cinco segundos cada una, con un intervalo de medio minuto entre descarga y descarga.
Tratamiento.
Entre 12 y 16 sesiones. Cada cuatro se hace una evaluación depresiva y otra del estado mental general.
Efectos secundarios.
No tiene. Sólo un 10% de los pacientes sufre una cefalea transitoria, pero sin valor clínico.
Los creadores.
El EMT fue diseñado en 1985 por un grupo de psiquiatras del hospital israelí de Bengurión

Enrique Rojas Montes está colegiado con el nº 24.864 en el Ilustre Colegio de Médicos de Madrid sin que a esos mastuerzos que velan por nuestra seguridad les dé un alipori de vergüenza.

¡Y la policía deteniendo a los trileros y a los del Top Manta!

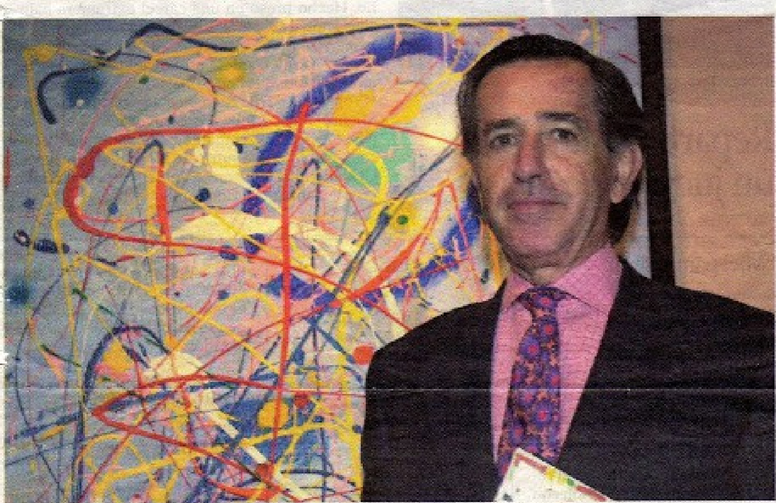
Enrique Rojas

"Podemos utilizar el Kamasutra como técnica si el amor es comprometido"



Enrique Rojas firmará esta tarde en Zaragoza ejemplares de su noveno libro, el último en publicarse. ARCHIVO

Explíqueme eso de que "el hombre quiere sexo y encuentra amor y que la mujer buscando amor ofrece sexo".
Toda generalización excesiva es un ataque a la inteligencia, pero es cierto que el hombre se mueve en ese sentido, lo que obliga a diferenciar entre la relación cuerpo a cuerpo y la relación persona a persona. El amor está malentendido en nuestra sociedad.

¿Y quién sabe qué es el amor? A nadie se lo enseñan...
Que cada palo aguante su vela. El amor se explica a sí mismo en la familia y en la lectura, la gran nutrición intelectual. El amor debe ser un encuentro entre dos personas que se necesitan, se admiran, se buscan y quieren compartir la vida. Es donación y confidencia. Pero es muy fácil enamorarse y bastante más difícil mantenerse enamorado. ¿Por qué?

Yo no soy el psiquiatra.
Porque la convivencia es lo más difícil que existe. No hay felicidad sin amor, ni amor sin renuncias.

Entonces, ¿desterramos el Kamasutra, sí o no?
No hace falta. Se puede utilizar como técnica si hay amor comprometido. El sexo sin amor es utilizar a las personas como si fueran cosas, no es amor.

Me recuerda a la película "Por qué lo llaman amor cuando..."
También Fidel Castro dice que en Cuba hay una democracia.

Y también corre el rumor de que la felicidad va y viene.
La felicidad es el resultado de lo que he hecho con mi vida, no sólo de los momentos felices. Tenemos que analizar los grandes argumentos de la vida: el amor, el trabajo, la cultura y la personalidad. La felicidad es alegría y paz al explicar la propia historia personal como resultado de la ecuación entre el haber y el deber.

Pero el ser humano siempre quiere más. Nunca será feliz.
La ambición es natural, pero la felicidad consiste en sentir cumplidas nuestras aspiraciones y en haber logrado una cierta cima personal dentro de las posibilidades de cada uno.

Precisamente eso es la salida del laberinto de las pasiones.
El final del laberinto es encontrarse a sí mismo, tener un equilibro entre sentimientos, pasiones e inteligencia. No obstante, vivimos en un mundo neurótico en el que se llevan los amores románticos y desgraciados.

Pero, las pasiones ¿no son siempre incontroladas?
Todo el mundo afectivo puede ser controlado de forma armónica con la inteligencia y la voluntad. Los deseos sin control son juguetes del momento.

¿Y se puede aprender a controlar el deseo?
Sí, administrándolo sabiamente para distinguir el trigo de la paja... Y sabiendo que los deseos se pueden hacer patológicos. Por ejemplo, las mujeres pueden preocuparse por tener un cuerpo bonito, pero controlar el peso a todas horas acaba siendo patológico.

Resulta complicado tanto control en la sociedad actual.
Vivimos un mundo de deseos virtuales y de ofertas a todas horas, que llegan a la gente a través de la televisión. Las cadenas han apostado por la audiencia y están entregadas al mejor postor.

Hasta los niños prefieren ver "Gran Hermano" a "Los Lunnis".
Estamos quemando etapas de la adolescencia y de la pubertad e invitamos a los niños a tener comportamientos adultos. Antes, las niñas de 12 años jugaban con sus amigos. Y ahora, están flirteando.

Pero toda la responsabilidad no será de la televisión.
No, la familia también tiene su responsabilidad. Antes mandaban los padres, y ahora los hijos.

Por cierto, aunque dice que el trabajo no lo es todo, usted es psiquiatra, escritor y profesor. ¿Cuántas horas tiene su día?
Soy una persona muy ordenada y cuando tienes orden el tiempo se dilata. El orden y la voluntad son esenciales en la vida y cada uno le saca el partido que quiere. Yo lo consigo gracias a un entrenamiento que he aprendido de mis padres, de mi hermano y de mi mujer. Somos muy ordenados.

Una mentira repetida adecuadamente mil veces se convierte en una verdad (Goebbels, ministro de propaganda - bien podría decirse que de marketing - de Hitler). El Opus Dei hace muy bien este trabajo para Enrique Rojas.

Ayer 7 de noviembre de 2009, los servicios informativos de la cadena de televisión Telecinco en España, han divulgado la siguiente noticia: Un inspector de la SGAE (Sociedad General de Autores Españoles), ha detectado que un peluquero ponía la radio para que oyesen música sus clientes y no estaba dado de alta en el canon correspondiente de la SGAE (12E/mes).

Parece inaudito que en 25 años, ningún inspector del Mº de Sanidad español, de la Consejería de Sanidad de la C.A. de Madrid, ni ningún otro funcionario, haya detectado el fraude de Enrique Rojas que tiene más de 10 libros a la venta con identificación profesional falsa y llena su consulta de pacientes - por lo general en situación vulnerable - que creyéndolo catedrático de Psiquiatría de la Universidad Complutense de Madrid", pagan su caché pensando que están en buenas manos cuando en realidad están en manos de un mentiroso y un equipo de encubridores sin escrúpulos, al que no le importa que se engañe al paciente.

Hay que distinguir entre los médicos que no aplican la ciencia más adecuada al paciente por falta de formación o de medios y los que inventan enfermedades sobre personas que mediante trampas han atraído a su consulta para hacerlas creer que están enfermas, a la vez que intervienen personalmente en su entorno para que les resulte más fácil quitarlas de en medio y conseguir que su patrimonio - poco o mucho, a Enrique Rojas no le importa con tal de que sea algo -, cambie de manos.

Pregunto, para saber un poco más de lo que ya había leído, y me llega la siguiente información (refundo):

Enrique Rojas ha requerido al titular de la web http://www.doctorenriquerojas.com mediante burofax, para que cierre el dominio y retire una serie de información de su blog (parece evidente que si cierra lo demás sobra).
Dice Enrique Rojas, que los datos que publica la web están protegidos por la ley de Protección de Datos de carácter reservado y la AGPD.

Se da la circunstancia, que los datos que Rojas pide que no publique el titular del dominio, han sido publicados por Rojas y también facilitados a los medios de información por el mismo Rojas.

Uno de ellos es, su falsa cátedra de Psiquiatría en la Universidad Complutense de Madrid, que Rojas ha colocado en varias facultades donde no existe cátedra de Psiquiatría o ha colocado en UCM sin mencionar la facultad. El ejemplo lo tenemos en el recorte de prensa de arriba donde es el mismo Rojas quien dice "Soy escritor, catedrático de Psiquiatría de la Universidad Complutense de Madrid ...".

Total que "J", el titular de la web consultó con el bufete que siempre consultaba que le dijo que Rojas no tenía razón y quedaron en mandarle la respuesta al burofax de Rojas, para que él mismo contestase. "J" lo recordó pero no se lo enviaron y poco antes del vencimiento le comunican que rescinden la relación profesional con él (no tiene ni idea que ha podido motivar tal decisión porque era cliente de tiempo y nunca existió ningún problema) .

Después ha consultado con la AGPD que también le ha dicho que Enrique Rojas no tenía razón (parece absurdo que Enrique Rojas pueda decir que es "catedrático de Psiquiatría de la Universidad Complutense de Madrid" (lo dice siempre con todas las letras para que no exista error) y nosotros no podamos decir que es mentira, cuando existe prueba irrefutable que es mentira (además del documento colgado en este artículo, está la vida laboral de Enrique Rojas).

El requerimiento de Enrique Rojas, que tiene toda la pinta de ser una forma de amedrantar y que se renuncien a derechos por desconocimiento y miedo, ha traído de cabeza al titular de esta web. En principio retiró casi toda la información (que ahora ha empezado a colgar otra vez, pero tendrá que hacer el trabajo de nuevo; se quedó con copia pero con los nervios debió tirarla).

Y para denunciar lo que pudiera ser un amedrantamiento y atentado contra la libertad de expresión, hay que meterse en un pleito y soportarlo dedicando tiempo y dinero. Quizás sea por esto, porque Rojas sepa que a él no le ocurrirá nada, por lo que se permite requerir asegurando que tiene razón, cuando no la tiene.
Bien debía saber Rojas que no tenía razón porque siempre alardea de que su mujer es notaria, muy inteligente, muy rápida ... y de que se llama Isabel Estapé (siempre cita el apellido).

Saludos.

El doctor Rojas da una inyeccion de antidepresivos en su consulta de la que sólo él conoce la composición, y luego dice al paciente ¿Ves a que ya estás mejor? la semana próxima otra!

El truco es mejor que los de los cárteles de Cali o Medellín, sí los tiene adictos a él sólo!

MÉXICO: PRESOS POLÍTICOS: CHEMA, LIDER CAMPESINO CHIAPANECO, DETENIDO EN LA PRISIÓN DE ALTA SEGURIDAD DE NAYARIT

22 de octubre 2009

Por la forma en que el gobierno está tratando a José Manuel Hernández Martínez, también conocido como "Chema"*, uno pensaría que se trata del jefe de un cártel del narcotráfico.
De acuerdo con testigos, el 30 de septiembre, al menos 18 agentes de policía—muchos disfrazados como trabajadores de la Comisión Federal de Electricidad—secuestraron a Chema en su casa de la comunidad 28 de Junio del estado de Chiapas. El operativo incluyo a policías estatales y federales trabajando en una operación "conjunta" o "mixta"—del tipo de operativo que carecteriza a la guerra contra las drogas.
Debido a que los agentes no se identificaron como policías durante la detención, compañeros de Chema de la Organización Campesina Emiliano Zapata (OCEZ), siguieron la camioneta de la policía en un intento por liberar a Chema.

Según los relatos de los testigos, otro vehículo interceptó la camioneta en donde viajaban los miembros de la OCEZ. A pesar de que los civiles estaban desarmados, se reporta que el otro vehículo abrió fuego contra la camioneta de la OCEZ, provocando que se estrellara y permitiendo que los secuestradores de Chema escaparan. Uno de los que viajaba en la camioneta de la OCEZ, Jordán López Aguilar, murió instáneamente en el choque. Un segundo ocupante, Bayardo Hernández de la Cruz, murió por sus heridas el 17 de octubre. Otros dos hombres permanecen hospitalizados.
Chema apareció el día siguiente en un comunicado de prensa del gobierno. Como ocurre con casi todos los miembros de la delincuencia organizada, el gobierno incluyó una ficha policial de Chema (con dos policías posando junto a él) en el comunicado de prensa. La prensa publicó la foto de Chema con los policías a lado como si el gobierno hubiera arrestado a uno de los miembros más buscados del crimen organizado.

Después de haber pasado diez días en la infame prisión de El Amate en Chiapas, la Policía Federal repentinamente trasladó a Chema a un penal federal de máxima seguridad en el estado de Nayarit. El gobierno no notificó del traslado ni a la familia de Chema ni a su abogado.
Con todo, pareciera que Chema está recibiendo el típico trato de un miembro de alto rango de la delincuencia organizada.
Pero Chema no es un capo de la droga; es un líder campesino. Su organización, la OCEZ, ocupa la tierra con el fin de legalizarla (esto es, obtener el título de las tierras) y redistribuirla entre campesinos chiapanecos. Mientras muchos de los capos de la droga viven en lujosas mansiones en las colonias más exclusivas de México, o en hermosos ranchos aislados en las montañas, Chema vive en una pequeña casa de asbesto y madera de dos recámaras (vivienda pública, en realidad) cerca de un camino de tierra en la pequeña comunidad campesina chiapaneca de 28 de Junio.
Ahora que Chema se encuentra en una prisión federal de máxima seguridad, el desearía ser un capo de la droga. De acuerdo con el Centro de Derechos Humanos Fray Bartolomé de las Casas (FrayBa) "las prisiones federales de máxima seguridad son notorias por sus métodos de castigo". Los presos de máxima seguridad se mantienen en un estado casi constante de incomunicación. Los recién llegados como Chema, frecuentemente son mantenidos incomunicados por un periodo de entre 15 y 40 días. Los presos solamente pueden recibir visitas cada ocho días, y pueden hacer llamadas de diez minutos cada diez días. Privar a los presos de sus derechos a tener llamadas telefónicas o a recibir visitas es un castigo común.
En Nayarit, Chema está a un viaje de 26 horas y .400 (pesos mexicanos o USD1) de su familia y de otros miembros de la OCEZ, quienes han montado una campaña para su liberación. Ese tiempo y dinero no incluyen el viaje de regreso. El gobierno ha ofrecido pagar a los familiares boletos de avión para que visiten a Chema (ya había ofrecido pagar las cuentas del hospital de los hombres heridos, pero nunca lo hizo), pero no ha ofrecido pagar los boletos de avión de su abogado.
Los recientemente liberados hermanos Cerezo, mientras eran presos políticos pasaron un tiempo en casi todas las prisiones federales de máxima seguridad de México. Héctor Cerezo reporta que los guardias de la prisión golpeaban a los recién llegados para enseñarles "quién manda ahí".
Héctor Cerezo también informa que las prisiones federales de máxima seguridad "no hay escuela, ni trabajo, ni pintura, ni música ni teatro. Lo único que te permiten tener es un libro que te presta la institución quien te da una lista de la que uno escoge el libro."
En contraste, el capo de la droga de Sinaloa, Joaquín "El Chapo" Guzmán tuvo una experiencia sin duda muy diferente durante su estancia en una prisión de máxima seguridad. El periodista mexicano Ricardo Ravelo escribe en su libro "Los Capos" que El Chapo y sus colaboradores más cercanos, disfrutaban de muchos beneficios. Él informa que las prostitutas visitaban a los hombres regularmente; desde afuera se les llevaban carnes y otros platillos favoritos; y los guardias de la prisión permitían que El Chapo tuviera en su celda una cortina para tener mayor privacidad. Ravelo también reporta de algunos rumores que decían que incluso El Chapo salía de la prisión algunas veces para comer fuera. El Chapo tenía tantos beneficios dentro de la prisión que a principios de 2001 escapó de ella sin que una sola bala fuera disparada.

La forma en que el gobierno está tratando a Chema, es difícil de comprender si no es un capo de la droga, o incluso un teniente, o incluso un modesto distribuidor de drogas de esquina. Chema ni siquiera está acusado de delitos federales; sus cargos son a nivel estatal. Entonces ¿por qué está en una prisión federal?

Qué situación tan injusta, no hay derecho que no se respeten los derechos humanos, cuesta creer que todavía hay gobiernos que practican estos métodos con gente que sólo lucha por la libertad y por conseguir un mundo más justo.

EL BALANCE CONTABLE DE EL CORTE INGLÉS EXPLICADO PARA PROFANOS

"Qué irse, qué apagarse, con qué parsimonia. Estoy disfrutando que no te lo puedes ni imaginar" (Amanece, que no es poco)

Juan tiene un negocio.
Este negocio en 2008 ha ganado 382 €
Tiene un pasivo (1) total de 8.998 €. Es decir, deudas y obligaciones de pago que se desglosan de la siguiente forma:
A corto plazo (un año o menos): 6.413 €
A largo plazo (más de un año): 3.585 €
El flujo de caja (cash flow o relación entre entradas salidas de circulante): 895 €.
El flujo de efectivo (2), es decir, qué cantidad de dinero tiene para honrar las deudas a corto plazo se lo calla, pero si consideramos lo exiguo del cash flow nos maliciamos lo peor.
El negocio de Juan tiene otros problemas:
1. Cada vez está invirtiendo más para ganar menos. En 2008, para ganar un 47% menos que en 2007 tuvo que invertir un 10% más que el año anterior.
2. Todas las inversiones de los últimos cinco años fiscales han producido pérdidas.
3. Su patrimonio neto (7.606 €) se ha desvalorizado más de un 30%.
4. La empresa se está descapitalizando por la fuga de socios. En un año ha tenido que pagar a sus ex-socios un total de 388 €. Es decir, más de lo que ha ganado.
Resumiendo: tiene un patrimonio de 7.606 €, en desvalorización continua y que es insuficiente para respaldar su situación financiera actual.
Unas deudas de 8.998€

Unos beneficios de 382 € y cada año gana menos.

Además, Juan tuvo la luminosa idea, en vista que apenas vende y ha tenido que cerrar varias filiales de su negocio, consistente en crear una financiera para vender al fiado a sus posibles clientes. El resultado es que ha creado otra ruina porque lo ahogan los impagados y no tiene margen económico de maniobra ni recursos de cobro como un banco.

Añadan la palabra millones a las cifras y éste es el desastre económico que ha creado Isidoro Álvarez, caudillo borondonés, en El Corte Inglés.

Les puedo anunciar la siguiente jugada que se le va a ocurrir. Marks&Spencer vuelve a España. Recuerden que El Corte Inglés le compró los locales por 150 millones. Ahora se los va a vender por la mitad. Y si Stuart Rose, de M&S, tiene dudas, puede financiarle la compra Financiera El Corte Inglés y regalarle un viaje al Caribe. Ya hay precedentes con Gottschalks.

Mutatis mutandis y parafraseando al nunca bien ponderado Eugenio Salarich, cuando dice que "no nos van a derrotar en Afganistán, porque no es una guerra", en El Corte Inglés no puede haber ruina, porque no hay dinero.

El espía que surgió del frío

(1) Un pasivo es la representación financiera de una obligación presente del ente económico, derivada de eventos pasados, en virtud de la cual se reconoce que en el futuro se deberá transferir recursos o proveer servicios a otros entes.

(2) Cuando la empresa requiere financiación a un banco o a cualquier otro tercero, éstos estarán interesados en conocer los pasivos corrientes de la empresa para tener una idea clara de las obligaciones a corto plazo de la empresa. Si la empresa cuenta con elevadas obligaciones a corto plazo y no cuenta con el suficiente flujo de efectivo o los suficientes activos corrientes para cubrir esos pasivos, con seguridad que ningún acreedor o proveedor querrá financiarla, puesto que el riesgo que presenta la empresa de incumplir con nuevas obligaciones es alto.

Según las cuentas presentadas por El Corte Inglés, ejercicio 2008

Capital social 486,86 millones €
Fondos propios 7.606,23 millones €
Cifra de negocios 17.362,53 millones €
Beneficio bruto de explotación (EBITDA) 1.094,47 millones €
Beneficio neto de operaciones corrientes 574,89 millones €
Cash flow 895,14 millones €
Inversiones 1.827,07 millones €
• La cifra de negocios total del Grupo consolidado ha sido de 17.362,53 millones €, un 3,5% menor que en el ejercicio precedente.
• El beneficio bruto de explotación (EBITDA) se ha situado en 1.094,47 millones €, con un descenso del 17,5%.
• El beneficio de las operaciones corrientes ascendió a 574,89 millones €, un 28,6% menos que el ejercicio anterior, y el beneficio neto del Grupo ha sido de 382 millones €.
• El cash flow se ha situado en 895,14 millones €, frente a los 1.235,30 millones € de 2007.

El Corte Ingles, pasa, como todos los negocios que dependen del consumo,con una bajada de las ventas, pero sigue teniendo beneficios y su buena imagen, que no se refleja en balance, pero que es más importante. ¿ Cuanto valdría en caso de venta... ya me gustaría tener acciones.

primero dices que tiene 8.998 € de euros, y después que
A corto plazo (un año o menos): 6.413 €
A largo plazo (más de un año): 3.585 €
No cuadra.
No nos dices el activo que tiene. ¿Cuanto valen sus instalaciones, su stock, sus recursos? No nos los dices. Enseñas solo media foto. Falta rigurosidad.

Efectivamente, eres de los raros privilegiados que tiene cabeza por error; pero hay una buena noticia, Agustín: vuelven a estar de moda los sombreros.

Pásate por la sección complementos de caballero de El Corte Inglés, y que te tapen esa excrecencia.

ANDRÉS SALOM: CARTA ABIERTA A LA ILUSTRÍSIMA SEÑORA HERNÁNDEZ PÉREZ

Muy señora o señorita mía: Me permito dirigirme a usted desde esta tribuna -de papel, dirá usted-, dado que, según se deduce del pliego atiborrado de jerga legal que me fue entregado en mano el pasado día 8 de los corrientes, va a ser precisamente usted la encargada de empapelarme por el delito de tenencia ilícita de animales peligrosos que, según el citado papelote, permito deambular sueltos por las calles del Polígono Infante Juan Manuel, poniendo así en peligro la integridad física de los viandantes.
La fiera en cuestión, de estirpe canina y de raza mixta, atiende por Maic, corrupción de Mike Jagger, el líder de los Rolling Stones; tiene apariencia de peluche y hará ahora unos tres meses que dio en la báscula el peso de tres kilos y ochocientos gramos; le gusta jugar a cazar moscas, pero nunca, que yo sepa, ha osado dar muerte a ninguna de ellas.
A pesar de ello, en el citado documento, cuya 'galanura' de estilo habría podido acomplejar a Azorín y al mismo Gabriel Miró juntos, se me amenaza con una multa de entre 30,05 y 300,51 euros, dejando a mi albedrío la posibilidad de presentar alegaciones; lo cual paso a hacer desde aquí y de ninguna otra forma ni lugar, como no sea bajo tortura.
Primera: Al ir a recogerlo en la perrera municipal, presenté el correspondiente certificado veterinario de que había sido vacunado con la antirrabia, lo cual relativiza su peligrosidad.
Segunda y en forma de plagio a mi admirado Gabriel Celaya:

Yo, Andrés Salom
aspirante a poeta

que, por ser quien soy, siempre estoy donde estoy, vista la suya el tantos /
y adelante,
le digo a usted que no.

O sea, que no pago. O como dicen los andaluces castizos en una frase hecha, 'van ustedes que ir a cobrarle a Rita la Cantaora', cuya existencia real dista mucho de haber sido verificada. Ni siquiera el profesor José Gelaedo Navarro, el más extenso y profundo investigador de la historia del flamenco, ha sido capaz de dar con dicha evidencia, ya que todas las pistas seguidas le han conducido al mimo sitio. O sea, al refrán, o como quiera llamársele.
